On Monday a meeting of the Executive of the Midland League was held in Bowmanville to consider two protested games. Bowmanville protested their last game with Oshawa on the ground that the latter played men who had not conformed to the residence rule. The protest was lost, because it was shown that Bowmanville was the first offender in this respect. Port Hope also protested a game with Oshawa on the same ground and won the protest. This puts a new face on things, and four teams are now tied for first place, all having lost the same number of games. Bowmanville, Cobourg, Peterborough and Port Hope. Next Saturday either Cobourg and Oshawa will play here with the local team, and that game will decide whether the Peterborough team will remain in the championship race or go down and out.

"OLD BOY" FINDS FAULT WITH CITY

For Allowing Bathing Without Proper Attire in the River.

His Unpleasant Experience While in the City on Monday.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — With several ladies and gentlemen, I visited the "old town" with the "Old Boys' Association," from Toronto, on Saturday. Several of our party had never been in Peterborough before, and the gentlemen of the party endeavoured to show them around. After taking in the city, we engaged canoes for a sail on the river, and we had but got nicely started when to our surprise we came across a lot of boys and men, devoid of all wearing apparel, standing up on an old scow. When they saw us they made no effort at all to hide, and we paddled away from this lot across the river and ran into the same thing over there. I am sorry to say, that all the way along both banks of the river from the Hunter street bridge to the lower locks, this was the case.

On Sunday our party visited the cemetery, and even out there we ran across the same disgusting sight. On Monday we visited the Baseball grounds, thinking all the time that we would at least spend our last day in Peterborough without encountering these people, who think so little of themselves, as anyone else, when to our surprise and horror, not fifty yards from the ball grounds, stood six or seven more men in plain view of several hundred ladies and gentlemen, who went to see the game.

Peterborough is certainly no place to bring strangers to; just think of such disgraceful scenes, and at any time of the day, before hundreds of visitors to our town, who certainly will not form a very high opinion of your morality department—if you have any. I have travelled from one end of Canada to the other, and I am ashamed to say that my old town is the only one that I know of that allows such disgraceful habits in broad daylight. I had heard this thing discussed several times in Toronto, but would not believe it, but now I have to, after my last seven days here. Is there no law in the town to prevent this? If not, something should be done at once. I felt so ashamed after praising up the "old town," and inviting a party of friends down to show them the city, to run into such as I have just stated. At any rate, I for one will not visit Peterborough again with friends until I know that I can go around in broad daylight without coming across such scenes as I have witnessed the last couple of days.

AN OLD BOY,

YOUNG TORONTOS WON THE FIRST

Defeated Havelock in Semi-Final C. L. A. Game 7-3.

Personal News From Havelock—Many Summer Visitors in That Town.

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Havelock, August 9.—Mr. N. C. Gibbs, of Toronto Junction, formerly of here, spent Saturday, Sunday and Monday in town renewing old acquaintances.

Mr. A. Cunningham, of Norwood, who has been carrying on the photograph business in this place for the past five years, has left for Moose Jaw, Man., where he will continue in the same business. Mr. Richmond, of Peterborough, will be his successor here.

Mrs. J. Campbell, of Toronto, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. W. Walmsley.

Miss Blanch McWilliams, of Marmora, spent Monday and Tuesday in town the guest of her cousin, Mrs. T. McWilliams.

Mr. T. Butler, A. Smith, J. and A. McWilliams, C. Shannon, and Mr. B. Degan, of Marmora, spent Monday in town.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bateson and children returned home on Tuesday after a short vacation to the former's home at Millbrook.

Mr. Wm. Wright left on Tuesday, for an extended visit to friends in Smiths Falls, Montreal, and other points east.

Mrs. P. McNicholl left on Tuesday for an extended visit to friends in Smith's Falls.

On Monday, August 7th, the local lacrosse bunch crossed sticks for the first time with the Young Torontos, of Toronto, in one of the semi-final games for the junior C. L. A. and the town boys lost by a score of 7-3, which was due to a straight run of hard luck and not enough practice in team work of the locals, although the game was fast from the start to finish and the Havelock bunch had the best of the argument so far as holding the ball was concerned. The visitors always made it a point to draw out the defence men as much as possible and with a brilliant rush generally managed to score. In the first five minutes of the game the visitors were in two before the locals knew that the game was on. Then they woke up for a few minutes and in the first quarter the score was 2-1 in favour of Toronto. Ten about five minutes after play the locals again scored from a pretty pass to Sullivan from Muldoon, who landed in the net tying the score. But it was not long to be this way. The local supporters were crowding the visitors goal and thinking that things were so sure the defence men came away up and that is where the visitors did the trick again by landing in the local goal in this quarter. Our speedy home man Sullivan got a crack on the head which put him out of business for a minute or so. In the third quarter the locals scored again by Sullivan, but in the act of trying the trick again he got another smash on the nose that made the purple fly. He was advised to go off, but pluckily stuck to his position. In this quarter the Toronto men scored two more. In the beginning of the fourth quarter the visitors ran in the 7th goal and from that out they had their whole team down on their nets protecting the savage rushes made by the locals. For the last ten minutes of play the visitors looked like a lot of children playing, but the of the hundred chances taken by the locals to score, they failed to find the nets. It was all over then but the cheering. Notes.—No kick coming as to the referee, but it was too bad that he got the smash on the knee, possibly in future he will keep out of scrimmages. Sullivan had the honour of scoring all the goals. Who said he was not in it? Possibly those people who said Barlow and Ford could not play lacrosse, had better take to the tall timbers if they saw the work put up by them on Monday. Muldoon as a stick handler can not be beat there is no use saying anything about Joe—everyone knows what he can do. Lancaster handled his stick like a drum major and his work was of the most effective style. Well, how did McGillivary, Ford, Daw and McGuire play? Well, just see the finish of the Toronto game on Saturday. The local lacrosse boys will remain the same with the Young Torontos on the latter's grounds in Rosedale, Toronto, on Saturday. By the way, everyone is talking. There will be no one left at home to send the news to, when the game is over.

Miss May McNicholl is the guest of friends in Madoc.

Mr. Alex. West, of Toronto Junction, has accepted the position in the Auditing Department of the C.P.R. at this point owing to the departure of Mr. Geo. M. Schofield.

Miss Jennie Dunlop returned from St. Catharines, where she has been visiting friends for the past week.

Miss M. Fallis, of Toronto, is the guest of Miss Mary Dixon, of town.

A very enjoyable time was spent when the Epworth League last Wednesday had a picnic at High Falls.

Mr. Ward Patterson left on Tuesday for the meeting of the Grand Lodge of the I.O.O.F. at Brockville.

Another catch kay given up last Wednesday when Mr. H. T. Andrews of this place was bound in the holy bonds of matrimony to Miss Marie Louis Rogers, of town, at the home of the bride's mother, Cashtown. Congratulations to Harry and good wishes go with both for a happy and prosperous journey through life.

The local baseball nine journeyed over to Hastings on Wednesday last to meet the nine of that town in the second last game of the series of the C. V. L. The boys put up a brilliant game as shown by the score 11-6 in favour of Havelock.

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Knives, Forks or Spoons, don't accept any bogus Rogers' stamp because your dealer tells you it's just as good.

NUMBER OF DEAD MAY REACH 30

NINE BODIES RECOVERED

Over Fifty Persons Are in the Ruins Yet—Catastrophe Occurred Shortly After Opening Hour—Over 100 People Were Carried Down in the Wreck—Clerk Tells Story.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 9.—The middle section of the big department store of the John G. Myers Co. collapsed early yesterday morning, carrying down with it over 100 persons. Caught in a chaos of brick, plaster and wooden beams, between 20 and 30 men, women and children met death in a multitude of horrible forms.

Michael Fitzgerald, 40, married; Frank Leonard, 15, cash boy; Miss Anna E. Whitbeck; Miss Minnie Bullard; Miss Alice L. Sharp.

Crushed Out of Shape.

An unidentified woman the Misses Whitbeck, Bullard and Sharp were in the cashiers' gallery on the main floor. They were crushed out of shape by an iron girder and identified by their clothing and jewellery. Another girl with them is missing and supposed to be dead.

A number of the rescuers received slight cuts and bruises. Glory Karns, a fireman, was severely injured, and Thomas Manning was badly cut.

Twelve hours' frantic work on the part of rescuers disentangled 50 people, six of them dead and many of the rest badly injured. Three bodies are in sight, but many hours' work will be required to get them out. Anything like a complete list of the killed and injured will be unobtainable until the workers have made their way to the very bottom of the mass of wreckage. With a few exceptions those caught in the ruin are employes, and a large majority of them are girls.

The catastrophe occurred shortly after the opening hour, when barely a score of shoppers were in the store. A clock found in the debris had stopped at 12 minutes before 9, showing when the crash came.

Clerk Tells the Story.

The best account of the event that probably caused the ruin is given by the head of the crockery, glass and drug department, which occupies the basement. "The workmen were sawing at a wooden floor beam," said he, "which runs underneath one of the central pillars in the middle of the store. Excavation for the cellar was going on about the base of this pillar, and I believe that jarring the beam beneath it displaced the foundation of the pillar. The first thing I knew, two of the counters near the place where the men were working began to sag, and several pieces of glassware slid off on to the floor with a crash. I yelled to my clerks to run for the front of the store. The words were not out of my mouth when there came a creaking and everything around us began to fall. The wreck came slowly, however, and I think everyone in my department escaped, as well as the workmen."

Slid Into Death Hole.

The pillar which gave way supported the ends of two giant girders, and when it felt the main support of the central part of the building was gone. With a noise that could be heard blocks away, and which shook the adjoining buildings like an earthquake, nearly half the great structure, from cellar to roof, and extending from one side wall to the other, came grinding down. Into this cavernous hopper slid scores of employes who were working in four floors above and lacked the warning which enable those in the basement to escape.

Fifty Yet In Ruins.

When night came it was estimated that nearly fifty persons still remained in the ruins, and not more than half of these could survive the weight pressing upon them. Fortunately the wreckage did not take fire.

The loss to the company is estimated at between $200,000 and $300,000.

A CANADIAN KILLED.

F. A. Jones, Said to Have Lived in Toronto, Run Down by Train.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 9.—Francis Ashford Jones, an elderly gentleman of fine appearance, who has been teaching music by the correspondence method, was run over and killed by an Illinois Central passenger train near the Central Union Station in this city. From his private papers it was found that he was of good English family, letters from his brother, Randolph A. Jones, Acton Manor, England, being among the number.

He had lived at Toronto, Ont., and Kansas City, Mo., coming here from Kansas City. He was a member of St. Paul's Episcopal Cathedral. For eight years he was a director of the Toronto Conservatory of Music.

DO YOU FEEL THIS WAY.

Do you feel all tired out? Do you sometimes think you just can't work away at your profession or trade any longer? Do you have a poor appetite, and lay awake at nights unable to sleep? Are your nerves all gone, and your stomach too? Has ambition to forge ahead left you? If so, you might as well put a stop to your misery. You can do it if you will. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will make you a different individual. It will set your sluggish liver to work. It will get into every vein in your body and purify your blood. It will set things right in your stomach, and your appetite will come back. If there is any tendency in your family toward consumption, it will keep that dread destroyer away. Even after consumption has almost gained a foothold in the form of a lingering cough, bronchitis, or bleeding at the lungs, it will bring about speedy cure in 98 per cent. of all cases. It is a remedy prepared by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., whose advice is given free to all who wish to write him. His great success has come from his wide experience and varied practice.

C. S. Copenhaver, Esq., of Mount Union, Huntingdon Co., Pa. (Box 296), writes: "About twelve years ago I was suddenly taken with a pain in the pit of the stomach which was so violent I could not walk straight. It would grow more severe until it caused waterbrash and vomiting of a slimy yellow water. A physician told me I had a form of dyspepsia and treated me for about six months with but little benefit. Another physician told me my liver was out of order and that I had indigestion. He gave me a treatment and I got some better but only for a short time. I then tried another one, who said I had chronic indigestion, ulceration of the lining of the stomach, torpid liver and kidney affection. He treated me for more than a year and I felt much better, but it did not last. I then took to using several widely advertised patent medicines, but received no more than temporary relief. I then tried Dr. Pierce's medicines, using his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and the 'Pleasant Pellets,' and in two months' time I was feeling better than I had for years before."

Don't be wheedled by a penny-grabbing dealer into taking inferior substitutes for Dr. Pierce's medicines, recommended to be "just as good."

BRIGHT EYES.

Lend an Irresistible Charm to Every Face.

Clear, sparkling eyes make the plainest face beautiful. The eyes cannot be bright if the body is suffering from blood poisoning. Many people suffer from blood poisoning and do not know it, but they show it by their dull eyes, grey or sallow complexion and faded appearance. Constipation poisons the system. Instead of the blood taking up wholesome nourishment in the intestines, it absorbs the poisons which the bowels have not gotten rid of. The blood deposits these poisons wherever it can, which accounts for the dull eyes, pimples and headaches. Ripe fruit is Nature's remedy for constipation. Fruit acts on the bowels and makes them move—acts on the liver and causes more bile to flow, which is the natural purgative, —acts on the kidneys—acts on the skin and clears it and beautifies it. An Ottawa physician has discovered a process for combining the juices of oranges, apples, prunes and figs—and then by forcing into the united juices an additional atom of bitter from the orange peels, a new and very much stronger fruit is produced. The fruit extract is made into tablets, with the addition of tonics, and sold under the name of "Fruit-a-tives" or "Fruit Liver Tablets." These little tablets are easy to take, have the gentle fruit action and are a positive cure for constipation, biliousness, headaches, kidney and liver disease and all blood impurities. "Fruit-a-tives" are recommended by able physicians everywhere. For sale at Druggists 50c. a box or 6 boxes for $2.50, or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

MASTER BAKERS AND THEIR MEN

Trades Unionism Discussed By Canada's Master Bakers.

PAPER ON "THE OPEN SHOP"

George Weston of Toronto Thinks Unions Should Confine Their Work to Elevating the Members and Promoting Their Social Good, and Not Interfere With the Prerogatives of Employers.

Ottawa, Aug. 9.—Over a hundred and fifty delegates from all parts of the Dominion attended the opening sessions at the City Hall this morning of the convention of Canadian master bakers. A civic welcome was extended by Mayor Ellis and Ald. Black, and was responded to by President A. A. Lees, Hamilton, and ex-President Powers, London.

In the discussion following an admirable paper on flour by Prof. Harcourt of the O. A. C., A. W. Carrick, Toronto, suggested that the association should make a campaign exposing to the public the breakfast foods, which he described as more fads than foods.

Against the Unions.

George Weston of Toronto read a paper on "The Open Shop." He said unions were all right in so far as they elevated the members and promoted their social good, but the fault was that they interfered with the prerogatives of employers. No union should have a right to bar employment of an honest man who enters into an agreement with an employer on terms agreeable to the two. Unionism, he declared, was a disturber, destroying competition and favoring monopoly. There should not be such things as "open" or "closed" shops. Employers should be free to engage whom they pleased as long as the labor was honest and the terms satisfactory.

Discussing this paper, Mr. Bredin, Toronto, said employes had as much right to organize as their masters. The unfortunate thing was that they were often badly led. Mr. Bredin read a paper prepared by Z. Hilton, Toronto, on cost of break-making in a small bakery.

The afternoon the visitors spent in sight-seeing, and had supper at the Royal Shanty, afterwards going to Britannia at night. On Thursday the association will go to Montreal as guests of the Ogilvie Milling Co.

Locomotive Firemen.

Toronto, Aug. 9.—A large representation of the International Brotherhood of Locomotive Fire men, which took in every line in North America, met here in convention yesterday. Hannahan, Fourth Vice-Grand Master E. A. Ball, Ald. Graham. The Grand Master said they never cared to resort to strikes when a peaceable settlement was possible, although the organization had a defence fund of $1,000,000. A handsome silver tea service was presented to First Vice-Grand Master Wilson by his Toronto friends, he being formerly of this city.

Master Plumbers Meet.

Will Quit Work on Thursday.

Cleveland, Aug. 9.—The strike of the structural and bridge workers against the American Bridge Co. will not begin until Thursday morning. WHY THE JAP SOLDIERS WON

An Expert's Story of Battle of the Sea of Japan.

Nebogatoff's Surrender Defended from Severe Criticism—His Ships Were Surrounded.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press)

Tokio, Aug. 6.—Commander Akiyama, who participated in the battle of the Sea of Japan, has prepared for publication an extended statement relating to the great conflict, and its weight is on the side of gunnery, the battleships and tactics, as against the destroyer and the torpedo.

He prefaces his statement by declaring that good gunnery depends mainly upon the division officers and asserts that the Russian officers were lamentably lacking in training. In the early part of the battle the Russian scored but one hit to three landed by the Japanese. Under those circumstances it may be said that the Japanese had three or four guns in action to every one of the Russians, and there was, therefore, nothing very remarkable about the disparity of losses.

The commander insists that the great mistake of the Russians was in marshalling their vessels in double column line ahead. From the moment of going into action in that formation the Japanese regarded victory as assured. Apart from the impossibility of maintaining an orderly formation when pursuing such tactics for defensive purposes, there was the fact that only a few of the ships could bring their guns into effective action against the Japanese fleet attacking end on. The latter ships were able to concentrate their whole fire upon the leading Russian ships and in return received only a limited fire. Had the Russians adopted the strategy of imposing the brunt of the action upon their battleships while the rest of the fleet broke through and steered direct for Vladivostok, the commander believes they would have achieved a partial success. Instead of doing that they followed the plan of mutually aiding one another and thus, when the head of the battleship column got into trouble, the others steamed up and thrust their heads into the lion's mouth without being able to accomplish anything compensatory.

Discussing the question of the sinking of the battleships and armored cruisers by gun fire the commander expressed the opinion that the fact that the Russian ships were exceptionally low in the water contributed materially to the result. The Russians carried large quantities of coal, stores and ammunition, and thus weighed down and in a rough sea suffered badly from hits near the water line that ordinarily would not have been fatal.

The commander says that the battle did not, as some claim, prove the superiority of arms to armour. He points out that the newest armour on the Russian ships, and notably on the case of the Orel, was not pierced. The proper distribution of armour is another question and he says the Russian builders do not appear to have adopted the latest knowledge and principles on the subject.

Akiyama defends Nebogatoff's surrender from severe criticism. Nebogatoff was surrounded by twenty-seven ships, including the most powerful of Togo's fleet. Had the Russian refused to surrender his ships would have been sunk forthwith. Five or ten minutes would have sufficed to finish the unpleasant task. Any other course would have condemned to needless death 2,000 officers and men.

Accurate estimates of the actual Russian casualties are impossible to obtain, but they are far under the first estimates. The rescued and surrendered exceed 7,000, and making due allowance for those who escaped in the Almaz, Izumrud, Orel, Aurora, Jemtchug and the auxiliaries, the number actually lost is somewhere between two and three thousand.

Editor of Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—Yesterday "Teamster" called into the Board of Works. Let me call attention to a case of useless street work—on Scott street. The street has been gravelled, and the gravel is spread so unevenly that there are holes already and the rolling has been very carelessly done. What is worse alongside the new pavement there has been a dam left in the gutter so that the water can't run off. There will be an everlasting mud-hole in front of the only two residences on the street. A man with a shovel in half an hour would open a free course for the water. Why don't the street gang do a good, clean piece of work while they're at it? It's shameful to waste taxes to make mud-holes.

TAXPAYER.

Editor Post Card Column, — Dear Sir, — A few days ago I drew attention to the fact that there were no means of quenching cow's thirst at Jackson Park. I am pleased to see that this has now been remedied, and that there are now two granite cups attached, with chains, to the spring. This shows the value of the Examiner as an advertising medium, and the willingness of some unknown person to act the Good Samaritan. Another correspondent in the same issue raised a shout over the Edison sat running only to George street in the evening, and so placard being displayed informing the public of the fact. The hint was taken, and a placard is now displayed. Attention was drawn by another writer to the fact that a dozen or so planks were missing from the sidewalk on Smith street, east of Park street. They are still missing, showing that our councillors either cannot, or do not, read, or that they are careless of our lives and limbs. Yours truly,

J. R.

Editor of Post Card Column:

Dear Editor,—Can you or any of your correspondents tell me the origin of the present feminine fashion of ladies appearing in public without hats. I an old fashioned fellow it looks peculiar. Why do they do it? I had the idea that the display of a pretty new hat over a pretty face was something dear to the female heart.

Yours truly.

OLD FOGEY.

Peterborough, Aug. 8, 1905.

Editor of Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—Why do the Street Railway people put on such vague signs as "Charlotte Street Only" on cars which have also "Smith Street" signs on. They should certainly keep a stock of placeable signs which would be suitable to whatever route the car is taking. For instance, why not say, "Market to Electric Works".

Yours truly,

THEIR FIFTIETH WEDDING DAY

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Silverwood Were Married in Peterborough.

Were United in Bonds of Wedlock by Late Rev. Dr. Poole.

On Monday, August 7, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Silverwood, celebrated at the home of their daughter, Mrs. (Rev.) McCullough, Peel-street, Lindsay, with whom they have come to reside, the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage, which ceremony took place in Peterborough on August 7, 1855, the late Rev. Dr. Poole officiating. Mr. Silverwood brought his bride to Lindsay on August 9th of the same year, he having been a resident of the town for six years previous. He is the oldest if not the only business man of that period in Lindsay still living. He built the first brick residence the town possessed; it still stands intact on the corner of Kent and Adelaide streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Silverwood can relate many interesting reminiscences of the early days in town and county. They later settled on a farm in Oakwood where they resided until a short time ago. Their home was noted for its hospitality and geniality. Nine children were born to them, all of whom are living. They have twenty-one grandchildren.

After a bountiful supper had been partaken of Mr. A. E. Silverwood was called on. He congratulated his father and mother in a happy and felicitous manner, reminding them that their fireside was the exception to Longfellow's poem, "Resignation." He then on behalf of the children and grandchildren presented his father with a gold watch and chain and his mother with a purse of gold. Congratulations were read from the children unable to attend, and other friends. Mr. Silverwood replied feelingly. An hour was then spent in toast and song after which the family gathering dispersed, several of them having to take the evening train for Toronto.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Routley and five sons, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Grant and daughter, Sarnia; Mr. and Mrs. M. Webster and two children, Oakwood; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Silverwood and daughter, Oakwood; Mrs. (Rev.) McCulloch and four daughters, Lindsay; Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Silverwood, London; Mr. F. H. Silverwood, Los Angeles; and Mr. T. H. Silverwood, Port Angeles. Were unable to be present.—Post.

WESTERN WHEAT YIELD THIS YEAR WILL BE 25 BUSHELS TO THE ACRE

This is the Pleasing Information Imparted by Mr. Adam Hall, Who Has Recently Returned From Manitoba—Oats Will Go 60 Bushels—Greatest Crops in History of the West—Some Startling Instances of Why Peterborough People Have Succeeded There.

Mr. Adam Hall, president and general manager of the Canadian Cordage Company, of this city, returned recently from a trip through a portion of Manitoba, and is most enthusiastic in speaking of the crop prospects for the west, which topic is, of course, the only subject of conversation just now.

Mr. Hall did not go through the whole province, but from what he saw he is convinced that the crop this year will exceed that of any former year.

He was informed that the wheat yield would average twenty-five bushels to the acre, and that the oats would go about sixty. An average yield of twenty-five bushels to the acre of wheat for the entire acreage in Manitoba and the Northwest, will mean an almost incomprehensible aggregate quantity, and the farmers will simply be rolling in wealth, for good prices for what are already assured.

Farmers who went into the West a few years ago from this county with nothing but a span of horses and a little seed grain, are now owners of half sections of land, and worth from $25,000 to $50,000 each. This is no fairy tale, because Mr. Hall saw these people on the trip from which he has just returned.

On every hand the greatest prosperity is evidenced, in fact, the very prosperity which they are enjoying is in danger of proving their undoing, for with the rapid increase in their worldly wealth comes the temptation to speculate and to spend money unwisely, and the hospitality characteristic of the westerner sometimes leads him into trouble. Everyone in the West, or nearly so, has the speculative fever, and the rapid turn over of property with profit in the transaction is the aim of all who have money. Business prospects, Mr. Hall states, are good.

DISASTROUS RESULTS OF LAST NIGHT'S SEVERE ELECTRICAL DISTURBANCE

Most Serious Thunder and Lightning Storm That Has Visited This Vicinity This Year—The Path of the Storm—Mr. Richard Lillico, of North Monaghan, Sustains Severe Loss by Fire—His Barns Were Destroyed—Loss of $5000—Other Fires in Cavan and Emily—Places Outside This Neighborhood Not Visited By the Storm.

Last night's, or rather this morning's, severe electrical storm was, it seems, not only one storm, but a series. The electric storm that destroyed the Lillico barns, apparently had its origin south-easterly in Cavan township, where damage was done, and proceeded north-east along a narrow path, for at Springville, south of that point, and at Chemong to the north there was a mere sprinkle of rain, while in the main path of the storm the rain came down in torrents. But another severe storm raged in a belt of country apparently parallel to the local tempest, for the report comes of the striking by lightning of Deabe's barns, at "Deabe's Cut," on the M. and N. Railway, and the reports of some buildings being destroyed, though without details in Emily township, are also current.

Howson's Barn Burned

During the storm the barn of Edward Howson, lot 11th, on the 9th concession of Cavan, was struck by lightning, and with its contents, part of this season's crop, totally destroyed. There was a small insurance. The house connected with the barn was unoccupied. A barn which stood on the same foundations as that burned last night, was destroyed by fire four years ago.

Lillico's Barn's Destroyed.

Another of the disastrous results of last night's severe thunderstorm, in its north-east course, was the complete destruction of the fine barns of Mr. James Lillico, concession 11, North Monaghan. The barn buildings were entirely consumed, only the walls of the basement remaining standing. The barns were pretty well filled with this season's hay crop and also a large quantity of barley, which were of course, entirely destroyed, together with sixty or seventy fowl, a dozen or so fine pigs, and nearly all the farm implements. Mr. Lillico was a first-class farmer, and this time paid the penalty of carelessness. His implements were all housed, among them being a new mower, which was used for the first time yesterday. If Mr. Lillico had been a slop-work farmer, his farm machinery would have been scattered all over the farm, and have escaped destruction by fire.

Mr. Lillico's loss will be very heavy. His barns were of the best modern construction, costing between $1600 and $1800, with all the latest improvements — a stone basement with cemented stable floors, and every adjunct of the best kind. By great exertion the house, which is not far from the barns, was saved, though it took fire two or three times.

The buildings were insured in the Anglo-American for $1000, and the implements for $100, which Mr. Lillico estimates will cover about one-quarter of his loss.

ELECTRIC RAILWAY LINE IS PROSPECTED RADIATING FROM PETERBOROUGH

Old Bridge Over Rice Lake Has Been Purchased, It is Reported, and The Peterborough, Cobourg and Marmora Railway Route is to be Re-established—To be Operated as an Electric Railway Line—Will Connect Cobourg and Peterborough With Rice Lake—Rapid Development of the Electric Railway Business—Old Roadbed to be Used.

The Examiner learns from a source which is believed to be reliable that the piers of the old bridge over Rice Lake, once used by the now defunct Peterborough, Cobourg and Marmora Railway, have been purchased, and the statement is further made that the purpose in buying these piers is to restore the bridge and re-equip the roadbed with rails running an electric line between Cobourg and Peterborough. The recent rapid development of the electric railway enterprise has made railways, which, in the days of steam were operated at a loss, possible of a profitable re-establishment and operation. This has been proven in a number of cases, and there now seems good reason to believe that it is about to be tried in the case referred to.

As to who is at the back of the enterprise represented by the purchase of the piers, has not yet been divulged. Mr. Larmouth, manager of the Peterborough Radial Railway Company, this morning, when asked if his company contemplated an extension in this direction, stated that they did not.

The charter held by them enabled them, should they wish it, to run a line to Rice Lake, but they have not considered that end of the business, being content with the extensions planned for the north.

It appears, however, that some other capitalists have been considering the project, and have decided that its would be a paying enterprise hence their determination to embark in it.

The roadbed is still in good shape, and it is stated that with a small outlay comparatively an electric line could be established. The only expensive part would be the rebuilding of the bridge at the lake, and it is learned that the piers, that is, below the water line, are still in almost perfect condition, so that even this would not be very costly.

It will be remebered that the railway was operated for four years, and abandoned as unprofitable, the primary cause of the abandonment being the close of the mines, which formed the chief freight commodity.

Conditions have changed recently, however, and the Rice Lake points have attained popularity as summer resorts, and every year many persons go there to spend the hot season. At present they have to drive from Cobourg or go by boat from this city, but with the proposed electric railway in operation these points could be reached much more easily, and there is no doubt that there would be a good traffic.

If this deal goes through Peterborough will be the centre of a network of electric railway lines, radiating out from it, and the prospects for a successful business are excellent.

MANY HARVEST EXCURSIONISTS WILL LEAVE PETERBOROUGH

Advice from the west state that there will be more farm labourers required this year than ever before, to harvest the crop, which will be by far the largest in the history of that west.

Already the local railway officials have received a large number of inquiries in reference to the Harvest Excursions, and from present prospects the number of persons who will leave here this year for the west will exceed that of all previous years. One wonders where all the young men, going from, since every year, apparently, all the available men go to the west, and a great many of them do not return.

This year the C.P.R. will run an excursion from here on Sept. 4th, and if a sufficient number signify their intention of going to the west, the company will have three or four special coaches for the use of the Peterborough passengers, and these cars will run through to Winnipeg, without change.

This will be a great convenience and doubtless will be appreciated by the excursionists. The terms of the excursion this year are the same as those of former years, viz., $12, going out and $18, returning. Both the C. P. R. and G.T.R. will run Harvest Excursions on the same date.

THE PETERBOROUGH TWINE BEAT OUT COMPETITORS

The Rideau Record, published at Smith's Falls, contains an interesting article in which the merits of the brand of binder-twine manufactured by the local company, are demonstrated. The Record says:—

A large crowd was attracted to Main street on Saturday morning by seeing two men following each other from a telegraph pole on the Russell corner to one at the front of Brinkman's restaurant. The men so occupied were Mr. W. J. Graham and Mr. Brouse Hutton. They had got into a heated discussion over the merits of binder twine, and as is quite natural Mr. Graham contended that a ball of his twine, the Plymouth, would measure more than the Golden Sceptre, manufactured by the the Canadian Cordage Company, of Peterborough, which Mr. Hutton was praising and which he had just purchased from the agent, Mr. Hawkins. Mr. Graham was so confident of his ball of twine measuring most that he produced a $5.00 bill and dared Mr. Hutton to cover it. Mr. Hutton had a reputation to sustain, and although he didn't want to bet was almost forced to do so against his will. The balls of cord both weighed alike and each man started at 11.10 on his beat from one pole to the other. Of course the spectators were interesting and the two contestants must have had dispositions like angels to put up with the jeers and remarks of them, but they went on paying out the cord like martyrs and at the end a little before 12 o'clock Mr. Graham's ball gave out and Mr. Hutton went 50 feet 10 inches farther than him. Mr. Hutton of course had to take the money and is now more enthusiastic than ever over the Peterborough brand.

A PRETTY SOCIAL EVENT YESTERDAY

Miss Isobel Duff, of Indian River, Married to Mr. D. Andrews.

A Number of Peterborough Persons Were Attended the Wedding.

Special to the Examiner.

Indian River, Aug. 9.—A very pretty wedding took place at "Elmhill," Indian River to-day, at the residence of Mr. John Duff when his eldest daughter Miss Isobel Duff, M.A., was married to Mr. David Andrews M.A. of Trenton Ont. son of the late Mr. James Andrews, of West Lorne.

The bride who was given away by her father, wore a dainty gown of Brussels net over silk and carried a bouquet of white roses. Her sister, Miss Annie, who was bridesmaid, wore pink crepe voile. The groom was assisted by Mr. T. A. Dark, M.A., of Toronto. The ceremony was performed under an arch of flowers on the lawn, by Rev. John Beckett, an uncle of the bride.

The house and marquee where refreshments were served, were beautifully decorated with ferns and the colours of Queen's University, at which both the principals are graduates.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrews left for a trip to the Thousand Islands and Quebec, after which they will reside in Trenton.

Among the guests invited from a distance, were,—Mr. L. Warren, M.A., Clark's University, Mass.; Mr. A. A. Scott, B.A., Niagara Falls; Miss A. K. Macgregor, B.A., Miss Grace Macgregor, B.A., Almonte; Dr. James Beckett, Thamesville, Miss Andrews, Mr. L. L. Botton, M.A., Mr. T. A. Dark, M.A., Rev. J. Beckett, Mrs. Beckett, Miss M. Michigan's Snow.

The Newbury district, in Michigan, has had its first taste of winter, one half inch of snow falling. Some of the crops were badly damaged.

Robbed Postoffice.

The safe in the Gracefield (Que.) postoffice was blown open last evening and several registered letters and a little money secured. The robbers were evidently professional. The local and Dominion police have been notified.

Stokes at Liverpool.

Mr. Phelps Stokes, the New York millionaire, and his bride, Miss Rose Harriet Pastor, who was a cigarette-maker of the same city, are among the arrivals at Liverpool by the Cedric, reported in the London papers brought by the last mail.

Rockefeller Refuses Aid.

John D. Rockefeller has refused to give financial aid to St. Anne's Infant Asylum. The oil magnate in a letter sets forth that he is not in sympathy with the asylum's work. A heavy debt and pressing need for better accommodation, prompted the request for assistance.

Alienating Affections.

Alleging that Elizabeth Meyer, of Crete, Neb., had twice jilted him, Charles G. Roberts of Des Moines, has filed suit against her, asking $25,000 damages for breach of promise. A like amount is asked from Miss Meyer's parents, for alienating her affections from him.

Struck Three Times.

The house of Judge Wetmore, of Moosomin, N. W. T., was struck by lightning three times during a storm on Saturday. It is remarkable, however, that no one was injured, although the house was badly damaged and the furniture in two rooms was turned topsy-turvy.

Progress of C. N. R.

Rev. Mr. Lloyd, of Lloydminster, who is now in Edmonton, says the first C. N. R. train reached there on Wednesday. Steel is laid 15 miles west of the town, and night gangs are being put on to rush the work and the company hope thus to complete five miles in twenty-four hours. They use fifty carloads of material each day.

Shot Herself in Buggy.

While in a buggy at Decatur, Ill., with Jules Garland, the other night, Anna Oye shot herself and died in a few minutes. Miss Oye had borrowed Garland's revolver to shoot at marks on the roadside. Suddenly she asked him to shoot her. On his refusal she killed herself. Both are respected, and no reason is known for the girl's act.

Eloped With Mother-in-Law.

John Nemo, of Georgetown, It is charged, has eloped with his mother-in-law, after previously eloping with his sister-in-law. It is said that three years ago he left Russia with his sister-in-law, deserting his wife and three children. Wife No. 2 induced her mother to forgive them, and she has been living with them for two years. Recently the mother and Nemo disappeared.

Surveying Canal.

Good progress is being made on the survey work of the Georgian Bay Canal, from the bay to the Ottawa River. At present a party of engineers under the direction of Mr. Henry Drury, is engaged on a detailed survey of the Chats Falls at Fitzroy Harbour. The party has been there two weeks and it will take a couple of weeks more to complete the work there. The islands and numerous chutes are being thoroughly surveyed.

Automobile in Trouble.

An automobile carrying a lady and gentleman from Hamilton to Brantford struck a gravel bank on the return trip while going at great speed near Langford church. The benzine buggy, says the Brantford Courier, took a somersault across the ditch, landing bottom up, and the machinery in convulsive spasm, smashed itself to pieces. The lady's outer skirt was torn away, but she escaped personal injury and the gentleman got off with nothing worse than a tumble in a soft place that did him no harm.

Residences Robbed.

From the audacious robberies of private suburban residences that have followed in the track of a circus lately at Berlin, Ont., it is supposed some of the hangers on of the show are the guilty parties. At Hunter's Corners, near Galt, Mrs. G. Scott found a stranger coolly admiring himself in a glass with her husband's hat on. She tackled him, but he got away, and it was found that he had been upstairs and taken $40 in loose change. He had cut the wire netting of the screen door and let himself in. Outside he was joined by a pal and the two made off. The police are on their trail.

THE CONFERENCE MAY BE FAILURE

Peace Indications Are Not of the Brightest—But First Day Amicable—Considerable Reserve Was Displayed by Both Sides—Nothing Was Done But the Exchange of Credentials and the Drawing Up of the Daily Programme of Meetings—Jap Terms To-day.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 10.—With the probability that Baron Komura will to-day reveal to the Russian plenipotentiaries the terms upon which Japan is willing to conclude peace, opinion as to the outcome among those who are congregated here to watch the proceedings has become decidedly pessimistic. This is due to the growing conviction that Japan's conditions will not prove as moderate as was at one time anticipated and especially in the matter of an indemnity may preclude the possibility of their acceptance by the Russian envoys as a basis of negotiations.

The firm attitude of M. Witte in private conversation against the payment of an indemnity and the insistent reports emanating from Japanese quarters that a stiff war contribution approximating to the cost of the war, variously stated at from $600,000,000 to $800,000,000, constitutes one of Japan's demands, indicates a wide, if not an irreconcilable, difference between Japan's irreducible minimum and what Russia is prepared to accept.

Gloomy forebodings, however, may be premature at this juncture, as everything indicates the plenipotentiaries upon both sides to be sincerely desirous of concluding a treaty of peace.

The first meeting of the plenipotentiaries yesterday was of an entirely informal character, so informal in fact that Baron Komura did not bring his letter of credence to Portsmouth, whereas M. Witte was armed with the original document in Russian, setting forth the powers conferred upon him and also with a translation of the decument.— The latter he read. Baron Komura was embarrassed and offered to send back to the hotel for his commission, but M. Witte expressed his faith that the credentials were full and ample.

Later in the afternoon copies of the credentials were informally exchanged. It is known that the credentials differ slightly, in exactly what respect could not be ascertained last night, but the Associated Press correspondent is assured, both by the Japanese and Russian emissaries that the difference is not essential and constitutes no obstacle to the official opening of negotiations. Indeed, the President was officially informed last night that the credentials were full, ample, and satisfactory to both sides.

It was decided yesterday to hold two daily sessions, at 9.30 a. m. and at 3 p. m. To avoid delay and give the plenipotentiaries and the delegates time for consultation between sessions, it has been arranged that luncheon will be served at the navy yards. Three secretaries for each side will be in attendance to draw up the protocols of the meetings, which will be written both in English and French.

The French text, however, in case of dispute will be accepted in evidence (faire foi.) The official versions of yesterday's meeting given out by each side, described it as "satisfactory," and other accounts indicate that while everything passed off amicably, considerable reserve was displayed by both sides.

RUSSIANS RELEASED CONVICTS.

Japs Apprehend Sakhalin Prisoners Will Disturb Peace.

Tokio, Aug. 10.—An official report from the Sakhalin army, says: "Gen. Liapinev and five staff officers who surrendered July 31 was escorted to Rykoff, where they were met by our commander-in-chief in a church building. Gen. Liapinov states that a detachment consisting of two officers and 100 men, who had been sent toward Nioro, had been ordered by telegraph to come at once and surrender.

"The number of prisoners is increasing.

"The convicts seem to have been released before our occupation and it is apprehended that they will disturb the peace."

WOMEN DESTROY BREAD.

Unusual Scenes Mark Strike in New York Hebrew Bake Shops.

New York, Aug. 10.—Women yesterday joined in the strike operations of the Kosher bread bakers, who are prosecuting a bread famine in the Hebrew quarters of New York and Brooklyn. Hundreds of loaves of this bread were taken by women from pedlars who attempted to sell them and thrown into the gutters, where the mud caused by recent rains instantly ruined the foodstuff.

There was a riotous demonstration in the front of a delicatessen store in Clinton street early yesterday, when a gang of young roughs discovered that the store was offering Kosher bread for sale. They rushed the store, seized the bread and threw it into the street. Half a block away was the headquarters of the strikers. The police and many of the strikers rushed to the store and a riotous scene ensued. The police on duty were unable to handle the crowd until a call was sent in for the reserves of the Union Market Station.

Two policemen were injured in a bread riot in the basement of a Hebrew bakery in Allen street. Two hundred men entered the shop and, overpowering the policeman who guarded it, carried out barrels of dough, which were ready for baking and emptied it into the gutter. Several barrels of flour also were emptied into the street. Extra police were called out to disperse the mob.

Trouble at Riga.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 10.—The rumors of serious trouble at Riga were yesterday officially confirmed. Twenty thousand men are on strike there. Many of the strikers are desirous of working, but the Socialists deter them with threats of murder. No case of murder have yet been reported. Riga contains 135 factories and mills.

CHURCHES TO UNITE.

Protestants of America to Hold Conference in New York.

New York, Aug. 10.—Twenty-four religious denominations containing 18,000,000 communicants have each appointed from five to fifty delegates to meet in this city on Nov. 15 to take part in an inter-church conference on federation. The meeting will be held in Carnegie Hall for a week, the object being the federation of the Protestant forces in America. President Roosevelt has expressed his sympathy with the movement, and it is expected that one or more members of his Cabinet will be able to take part in the discussions of the conference.

Among the issues to be brought before the church and nation by the conference are religious education, the social order, evangelization, home and foreign missions, the fellowship of faith, the national life and Christian progress. Besides declaring faith in the essential unity of the Protestant churches, several speakers will rehearse the practical workings of present federation movements in cities, rural districts, states, foreign lands and interdenominational work.

WHERE BLOOD DOESN'T COUNT.

Sir Wm. Lyne Causes a Sensation in Commonwealth House.

London, Aug. 10.—A Melbourne despatch states that antagonism between Australia and Canada has been rapidly developing during the last few months. During an acrimonious debate in the House of Representatives Tuesday night, Sir William Lyne, Minister of Trade and Commerce, referring to his reassessment of the value of Canadian harvesters, caused a sensation by producing a letter from the Dominion Customs Department, flatly refusing to allow Canadian officers to make enquiries enabling the Commonwealth to ascertain for purposes of taxation the real value of articles sent from Canada to Australia. Sir William Lyne hinted that the Dominion was unwilling to give any assistance towards establishing fair customs revenue. The Australian press are continually publishing articles deprecating Canadian progress, and asserting that Australian development is proceeding on a sounder basis. Commercial men dread any form of preference which would strengthen the position of their Canadian rivals.

Deserts Wife and Children.

Detroit, Aug. 10.—A young wife with two children accompanied detectives to a house on West High street Tuesday night, where a W. Hesseltine, who says he is manager of a Canadian electric railway, was arrested in company with a woman who claims to have married him in Leamington, Ont., several weeks ago, being satisfied that Hesseltine was free to marry. She refused to give her maiden name. The two were locked up. The complainant, who claims she is Hesseltine's only wife, says they lived in Detroit, where Hesseltine deserted her last May.

Drinks Paris Green.

Belleville, Aug. 10.—Yesterday afternoon a woman named Mrs. Smith, who was separated from her husband, and is living with a man named Waters, quarrelled with Waters shortly after dinner, and swallowed ten cents worth of paris green in a glass of whiskey. Prompt medical aid probably saved her life.

Golden Jubilee I.O.O.F.

Brockville, Aug. 10.—The 51st or the semi-centennial celebration of the Ontario Grand Lodge, I.O.O.F. opened yesterday in Victoria Hall, when Grand Master Butterworth of Ottawa called the assemblage to order. The Grand Lodge was instituted here in August, 1855, Dr. Thomas Reynolds of Brockville being the first Grand Master. At that meeting 13 representatives were present on behalf of seven lodges. To-day there are 306 lodges, with 463 representatives, having a constituency of 32,000 members. Total benefits paid out in 1856, was $209. Last year the relief paid out each day equalled this amount. The Grand Lodge was welcomed to Brockville in a civic address.

Any Troubles In Your BATHROOM?

If you are having any trouble with your CLOSET or BATHROOM CONVENIENCES, come round and have a talk with us.

A gentleman, attracted by the range of Sanitary Closets and excellent values we are offering, invested in a new one, although he already had one that was working not badly.

The way he looked over the Closets we arranged before him for inspection showed he had been sifting the matter, and knew how to prove and disprove the claims of dealers.

The saving of health and expensive plumbing repairs, warranted the investment, he said.

How is yours working? Bring your Bathroom Troubles to us. Our Toronto Stock is what we sell in our Peterborough Branch.

KEPT THE JUBILEE
IN THE BIRTHPLACE OF ODDFELLOWS ORDER

Fiftieth Anniversary Celebrated--Most Successfully Annual Meeting in History of the Order--Reports Presented Show That the Order Has Made Rapid Progress During the Past Year--A Large Number of Delegates Are in Attendance at the Annual Gathering.

A special despatch from Brockville says:

The annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of Ontario, I. O. O. F., is in session here. This year the golden anniversary of the Grand Lodge is being celebrated in the cradle of its birth. August 23, 1855, Dr. Thos. W. Reynolds succeeded in securing the attendance of thirteen representatives from seven different lodges. Dr. Reynolds, who was a Brockvillian, presided, and at the election of officers was made the first Grand Master, an office he held until his death, in 1859. Thus, fifty years ago there was gathered at Brockville but a small band of warriors; to-day there is present a solid phalanx, armed with the weapons of the Order —Friendship, Love and Truth. Over 500 delegates, representing a total of 24,000 members, are in attendance at the sessions and partaking of the hospitality of the citizens of Brockville.

The proceeding opened with addresses of welcome from Mayor Stewart, M. F. H. Mallory, D. D. G. M., of the district.

The Order is in Good Shape.

"In 1901 there was a net increase of 886 members; in 1902, 1,190; in 1903, 1,961; in 1904-5, 1,843. The extra large increase in membership this year is practically due to the exertion put forth by the lodges to make this, our fiftieth anniversary, one of the most prosperous in the history of the Order."

Grand Secretary's Report.

Grand Secretary Joseph B. King, of Toronto, reported: "In 1855, seven lodges represented at the organization of this Grand Lodge by 13 representatives; to-day 308 lodges, with 465 representatives, having a constituency of 32,000 members. Total benefits paid out in 1855, the first year reported, was £74 15s, $299.00; last year, 1904, $95,404.78 paid to 3,176 sick brothers. The total expenditure for relief for the year was $107,604.43, or $294.97 for each day of 1904. The relief paid out each day in 1904 equalled the total paid out in the year 1856. The total amount expended by the order, including its auxiliaries, in the past 48 years has amounted in round figures to the very large aggregate of $3,410,554.41. This magnificent sum does not include all the money paid out by the relief boards, which have an existence in our several large Oddfellowship centres, which is not recorded in the returns of the several lodges."

Referring to the Daughters of Rebekah, Grand Secretary King reported that the total membership, December 31st, 1904, was 3,615, a gain of 331 during the year. The total receipts for the year were $3,973.09. A total of $112.75 was paid out for relief during the year.

The receipts of the Oddfellows Home for the year were $9,594.74, and the total disbursements, $8,353.05, leaving a balance on hand of $241.67. The total assets are $30,585.47, and the liabilities are none.

Grand Treasurer's Report.

Mr. W. J. McCormack, Toronto, Grand Treasurer, reported as follows: Balance on hand, January 1st, 1901, $2,750.44; receipts during the year, $16,037.38, making a total of $20,788.22. The total expenses were $18,553.77, leaving a balance of $2,234.45.

The supplementary report of receipts and expenditures from January 1, 1905, to July 20, 1905, was given out as follows: Balance on hand, $2,234.45; receipts, $15,066.06; total $17,300.81. The expenditure for this period was $9,698.49, leaving a balance in the Grand Treasurer's hands on July 20th last of $10,602.02.

The auditors, Bros. Chas. Packert and Abner Fraser, reported having examined the books of the Grand Secretary and Grand Treasurer and found them correct and in a neatly kept condition.

The Social Side.

This afternoon the delegates are guests of the two local lodges on a trip among the Thousand Islands. The Grand Officers are the guests of Senator Fulford on his palatial yacht.

This evening will occur one of the largest parades of Oddfellows ever seen in Brockville. Excursions are being run from all directions. Between 3,000 and 4,000 Oddfellows are expected to take part. The town is gaily decorated with flags and bunting and appropriate mottoes float everywhere. The delegates are given the glad hand on all sides by the citizens.

SALVATION ARMY'S EFFORT TO SUPPLY HELP SUCCESSFUL

It is learned that the experiment of the Salvation Army this year in bringing to Canada a large number of immigrants from the British Isles in the dual effort to benefit them and to supply, at least part of the demand for help, which has been for some years much greater than the supply, has been a splendid success.

Speaking with reference to those who have been brought to Peterborough, it has been learned that they have all secured employment and are doing well. Some of them are feeling somewhat lonesome since they are away from their friends, but it is expected that as they become more accustomed to the ways of the country, and as they continue to prosper, they will like it better.

The result of the experiment this year has been so satisfactory that it is quite probable that it will be repeated next year, as the demand for all kinds of good help, and especially farm help, is still large.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM MOUNT HOPE

Personal and Other Happenings From That Village.

Special to the Examiner.

Mount Hope, Aug. 9.—Mr. David and Miss Annie Crowe, of Hall's Glen, passed through here Sunday en route to visit friends further east.

Last week a merry load of happy go luckies set sail for the Blue Mts. It was not strange, still the sensation caused by them while passing through the hamlets was unusual at each stopping to increase their load, and a lookout for the same load next year is being made.

However, with heaps of berries and pleasant smiles, they returned some time that week. People wonder at the music which can be rendered by such a petite crowd, but that is not strange when we think of who they were.

On returning, they, for some reason, were known to buy a large quantity of berries. It is supposed they had eaten all they had picked and did not feel at rest to return without any.

Mr. Luther Payne, of Smith, spent Sunday at his home here.

Bright are the smiles of many when their thoughts wander to the coming tea meeting, which is to be held in St. George's church, Hall's Glen, in the near future. Some of our young men are wondering if they will be provided for.

Mr. Jas. Dewart, sr., took an extraordinary load of cheese to Peterborough this week.

Mr. Stephen Miller, of Warsaw, is at present employed harvesting a large field of peas with Mr. Chas. Gow.

Some of our young people spent a very pleasant time at the garden party at the Manse on Tuesday evening. It is needless to say that all were provided for.

Dandruff is Caused by a Germ That Saps the Hair's Vitality.

It is now a settled fact that dandruff is caused by a germ. Falling hair and baldness are the result of dandruff. Dr. E. J. Beardsley, of Champaign, Ill., got hold of the new hair preparation, Newbro's Herpicide—the only one that kills the dandruff germ. He says: "I used Herpicide for my dandruff and falling hair, and I am well satisfied with the result." Dr. J. T. Eugate, of Urbana, Ill., says: "I have used Herpicide for dandruff with excellent results. I shall prescribe it in my practice." Herpicide kills the dandruff germ. Physicians as well as the general public say so. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

A Girl Pilot.

Clad in a dainty blue and white uniform, "Gin" Simpson, a pretty sixteen-year-old girl, is pilot of one of a fleet of four naptha launches which ply for hire between East 134th street, New York, and Diamond Point, six miles. Her launch, which is the largest of the fleet, carrying thirty persons, is the most popular. She is very businesslike, and pilots that little craft expertly and deftly while calling to her fellow who attends to the engine in the rear, as to speed and stops, and helping the passengers aboard at the landings. Information has been sent the police that her launch is not licensed, and the penalty is $25 for every unlicensed trip.

NEGOTIATIONS ENDING IN WAR

The Steps of Diplomatic Exchange Preceding the War.

How Russia Temporized—Russia's Diplomatic Fencing and Its Results.

In view of the peace proceedings between Japan and Russia, with a view of leading up to peace, it may be interesting to summarize the negotiations which led up to or rather preceded the war:—

Baron Komura, for Japan, and Baron Rosen, for Russia, were prominent figures, in the diplomacy preceding the outbreak of hostilities. On Oct. 30, 1903, Baron Komura presented to Baron Rosen the amended proposals of Japan in eleven clauses, which included in brief, recognition of Corea's independence, and territorial integrity; Japan's right to advise and assist her in a civil or military capacity; Russia's pledge not to impede Japan's commercial or industrial activities in Corea; recognition by Russia of Japan's right to send troops to Corea to preserve order or suppress insurrection; Japan to engage to erect no military works to menace the freedom of the Straits of Corea; a neutral zone on the Corea-Manchurian frontier into which no troops should be sent; Corea to be held outside Russia's sphere of special interest, and Manchuria outside of Japan's; mutual guarantee of non-interference with residential rights of subjects in these spheres; mutual engagement not to interfere with or impede connections of Corean and East China railways when they reach the Yalu.

After some diplomatic fencing Russia on Dec. 12, 1903, made some counter proposals, which skilfully avoided agreeing to Japan's demands regarding Corea; and on Dec. 21, Japan through Baron Komura, insisted on formal recognition of her preponderance in Corea, and her right to give that power advice and assistance tending to improve the administration of the Corean Empire. She also insisted on no military works being erected to menace the Straits of Corea. The Russian Government continued to fence and suggest amendments; and on Jan. 7, 1904, Baron Rosen proposed certain modifications intended to completely nullify the Japanese demands. On Jan. 13, the Japanese definitely rejected the counter-proposals, and insisted on Japan's claims as to Corea, expressing a willingness to agee to recognise Russia's special interests in Manchuria and her right to protect those interests; and an early reply was urged. Ten days later, no reply having received, Komura was instructed to sound Count Lamsdorf as to the nature of the reply to be expected and the time of its delivery. On the 29th Komura in reply to a telegram informed Tokio that the Russian Ministers would meet on Jan 29th, to consider a reply to be submitted to the Czar for adoption. Count Lamsdorf complained that Japan was sending troops and munitions of war to Corea. Japan denied that, and the Count regretted that the reports had been published. On the 30th the Japanese Government again pressed for a reply. On Feb. 5, Komura wired, setting forth the situation and representing that the continued delays of Russia, together with her military activity, compelled Japan to break off the negotiations and see to the protection of her rights. That day the notice was served upon Count Lamsdorf, and then Japan ceased to talk and acted and has been acting to good effect ever since.

It will thus be seen that Komura and Rosen are well qualified by knowledge of all the facts and circumstances to conduct the negotiations. These are not likely to end in a day; they may last for weeks. In view of Japan's experience of Russian methods it is not likely she will readily agree to an armistice, unless she is assured that no gain can come to Russia thereby. Nor will she worry if M. Witte and Rosen talk big about what they will not agree to. Komura and Takahira know that they have a beaten foe to deal with, and they are not likely to be bluffed.

Pains in the Chest.

Mr. John Clark, Port Hope, Ont., states: "Last winter I was so bad with a cold that I could not speak above a whisper, and had great pains in the chest. A friend advised me to try Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and one bottle cured my cold which I believe would have proven very serious if I had not used this medicine."

Drink Killed Her.

Mrs. John Meaney, aged forty-seven years, was found lying dead on the floor of her bedroom at 111 Rideau street, Ottawa. She, it is stated, had been drinking heavily, and her death is thought to have been due to that cause. Dr. Baptie was notified, also Detective O'Meara, who investigated. After looking into the facts the coroner decided that an quest was unnecessary.

70 Years Old Female Vagrant.

An old lady aged 70 arrived in St. Thomas a short time ago to get her son to support her. He was unable to do so and she applied to the local authorities for help. They refused and sent her to Beamsville, where she formerly lived, whence she was returned back to St. Thomas. She has been committed by the police magistrate there as a vagrant.

PEACE PROSPECTS.

Attention is being directed to the peace negotiations between Japan and Russia, which enter upon the active stage to-day, and if Russia gains no more victory in the diplomatic chamber than she has done in the field of war she is very likely to come out second best in the game of peace. Russia has a consistently straight record of defeat since the war began. It is not probable that much will come out of the peace negotiations. Russia is as conspicuously unreliable in the field of diplomacy, as she has shown herself, so far, in the game of war. She does not seem to be influenced by any of the considerations of fine honour that appeal to other civilized powers. Shiftiness, evasion, double dealing and bad faith, mark Russia's diplomatic movements. Prophecy is always risky, but there does not appear to be much risk in forecasting failure for the peace negotiations now on foot. Japan's demand ,it is safe to say, will not call for more than she honestly thinks she is entitled to, but Russia has so long had the habit of bull-dozing her own people and riding rough-shod over opposition, that she will probably continue to underrate, as she did in the beginning, the resources and resourcefulness of her Oriental antagonist.

ONTARIO'S OWN RAILWAY.

Returning from Temagami, Hon. A. J. Matheson, Provincial Treasurer, is full of praise of the north country, and enthusiastic about the prospects for the Government railway. He regards it is a good Provincial asset. A passenger train of two cars and a Pullman runs north every day, and the hotels are full. It is fair to wonder whether Col. Matheson reflects that we owe it to the Ross Government that the Temiskaming road is a Provincial asset, and we owe it to that Government that northern Ontario has reached the stage it has. We owe it to that Government that Toronto, Hamilton, London, and all the busy towns of Western Ontario are in direct communication with the rapidly-growing communities in that newer Ontario. If the Opposition had had its way the traffic would have been deflected to the east.

Col. Matheson now says it is a splendid country, but it is not so long ago that the worthy Colonel never referred to it except with a covert sneer. It was the "land of the stunted poplar" then. It is gratifying to be told that in one little section of the land of the stunted poplar millions of wealth will probably be taken out, and that every day two passenger coaches and a Pullman car leave Toronto for those "wilds."

It is gratifying, too, to know that the railway towards which the late Opposition never contributed even an encouraging word is already a great Provincial asset. The railway was a pet project of Hon. Geo. W. Ross. Its progress through the Legislature was consequently a continual occasion for nagging on the part of the Opposition. But it was put through in spite of all Opposition snarling and obstruction, was skillfully and successfully financed and constructed, and to-day remains as a monument to the statesmanship of Hon. Geo. W. Ross, and elicits the admiring encomiums or even his political opponents.—Globe.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Since 1872 the total expenditure of the Dominion of Canada, on capital account has been $257,208,177 with an increase of public debt of $185,139,077. Thus the expenditure on capital account—paid out of current revenue was $72,819,100.

A good many prominent Conservatives, Cabinet ministers and others, are now visiting the Temiskaming country. They will, remarks the Brantford Expositor, gain access thereto over a government-owned road, which was built by their predecessors in office, and has made available one of the richest and best sections of the provinces as regards timber lands and minerals. The Ross Government may have had its faults, but it did much to develop Ontario for which it received scanty thanks.

Speaking of Mr. Rockefeller, the Presbyterian (of Toronto) says: "It is impossible to reconcile the business [illegible] by which his domestic fortune has been built up with the fundamental principles of the Christ he professes to follow." That may be; and yet Baptist preachers and papers eulogise this lifelong Baptist as a godly and deeply pious man who is unjustly criticized and reviled. It would not be hard for the Presbyterian to discover in Toronto many prominent and wealthy church members whose fortunes were built up by the same or similar methods as those which Rockefeller employed in his business. And some of these men may be Presbyterians, too.

MECHANICAL FILTRATION OF CITY WATER SUPPLY

A Practical Imitation of Nature's Mode of Production of Pure Water Supply--Claim That Sand Filtration Destroys Bacteria Organisms--The System Has Been Applied With Satisfactory Results in the Large American Cities.

The great filtration plant for furnishing Washington ,D.C., with pure water is nearing completion, and as described by the Scientific American is the second largest in the world, covering twenty-nine acres. It is built by the use on a large scale of subterranean sand beds, through which the gathered water percolates and is thence conducted into the city mains—precisely upon the principle of filtration employed by nature in carrying water through the deep sands of the well or the mountain spring. The filters are constructed on double lines, intersected by depressed roads, on which open large double gates, through which each filter may be entered for cleansing whenever occasion requires. When the water is first admitted to the filter it is from beneath, passing upward through a one-foot layer of fine washed broken stone and then through a four-foot layer of fine, clean sand. After this has become thoroughly settled, well packed and evenly moistened the water is let in over the top. Thus are obtained, the subterranean waters in cool, dark chambers, slowly trickling down through fine, clean sand, making, as the American says, "the nearest artificial reproduction yet attained of nature's great filter that supplies the wells and springs."

This process of water purification, by copying the natural method of filtration, is no novelty, the efficiency of which needs to be tested by experiment and time. It has long been in vogue in a number of prominent cities, notably, Vienna, Berlin, Dresden, The Hague, Munich, Paris and London. At Lawrence, Mass., the introduction of sand filters, more than ten years ago, made a memorable record in the decrease of typhoid fever, as it has done in many other cities where it has been fairly tried. It isnot indispensable that water for drinking and dasteno purposes should be chemically and bacterially pure, and in nature's sources of supply absolutely pure water is never found. But it is most important that the drinking water should be freed from all disease-producing germs, microbes, and the poisonous ptomaines due to the action of bacteria upon decaying organic matter. In its efficiency to eliminate these dangerous and often deadly bacterial constituents of water lies the great value of the sand filter. Tests long since made with Seine water have demonstrated that after being passed through the sand fully 99 per cent. of its bacteria have disappeared. At Berlin the general reduction of bacteria by the sand filters is almost 99 per cent., and at Hamburg the average bacterial reduction has been shown by special experiements to be 98.64 per cent.

But this extraordinary efficiency of sand filtration in reducing the bacteria of water is established most indubitably by the vital statistics of different cities. In Berlin, Munich, Rotterdam, The Hague and Vienna, in which sand filters are employed for purifying the public water supply, the death rate from typhoid fever ranges only from five to seven persons per 100,000 of population, while in some large American cities whose water supply is unfiltered, the death rate is from seventy to eighty persons per 100,000 of population. According to the best authorities 35,000 deaths occur every year in the large cities of the United States from typhoid fever alone, a disease, the death-dealing germ of which is mainly carried in drinking water which has been contaminated before it enters the public mains. If the unfiltered water does not kill its victims as a dose of active poison, but by lingering disease, it is none the less a poison to persons who are susceptible to the infection disguised in the water. And while it is true that not all kinds of pathogenic germs are conveyed by water, polluted drinking water is doubtless responsible for a large and incalculable amount of debility and disease other than that due to the typhoid bacillus.

BRITISH CAPITAL CAPTURES COPPER

London Syndicate Obtains Bruce Copper Mines.

Once Paid Twenty-five Per Cent. When Mined Under Disadvantages—New Company Will Work Mines.

The Lancaster Syndicate of London, Eng., have purchased the Bruce copper mines and have formed the Copper Mine & Smelter Co., with a capital of £200,000. The purchase followed a four months' inspection by, H. J. Carnegie Williams, an English mining engineer. He and Mr. T. Hayes Sheen, of London, Eng., are directors. Arrangements are being made to put the mines in operation. They aim to mine 100 tons a day for the first year, and will increase the output to 400 tons. The building of a smelter is included in the project.

The property is a valuable one, located on the north shore of Georgian Bay. It was discovered in 1846 and worked until 1876 by the John Taylor Co., of London. With few facilities dividends of 25 per cent. had been paid on $7,000,000 capital for several years. Then came a slump in copper, and the mines were abandoned until 1898, when the Marquis of Queensberry secured the property. He sold to the Bruce Mines Copper Co., who have in turn sold to the latest syndicate. Of this property the Marquis of Queensberry recently said "I lost money there, but the property is rich and will produce fortunes yet."

A few years ago two sons of the late Marquis of Queensberry, the present Marquis and his brother obtained control of the property and had the chief mine pumped out. Some capital has since been from time to time expended on buildings and other preliminary works by their successors in the ownership, but no ore has yet been extracted. Apparently, however, the patient hopes of the residents of the old mining village, now the town of Bruce Mines, are about to be realized, for the property has again changed hands, and the new proprietors are making preparations to go extensively into its exploitation. Since the days of the old operations the Canadian Pacific Railway has been constructed, and there have been developed on the Georgian Bay rival lines of steamers, which by their competition, will tend to reduce the cost of transportation to the lowest profitable point.

A few miles north of Bruce Mines, at Rock Lake, another vein of copper was discovered and worked for a time. A railway has been built for nearly twenty miles into the interior, and it is possible that operations on this deposit may now be resumed after a cessation of half a dozen years. The continuation of this railway to the Canadian Pacific main line, and farther to the line of the National Transcontinental Railway, would open up a region which is supposed to abound in minerals, and is known to possess a considerable amount of agricultural resources.

Second Bowler Personally Conducted Excursion.

District Passenger Agent McDonald, of the Grand Trunk Railway, has received from Mr. Bowler, at San Francisco, a letter in which he states that he has the happiest party he has ever travelled with, and that they are having a delightful trip, and that the dining car service, which is being operated by the Grand Trunk, has given great satisfaction.

The second party is now being formed, and will leave Toronto, August 22th. A LARGE CROWD SAW THE PICTURES

In Jackson Park Last Night—Trouble With Rigs.

There was a still greater crowd at Jackson Park last evening than on previous nights. Some very fine pictures were thrown on the canvas, some of them being of a comic nature, which pleased the crowd all the more. The band also rendered several selections in their usual fine style, and the crowd showed that it had not lost its appreciation of the band's music.

There were a considerable number of vehicles at the park last night, and many of the drivers, in order to obtain a better view of the proceedings, drove on to the grass into the midst of the crowd, forcing many from points of vantage.

The special policeman on duty at the park says that vehicles are a very much greater source of trouble than the crowd, and last night he had occasion to order upwards of a hundred of them off the grass.

There are several good drives throughout the park which are for all kinds of vehicles, and drivers should not take it upon themselves to drive up on to the grass and into the crowd, as a restive horse could easily cause serious trouble.

140,000 POUNDS OF CEMENT FOR THE TRENT CANAL

It appears that the Department of Railways and Canals has decided to do considerable work on the Trent Canal in the immediate future. The following despatch from Ottawa indicates this. It says:—

"The Department of Railways has awarded the International Cement Company, Ottawa, a contract for four hundred barrels of cement for the Trent Canal."

The weight of a barrel of cement is three hundred and fifty pounds, so that this contract calls for the purchase of 140,000 pounds of that product.

The local office of the Superintendent was communicated with this afternoon, and it was stated that the cement mentioned would be used at Young's Point, Benafort, Bobcaygeon and Lovesick, as well as at other places where piers are to be built.

Occupations—The occupations of this Band are trapping and gathering wild rice. Some of the men work in the lumber camp in winter and on drives in the summer.

Buildings, Stock and Farm Implements — The buildings on this Reserve, with few exceptions, are frame and are kept in a very good state of repair. The Stock is good and well cared for and the Indians have a very good supply of Agricultural Implements.

Education—The children on this Reserve attend the white school with Miss Doris as teacher and are making fair progress in their studies.

Religion—The members of this band are all Methodists, and, with Mr. Dunkley as their Minister, are taking a deep interest in the services held in their church each Sunday.

MOONLIGHT TRIP WAS MUCH ENJOYED

Salvation Army Band's Moonlight Excursion on the Otonabee.

Last night the Salvation Army Band ran their second moonlight excursion of the season down the river, and a most enjoyable evening was spent by those who paticipated in the event.

The steamer City of Peterborough was engaged for the occasion, and carried about 150 passengers. The boat left the Wolfe street wharf shortly after eight o'clock, and with the jolly crowd on board, went down the river several miles. The band, which accompanied the crowd, gave numerous selections on the upper deck during the entire trip, while on the lower deck the organ was used and singing indulged in. The sail down the river in the moonlight was a delightful one, and the wharf was reached on the return trip about 11.30, thirty minutes too late for the excursionists to take the cars home.

ANOTHER EASY WIN FOR THE LOCAL TEAM

Peterborough Lacrosse Team Defeated Midland Yesterday in the First Semi-Final Game—The Score Was 10-1 and the Play Was One-Sided—Visitors Were Totally Outclassed—A Clean Game With Some Brilliant Plays in Spots—Return Game in Midland on Monday.

The Peterborough Lacrosse Team seems to have a liking for big scores this season. They have played three home games so far, and in those three contests the aggregate score for the local team has been 37 goals, while their opponents have rolled up just three—one in each game.

Yesterday in the first game in the semi-final series for the Junior Championship, Midland played here, and the score after eighty minutes of play was 10—1, the one being credited to the visiting team. The game was not a good exhibition of lacrosse, but it was not the fault of the local team that this was the case. The visiting aggregation was hopelessly outclassed in every department, and although the homesters did not play their best, the comparison was bad enough as it was.

The Midland bunch was a distinct disappointment. They are apparently in the same class as the teams which have already played here this season. It was explained, however, that they were not in good trim yesterday, a chain of adverse circumstances being responsible for this condition. They promise that in the return game, which will be played in Midland on Monday, and to which the lacrosse team will run a special train, they will put up a much better game.

The attendance at yesterday's game was not large, in fact it was not nearly as large as it should have been. The game, while it was not as fast as some other games have been here in the past, was an interesting exhibition, and the local supporters found plenty to cheer for. At times some brilliant playing was seen though, for the most part, the play was considerably one-sided, and the ball was almost constantly in the vicinity of the Midland goal. O'Brien had a number of shots to stop, nearly all of them, however, were at long range, the defence never allowing the opposing home to get close to the goal, and the one goal which was scored against the local team was shot from a considerable distance, and, in nine times out of ten, would have not got into the nets. It was a lucky chance shot, and found the nets.

The game was a clean one, one of the best in this respect, that has been played on the local grounds this season, and the penalty time-keeper had an easy time of it. The local players were the worst offenders, but neither team showed much inclination to rough it, and, as far as a clean exhibition is concerned, that of yesterday was all that could be desired. Mr. Ed. Penrock of Stouffville, was referee, and his duties were not onerous by any means.

In order to catch the train, the last quarter was called five minutes short of the full time, but the slaughter by this time was fairly complete and the Midland bunch was pretty well satisfied that they had been beaten.

In the first quarter the locals scored a goal, while the visitors failed to get a ball past O'Brien. It was in the second quarter, however, that the greatest execution was accomplished. In this period five goals were notched by the home team, and again the visiting aggregation was shut out. In the third quarter each team got one goal, the play being more even, and the local cohort relaxed their efforts somewhat. This was the only occasion in which the visitors had an opportunity of cheering, however, for in the final period of play the Peterborough team got two more goals and the game was finished.

The teams lined up as follows:

Peterborough.	Midland.

O'Brien	Jock

Morgan	Atkins

Referee, Ed. Penrock, Stouffville.

The players of the defence in yesterday's game was the distinctive feature, the attack, while showing hardly up to the average, made a number of good chances to score, lost because of poor shooting on the part of the home players. Outside of this feature the work of the local team was fast and clean, and, had it they had found it necessary to play better they would have risen to the occasion. The defence, however, played an excellent game, refusing to be drawn out from their position, and the opposing team found it extremely difficult to get within shooting distance of the Peterborough nets and contented themselves with long shots, which were taken care of by the defence or by O'Brien, who played a good game in the nets.

While, as a whole, the visitors were considerably weaker than the locals, there were some bright spots, one of the most most promising players on the team being Hanley, a younger brother of the famous Bill Hanley, whose prowess as a lacrosse player has been known for years all through the country. Schaffer, who will be remembered by his connection with the Midland hockey team, was also a good man on the home, while Jock in goal was the right man in the right place, and stopped some shots which looked good for scores.

During the greater part of the game the ball was in the neighbourhood of the Midland goal, and a great number of shots on goal were made by them by the Peterborough home players, some of them going wide, and others being spoiled by the good work of Jock.

1—Peterborough, Glover, five minutes.
2—Peterborough, McCabe, eight minutes.
3—Peterborough, Glover three minutes.
4—Peterborough, McCabe, two minutes.
5—Peterborough, Glover, one minute.
6—Peterborough, Judd, one minute.
7—Peterborough, McCabe, three minutes.
8—Peterborough, McCabe, four minutes.
9—Midland, Hanley, nine minutes.
10—Peterborough, Glover, five minutes.
11—Peterborough, McCabe, six minutes.

On Monday next the return game will be played in Midland, and doubtless there will be a large crowd accompanying the team to that town in anticipation of a good game.

LOCAL TEAM DEFEATED NORWOOD

[illegible]

In a Fair Exhibition of Ball by the Score of 11—5.

A team representing the local baseball club journeyed to Norwood yesterday and took the Trent Valley League team of that village into camp by the score of 11-5.

There were six Night Owl players on the local line-up, and Jack Connors did the twirling, sending them up good and fast.

The game was only a fair exhibition, the visitors having little trouble to connect with Dan. McCabe's shoots.

The following is the line-up of the visitors: Connors, p; Rattray, c; O'Brien, 1b; J. Pilling, 2b; Treanor, 3b; Shea, ss; Gordon, lf; Beaty, cf; Guerin, rf.

MR. STRICKLAND IS INCLINED TO DOUBT MISS KELLERMANN'S FEATS

Mr. H. F. Strickland, of Toronto, has written to The News to call in doubt the accuracy of a statement made in these columns a short time since with regard to the swimming achievements of an Australian lady, Miss Annette Kellerman, who was said, on the authority of the British newspapers, to have covered twelve and three-fourth miles in three hours, fifty-four minutes and sixteen seconds.

The source of the information set forth on that occasion is not now available, but another paper, which quotes the same time for the same distance, says, in addition, of her work:—"So far her record is one continuous report of victories. At 15 she won the Amateur mile championship of Australia in still, salt water in 29 minutes, which was 7 minutes and 40 seconds faster than any woman in the world had done. She then made two and a quarter miles in 4 minutes and 50 seconds. When she had acquired all the Amateur Australian championships, Miss Kellermann became a professional.

Speedy at Short Distances

"In the last three years she won every Australian long-distance swim, making five miles in one hour, 8 minutes and 3 seconds, and ten and a quarter miles in 4 hours and 25 minutes. So far her other speed records are 100 yards in 1 minute and 15 seconds, the best ever made by a woman, and a quarter mile in 7 minutes and 2 seconds, although she prefers the long-distance tanks. She is also the holder of many championship prizes won in her diving contests.

"With it all, she has found time to educate herself greatly beyond her years. She has an intense admiration for things American which is only natural, as her mother comes from Cincinnati, and she is looking forward with supreme interest to her coming visit to the United States.

"The Australian girl's beautifully moulded limbs and remarkably well developed shoulders have nothing masculine about them, but leave no doubt of their strength. The movement of her hands and feet, when in the water, is good to contemplate. Her feet are small, instep high, and as they move through the air during a dive resemble those of a Parisian premiere danseuse. The activity of this 18-pound, 5 feet, 7 inch young woman betokens an immense nervous energy under perfect control. This same characteristic is notable in Miss May Sutton, the American tennis champion. Both girls are cool and decisive in action, quick witted, educated and refined.

Is not Strong on Training.

"Training?" she replied during the course of an interview. "Well, I do as Mich it is handy, wants mentioning. I was a great believer in proper development. For instance, a professional ballet dancing for two years. Privately, though, for I would not, for worlds, enter a ballet to public. Then you take up-to-date how useful ballet dancing may teach to me, particularly in diving. I know of no other method to train the muscles so the feet may take on the suppleness of the hands. Then I'm very fond of tennis, and have won several championships, but now only play, as I dance, to help my swimming. When there is a semblance of training required I usually rest a few miles for several days before a contest. Otherwise, I do not believe in doing too much. It wears one down. I eat the same things other people do, but only take one drink of any kind of liquid each day. This helps the wind."

"What do you think of the relative speed merits of men and women in the water?" she was asked.

"It's no use for a woman to try and beat a man at short distance. That is a question of brute strength. But for a long distance I certainly favour my sex because we have more patience. I am willing to swim any man in the world at any distance over ten miles. I do hope I will be able to get some of your American champions to try a long-distance match with me."

Mr. Strickland May Have Chance.

As Miss Kellermann is about to come to America in search of additional laurels, Mr. Strickland may have an opportunity to take her at her word, when a very pretty race should be the result, for Mr. Strickland, as is well known, goes some himself when once he drops into the water. But permit Mr. Strickland to voice his own doubts. His letter is as follows:—

"The enclosed clipping from The News of July 15th has been brought to my attention, and as I am the party referred to in comparison with the estimable, and no doubt, charming, Miss Annette Kellermann, the 15-year-old Australian swimmer, I feel that I might be permitted to ask if there is not some mistake in regard to the figures. Perhaps you will print the enclosed clipping along with this letter, so that it will be seen by the readers of this letter:—

"I should be glad to know that a human being could make such time as 13.54-4 miles in the time stated herein, but such is quite impossible. The world's record, made last month, for one mile is 24 minutes, 53 1-5 seconds. It is quite impossible to make succeeding miles in anything like as fast time as the first mile, but just for fun we will allow Miss Kellermann the benefit of the world's record for all the 13.4-4 miles. It would make her time over five hours.

"In the latter part of the article you refer to her doing ten miles in four hours, fifty-two minutes, as being without a parallel, while the twelve mile feat totally eclipses it. I and a number of swimmers would be glad to know the correct figures.

"My actual time in swimming from Lakefield to Peterborough, was four hours forty minutes, and I swam the entire distance with overarm stroke without a change of position. If Miss Kellermann can do 13.4 miles in a little over three hours her name should be one to 'Lulu'."

BASEBALL.

The Jackson Park nine defeated a picked team from the West End in a league game last night by the score of 7-5. The winners pitched a great ball and received on the whole, good support while LaFontaine in right field made the sensational play of the evening by gathering in Dobson's difficult fly. The teams lined up as follows:—

Things are getting in a queer shape in the Midland League. Put on an outsider, and if he wins the game you lose the protest; try him again and you win the protest. This is the way Oshawa and Bowmanville are playing. First thing we know Oshawa will try to win by protesting the only game Lindsay has won this season. Wonder how they would work it? They should probably say that Bill Cosgrave was barred under the residence rule, now that he has played ball too many years.—Lindsay Post.

Tomorrow is Lindsay's Civic Holiday and the Red Skins journey to Oshawa to play a league game in that town.

THEIR LIVES CRUSHED OUT

Four Young Girls Pinned Down By Deadly Iron Beam.

THIRTEEN PERSONS KILLED

By the Collapse of the Myers' Departmental Store Building in Albany—Fifty Were Injured and Two More of the Victims Are Not Expected to Recover—An Investigation Will Follow.

Albany, Aug. 10.—The collapse of John G. Myers Co.'s department store Tuesday, which resulted in the death of 13 persons and probably the fatal injury of two others, will be investigated by a special commission.

Of those now in the hospital, Helen Donohue is believed to be near the point of death and Mrs. William Borst of Windom, Minn., a shopper, has only an even chance of recovery. It is believed that all the other injured, 50 in number, will get well. Last night all the employes of the firm were accounted for excepting half a dozen cash boys, who are believed to be on their vacations.

The small number of deaths—small when it is considered that nearly 100 persons went down with the wreck—is accounted for by the fact that scarcely any of the brick walls fell and the debris consists mostly of wooden timbers and plaster, with only an occasional iron girder. One of these iron beams crushed the life out of four young girls.

A FATAL DRIVE.

Tragic End of George Akers, an English Hack Driver.

Toronto, Aug. 10.—Pinned down beneath the weight of a heavy upturned vehicle, the body of George Akers, a middle-aged Englishman, employed as driver by McElroy Bros., liverymen, 8-10 Duke street, was found at an early hour yesterday morning. Joseph Burton made the discovery on his way to work, at a point on Leslie street, some 400 yards above Danforth road.

The position of the body clearly showed the cause of death, and served to preclude any suspicion of foul play. Akers had been strangled by the iron bar of the seat, which rested upon his neck with a pressure of 300 pounds or more. The horse lay entangled among the shafts and harness, but was found to be unhurt.

It appears that Akers left the stable Tuesday night at about 10 o'clock to drive a Mr. J. M. Lobb and another gentleman into the Township of York. The supposition is that Akers went to sleep on his vehicle, for there are marks indicating that the horse had been grazing alongside the road for a distance of 200 or 400 yards. The vehicle must have been in a dangerous position for some time, and, getting at a very awkward angle, it is surmised that horse, rig and driver toppled over the embankment together. The horse was apparently but slightly injured. An inquest will be held.

Erin's Engineer Killed.

Windsor, Aug. 10.—The high-pressure cylinder of the steamer Erin exploded while the boat was approaching the Pittsburg Coal Company's dock in Sandwich about 2 p.m. yesterday, killing the second engineer, Matthew Cadwell of Glasgow, Scotland. No one else was injured. The Erin is owned by J. & T. Conlon, Thorold, Ont., and Captain Patrick Sullivan of St. Catharines is master.

Burns Were Fatal.

Toronto, Aug. 10.—After suffering untold torture for two days, Alice Smith of 45 William street died at the Emergency Hospital this morning from burns received through her dress catching fire.

Killed By a Tree.

Foote's Bay, Aug. 5, via Gravenhurst, Aug. 10.—Peter Jenniso, a Swede, who came here this morning to work for Giroux and Jamieson, was instantly killed by a huge tree, which was blown across a tent where he had taken shelter from a terrific wind and rainstorm, which swept across this section of the country this afternoon.

Fell Fractures Jaw.

Paris, Aug. 10.—Last evening, while engaged in decorating the William street bridge for the Old Boys' reunion, John Little of Trenton, a G. T. R. bridgeman, came in contact with a live wire and received a current of 200 volts, which threw him in the air. He fell about 15 feet, striking the floor of the bridge and receiving a fractured jaw as well as a number of bruises. It is thought he will recover.

Unknown Body Found.

Hamilton, Aug. 10.—While out on the bay rowing near Willow Point last evening about 6 o'clock John and George Halcrow of this city found the body of a woman floating in the water close to the shore. No one has yet identified it. There have been no reports of anyone being missing. The body is that of a woman about 30 years old. She was dressed in a gray plaid dress and had no hat on.

Bleeding, Protruding Piles.

Mrs. James Brown, Hintonburgh, Carleton Co., Ont., writes: "I suffered from nearly every form of piles for twenty years, both here and in the Old Country, and have tried nearly every remedy, I am only doing justice to Dr. Chase's Ointment when I say that I believe it to be the best remedy obtainable for bleeding and protruding piles, of which it has cured me."

JOE MENIER'S CRIME.

Shot Woman Who Had Eloped With Him, But Who Returned Home and Refused to Leave Again.

Aylmer, Aug. 10.—A Frenchman named Joe Menier, who formerly worked in the Laidlaw-Watson shoe factory here, yesterday afternoon shot the wife of Napoleon Guay, another employe of the shoe factory, then turned the revolver on himself and fired, the shot penetrating the left ear and lodging in the head or neck. The woman was fired at five times, one bullet taking effect in the left hand, another in rear of the right ear. Three shots missed.

Mrs. Guay will recover, Dr. Kingston, her physician, thinks, but Menier, who is attended by Dr. Sinclair, is in bad shape, and his recovery is doubtful.

The story back of the tragedy is that Menier boarded with the Guay family for some time and won the wife away from her husband and six children.

Last January Menier induced Mrs. Guay to elope with him. They went to Rochester, N.Y., and lived there until the end of July, when Mrs. Guay returned home. Mrs. Guay returned to Rochester to get her belongings, and came back last Friday night. Menier allowed her to come, but said he would give her only a month to return to him, and if she did not he would come here and shoot her head off. He came on the noon train yesterday; made his way by back streets to the house, found the woman scrubbing the front porch, and asked her to kiss him. She refused and he began shooting.

REVIEWED BY KING EDWARD.

French and British Ships in Procession Numbered Seventy.

Portsmouth, England, Aug. 10.—King Edward celebrated the anniversary of his coronation yesterday by reviewing the combined French and British fleets, aggregating some seventy ships.

As a spectacle the event was somewhat marred by gloomy and showery weather, but the enthusiasm of the crowds occupying every vantage point, ashore and afloat was undiminished. Enormous crowds of people thronged both shores and there was a fleet of excursion boats filled to capacity.

The review lasted an hour. Later the King proceeded to the battleship Massena, the French flagship, where he was the guest of Vice-Admiral Caillard at luncheon. The Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught accompanied His Majesty.

The French fleet then weighed anchor and entered Portsmouth Harbor.

The presence of a torpedo boat destroyer flying the German flag between the columns of ships at the conclusion of the King's review caused comment. It was learned, however, that she had come from Kiel to tow back Emperor William's yacht Meteor, which had been undergoing repairs at Portsmouth.

RAN AT FULL SPEED.

Argyle Captain Disobeying Marine Rules When Boat Grounded.

Kingston, Aug. 10.—The Government investigation into the casualty to the steamer Argyle near Whitby on the morning of July 29 took place yesterday morning before Commander Spain, R. N., Wreck Commissioner of Canada, and Capt. Thomas Donnelly, Kingston, Assessor. The evidence of Capt. Manson showed that the Argyle was steered by the wheel-house compass, which differed from the correct one forward.

The vessel was running at full speed all the time notwithstanding the fog. Commander Spain asked the captain if he did not know it was against the rules to run full speed in a fog.

Capt. Manson replied that he did, but the rule was seldom carried out.

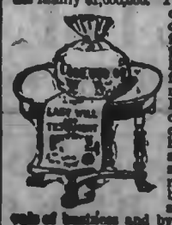
A rich man died the other day. He died in the very midsummer of life, and he left his family $1,000,000. The doctor's certificate showed that death resulted from typhoid fever. The doctor himself said to a friend: "That man was a suicide. He had a splendid constitution. It could have pulled him through if his stomach had been sound. But he ruined his stomach by hasty meals, snatched in intervals of business and by neglect of symptoms which have been warning him a year past, that his stomach was failing in its duties."



The symptoms of a disordered stomach are, among others, variable appetite, sour risings, heartburn, undue fullness after eating, dull headache, dingy complexion, discolored eye, fluctuations in physical strength, nervousness, sleeplessness despondency. No person will have all these symptoms at once.

The restoration of the stomach to sound health, begins with the first dose of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The cure progresses until the functions of the stomach are in healthy operation. Then the nerves are quiet and strong, the appetite healthful, the sleep restful, the eye bright, the complexion clear.

"Please accept my thanks for the benefit which my child received from your medicine," writes Mrs. W. A. Morgan, of Silica, Ala. "He had been troubled for nearly a year with liver complaint, indigestion and constipation. I gave him your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets,' and they did him great good. I gave him the 'Discovery' about eight months, and several vials of the 'Pellets.' He seems to be perfectly well now."

If you want a cure accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

These GENUINE Little Liver Pills, first put up by old Dr. R. V. Pierce over 40 years ago, have been a constant source of wonder ever since. They're made of purely vegetable, concentrated and refined medicinal principles, extracted from native American roots and plants. They speedily relieve and cure Dull, Heavy and Dyspeptic Headaches, Livers and Bowels and their attendant distressful ailments. One or two a laxative, three or four a cathartic.

GOVERNMENT NOT BY PARTY

Hon. F. W. G. Haultain States His Position On the Subject.

HE OPPOSES PARTY LINES

He Argues That Non-Partizan Government is Best For the Western Country, But Defends His Opposition to the Federal Government — Suggest Argument Against Party Lines in New Provinces.

Winnipeg, Aug. 10.—Hon. F. W. G. Haultain has addressed a letter to the press of western Canada defining at length his position, and stating the reason why he is opposed to the introduction of party Government in the Territories. He argues that it is contrary to the traditions and interests of legislation there, and he intends to oppose it, as he always has done, in fulfilment of a pledge to his constituents. While stating this determination Mr. Haultain pleads for the inalienable privilege of acting and speaking as he thinks fit in Federal affairs.

With regard to the Moose Jaw convention of Conservatives, who organized a Territorial Association, he says his acceptance of the Honorary Presidency thereof does not establish the fact that he is entirely in accord therewith. While declaiming his faithful adherence to the Conservative party in general policy, he says he believes he is permitted to differ in opinion on some matters.

To divide on Federal lines, he contends is undesirable, unintelligent and unnecessary, as the work of the two Houses is entirely different. The acceptable working of the present system he thinks is proven by fourteen years' existence. He believe the Conservative convention a mistake, and says if the Moose Jaw convention made a mistake and took a step which was not in the best interests of the Territories the true remedy is not to be found in drawing lines on the other side. He also says he is not bound by that resolution, as he opposed it strenuously. He has always disclaimed the principle, and claims to have been always consistent, having never used the Federal machinery in local affairs.

"What suggests the strongest argument against party lines in the Provinces?" he asks. "We want Governments which are quite independent of Ottawa. We want men who when western interests are involved will work with a single eye to those interest, without regard to party interests or convenience. And this will be necessary, no matter what party is in power, for political human nature is much the same on both sides."

Mr. Haultain believes the work of organizing the new Government will be ample without having the additional work of party antagonism. He points to his record as refutation of the charges of having violated all the principles enunciated. Regarding opposition to autonomy, he says he believes Parliament overstepped the constitutional powers in restricting the new Provinces in educational matters, and he intends to continue the opposition until the courts settle the question.

In conclusion he says:—"As for myself, I stand for non-party Government, regardless of what my political party or both political parties may decide. To me the welfare and interests of the great western country are, and always have been more important than the success or convenience of any political party, and if that statement should be questioned I will refer to my public career of nearly eighteen years in the Territories, during which I have guarded the interests, done the work and fought for their rights as honestly, capably and courageously as I knew how."

To Change Fiscal Year.

Ottawa, Aug. 10.—(Globe Special.)—It is understood that the Dominion Government has decided to change the fiscal year to end with March instead of June, as at present. This will not only be more satisfactory as regards trade and financial returns, but will permit Parliament to meet at an earlier date. The intention after the next session is to summon Parliament in November and the Department reports will be ready by that time. If the fiscal year ended with June this would not be the case.

Statue Comes in Duty Free.

Ottawa, Aug. 10.—The Dominion Government passed an order in Council by which the Mowat statue will be admitted into this Province free of duty. It was cast in bronze in New York. The base in front of the Parliament Buildings will soon be ready for the placing of the statue.

A good baking oven is what every housewife requires in a range. Other advantages add to the usefulness of the range, but an easily regulated, perfect baking and roasting oven is an indispensable feature. It is the perfection in operation of the oven of the

that has made it such a striking success.

It is in the oven construction that the greatest difference is found between the Imperial Oxford and any other range on the market. The diffusive oven flue draws the cold air from the floor, super-heats it, and distributes it throughout the oven, keeping it at an even temperature in all parts. This flue also makes it easy to regulate the heat of the oven and secures a marked saving in fuel. If your dealer doesn't handle the Imperial Oxford, write to us direct and we will send you our catalogue and tell you where you can see the range.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE REGATTA ON MONDAY

PROGRESSING RAPIDLY

Prospects for the Greatest Success in the History of the Lakes are Good--An Upsetting Episode on Saturday --An Unique Aquatic Event To-morrow Night--A Moonlight Canoe Parade--"The Old Apple Tree" and its Effect on the Cottagers--Late Personal Items of Interest.

Special Staff Correspondence.

There was the usual large attendance at last night's dance at the Juniper Pavilion, and the affair was thoroughly enjoyable.

Monday's Regatta

The arrangements for the annual regatta on Monday next are being proceeded with, and everything points to its being the greatest success in the way of aquatic sports in the history of the lake. Many participants of former years are in training for the event, and some excellent contests are assured.

It is expected that the entry list will be large, and it is to be hoped that the interest of those upon the lakes will not be entirely from a spectator's point of view, but rather that as many as possible will enter, even though they may feel in doubt as to their ability to win. The regatta serves almost useful purpose in the development of aquatic sport, and should be regarded in this light rather than from the viewpoint of the mere carrying off of prizes. It is to be hoped that a more general interest will be manifested than in some former years. A number of canoeists, both ladies and gentlemen, from Chemong and Sturgeon Point have signified their intention to be present and compete.

Upset on Sunday

On Sunday afternoon a number of guests at Glenwood assembled in canoes upon the lakes for the purpose of being photographed by an amateur knight of the lens, who was a member of the party. Three canoes containing a number of ladies were drawn alongside each other, and just as the members of the party were given the usual "look pleasant" command, a most untoward incident occurred in the sudden capsizing of one of the boats. The occupant was Miss Shaw, who was rescued with extreme difficulty after having disappeared beneath the surface of the water several times.

Moonlight Canoe Parade.

What will undoubtedly be one of the most charming events of the season will take place on Friday evening, when a gigantic moonlight float has been arranged for by the Cottagers' Association. The affair is creating a general interest and will, to judge from present prospects, be attended in large numbers by cottagers and campers.

The parade will start from the Juniper Island store, and will be in the nature of a huge flotilla. Those attending in canoes and skiffs will be towed about among the islands by the yachts, and the piano will be taken out to lend an additional musical charm to the delightful affair. This feature will also be supplemented by vocal choruses.

Illuminated Parade.

For some reason—probably because of the lack of system in the arrangements—the illuminated parade, announced to take place last night, did not materialize. Many yachtsmen and others who would have taken an active part in the affair were not even aware of the arrangements to hold it last night. Mr. R. B. Hagerman's handsome yacht was beautifully illuminated, and presented a most fascinating sight upon the water in its charming arrangement of coloured lights.

A Fishing Episode

Probably the most remarkable fishing catch which has occurred so far this season, fell to the lot of an Examiner representative who is summering at South Beach House, Young's Point. The gentleman in question, it is reported, a few days ago landed a nice 15-cent box of kippered herrings. With the usual fisherman's persistence, he maintains, however, that "the biggest one got away."

"The Old Apple Tree."

A case was recently reported from an American city of a girl who died from the effect of over-exertion in the singing of "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree." While here, it must be admitted, was by no means an easy death, it was, however, a chunk of sublime happiness in comparison to the unending torture which peaceably inclined residents of Stony Lake undergo from the 675 vocalists here, who sing this sentimental air. In the former case the girl was possessed of sufficient Christian charity to retire to her chamber to sing herself into the Great Beyond without ruthlessly destroying the lives and happiness of others. A Vigilance Committee of a reservation in Burleigh Township are spoken of as a last resort.

Joe Murphy, of coal shed fame, entertained a few visitors over last night. A party from Belleville arrived in town last evening too late to make train connections for their destination, and were somewhat at a loss as to how to proceed, as they were strangers in a strange city. Joe's charitable heart was touched and he escorted the ladies to suitable lodgings, while the gentlemen were entertained over night at his residence.

This year, too, the creamery butter and cheese will be sold at the close of the fair by the association at its own expense, and the money remitted to the exhibitors. The sale will be held by public auction. Another regulation is that exhibitors are required to send two cheese only instead of three as formerly.

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

Editor of Post Card Column:

Dear Editor,—I notice "Old Fogey" asks why the ladies these days go abroad without hats. My sisters who, by the way, is in the same single-blessedness boat as myself, says that either the women have a new bang of which they want to show off or they want to get sun-burnt so that they will have the appearance of having been at the sea-shore at Sandy Point or Omemee or elsewhere.

Yours, etc.,
OLD BACHELOR.

Editor of Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I wish to call attention to the inconvenience the public is put to at Jackson Park, by the manner in which the traffic is managed. Another lady and myself last evening had considerable cents on the trailer, ready to leave for town. A closed car was on the track ahead of us, ready also to go to town. We and other paid fares were bundled off the trailer and told to take the closed car as the trailer would not be leaving for some time. But the trailer followed the closed car down town, and we were put to trouble and annoyance for no other purpose than to satisfy the conductor's whim. The object of the railway should be to please and not annoy the public.

Yours truly,

LOCALS TO PLAY THE SHAMROCKS

Second Round in C. L. A. Semi-Finals Arranged.

If They Win on Monday Toronto Junction Shamrocks Will be Their Opponents.

If Peterborough wins out in the game with Midland on Monday, their next opponents will be the fast Toronto Junction team, looked upon by many as the best team playing junior C. L. A. this year. The schedule for the second round of the semi-finals has been announced as follows:

Wingham v. winner No. 4 district.
Hanover v. winner No. 3 district.
Cookstown v. winner No. 12 district.
Toronto Junction v. winner No. 14 district.
Brantford v. winner No. 5 district.
Winner of district No. 7, bye.

Dates to be fixed by secretary and president.

The Shamrocks, of the Junction, have had a brilliant record this season, one of the most notable of their victories being that over the Chippewas, the senior team of Toronto. The probabilities are that the first game will be played next week.

This will be perhaps the hardest series of games for the local team this season.

We never had more of an influx of visitors to the village, everyone admiring our pretty and picturesque hamlet.

Mr. Fairbetter, secretary treasurer of the Canadian Oil Company, has been here for a few days, and has proved himself to be an expert fisherman. He is a tenor soloist of no mean ability. Mr. J. D. Thornton, leader of the Presbyterian choir, has had him assist in a male duet and quartette and they have proved to be one of the most pleasing musical attractions heard here for a long time.

Mrs. Wellwood, Mr. Fiefheller, Mrs. A. Parsons, Mr. A. Parsons, commercial traveller, have been the guests of Mr. T. J. Parson, merchant.

Mrs. J. C. Eaton, Miss A. McCrea, Mr. A. McCrea, Toronto, are the guests of Mr. R. J. Mulligan.

The song service held in the Methodist church was a most attractive event.

Mr. McFadden, undertaker, conducted the funeral of the late Mrs. Hoolihan, of Downeyville, who died in St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough.

We expect to see large crowds of our farmers attending Norris and Rowe's circus.

Mr. Wm. Gardiner has secured the contract for carrying the mails at $200 a year, this sum being $50 than than has been obtained for some years.

There were quite a few old Victoria boys here this week. Most of them are doing well in Toronto and other places. Lindsay was crowded on the occasion of the Old Boys' re-union.

Never were the farmers of the country more pleased over any Peterborough enterprise than the satisfaction they feel in the use of the Peterborough binder twine. The binding agent, Mr. J. D. Thornton, has saved them considerably this season, as the International Binder Twine Company has been trying very hard to snow the Peterborough company under.

MR. M. W. PORTER SAVED

YESTERDAY AT NO. 5 LOCK TWO WOMEN FROM DROWNING

Miss McCliggott and Mrs. McManus, of Auburn, Were in the Otonabee River Helpless—Had Fallen From Punt into the Water and Would Surely Have Drowned—A Gallant Rescue—Both Ladies Were Exhausted When He Rescued Them.

Yesterday two ladies at No. 5 dam had a narrow escape from death by drowning in the swift flowing water of the Otonabee River. These ladies were daughters of Mr. McCliggotts, the lockmaster at that dam. It appears that Miss Theresa McCliggott, who lives at home, and Mrs. McManus, her sister, living in Auburn, intended to go for a row in a punt down the river on a fishing trip with Mr. McCliggott and a little girl, Mrs. McManus went to shove out the punt from the concrete pier, and fell into the water, which was 10 feet deep at this point, catching her sister as she fell and pulling her in also. They drifted out into the river in the current for some distance, and had gone down twice, and it looked as if death would be certain. The sisters were in the water locked in each others arms, when Mr. M. W. Porter, butcher, of this city, and Jos. Mitchell, ferryman, were passing on the road and saw the two women struggling in the water. At once they drove to the edge of the water and Mr. Porter got a life preserver which was near and threw it to them, but the rope was too short and would not reach the point where they were. They were clinging to an oar near the middle of the river, and Mr. Porter jumped into the water and swam out to them, reaching them just as they were about to give up through exhaustion. Mr. McCliggott had thrown the ladies an oar, and could render them no further assistance as he had to attend to the little girl.

When they reached the land both ladies were completely exhausted, and Miss McCliggott has been ill ever since, suffering from a severe nervous shock.

Mrs. McManus was brought to her home in the city, and will be all right in a day or two.

It was an extremely fortunate circumstance for these ladies that Mr. Porter happened along just at the time he did, or it is almost certain that they would both have been drowned, as no one else except their aged father, saw them, and he was unable to render them any assistance, and they would have perished before his eyes.

A GRUESOME DISCOVERY MADE AT PLEASANT POINT

Mr. Endicott made a discovery the other day at Pleasant Point that at first gave him quite a shock. He started in one morning to make a boat house on the shore, and finding a depression in the bank, about the right place, he decided he would dig there for the foundation of one side of his structure. About two feet down he threw out a bone which he did not much notice. Presently he threw out another, and then he discovered a thigh bone, and it dawned upon him that he had struck a cemetery. The next thing his pick crashed into a skull and a set of teeth flew to his feet and grinned at him. Mr. Endicott got out of the graveyard hurriedly, and fanned himself for a while. The teeth were in a remarkably good state of preservation, perfect in shape and the enamel clear and bright. One back tooth was slightly decayed at the death of its owner, and probably caused pain. The teeth skull and bones indicated that they were the remains of a female and may be those of Manita, the dusky maiden, who years ago made such havoc with the affections of the Indian brave, Ogemah.—Watchman-Warder.

PETERBOROUGH MAN HAS BEEN NAMED AS MANAGER OF THE MINES

Mr. H. E. T. Haultain, a Native of This City, and a Graduate of the S. P. C., Appointed to Management of the Corundum Mines in Renfrew—A Successful Mining Engineer—Will Now Take Charge of the Mining and Milling for the Canadian Corundum Company—A Cousin of Premier Haultain.

Mr. H. E. T. Haultain, mining engineer, who arrived in the city a few days ago from Arizona, and left last night to take charge of the corundum mining in Renfrew county, is a distinguished alumnus of the School of Practical Science. He has had a very wide experience and not only won a reputation for himself, but also brought credit and honour to his alma mater. Mr. Haultain comes from Peterborough, and is a brother of Mr. T. Arnold Haultain, the well known writer of Toronto, and a cousin of Premier Haultain, of the Northwest. At the School of Science he took course in mining and civil engineering, and graduated as mechanist, with the class of 1899. After two years of post-graduate work at Freiberg, Germany, where he specialized on mining engineering, he became manager of the St. Maurritius tin mines, of Bohemia, where he built and operated a second plant for the company. Thence he went to South Africa, to the Rand, where he designed and constructed and then managed three stamp mills, one of which had a large output. On the outbreak of war he returned to Canada and was appointed manager of the Yellowstone mine in British Columbia, and afterwards of the Arlington. In 1903, on the formation of the great American lead and silver trust, known as the Federal Mining and Smelting Company, he was employed to take general charge of their different mills for the purpose of revising and improving the methods of concentration in each. The aggregate capacity of these mills is nearly 3,000 tons daily. Since then he has been travelling in Idaho, South Dakota, Colorado, Nevada and Arizona, studying the methods of concentration. He has now just been appointed to take charge of the mining and milling for the Canadian Corundum Company, who have been enlarging their plant and felt the need of a specialist of Mr. Haultain's standing.

DRANK APPLEJACK AND GAVE SKIRT DANCE ON CHURCH LAWN

New York, Aug. 10.—According to a Somerville, N. J., despatch to the Herald, applejack, poured into a large milk can filled with lemonade at a church festival has caused no end of trouble in the hamlet of Annandale, six miles from Soldierville. After drinking freely of the concoction several young men and women performed strange antics at the festival, which shocked the staid old men and women of the village, and stirred up a scandal that will be the talk of Annandale and all the countryside for many a day.

Just who injected the applejack into the lemonade in a pickle, which the church committee in charge of the festival has been trying to solve ever since the disagreeable affair happened a week ago.

At first there was an attempt to keep the affair quiet, but the fact that several young women of the munity of high moral character performed a sort of impromptu skirt dance on the church lawn, while others became hysterical and ill from the effects of the mixed drink, was more than the church committee would stand, so it has been industriously at work trying to run down the culprits who tampered with the lemonade, and it is reported that several arrests will soon be made that will give the community another shock.

THE ODDFELLOWS ELECT OFFICERS

At the Annual Meeting Now Held in Brockville.

T. R. Blewett, of Ingersoll, Elected Grand Master—Other Business.

Brockville, Ont., Aug. 10. — Last evening, at 9 o'clock, the Grand Lodge resumed, taking up as the first order of business the report of the committee on the redistribution of districts. A schedule of the district as re-arranged by the committee was submitted to the subordinate lodges and adopted by the Grand Lodge. Toronto district was left as one district, with the addition of Newmarket and Aurora. Smith's Falls and Merrickville were placed in the St. Lawrence district. The adoption of the report was preceded by a warm discussion, but it is felt that the redistribution as a whole will be beneficial to the order. Several notices of motions were given, one of which was that district deputies be the representatives to Grand Lodge, with the same mileage and per diem and that the balance left from the saving effected be donated to the home.

Telegrams were received conveying fraternal greetings from the Grand Lodge of Manitoba, and from the Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias. A similar telegram was sent to the Grand Lodge of the Maritime Provinces, now in session at Halifax.

Grants Will be Continued.

The Finance Committee advised that appropriation of $500 for Oddfellows sent to the Toronto Exhibition be discontinued. As Ottawa was pressing for a similar grant it would be unwise to discriminate. The clause evoked considerable discussion, and on motion the Grand Lodge decided to continue the grant to Toronto Exhibition tent, while a motion to grant $25 for a tent at Ottawa was defeated. The same committee also recommended that the appropriation of $300 for clerical assistance in the Grand Secretary's office be increased to $500 per annum. This clause also passed.

Will Have no Liquor Men.

The Judiciary Committee reported that a member going into the liquor business must quit it at once or be expelled.

The attention of the Grand Lodge was brought to the notice of a young baker, who had been initiated, but before taking the first degree had embarked as a bartender. The report was adopted without a dissenting voice.

The report of the Committee on Elections was then read and adopted, the following officers being declared elected for the ensuing year: Grand Master, T. R. Blewett, Listowel; Deputy Grand Master, W.S. Johnston, Toronto; Grand Warden, R. N. Britt, Essex; Grand Secretary, J. B. King, Toronto; Grand Treasurer, W. J. McCormack, Toronto; Grand Representative, J. B. Turner, Hamilton; Grand Representative, C. C. Lyan, Brockville.

The Grand Lodge adjourned at 11.30, to meet this morning at 9 o'clock. A monster parade of Oddfellows, canteens and Orientals, accompanied by four bands, took place last night. The streets were illuminated and thousands of people viewed the parade from many points.

MAKING PREPARATIONS FOR THE CONCLUSION OF WAR

Field Marshal Oyama and Prince Kanin at Chantafu Preparing for the Signing of the Peace Declaration—America, England and French Military Attaches Combining.

Special to the Examiner

London, Aug. 11.—The correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co., St. Petersburg, wires that despatches from the front say Field Marshal Oyama and Prince Kanin, Japanese cavalry commander, accompanied by the American, English and French military attaches with the Japanese army, have arrived at Chantafu with the reported object of making preparations in anticipation of the ceremonies which will follow the declaration of peace. The Japanese have repaired the railway to the north of Chantufu in order to facilitate the expected meeting between Field Marshal Oyama and Gen. Linevitch, the Russian commander-in-chief.

JAPANESE TERMS ARE IMPOSSIBLE TO RUSSIA

So a Dispatch From St. Petersburg Says—Belief is Held There, However, That These Are Not Final, and That They are Simply a Basis for Further Negotiations—Russia's Reply is Practically Ready—Will be Presented on Saturday.

Special to the Examiner

Portsmouth, N.H., Aug. 11. — The Russian reply is already practically completed and will be handed by M. Witte to Baron Komura at 9.30 tomorrow morning. Mr. Witte has officially notified Baron Komura of this fact and the official call for a meeting of the conference at that hour has been issued.

St. Petersburg, August 11th. — At the embassies and among the officials of the various departments Japanese peace terms were declared to be exceptive and impossible of acceptance, if they constituted the Japanese ultimatum, but generally they were regarded merely as a basis on which to negotiate further. It was argued that a settlement might still be possible if certain features such as the relinquishment of the interned warships, the evacuation of Russian territory, made acceptable possible [illegible]

JAPAN NAMES PRICE OF PEACE

Japan Presents Terms and Russia is Preparing Reply—Answer May be in Two Days—Japanese Method in Making Their Demands Holds Out Hope for Final Treaty, as They Did Not Make Them as an Ultimatum--Points Contested--Cost of War.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 11.—Reimbursement for the expenses sustained in the prosecution of the war and the cession of the Island of Sakhalin constitute the main features of the peace conditions handed by Baron Komura to M. Witte at the conclusion of yesterday morning's session of the plenipotentiaries here. The word "indemnity" is carefully avoided, the term employed being "reimbursement" for the cost of the war. No sum is fixed, the amount being distinctly adjourned for mutual adjustment between the two countries after the Japanese expenditure has been ascertained. These are the two all-important conditions, and thone which the Russian plenipotentiaries finds absolutely unacceptable.

Unacceptable as they are, however, it can be stated that these two principal conditions did not come as a surprise to the Russian plenipotentiaries. The friendly fashion in which Baron Komura explained the conditions before handing them to M. Witte, and the avoidance of the use of the word "indemnity" in the presentation of the Japanese bill for the cost of the war without fixing a sum leaves the way open for negotiation and constitutes the main hope that a final agreement is possible. Certainly the danger of a sudden rupture, no matter what the ultimate result may be is precluded by yesterday's developments.

As Expected.

The other terms are substantially what the world expected, and with one or perhaps two exceptions, could probably be entertained as bases for negotiations. They include the following:

The cession of the Russian leases to the Liaotung Peninsula, comprising Port Arthur and Dalny, the evacuation of the entire Province of Manchuria, the retrocession to China of any privileges Russia may have in the Province, and the recognition by Russia of the principle of the "open door," the cession to Japan of the Chinese Eastern Railway below Harbin, the main line through Northern Manchuria to Vladivostock to remain Russian property, the recognition of the Japanese protectorate over Corea, the grant of fishing rights to Japan in the waters of the Siberian littoral northward from Vladivostock to the Behring Sea; the relinquishment to Japan of the Russian warships interned in neutral ports, and finally a limitation upon the naval strength of Russia in Far Eastern waters.

Offensive to Russia.

As a whole the terms are regarded as exceedingly hard by the Russians. In addition to the two principal conditions, which cannot be accepted under M. Witte's instructions, those relating to the limiting of Russia's naval power in the Far East and the granting of fishing rights upon the Russian littoral are considered particularly offensive to the amour propre of the country, and of such a humiliating character as to be inadmissible.

The Japanese, on the contrary, as Baron Komura announced at the conference yesterday, considered them moderate, contending that they only represent a fair compensation for the expenses of the war and the victories they have achieved on land and sea, their sole purpose being to attain the objects for which they have fought, the spoils claimed being only such as they are legitimately entitled to as the result of their military and naval success. The Russian plenipotentiaries, as soon as the Japanese terms were in their hands, called in the five expert delegates attached to the mission and spent the whole afternoon in the consideration of the terms.

Cabled to Czar.

Meantime, the conditions had been placed in cipher and cabled to the Russian Emperor with M. Witte's personal recommendations. It is hoped that a reply will be received from the Emperor to-day, in which case M. Witte expects to have the Russian response ready by Saturday, but it is not unlikely that Saturday being the first anniversary of the birth of the Csarevitch the presentation of the reply will be deferred until Monday. Meantime, the plenipotentiaries will not meet unless some unexpected necessity for a conference should arise.

The Japanese plenipotentiaries manifest not the slightest annoyance at the prospect of a few days delay. They realize how serious the issue is, and are perfectly willing to give their Russian colleagues ample time for consideration.

The Russian and Japanese plenipotentiaries denied themselves to callers, no statements were issued and only to a few were the substance of Japan's conditions known.

It was ascertained that an agreement was reached yesterday by which the next meeting of the conference was formally adjourned until Monday.

Russ Correspondents Not Hopeful.

The Russian correspondents here are not optimistic as a result of the disclosure of the Japanaese terms. They telegraphed their papers yesterday a pessimistic view of the outlook for peace, taking the position that the Japanese demand as to Sakhalin and indemnity were excessive and such as Russia, in the present circumstances, was not forced to yield to.

MIKADO'S TERMS SUMMARIZED.

What Japan Asks:

"Reimbursement" for expenses of war.
Cession of Sakhalin.
Evacuation of Manchuria.
Recognition of Japanese Protectorate over Corea.
Granting of fishing rights to Japan in Siberian waters.
Relinquishment to Japan of interned warships.
Limitation upon naval strength of Russia in Far Eastern waters.

What Russia Will Give:

Eastern Railway between Harbin and Port Arthur.
Abandonment of Manchuria.

The Points Contested:

"Reimbursement" for expenses of war.
Cession of Sakhalin.
Limiting of naval power.
Granting of fishing rights.

The Cost of War.

To-day—the 550th day of the Russian-Japanese war and the third day of the peace conference—the cost of war to Japan is officially estimated to this date to be $650,000,000.

Czar Knows the Worst.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 11.—Russia is probably now in possession of Japan's terms for ending the war. Long cipher despatches were received late at night by the Foreign Office and the Russian Government is awaiting the morrow before deliberating on and discussing the Japanese Emperor's terms. Whether M. Witte has cabled the terms direct to Emperor Nicholas is not known. The cipher telegrams arrived at the Foreign Office after the departure of the translating secretaries.

Will End in Treaty.

Portsmouth, Aug. 11.—Eijiro Takasugi, professor of English at the Imperial University of Tokio, in an interview, following a lengthy conversation with M. Sato, who, being spokesman for the Japanese peace mission, said yesterday that Japan's terms, in his opinion, would include the immediate evacuation of Manchuria, the cession of the Island of Sakhalin and of Vladivostock, and an indemnity of $1,000,000,000. The indemnity might be reduced, if peace could be brought about in no other way.

"The Portsmouth conference will end in a treaty of peace," continued the professor. "The conference may be long drawn out, but Russia must in the end accede to the terms of Japan, which has gained an impregnable position and can dictate terms."

Two Jap Squadrons.

Tokio, Aug. 11.—Rear Admiral Kataoka reports that he has despatched one naval squadron to Kamchatka and another to Okhotsk, and that they are now engaged in carrying out their instructions in regard to the work to be performed at their respective destinations.

Interned Cruiser Repaired.

San Francisco, Aug. 11.—The Russian cruiser Lena, which has been interned at Mare Island Navy Yard for several months, left there yesterday morning for a trial trip to the lower bay. For some time past the Union Iron Works has been making extensive repairs on her. It is intended to have her in good shape to return to Russia as soon as conditions between that country and Japan permit.

REBELLION RAMPANT.

Warsaw Police Busy Filling Jails With Jewish Socialists.

Warsaw, Aug. 11.—The police were busy yesterday afternoon filling jails with Jewish Socialists. They captured 250 armed with revolvers and daggers in a synagogue on Novolipie street. Fifteen others were arrested by a patrol on Francis Skauska street, after an exchange of shots.

A bomb was discovered in a street yesterday morning, and three policemen were shot. There also were disturbances in the surrounding districts.

Gangs of revolutionists, armed with revolvers and bombs, attacked the Government treasuries in the three district towns of Opatow, Lubartow and Wengrow, resulting in a stiff fight with the police, several of whom were killed or wounded. Peasants destroyed the palace of Count Krasinski, at Tykocin, near Byelostok.

A WOMAN'S ORDEAL
DREADS DOCTOR'S QUESTIONS

Thousands Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and Receive Valuable Advice Absolutely Confidential and Free

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions in regard to her private ills, even when those questions are asked by her family physician, and many continue to suffer rather than submit to examinations which so many physicians propose in order to intelligently treat the disease; and this is the reason why so many physicians fail to cure female disease.

This is also the reason why thousands upon thousands of women are corresponding with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. To her they can confide every detail of their illness, and from her great knowledge, obtained from years of experience in treating female ills, Mrs. Pinkham can advise women more wisely than the local physician.

Belle Emerentienne Montreuil, of 114 Latourelle St., Quebec, Que., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I suffered for eight months with what the doctors called prolapsus, which caused great weakness all over my system, with faint dizzy spells. I kept growing weaker and weaker. I tried several medicines which they claimed would cure my trouble, but nothing was of the least benefit until I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and this helped me so rapidly that I could hardly believe my good fortune. I would gladly have paid $25.00 for that first bottle, for it started me on the road to health, and five bottles cured me.

"I am most grateful for my splendid, robust health, and shall certainly recommend the Vegetable Compound in glowing terms to all my friends and acquaintances, for it is deserving of all the praise I can give it."

Mountains of proof establish the fact that no medicine in the world equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for restoring women's health.

Editor Post Card Column:—

I am employed in one of the offices up town, and I wish to register a complaint against the merchants on George street who, in the mornings are so promiscuous in their use of water. Frequently when I come to work the store windows are being washed off and the men who are doing the work, usually with a hose, are not at all particular as to whether they spray the water over myself or other girls who are on their way to work. I have had two dresses nearly spoiled already by this careless habit.

"OFFICE GIRL."

Editor of Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—The power of the press to fabricate civic machinery is demonstrated by the fact that since a paragraph appeared in the Examiner calling attention to the desparity in chronological registration by the two city clocks, the striking has been absolutely synchronous. But yesterday it was noticed that one clock got in its time limitmabulation about a stroke and a half ahead of the other. The Examiner had better furnish a little more clock oil.

Yours truly,
SCHOOL BOY.

Editor of Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—Is there no way of compelling the Street Railway Company to give a better service? Last night I took a young lady friend out to Jackson Park to hear the "silver tongued" male quartette and on our return the car upon which we rode stopped at Charlotte and George streets and although we had transfers the conductor curtly told us that we would have to walk the rest of the way, and my young lady friend lives away up George street, too. I didn't care for myself, but I do not like to have to take a young lady out, and then make her walk half the way home.

Yours truly,
DUDE.

Editor of Post Card Column:

Dear Editor,—I note that the Street Railway Company are improving their track on George street. When in the name of decency is the Street Railway Company or the corporation going to impove the iniquitous condition of Park street alongside the street railway tracks. To call the condition of the street disgraceful is milk and water mildness. Does the Board of Works derive its name from the wooden character of their heads and the "Works" they don't do or do badly?

Yours sincerely,
ANTI-MUD.

MAY MEAN DISSOLUTION OF CANADIAN BRANCH
OF THE ROYAL ARCANUM

Messrs. D. W. Dumble, Geo. Edmison and R. E. Wood Attended Indignation Meeting in Toronto—Sixty Delegates and Executive to Enter Official Protest Against Increase in Rates Made Recently in the United States May Mean the End of the Royal Arcanum.

Yesterday about sixty members, representing the Ontario Lodges, and the Executive of the Grand Council of Ontario, of the Royal Arcanum of America, met in St. George's Hall in Toronto, and held a spirited indignation meeting to protest against the excessive advance in the society's insurance rates.

Messrs. D. W. Dumble, R. E. Wood and George Edmison, of town, were present at the meeting, and were prominent in the discussion. When interviewed to-day, Mr. Dumble said the meeting was unanimous in condemning the new tariff of rates.

Since the inception of the society $1,000,000 has been paid out in death claims, but the inevitable has now occurred. There are about 20,000 members of the society over sixty, and in consequence of more frequent deaths, the ordinary revenue which was sufficient in its earlier life is now wholly insufficient; and an adjustment of rates has to be made with regard to all members over fifty.

The increased rates for the old men are three times greater than the former rates and are so heavy that they must necessarily freeze the old men out.

"It may mean not only the seceding of the Canadian lodges, but the dissolution of the whole Royal Arcanum in America. The speakers thus far this morning have been unanimous in condemning the increase in rates effected at Baltimore by the supreme body."

This declaration was made to-day by H. E. Talmadge, of Beaverton Council, to The Telegram in St. George's Hall, where, to-day sixty delegates representing all Ontario and the Executive of the Grand Council of Ontario are holding a spirited indignation meeting to protest against the increased assessment recently levied. This will take the form of an official protest to the supreme body in the United States, and if the rates are maintained, may portend serious difficulty for the existence of the order.

"What has been officially advanced as the reason for the increase in rates?" was asked J. M. Byrens, a delegate from Kanawha, Hamilton Lodge No. 681.

"That is just what we don't know, and what we have been trying to find out," was the answer.

Called by Ontario Executive.

The meeting was called by the Executive of the Grand Council, and was closed to-day to the press. The tyler at the door scrutinized the credentials carefully of every man that presented himself at the door, first viewing him from a peep-hole. From inside came the sound of loud and vigorous voices raised in angry denunciation of the whole proposition. First one member and then another took up the ball of debate and advanced reasons why the higher rates should not be tolerated.

"The opinion of everyone who has expressed himself to-day is that the new rates are exorbitant, and that they have been sprung upon us. We want to find out the reason for the increase, and to take steps to readjust them," said Mr. Byrens.

Hard on Old Members.

Another delegate who came out of the hall looking very hot and flustered said that it was iniquitous to ask the old members to stand the higher rates. He said that at the present time a man aged 65 years who had been in the organization for 30 years had to pay on $1,000 an assessment of $5.36 per month, which was away higher than the old figure, while a man 42 years of age would have to contribute only a little over $1 per month.

The chairman of the Executive presided to-day. There were no representatives from the United States, but members said that similar action would probably be taken by the American councils, and if no relief was afforded the whole order might be disrupted so far as insurance was concerned.

The resolution will be drafted this afternoon and forwarded to the supreme body either at Baltimore or Boston.

A LONG SUFFERING CITIZEN
COMPLAINS OF THE CITY'S STREETS

Editor of the Examiner.—

Dear Sir,—The condition of the streets west of Park street, with few exceptions, are in a most disgraceful conditions. No pavements are to be seen on Smith, Stonecoord, McDonel, Elm, Weller, Charlotte or further south.

The new aristocratic streets, Homerwood Avenue, and Gilmour streets, are on the contrary, well paved, lighted and graded. Charlotte Street, the most used and first highway to the city has been deplorably lighted; only lately has one light been placed there, the borrowed light from her forty-foot sister Gilmour street having always been considered by our City Fathers quite sufficient. The side-walk is composed of the rottenest pieces of old plank obtainable anywhere, preferably after being in use for ten years on some street from which the plank walk has been removed to make room for the modern cement walk; boulders, mud holes, and man holes being particularly in evidence on side to back aches and profanity on the part of the drivers, along this lovely speedway, and the pockets of the carriage builders and blacksmiths. We've struck town" says the automobilist, as he bounded in the night air when he hit Charlotte street corner and boundary line. And if evidence "par excellence" is needed to show the radical difference between City Aldermen and the untutored Township Councillors take a drive or a walk up McDonel street to Jackson Park from Park street; McDonel street for vehicles or pedestrians is positively dangerous to travel on — the rails are about one foot over the present roadway, and in the centre of the street, one would think the street was the railway's right of way, over a farm; the boundary line from McDonel north to the Park was left in the same condition as McDonel for about three days—then the untutored, non-engineered or paid street waiter—Township Council, gave notice to Messrs. "The Railway Company" to fill up and grade at once and they did the stunt.

What is the Engineer paid for, if not to report and place same on record as to the condition of the streets, Charlotte, Park and McDonel? The residents of these streets are certainly long suffering to put up so placidly with this back country state of affairs—and why is the railway company in this town allowed to build their line to the injury of the ratepayers whose property they pass? Can anyone answer? The residents on these streets are talking of calling an Indignation Meeting and removing the rails from McDonel street to the end of the creek some dull day.

MORE THAN 200 BOATS HAVE PASSED THROUGH THE LIFT LOCK

The traffic on the Trent Canal this season between Lakefield and Peterborough has been very large, and fully justifies the assertion that the opening of this stretch of the water way was necessary.

During this season up to date 200 boats have passed over the lift lock, 50 of these during the month of August.

These boats have included passenger steamers, barges and scows, and the freight traffic through the canal has assumed large proportions. A number of loads of wood have passed through the canal, and yesterday the first scow-load of live stock, hogs for the Geo. Matthews Company, arrived at their dock from up the canal.

The record of traffic thus far this year has been most satisfactory, and if it continues to increase at the present rate the canal staff will be kept busy. Nothing so clearly demonstrates the usefulness of the canal as the fact that it is used, and the traffic will undoubtedly increase in the future.

Second Bowler Personally Conducted Excursion.

District Passenger Agent McDonald, of the Grand Trunk Railway, has received from Mr. Bowler, at San Francisco, a letter in which he states that he has the happiest party he has ever travelled with, and that they are having a delightful trip, and that the dining car service, which is being operated by the Grand Trunk, has given great satisfaction.

The second party is now being formed, and will leave Toronto, August 29th. Rate of $150.00 covers round trip ticket, berth in sleeper, meals in dining car, and lodging at hotels in Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Portland, Oregon, a number of side trips, etc. Send for itinerary, which may be obtained from principal Grand Trunk agents, or by addressing E. C. Bowler, Room 356, Union Station, Toronto. 10427

A Lucrative Job.

Collector of Customs Barrett, Amherstburg, is also a marriage license issuer, and does the bulk of the business there, which is second in the county only to Windsor. Local men believe he should be content with the collectorship, which is worth $1,600 per year. Dr. Anderson, of Leamington, who controls the patronage of the south riding, is being pressed to cancel Barrett's commission as the license issuer and to appoint someone else to this office.

Pains in the Chest.

Mr. John Clark, Port Hope, Ont., states: "Last winter I was so bad with a cold that I could not speak above a whisper, and had great pains in the chest. A friend advised me to try Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and one bottle cured my cold which I believe would have proven very serious if I had not used this medicine."

LIQUOR ACT IS BEING ENFORCED

James Flynn Supplied Liquor to a Minor

He was Fined $10. and a Second Charge Dismissed—A Cyclist Fined.

The centre of interest in this morning's police court focused in a case against Jas. Flynn, proprietor of the Royal Hotel, for selling liquor to a minor. Flynn pleaded not guilty.

Albert Wright was called into the witness-box to give his evidence. He said he was 14 years old, and that on Monday morning he had been sent to the Royal Hotel with a written order from a woman, and got ten cents' worth of porter in a tin pail, but he remained in the sitting-room while the bartender got the stuff.

Flynn produced a round dozen of such orders from the same woman, and informed the Magistrate that he was not aware of last year's change in the act, which change forbids the selling of liquor to minors, even if they are furnished with written orders; they must be accompanied by a parent.

The Magistrate said he was there to enforce the law and educate the public.

"Well, but I wasn't aware of the change," said Flynn.

"But you will be now," said the Magistrate, "and I will put on the lowest possible fine, $10 and $3.50 costs."

An identical charge, but on a different date, was preferred against Flynn, and the boy Wright was again called. He said he had not been in the bar twice this week, only the one time when his brother caught him.

The Magistrate thought Flynn had no intention of breaking the law, and as he had just received a lesson, this case was dismissed.

Benny Livingstone rode on the pavement past the Chief's residence. The Chief was at home and rapped on the window; and this morning Benny contributed $2 to the city treasury.

TWO VALUABLE BLOOD HOUNDS IMPORTED

Dr. F. L. Robinson Makes a Valuable Additiou to His Kennel.

Dr. F. L. Robinson, the enterprising liveryman, acquired a very valuable addition to his kennel last Friday. The new-comers are a pair of thoroughbred bloodhounds, four months old and black and tan in colour.

The pups were born and registered in England, and were imported into the United States and were soon afterwards secured by their present owner.

The pups are playful and big for their age, and are the only full blooded hounds in Canada as far as Dr. Robinson knows.

Mr. Robinson intends to commence training the dogs soon and will exhibit them at some of the bigger fairs and dog shows where they will be sure to get some good prizes. Had the hounds arrived sooner they would have been exhibited at the Toronto Exhibition this fall, but the entry lists closed on Monday and Mr. Robinson was not sure of their arrival in good condition, he did not have them entered, but there is lots of time and good opportunities yet.

TO KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM
Is the Only Possible Way of Having an Effective Cure.

If you see a woman or a man with luxuriant glossy hair, you may be sure that neither has dandruff to amount to anything. In nearly every case where women and men have thin brittle hair, they owe it to dandruff. There are hundreds of preparations that claim to cure dandruff, but not one but Newbro's Herpicide tells you that dandruff is the result of a germ burrowing into the scalp, and that permanent cure of dandruff and its consequent falling and baldness, can only be had by killing the germ; and there is no other preparation that will destroy that germ but Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause and you remove the effect."
Sold by all leading druggists. Send ten cents in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond and Walsh, special agents.

A Wetaskiwin Mystery.

Winnipeg Free Press has a special from Wetaskiwin reporting a strange discovery in the cemetery. The grave-digger had dug for a grave in ground supposed to be unoccupied, and came upon a skeleton. He tried another place and just touched the side of a coffin. He covered the part of the coffin that had been brought to light and completed the grave and left it for the night. In the morning, on going to see all was right for the interment, he found a coffin had been lowered into the excavation in the course of the night, and had to make another hole. Evidently more people are buried in Wetaskiwin than the authorities are aware of.

Salada Tea.

The increase in the consumption of "Salada" Tea in Canada and the United States during the first six months of this year over the corresponding period of 1904 has been phenomenal. It amounted to 256,586 lbs. This amounts to as much tea as was consumed in the same period in all the cities, towns and villages on the Grand Trunk line between Toronto and Montreal, including Pickering, Whitby, Osbawa, Bowmanville, Newcastle, Newtonville, Port Hope, Cobourg, Grafton, Colborne, Brighton, Trenton, Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, Gananoque, Brockville, Prescott, Cardinal, Iroquois, Morrisburg, Cornwall, Lancaster, Coteau Jct. and Vaudreuil.

This enormous increase in demand in six months proves pretty conclusively that "Salada" serves the public well.

TRANSPORTATION.

The Government's approval of the location plans for the Transcontinental Railway, from Portage la Prairie west 275 miles towards Edmonton, brings the question of transportation into prominence. It is urged against this location that the new line will parallel the C.P.R. for some distance. This may be so, but conditions are changing so rapidly that the circumstance is deprived of much of its significance. The new line will serve a district to which settlers are flocking in thousands. Besides, this location will go far to redeem the Government pledge — to provide competition, representing both increased transportation facilities, and equalization of carrying rates. The increase of population in new districts means additional grain to move, and another element in traffic congestion, which demands demands another line for its relief.

The recognized need of the Northwest is the provision of every possible avenue for transportation. The benefit to the farmer of a bumper crop will be neutralized in proportion to the difficulty of ready access to the seaboard, and a market. In view of this it is not superfluous to call the attention of Parliament and the Government to the important part the Trent Canal is able to play in helping the carrying trade of the great West. The Examiner has time after time pointed out that the rapid development of the wheat growing areas, and the general traffic production incidental to such development, make the provision of every possible outlet of this traffic imperative. The completion of the Trent Canal will by no means solve the problem of transportation, but it will help to such an extent that its importance as a national transportation system cannot be wisely ignored.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Mr. J. H. McColl, member of the Commonwealth Parliament, of Australia, is in Canada to study our irrigation system,—but it is understood that he will not apply to the Licensed Victuallers' Association for information.

Premier Balfour has worried through another session of the Imperial Parliament and still keeps his seat, and his hands still manipulate the reins of power. But when he goes to the country he is likely to find himself and Government on the shady side of the hedge.

If Canada is equipped to feed the empire, Ontario is able to nickelplate it. We have the greatest wheat fields in the world, and the biggest and best nickel deposits in the world. Col. Porter, of the India mint, is in the Province now to investigate the feasibility of procuring Ontario nickel in order to introduce it into the coinage of India. His chance is good. It will be no insignificant feather in Ontario's cap if she can enter into practical competition with "the wealth of Ormus and Ind," and have her nickel glitter in company with "barbaric pearls and gold."

A Cobourg citizen, Mr. Thomas Gilbard, has inserted a clause in his will, making a bequest of $13,000 to the town of Cobourg for the erection of a school building, which is equivalent to a present gift, for Mr. Gilbard is willing to advance the money in his life time, if the School Board decides to erect a school building in 1906. If Peterborough could unearth a wealthy citizen, with similar public spirit and generosity, we might stand some chance of getting a new Collegiate Institute building. Without some providential intervention of this kind, the prospects do not seem at present very good.

PRESERVATION OF OUR GAME RESERVES

Must Adopt English Plan or Have None--Views of Mr. W. B. Wells on the Subject--Suggested Change in the Opening Day for Duck--The Future of the Quail.

Mr. Wm. B. Wells writes to The Globe:— From the lack of interest shown by sportsmen in the meeting of the Game Commission lately held at Toronto with a view to changes in the game laws it is quite evident that the laws are not far from right. It would be strange indeed if such were not the case, as the Game Commission has since its inception been in touch with sportsmen in the different sections of the Province, and has endeavoured to get at their views with regard to changes in the game laws from time to time. These views have been reported at the annual meetings, and such changes as the majority suggested were recommended and were as a rule acted upon by the Government.

The deer subject is a much mixed one, involving a lot of different interests, and it is safe to say that no laws that may be passed will suit all classes of sportsmen and others who go to the northern woods in the fall. The still-hunter has his views of what should and should not be, and the hound man has views directly opposite. As to the feathered game with which we in southern Ontario are solely interested, the outlook from a general public point of view is not bright.

The wild turkey, the king of game birds, has become extinct, so has the passenger pigeon, a bird that gave sport to anyone who could handle a gun in the old days. The ruffed grouse, commonly called partridge, owing to the cutting down of his favourite haunts, may also be counted out. Of the migratory game birds the woodcock is rarely seen, except in a few favourite localities. Snipe last season were more plentiful than for some years, but the grounds frequented by them are mostly preserved by clubs and individuals. Ducks of all kinds seem to be steadily decreasing in numbers, owing, no doubt, to the increased number of shooters. They have to run the gauntlet from where they breed in the far north all the way to the Gulf of Mexico, where they spend their winters, and they are shot along the gulf coast by market hunters during the entire winter, and all their way up north in the spring until they reach the Canadian boarder. Sportsmen in the States are awakening to the fact that unless something is done to stop the slaughter ducks will be exterminated. Whilst all varieties are decreasing in number, the wood or summer duck is the only variety that has almost entirely disappeared. I speak of the [illegible] marshes, Rond Eau and Point [illegible] I have heard that there are [illegible] numbers of this beautiful duck on the back lakes about Orillia. The blue wing teal are holding [illegible] very well, as are the black duck; but the mallard, which at one time on the St. Clair marshes outnumbered the black duck, are becoming scarcer year by year.

Uniform Opening Day for Duck.

The only change in the duck law, apart from restricting the bag, which is very hard to enforce, and doing away with pump and automatic guns would be to make the opening day September 15th, instead of Sept. 1st, as now. This would give a uniform opening day for duck, snipe, woodcock, plover, quail and partridge. Some have suggested even a later date for the opening of duck shooting, but this would deprive Canadians of their share of blue wing teal shooting, as they leave for the south about October 1st. The main reason for putting the opening day, September 1st, years ago, was to give us a share of the wood duck shooting; they leave as a rule even earlier than the blue wing teal, but as they are now almost extinct, they need not be taken into consideration.

The bird that has heretofore given sport to the general sporting public, and the one we must look to in future if we are to have any sport, is the quail. Many good sportsmen are rather pessimistic about the future of the gamey little bird. They say that owing to the cutting of the forests, the general cleaning up of the creek bottoms, slashings, brier patches, etc., etc., and also the substitution of the wire fence, with its lack of cover, for the old snake rail fence, with its weedy corners, the the quail must undoubtedly follow the turkey and the partridge. I am, however, not inclined to take such a gloomy view of things, although at present, owing to the very severe winters, quail are scarce in Essex, Kent, Lambton, Middlesex and Elgin—the quail counties. The law as to quail has been changed from time to time as was found necessary. At first there was two months open season; then it was reduced to six weeks and again to one month. Last season an order in council was passed prohibiting shooting for one year and no doubt the Game Commission will recommend another close season, as birds are altogether too scarce to allow of any shooting this season.

Last spring the Government placed at the disposal of the commission $1000 to be expended in live quail to re-stock the quail district. Arrangements were made for the quail but the United States authorities forbad the express companies carrying them and the consequence was that no birds were got in. It is to be hoped that those in authority will make such representations to the proper authorities on the other side of the line that birds will be allowed to come in another year. We send them moose and beaver for stocking purposes and they should return the compliment. Clubs and private individuals have imported quail in a small way for the past 25 years, and it is considered by those best able to judge as the only way to keep up the supply. It must be remembered that the few southern counties, Essex and Kent in particular, have to furnish quail shooting for the bird shooters of the whole province and for those who take out licenses from the States as well.

Game Preserves.

Much has been said against the monopoly of game preserves, but in my mind the only salvation of game in the thickest settled districts is game preserves both large and small. In other words, we must come to the Old Country idea of things or have no game. The general public is too much like Max O'Rell's Englishman: he is always looking for something to kill. He never thinks of saving or preserving. His motto is, "If you don't kill it someone else will," and he takes a long shot, thinking that if he does not kill or wound the bird he will make it wilder for someone else. The club or game preserve man on the contrary, as a rule, has some idea of saving something for another year. I must confess, however, that it is very hard to get some of the old-timers to fall in with the new ideas. They began their shooting when game was plentiful, and no one had to give a thought to the future supply. The question with them after the day's shooting was always "How many did you kill?" and not "What sport did you have?" That day is passed now, and the future generation of shooters will have to pay more attention to saving, propagating and preserving, or they will have nothing to kill.

COBOURG GETS GENEROUS GIFT

Ten Thousand Dollars for Schools in That Town.

Mr. T. Gillbard Announces a Bequest of That Amount, Which He Will Advance if Needed During His Life.

Cobourg, Aug. 10.—At a special meeting of the Public School Board, the Chairman, Mr. E. H. Osler, read a letter from Mr. Thos. Gillbard dated at the office of Mr. E. C. S. Huycke, K. C., on August 5, and bearing Mr. Huycke's name as witness, stating that the writer, Mr. Gillbard, had inserted a provision in his will giving a legacy of $10,000 to the Public School Board of Cobourg for the erection of a school building, and that he had decided to advance this in his lifetime should he live so long, and if the Board decided to build during the year 1906. Mr. Gillbard, who is one of the most highly esteemed citizens, was a member of Cobourg Public School Board for forty years, and chairman for many years, and only resigned a couple of years ago, owing to his advanced age. Last year he presented the Cobourg Cemetery Board with a handsome sum for the erection of a mortuary chapel at the Union Cemetery, and this beautiful building was dedicated last autumn. He has always taken a keen and intelligent interest in educational matters, and his recent munificent gift is greatly appreciated by citizens generally, as it will place the interests of the public school on a secure, progressive footing. It is expected that the money will be used in the erection of a general consolidated school. The gift was most gratefully received by the Board.

JUSTICES MAY NOT LOSE JOBS

Premier Whitney Denies Reports of Wholesale Dismissals.

Issuing a General Commission of the Peace—Premier's Statement.

"I see it stated in some papers and in correspondence that the Attorney-General is dismissing all the Justices of the Peace of the Province," said Hon. J. P. Whitney to The Toronto Star to-day, "and I would like to point out that such assertions are entirely erroneous. The fact is that we are issuing a general commission of the peace, a step which has not been taken for all the counties of the Province since away back in the sixties, but in our instructions to the members we have asked them to retain a large number of the former justices in their recommendations, and I may say they are doing so. In some counties, East Durham for instance, everyone of the former justices has been recommended for reappointment with the addition of 8 of 10 new men. And a similar action is being taken in other counties. We are really not dismissing a single individual."

Among the counties for which the lists are now complete are Manitoulin, Northumberland and Durham, Lennox and Addington, Prince Edward, Hastings, and Renfrew.

MASTER BAKERS AT OTTAWA

ATE PORK AND BEANS BAKED IN ROYAL SHANTY OVEN

Local Knights of the Dough Royally Entertained by the Ottawa Bakers--Annual Convention Was Held There This Week--A Most Enjoyable Trip--Bakers Were Taken to Montreal as Guests of the Ogilvie Milling Company--Many Pleasing Incidents of Their Stay in the Capital City.

Messrs. Harry Long and T. Hooper, Mr. and Mrs. T. Lush and Mrs. N. Lush returned this morning from Ottawa, where they were in attendance this week at the annual convention of the Master Bakers' Association of Ontario. Mr. Harry Long kindly gave a representative of the Examiner an interview in which he summarized the pleasant experience of the visiting delegates.

There were one hundred and eighty delegates in attendance, who were very cordially welcomed by Mayor Ellis at the city hall, where the business sessions of the Association were held. In the afternoon, as the guests of the Ottawa bakers, whom Mr. Long described, without intending to execute a pun, most capital hosts, the delegates visited Rockliffe Park and its many points of interest, including the rifle ranges, and the Royal Shanty, so called because it was the scene of a characteristic banquet to their Royal Highnesses, the Duke and Duchess of York, where a solid menu of fresh baked bread and pork and beans, the same as served to the royal visitors, and baked in the same shanty oven, was served. During the progress of the banquet, Ballantyne's band furnished sweet music. Among the three large round loaves baked for the occasion, secured by the visitors, Mr. Long succeeded in capturing one, and it will be on display in his show window on George street. On Wednesday after the business session, the delegates made an excursion to Hull, where they were welcomed by the Mayor, and an interesting visit was paid to Eddy's and the Booth sawmills. In the evening a visit was paid to Aylmer on the Lake, where another luscious appeal was made to the appetites of the holidaying bakers in the form of a sumptuous dinner at the Victoria Hotel.

On Thursday, according to Mr. Long, the pleasure of the visit reached a climax. The Bakers with their wives and sweethearts were made the guests of the Ogilvie Milling Company. A special train was placed at their disposal, which took them to Montreal. The great mills of the Ogilvies in Montreal, the source of much of the flour used by the bakers, was visited. They are supposed to be among the best equipped mills on the continent. Then followed a delightful drive around the city, including the mountain, etc. After the inspection the bakers, who seemed to make a business of eating, which made their visit to the east, more of an inning than an outing, were entertained at dinner by the Ogilvie Company at the Windsor Hotel.

Mr. Long and the Peterborough party are enthusiastic over the delights of the annual pilgrimage of the Master Bakers which was a delightful series of one form of enjoyment after another.

AN OLD RESIDENT PASSES AWAY

Late Mrs. Detcher Lived in Peterboro' 33 Years.

The death occurred yesterday at her late residence, 79 Smith street, of Grace Telford, relict of the late Joseph Detcher, after an illness of a month, during which time she suffered from apoplexy. The deceased was 58 years of age, and had been a resident of Peterborough for the last thirty-three years, her husband having been dead for twenty years. The deceased was born in Scotland, and at the age of six years moved with her parents to Ireland, where she was married to her late husband and removed to Canada, coming to Peterborough and living here ever since.

The late Mrs. Detcher leaves to mourn her loss a family of four sons and one daughter, Messrs. Frank, Thomas, George and Joseph, and Miss Lillie, all residing in this city. Her mother, Mrs. Telford, is also living, her place of residence being Owen Sound, where two sisters of the deceased reside, Mrs. Thos. McClelland and Mrs. Joseph McClelland. One sister, Mrs. Robt. Hewitt, and one brother, Mr. Alex. Telford live in Toronto.

The deceased was a consistent member of St. Luke's church, and was very highly respected by all who knew her.

The funeral will take place on Sunday at 3 o'clock from the residence 79 Smith street, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

PETERBOROUGH SECURES

THE ODDFELLOWS GRAND LODGE MEETING FOR NEXT YEAR

Decision Was Practically Unanimous in Accepting the Invitation Extended by Local Members of the Order —Some of the Delegates Return to the City—Most Successful Grand Lodge Meeting in History of Ontario Oddfellows—The Systematic Work of Special Delegates From Peterborough is Successful.

The annual meeting of the Oddfellows of Ontario, Grand Lodge will be held in Peterborough in 1906. This was decided yesterday afternoon in Brockville, where the meeting was held this year. The decision noted above is the result of the most systematic canvass and fight ever put up for a Grand Lodge meeting, and the members of the local lodges, who were delegated to attend the Grand Lodge meeting for the purpose of securing the next meeting for Peterborough, deserve great credit for the success which their efforts have met with, particularly in view of the fact that such places as Hamilton, Toronto, Niagara Falls and Owen Sound were after the meeting, and the delegates from those places worked to secure the meeting for their cities or towns.

This morning Mr. W. R. G. Higgins, one of the special delegates, and Col. W. J. Miller, returned this morning from Brockville, and are enthusiastic in speaking of the meeting just closed. Mr. Higgins, is, of course, pleased that the next meeting will be held here, since it was for purpose of securing it that he and Mr. B. Wallace were sent to Brockville, and that they succeeded is gratifying to them.

He states that the decision to come to Peterborough next year was practically unanimous, so well had their work been done. They went to Brockville last Saturday and spent the intervening time drumming up Peterborough as a prospective meeting place. They took hundreds of pounds of literature descriptive of this new city, and their persistence was so marked that the Grand Lodge simply could not resist the appeals.

There were 800 delegates in attendance at the meeting just closed, and the concensus of opinion was that it was the most successful and the most thoroughly enjoyed of any in the history of the Grand Lodge.

The Brockville Oddfellows apparently could not do too much to make their visitors feel at home. There are 500 members in that city. Brock and Lawrence are the names of the lodges, and they certainly made it warm for the visitors.

The parade on Wednesday night was the great spectacular feature. It being one and a half miles in length, with hundreds of Oddfellows in line, and a number of bands of music. Many visitors from Ogdensburg were over to attend this parade, and the Canton from Kingston was also down. Taking it altogether, the meeting was highly successful, and all those who attended, especially the Peterborough delegates, were greatly pleased at the result.

The local lodges will now start to prepare for the next annual meeting and will try to outdo Brockville, which up to date holds the cake for giving the delegates a good time.

RUN DOWN BY STREET CAR

ACCIDENT TO MR. JOS. PENTLAND

About nine o'clock this morning what looked to be a serious accident occurred at George and Simcoe streets. Mr. Joseph Pentland was riding along on his wheel, when he was run down by a south-bound Auburn car. The corner of the fender apparently caught his wheel, upsetting it and throwing him violently to the ground.

Mr. Pentland was quickly picked up and taken into Ormond and Walsh's drug store, and Dr. Bouchor was called in. It was found that two of his ribs had been fractured and that he had sustained a bad shaking up.

His injuries were attended to and the injured man was conveyed to his home in a cab. The bicycle was also a sufferer from the accident, but it is not beyond repair.

ACCIDENT TO MRS. HETHERINGTON

Thrown From Rig in Exciting Runaway Accident.

Sprained an Ankle and was Badly Shaken up as a Result.

An exciting runaway occurred on Aylmer street last evening. Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Hetherington were driving to town with a partially broken colt, when part of the harness broke, causing the animal to bolt. At the corner of Aylmer and London streets Mrs. Hetherington essayed to jump out, but in so doing sustained some severe injuries and a bad shaking up. Her left wrist was broken, her right ankle sprained and probably fractured, and her hip was also injured.

The injured woman was carried into Mrs. Davidson's residence on the corner, and Dr. Scott wws summoned. The doctor attended to her injuries as well as he could under the circumstances, and requested that she be conveyed to the hospital, but Mrs. Hetherington would not listen to such a request, and was taken to her home.

In the meantime, Mr. Hetherington had succeeded in controlling the frightened colt, and conveyed his wife home in the buggy.

TELEPHONE TALKS.

TO TELEPHONE USERS AND THE GENERAL PUBLIC,—

The condition of the telephone business in Canada was described by a witness at the opening of the Parliamentary enquiry as—

"A monopoly owning and controlling the local and long distance lines."

The real condition is, that neither in the past nor the present has there been a monopoly of the telephone business in Canada. It has been strictly a case of "the survival of the fittest."

During the past twenty years more than a hundred companies have been authorized by Dominion, Provincial and Municipal authority to do a telephone business in Canada, particularly in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, where this Company has been chiefly operating, of which ninety-two are in operation to-day, as disclosed by the evidence before the Special Committee.

The field is, and has been free to all, and those who have embarked in the business have lacked neither scope nor public encouragement.

Several companies organized by men of prominence in this country, backed by large capital, have offered the keenest possible competition to this Company, but without success. The failures have been many and disastrous.

It was stated in evidence before the Special Committee that the City of Toronto has during the past ten years advertised in the press of Canada and the United States for a company to furnish a competing telephone service in that city. Other cities in the Province have done likewise.

Promoters have time and again sought to exploit the Canadian field.

The law permits municipalities to furnish its citizens with telephone service.

In view of these facts, we are justified in claiming that the Company has achieved its present position in fair competition.

The secret of this success has been enterprise in exploiting the business, integrity in the administration of the financial affairs of the Company, economy of management, giving service superior to all competitors, and maintaining reasonable rates. It is by a continuance of this policy, and by meeting, where practicable, every demand of the Public for future extensions and development, that we hope and expect to maintain our present position with our patrons, the Canadian People.

THE AUTOMOBILE ON OUR COUNTRY ROADS

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—The most crying grievance in the rural parts of the country is the automobile. Those who favour this means of locomotion say it has come to stay, and we who own and use horses must face the situation.

(What is the situation? Country roads—unlike city streets—are narrow—very narrow in some places—barely wide enough to admit of two vehicles passing one another, and are flanked by either deep ditches, where the nature of the soil will admit of digging, or by large stones and boulders. In the cities the horseman has give a wide berth to the approaching auto,—in the country—he is up against it, so to speak. He must pass close to or leave the highway (he leaves the highway and drives on to the grounds adjoining when he can do so) and the new king of the highway gleefully passes on with a contemptuous glance at the subservient horseman, and a sarcastic remark to his companions.)

The despotic monarchs of ancient times were more considerate of those who used the highways than these modern despots. In the cities horses readily become accustomed to street cars, automobiles, etc., from the frequency with which they are met. There are also a thousand and one other diversions for a horse which readily accustoms him to the general excitement and bustle, and he pays little attention to the auto. In the country the contrary is the case. Everything is quiet; there is nothing to divert the horse's attention from the approaching auto. The sound of the horn arouses his nerves, and he contemplates the shooting wraith of the machine as it approaches with increasing terror, and he turns completely round in the road, or takes to or across the ditch or into the rocks, with dire consequences, in any case.

This is not so always. Out it has been so in far too many cases, and the result is that one never meets an auto without the fear of a smash-up. Many villagers are selling their driving horses, and such a thing as ladies going alone for a drive, or of farmers' wives and daughters driving to the villages alone to do shopping, is becoming almost a recollection. Driving is no more an unmixed pleasure, there is always the danger of meeting one of these hideous-looking things, with the above results.

Our roads have been constructed by the proprietors of the land through which they run, and were and are adapted to the use for which they were constructed. They are wide enough and safe enough for our citizens if horses are the motive power used — they are not wide enough and they are not safe if automobiles are used and driven according to the present practice. I do not advocate the prohibition of automobiles in our country roads—I quite approve of them when driven with due regard for the rights and safety of others—but what I wish to ask is who should have the preference, if preference there should be, and I maintain there should be, the driver of the horse or the driver of the auto?

The horse is an absolute necessity to the inhabitant of the rural sections of the country, and is one of the greatest of the limited sources of pleasure to many who do not require him for business. Without the horse, agriculture, the chief industry of the province and country, would be impossible unless we return to the ox team, and those who could not afford the luxury of an automobile would have to take their outings on foot. Surely every preference and every protection should be given to those to whom the horse is a necessity, and to whom the auto is at present a crying menace.

A law was placed upon our statute book, which regulated the speed of all such motor vehicles and which required them to stop at the signal of a horseman in order to lessen the danger of passing, but this law has been, and is, almost universally ignored. What more shall and must be done to insure the safety of our people in the legitimate use of an animal upon our highways which is an absolute necessity, and the breeding and raising of which has received, and is receiving national encouragement. Those who have not been personally up against the question do not realize how serious it has become. Surely the safety of those who use horses should outweigh the mere pleasure of, and inconvenience to those who ride in motor vehicles. I certainly am of that opinion; and as one of the representatives of the people I consider it my duty to exercise such powers and influence as I possess to assure to the mass of our population the protection which they are entitled to. I solicit from the general public personal communication of their experiences and opinions upon this problem.

My excuse, Mr. Editor, for trespassing upon your valuable space is that I know that a very large number of your readers are vitally interested in this question, and I thank you in anticipation for the insertion of this communication.

Yours very truly,

COUNTRYMAN.

Department of Indian Affairs Advises Indians to This Effect.

The Mississagua tribe of Indians at Mud Lake, Rice Lake, and Scugog Lake have received word from the Indians Department at Ottawa to the effect that in future they will have exclusive rights to the wild rice in the counties of Peterborough, Victoria, Northumberland and Durham. It appears that in the past some of the other tribes, notably the Alvinick tribe, have been taking the rice, but the Mississaguas, as the oldest resident Indians, will have the exclusive rights in future.

Bleeding, Protruding Piles.

Mrs. James Brown, Hintonburgh, Carleton Co., Ont., writes: "I suffered from nearly every form of piles for twenty years, both here and in the Old Country, and have tried nearly every remedy. I am only doing justice to Dr. Chase's Ointment when I say that I believe it to be the best remedy obtainable for bleeding and protruding piles, of which it has cured me."

Mayor Story Stubborn.

Mayor Stoy, of Atlantic City, N. J., has replied to an application to revoke the edict against the latest style cream bathing suits, that the material used is practically transparent and cannot be allowed, "no matter who wears it." The new fashion was introduced by young society leaders from Baltimore and Philadelphia.

A Problem Solved

Ozone is ozone and in buying it the problem is to get the purest form. "Solution of Ozone (the coupon kind)" is the purest form in which Ozone is put up In addition each bottle contains a coupon entitling you to a package of "Celery King" free, and it is well known that you should take "Celery King" along with Ozone.

We put "Celery King" coupons in our Ozone bottles because no other firm can give "Celery King" with Ozone. By buying "Solution of Ozone (the coupon kind)" you get the purest and most concentrated form of Ozone, and in addition, you save the expense of buying "Celery King" to use with it.

No other kind of Ozone offers this advantage. Ask your druggist for it, and if he hasn't it, write to the Public Drug Company, Bridgeburg, Ont. Sold by W. B. WARNE. 4

Why furnaces crack in Summer.

In the old fashioned hot-water heaters with wide, flat surfaces, the soot finds a splendid resting place. A scraper and brush jams soot into the interstices between the water sections. There it cakes and hardens, absorbs moisture, then it expands, and you have a cracked waterpost. If you have a "Bison" hotwater heater you won't have any furnace troubles. There are no flat soot collecting surfaces in the "Bison"—no crevices where soot can lodge; there will be no cracked waterposts, no delays, no mess, no grumbers' bills.

THE Oxford Hot Water Boiler is built to use absolutely all the heat generated in the fire-pot.

The inclining walls of the fire-pot expose great surface to the direct heat of the fire. The first section is greater in depth than the other sections, and the flues of this section are bell-shaped, against which the heat rays sharply impinge, so that a greater body of water gets the direct effect of the fire.

STRUCK BY TRAIN AND WAS KILLED

Herman Jacobs Killed on Track South of Palmerston--Wm. Roberts Badly Injured --Were Walking Along Track and Did Not Notice Approach of the Train--Jacobs' Back Was Broken and He Died While Being Taken to His Home in Hamilton--Roberts at Guelph.

Guelph, Aug. 11.—Herman Jacobs is dead and William Roberts is lying in the General Hospital here in a serious condition as a result of being struck by a Grand Trunk express train a few miles south of Palmerston.

They were walking along the track unconscious of the approaching train, and before the engineer discovered their dangerous position they were struck by the pilot of the engine and thrown several feet.

Jacobs had his back broken and sustained internal and other injuries, and died while being taken to his home in Hamilton. Roberts was badly bruised about the whole body, but will likely recover.

Foot Caught in Cogs.

Chatham, Aug. 11.—While William Vester, one of the Pere Marquette employes on the coal hoist at Rondeau, was at work yesterday his right foot became caught in the cogs of the moving wheels. The foot was almost severed below the ankle and the leg badly crushed.

Drowned At Fort Erie.

Buffalo, Aug. 11.—In the sight of two companions, neither of whom could help her, Ella Spressel, 14 years old, went down to death while wading in the water along the shores of Lake Erie, near Fort Erie, Ont., late Wednesday.

Four Die In Fire.

Nelson, B.C., Aug. 10.—Yesterday morning fire destroyed the Grand Hotel. Many of the inmates barely escaped with their lives, four Italian boarders were badly burned, one named Mariple being still in a very critical condition, while the absence of fire ladders caused the death of four persons who were unable to reach the ground from the top storey. The horses hitched to the ladder truck, in charge of Driver O'Connor, ran away, and O'Connor jumped from his seat.

The destruction of the three-story Grand Hotel on Vernon street caused a loss of $50,000 on building and $2,500 on contents. The insurance is $5,000 on building and $1,500 on contents.

27 Hours in Open Boat.

Toronto, Aug. 11.—Frustrated by a crowd of small boys in their attempts to land from the small boat in which they were paddling, Annie and Irene O'Connor, two little Hamilton girls, summering at Grimsby Park, spent 27 hours alone on Lake Ontario, until finally, in the last stages of exhaustion, they were picked up by the steamer Lakeside. The children, who were aged 14 and 10 years, had no idea of the management of a boat, and their parents had given them up for lost. The girls are daughters of Edward O'Connor, conductor, of the Grand Trunk, running from Hamilton to Toronto.

Meyers Firm of Albany Ask Public Not to Send Subscriptions.

Albany, N.Y., Aug. 11.—Twenty-four hours have not elapsed since the last body was taken out of the ruins of the Meyers building which collapsed Tuesday morning. The work of rescue has been suspended and it is thought probably that thirteen will complete the death roll. Of those in the hospital all are expected to recover, but Miss Helen Donahue, whose back is broken. The remainder of the week will be a period of mourning for Albany. Four victims of the collapsed building were buried yesterday and great crowds attended the funerals.

The two daughters of the late John G. Meyers, founder of the business, whose husbands, George P. Hilton and H. King Sturdee, are senior partners in the enterprise, have asked that the public benefit subscription be discontinued, declaring that they personally would care for all employes and their families.

ASKS THE IMPOSSIBLE.

Our Customs Department Cannot Appreciate Exports For Australia —Calls It Pique.

Ottawa, Aug. 11.—The Canadian Customs Department, after full consideration, found it had no authority to accede to the request of the Australian Government that our customs officers should be employed to furnish the Commonwealth with the home market prices on certain lines of manufactures which are also being sold in Australia. The only way to which this information could be accurately obtained would be by an examination of the manufacturers' books, and this our officers have no authority to make for the use of Australia or any other part of the world.

Parliament has given the Canadian customs officers no authority to act as agents for the Australian Government, and so, no matter how anxious our Ministers were to oblige Sir William Lyne in this matter, they had no right to do so. If Australia wants accurate data on this line she is perfectly free to send her officers to this country to gather it exactly as our officers obtain the home market prices of goods in the United States.

Instance of Obstinacy.

London, Aug. 11.—(C. A. P.)—The Pall Mall Gazette says a surprising amount of pique seems to have been engendered by the commercial rivalry between Australia and Canada, and the result may have begun to affect the even tone of communications between their respective Government. A Melbourne telegram describes a curious instance of this unfortunate antipathy. Australia in preparing a new tariff desired information as to the value of certain Canadian machinery to be dealt with in the schedules, but on application to the Canadian Government a letter was received flatly refusing to allow its officers to obtain the information desired by the Commonwealth authorities. This attitude does not seem likely to render the tariff more lenient. While there must be abundance of other sources from which the Australian Government can get the particulars required, it strikes the mind as a typical case of obstinacy which injures only its practitioners.

No joy or pleasure on this earth quite equals that which comes into the home when baby arrives. Who can describe the happiness of man and woman, joined in wedlock, as they look upon the fragile, delicate mite that is blood of their blood and flesh of their flesh? And who can depict the hopelessness and dejection that hover about the home where the wife is incapable of becoming a mother? Barrenness proceeds from some derangement of the distinctly feminine organs. Many of the common ailments known as "female troubles" cause it. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription overcomes barrenness by stamping out diseases of women, and by healing and curing ulceration. It tones up the system, stops drains, and restores strength. During gestation it modifies morning sickness, gives elasticity to the overstrained parts concerned, makes the hour of baby's coming short and almost painless, and gives wonderful recuperative power to the patient. By making the mother strong and cheerful, it makes the little one healthy, vigorous and good natured. Insist upon the medicine-dealer giving you Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription when you ask for it. Substitutes are often dangerous.

Mrs. James W. Hacker, of the Catherine St., Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "Your medicines have done wonders for me. For years my health was very poor; I had four miscarriages, but since taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription' I have much better health, and now I have a fine healthy baby."

For 3 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, you can get a free copy of that celebrated doctor book, the Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, illustrated. Cloth-bound, 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

LONDON GREETS FRENCHMEN.

French Officers Escorted Through Streets Amid Hearty Cheers.

London, Aug. 11.—Vice-Admiral Caillard, commander-in-chief of the French fleet, and 80 of his officers, arrived in London yesterday, and were welcomed with every demonstration of good-will. The weather was ideal, and animated crowds thronged the beflagged route from the Victoria Station, through the main streets to the Guildhall, where the visitors were guests of the lord mayor and corporation at luncheon. Everywhere the heartiest cheers greeted the visitors. The Guildhall was reached about 1 o'clock. The lord mayor and aldermen, who wore full state robes, welcomed the guests. Eight hundred sat down to luncheon.

The scene at the Guildhall was a brilliant one. The toasts were full of cordiality.

After luncheon the procession was reformed, and proceeded to the French embassy, where Admiral Caillard gave a reception to members of the French colony. The passage of the procession across Trafalgar square was marked by an incident that met with hearty cheers from the spectators. As Admiral Caillard and the other French officers came abreast of the Nelson Column, they slightly turned towards it, and, looking at the bas relief depicting the death of Great Britain's national hero on board the Victory, raised their hats to the salute.

Guelph, Aug. 11.—Armed with a heavy horsewhip, Richard Card, a Guelph Township farmer, Wednesday defied the sheriff, his men and the C. P. R. authorities to put a spade into his land.

Card had refused the price offered by the company for passing through his farm. They secured an order of expropriation. The sheriff accompanied the company's representatives to see that the order was obeyed. But Card refused acquiescence, and drove up and down the road in a buggy, using his horsewhip to keep the workmen back.

Finally, however, the law prevailed, and Card was arrested, and is still held, pending an explanation of his conduct.

Take Jobs For Themselves.

Fort William, Aug. 11.—Four members of the Town Council have secured jobs; and new elections will have to take place. Councillor Newcombe has been appointed police magistrate, Councillor Ollis Division Court clerk, and at Wednesday evening's meeting of the Council, Councillor W. T. Rankin was appointed assistant assessor and building and sanitary inspector, Councillor Wilson received the appointment of caretaker of the new civic buildings.

Third Relief Expedition Rescues Entire Party of the Ziegler-Fiala Arctic Expedition — Only Death Was That of a Norwegian Seaman From Natural Causes—Away From Civilization Two Years.

Honningsvaag, Norway, Aug. 11.—Arctic steamer Terrapova, which went to the relief of the Fiala-Ziegler polar expedition, has rescued Anthony Fiala and all the others connected with the expedition, with the exception of one Norwegian seaman, who died from natural causes. The ship America, which took out the expedition, was crushed in the ice early in the winter of 1903-4, and lost with a large part of her coal and provisions.

The 37 members of the expedition who returned to safety are all in good health, despite their privations and trying experiences, and their prolonged imprisonment in the Arctic, the expedition having been severed from all communication with the outside world since July, 1903.

Anthony Fiala of Brooklyn, N. Y., the leader of the expedition, in a brief statement, says:

"The rescue was most timely. By my order, the America wintered in Nepilts Bay, where, early in the winter of 1903-4, the ship was crushed in the ice and became a total loss, together with big quantities of coal and provisions.

"Supplies of stores left at Franz Josef and by various relief parties saved us very serious privations.

"Three attempts to reach high latitudes failed. The scientific work, however, as planned, was successfully carried out by William J. Peters of the United States Geological Survey.

"Our rescue was due to the splendid effort of William S. Champ (secretary of the late William Ziegler), commanding the relief expedition, who, owing to the terrible weather, failed to reach us last year, and to the untiring zeal of Capt. Kjeldsen and his Norwegian officers and crew, who, for six weeks, persistently forced their way through solid floes of ice, and finally reached us.

"An abundance of stores had been left in the Franz Josef Archipelago by the expedition commanded by the Duke of Abruzzi and the Andre relief expedition, so that we did not suffer serious difficulties on that score."

Anthony Fiala left on his venture some voyage from Trondhjem, Norway, on June 23, 1903. The crew, under Capt. Edwin Coffin of Martha's Vineyard, consisted of 14 officers and men, but, in the expedition, altogether, were 36 men. The America, of 479 tons, was the ship that conveyed the Ziegler expedition, under Evelyn Briggs Baldwin, to Franz Josef land in 1901.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

STONY LAKE HAS A SNAKE SENSATION

W. Cressman, Miss Cressman and Miss Bessie Cressman, Viamede; and Mr. and Mrs. Nugent. The party returned to Mr. Nugent's cottage, at Little Otter Island for supper.

Alleged Optical Illusion.

An incident occurred at the end of a Stony Lake dock yesterday, as the steamer swung slowly out upon its morning trip up the lake, which created some amusement for the "bunch" of male and female loiterers assembled there.

The motion of the boat brought to the surface of the water the remains of a black snake which had been killed a short time before. A well known Peterborough young man was gazing meditatively at the water while chatting with a friend who was leaning over the rail of the departing boat. The eyes of the latter suddenly fastened upon the deceased reptile and he remarked in an intensely earnest tone, "See the snake!" The gentleman on the dock grinned and queried, 'See what?' "The snake," was the reply, and as the crowd assembled quickly — "get a club and kill him!" Grins became general and no one stirred. The man upon the boat continued an excited pantomime, as the boat drew farther away till this was brought to a rude conclusion by his friend on the dock replying as he turned appealingly to the crowd, "Ain't no snake!" "Tell you it is a snake," came the rejoinder. The young man once more turned to the increasing crowd, and as he shook his head, sadly, remarked,—"Too bad! Got 'em again!" As the steamer ploughed its way to Juniper the "bunch" chorused in unison, "Got 'em again!"

ST. GEORGE'S BAZAAR A SUCCESS

Successful Garden Party Held at Gore's Landing.

Large Attendence From Nice Lake Resorts—Special Trip From Town.

A very enjoyable time was spent yesterday afternoon and evening, at Gore's Landing. A garden party was held at that resort by St. George's Church to raise funds for the erection of a new church building, and from all accounts the venture was a success.

A special trip was made from this city down the river to the resort, and about fifty persons availed themselves of the opportunity of enjoying a pleasant sail and a social time at the end of their journey.

There were about 250 persons from all over the lake at the party, and everyone proceeded to enjoy themselves. A number of refreshment booths had been erected and the ladies in charge proved themselves very efficient in relieving the gentlemen visitors of their small change. The ladies also showed themselves capable of getting up a good bill of fare, and no one had any complaint as to the quantity or quality of the good things put on the tea-table.

The main attraction for the afternoon was a football match with the Cobourg team, but the lake town bunch did not put in an appearance and a match between scratch teams had to be arranged. But this was the only disappointment; the canoe races and fishing events were keenly contested and the crowd was well pleased with the programme. A number of prizes had been put up for competition by the committee in charge, and this assisted in making the events more warmly contested.

A Western Murder.

The body of a man named Henson was found 20 day near the railroad track, twenty-five miles north of Red Deer, with his throat cut. The body was badly decomposed and had been lying where it was found for seven or eight days. No clue to the murderer has yet been found, but the police are taking up the case. Henson was supposed to have had about $60 on him when last seen alive and his pockets have been emptied, which gives rise to the suspicion that he was murdered.

WAS IN THE WATER FOR FIFTEEN MINUTES SAVED BY GRAPPLING

Narrow Escape From Drowning Which Mrs. Robt. Hill and Her Daughter Met With This Week--Fell From a Boat Into Eight Feet of Water and Were Saved With Great Difficulty--Miss Hill Had Been in the Water Fifteen Minutes--Mr. D. Montgomery Succeeded in Reaching Her With Grappling Irons.

While this year has been as far as local waters are concerned, particularly free from drowning accidents, there have been a great many very narrow escapes, almost every day's despatches telling of some accident narrowly averted. The latest of these to be reported was that which Mrs. Hill, wife of Mr. Robt. Hill, the lockmaster at Buckhorn, and her daughter, met with recently at the canal at Buckhorn. Mrs. Hill and her two daughters were going out for a row, and in embarking Mrs. Hill fell out of the boat into the water, and in falling, pulled her daughter with her, the accident occurring in about the same way which that of yesterday at dam No. 5 occurred. The two women fell into water about eight feet deep, while the younger daughter remained in the boat. Mr. Hill, who was at the lock, some distance away, was attracted by the cries of his youngest daughter, to the spot, and jumped into the water, swimming with his wife to land, after having had to dive for her.

In the meantime the daughter gradually becoming exhausted with her efforts to keep herself afloat sank, and when her father returned for her she had disappeared. By this time a number of persons had gathered, and Mr. D. Montgomery secured a pair of grappling irons and succeeded in bringing her to the surface after she had been in the water for about fifteen minutes. Whe her rescuers got her to shore it was found that life was almost extinct, but a Pittsburgh doctor who is summering at Buckhorn, was on the scene quickly, and respiration was restored after considerable difficulty. The young lady has not yet fully recovered from the effects of her immersion, but it is not anticipated that the consequences will be serious.

It is extremely fortunate that help was so readily available because had she been allowed to remain in the water a few minutes longer it would have been impossible to have resuscitated her.

—During the storm on Sunday afternoon considerable damage was done in this district by the lightning. The residence of Mr. John Heavis, in Asphodel Township, was struck, knocking a few bricks off the chimney, tearing some shingles off the roof, and killing a dog. The Methodist church at Westwood was somewhat damaged. Two cows belonging to Mr. P. Fitzpatrick, Percy Township, were killed while standing under a tree in a field, and the barns on a farm near Warkworth were destroyed.

THE BRIDGES WILL BE RE-DECKED AND OTHERWISE IMPROVED

Board of Works Receives Estimates of the Cost of Repairing the Hunter, Simcoe and George Street Bridges—Total Cost Will be $1884.12—Other Matters Considered by the Board at Meeting Last Night—C. P. R. Must Plank the Stewart Street Crossing.

Last night was rather sultry but that did not deter the gentlemen on the Board of Works from holding their regular meeting, and for some unaccountable reason the meeting actually started on time with the following members present; Ald. Adams, (chairman,) Mayor Bust, Ald. Tovey, Johnston, Batten, Mason and Hall.

After the usual preliminaries the business before the meeting was attended to.

Wm. Davidson was heard re the proposed sidewalk on Dickson street, and after the matter had been discussed it was moved by Ald. Johnston, seconded by Ald. Batten, that a sidewalk, four feet wide be laid on the east side of Dickson street, between Murray and McDonel streets, and that it be laid to a grade that will permit the roadway to be graded in the near future. —Carried.

Wm. Hartley was next heard re the construction of a sewer on Water street, north of Smith street, and if the sewer be not built he be permitted to use private connection on George street. Several ratepayers on the east side of the street were in favour of the sewer, but the ratepayers on the west side who had other connection on George street were against the project. As there was a considerable majority against the extension, and the Boards hands in the matter were tied, but it promised to consider the matter.

Dr. Grey now dropped in upon the peaceful scene, and was heard re the grading and macadamizing of Sherbrooke street from Rubidge street to Aylmer street. The street he said was a sand bed and the water had no effect on it as it evaporated in about ten minutes. He said further that he had been promised faithfully for four years that the work would be done, and he wanted the present Board to see that the work would be done. He wanted the resolution amended to have the street graded and macadamized from George to Rubidge streets, instead of from Aylmer to Rubidge streets. If the work was not soon done the doctor threatened that the neighbourhood would turn out and barricade the bridge thus cutting off all the main traffic, and delivery waggons could deliver their goods up to the bridge and then go round the block to get to the other side, but a narrow passage was to be left for pedestrians.

The most important business before the meeting was now brought up. It is proposed to place permanent decks on three bridges over the creek, and plans and estimates for the work were presented. An estimate for the ope-beams, concrete, lumber, expanded metal and labour was given, and another estimate of the cost of the expanded meatal was also received.

Hunter Street.

Steel I beams, etc...	$200 62
Expanded metal...	285 00
Concrete...	328 00
Lumber for frames and carpenter...	35 00
	$936 62

Simcoe street.

Adjusting steel I beams, etc.	$ 20 00
Expanded metal...	198 00
Concrete...	284 00
Lumber for frames and carter...	80 00
	$512 00

George street.

Steel I beams, etc...	$152 00
Expanded metals...	120 00
Concrete...	188 60
Lumber for frames and carpenter...	25 00
	$435 50

Total Expenditure.

Hunter street bridge...	$936 62
Simcoe street bridge...	512 00
George street bridge...	435 50
	$1884 12

It was moved by Ald. Johnston, and seconded by Ald. Batten, that the City Engineer and the chairman be instructed to get estimates for material for the decks for the bridges.

The City Engineer said that if the work were done it would be necessary to close the bridges for three days until the concrete was set.

The above project of placing permanent decks on these bridges will greatly strengthen them and make them capable of sustaining a much greater weight than the steam roller.

The Board was anxious to adjourn, but there was another matter to be attended to.

A letter was to hand from Angus McMurchy re siding to the American Cereal Company, and regarding the extension of Simcoe street across the C. P. R. tracks, instead of Sherbrooke street.

It was moved by Ald. Johnston, seconded by Ald. Tovey, that the City Engineer be instructed to make a copy of Cameron's plan of the reserve along the river, and for the City Solicitor to send it to Mr. McMurchy, as he requested, and that Solicitor secure the privilege of extending Simcoe street across the C. P. R. tracks in lieu of Sherbrooke street.

Ald. Batten moved, seconded by Ald. Tovey, that the City Solicitor be instructed to notify the C. P. R. to plank their siding at the Stewart street crossing, provide passage for the water at the same crossing, and remove obstructions from the street. —Carried.

Moved by Ald. Batten seconded by Ald. Johnston, that Smith street east and Concession street be repaired and gravelled.—Carried.

The Board then adjourned [illegible]

MONDAY, CIVIC HOLIDAY, WILL SEE GREATEST EXODUS IN CITY'S HISTORY

Prospects That the Numerous Excursions Planned Will be Well Patronized--Where to Go to Spend Monday--A Delightful Series of Excursions Have Been Arranged to Accommodate Those Who Wish to Leave the City --Trips to Suit Every Taste--Particulars About Them, When They Leave and the Fare.

Civic Holiday, which comes but once a year, is taken advantage of by the great majority of people to take a day out of the city, and in view of this fact there are always a large number of excursions running out that day. Last year on Civic Holiday there were more people out of town on excursions than ever before in the history of Peterborough, and, this year, although there are fewer excursions, the prospects are that there will be an equally large exodus from the city. The Rochester trip, which in the past has always been popular, will not be taken this year, but there are still many avenues of pleasure open to those who wish to spend a day out of the business cares and worries of the city.

A list of the excursions out of town on Monday, which is Peterborough's Civic Holiday can only furnish suggestions as to the best way to spend the holiday; one's own individual tastes will have to dictate which one of the many trips provided will prove the most attractive to them.

Moulders at Cobourg.

Cobourg this year seems to be a popular objective point for excursions, and the Moulders in deciding to run an excursion there have been wise. They will go by special train leaving here at 8.15 a.m., and returning, leaving Cobourg at 7.30. The return fare is 35 cents for adults and 45 cts. for children. An additional attraction at Cobourg on Monday will be the first annual summer horse show, which promises to be a great success. The picnic will be held in Victoria Park, a beautiful piece of park on the lake shore.

Lacrosse Team at Midland.

Last year one of the best patronized trips on Civic Holiday was that which had Midland as its objective point and the prospects are that this year the Lacrosse Club, which is running a special train to Midland, where they play their second semi-final game, will carry one of the largest crowds of the day. The special train will leave the G. T. R. station at 8.15 a.m., and returning will leave Midland at 6 o'clock. This will give a good eight hours in the Georgian Bay town, and will affordample opportunity to see the game and the sights of the town. The return fare, $1.35, is exceedingly cheap for the 100 miles.

Thousand Islands.

The trip last Civic Holiday to Belleville, the Thousand Islands and Forester Island was the first trip of the kind under the auspices of the I. O. F. of Peterborough, and it proved so popular that this year they decided to repeat the experiment of last year, and from present prospects the trip this year will be as prosperous as it it was last year. It affords an excellent opportunity to view the grand sights of the St. Lawrence. The train will leave here at 7.20 a.m., and returning the special train will leave Belleville at 8 p.m. The return fare will be $1.65 for adults, and 85c for children. The trip to Belleville will be made by train, and from there a steamer will be taken, affording a delightful trip down the St. Lawrence.

Foresters to Niagara Falls.

The excursion to Ningara Falls under the auspices of Court Littlejohn, C. O. F., is an annual fixture, which is always participated in by a large crowd, and the probabilities are that this year will be no exception. The trip across the lake to Queenstown by the Niagara River Line steamers is alone worth the price of the ticket, and for those who wish to spend a day in Toronto this trip affords a good opportunity.

The special train leaves here at 6.20 by the G. T. R., and the return fare to Niagara Falls is $2.20, and to Toronto $2.05. A special train will carry passengers home the same night, but the privilege of remaining over in Toronto until Tuesday is given.

Hibernian-Foresters' Trip.

Jubilee Point, by reason of its nearness to the city, and the ease with which it can be reached, has always been popular with Civic Holiday excursionists, and this year the A.O.H. and Catholic Foresters will go to this resort by the Calcutt Line of steamers. The "City of Peterborough" and "Water Lily" with barges will leave the Wolfe street wharf at 8.30 and calling at the end of the car line. The return fare is fifty cents, and without doubt the excursion will be well patronized, as it deserves to be.

Baraca Bible Class.

The Baraca Bible Class of the Murray street Baptist church, have decided to run an excursion to Gores Landing and Harwood on Civic Holiday, and the steamer "Rainbow" has been chartered for the trip, and will leave the Wolfe street wharf at 7.45 calling at the end of the car line. The return fare for this trip will be fifty cents.

Stony Lake Regatta.

The regatta at Stony Lake will no doubt attract a great many Peterborough people on Monday. From the preparations being made the regatta this year promises to be the most successful ever held, and will doubtless be the most largely attended. This is about the best time to visit the lakes and the facilities for reaching the objective point for the regatta, and returning, are well planned. The steamer "Stony Lake" will meet the morning train at Lakefield and land the passengers right at the pavilion. The return fare will be train, 30 cents; and boat, 75 cents; and the trains leave at 8.30 and 11.55 a.m.

Both railways give special holiday single fare rates, good for any train Saturday, Sunday or Monday to return on Tuesday.

PETERBOROUGH DOCTORS CHARGES BEATEN BY CALIFORNIA BRETHREN

It appears that the doctors of Peterborough are not such great rogues after all, notwithstanding the written reports concerning the alleged overcharging which have been circulated. Or, at least, if they are rogues there are others far worse. Dr. Pousette, a brother of Messrs. A. P. and M. Pousetto, of this city, a former resident of Bridgenorth, where he practices his profession, has been in the city during the last two days, on a visit to his brother here, from California, where he is at present located.

He brought a tariff card issued by the doctors there, and from it it is learned that appendicitis there costs the unfortunate victim from $250 to $4,000, according to the severity of the case and the condition of the pocket-book of the one afflicted.

DR. BONNELL DIED FROM LOCK JAW

Practiced in Bobcaygeon for 38 Years Had Relatives in This City.

Word was received in the city this morning to the effect that Dr. Bonnell, of Bobcaygeon, probably the oldest practitioner in that part of the country had died yesterday, from lock-jaw. The circumstances connected with his death are very sad. It appears that a couple of weeks ago he stepped on a rusty nail, which penetrated his foot. He had suffered to a certain extent from the injury during the interval, but it was considered serious until two days ago, when it suddenly developed into a serious trouble, and lock-jaw was the result, death taking place yesterday.

The late Dr. Bonnell had been practicing his profession in Bobcaygeon for 38 years, and was one of the best known men in this vicinity. He was a brother-in-law of Mr. W. T. C. Boyd, and had connections by marriage in this city.

Mr. H. Winch, of this city, is an old friend of the deceased and in the early days participated in many a pleasant hunting trip with him.

MISCALLED "HAIR TONICS"
Most Hair Preparations Are Merely Scalp Irritants, of No Value.
Most hair preparations are merely scalp irritants, miscalled hair tonics. When hair is brittle, lustreless and begins to fall out, the dandruff germ is getting in its deadly work at the root, sapping the vitality. Since science discovered that dandruff is a germ disease there has been only one preparation put on the market that will actually destroy the dandruff germ, and that is Newbro's Herpicide. It quickly reduces scalp fever, destroys the germ; and the falling hair stops, and hair grows luxuriantly. Ask your druggist for Herpicide. It allays itching instantly, and permits the hair to grow. FREAKS OF THE ELECTRIC FLUID

Partiality of Lightning For Farmers Barns.

A Peculiarity Held to be Worthy of Investigation.

The Toronto World has a timely article pointing out the frequency with which lightning strikes farm barns and spares farm houses. It says:—

Hardly a day passes during the hot summer months that a farmer's barn does not go up in smoke as a result of being struck by lightning. Lightning's freaks cause the farmers and insurance companies a large annual loss, and its ravages seem to be growing altogether out of proportion to the growth of population and buildings. On this point accurate statistics would be instructive. At all events the question is of sufficient importance to become the subject of intelligent investigation.

The insurance companies perhaps suffer more than any other interest, and if they would make a move in the direction of scientific enquiry, public opinion would support the Federal or provincial government, or both, in giving them substantial aid. Money could not be spent to better purpose than discovering means of removing or lessening the danger to farm buildings from lightning. So far science has made very little progress in this direction, but the chief reason probably is that scant encouragement has been offered.

There are a few facts known to the common everyday citizen which might be used as a basis for practical investigation. It is remarkable for instance that though lightning makes a target of barns, it very rarely strikes a farm house. At least 20 barns are struck for every house. This may be merely due to the larger size of the barns, or then again it may be related to the material that is stored in them or to some other circumstance which could be offset by practical safeguards. The question is one of great seriousness and The World would like to see the government and the fire insurance companies co-operate in a scientific enquiry into ways and means of protecting the farmers' property from an ever growing menace.

JAPAN MUST MODIFY TERMS

Russia Will Not Accept Peace Terms as Presented—Absolute Non Possumus—What M. Witte is Likely to Do When He Hands Japanese Envoy His Reply to Their Terms—Pessimism Reigns at Portsmouth, N. H., In Both Camps, Although Japanese Give No Clue to Their Thoughts

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 12.—Russia's reply to the Japanese terms of peace will be delivered by M. Witte to Baron Komura at 9.30 o'clock this morning. The reply is written, there being two texts, one in French and the other in English.

Upon the two crucial points, indemnity and the cession of the Island of Sakhalin, the reply is an absolute non possumus.

Other points are accepted as basis for discussion, while still others are accepted conditionally.

The reply is rather long, because, in enumerating the conditions upon which discussion is admitted, and those upon which consideration is declined, reasons and arguments are given. The Japanese plenipotentiaries are expected to ask for an immediate adjournment to examine and prepare the reply. M. Witte will probably intimate that the Russian plenipotentiaries expect the Japanese to display as much expedition as they (the Russians) have shown in the preparation of their response. Monday, therefore, is expected to be the day on which the real discussion will begin. Neither side wants to indulge in diplomatic sparring. The time for fencing is over, and less than a week must decide whether a basis of peace is possible.

Inscrutable Japs.

The tactics of the Japanese are inscrutable. They have shown throughout the war their ability to guard their secrets—military, naval and diplomatic—and now not the remotest clue comes from behind the closed doors as to whether they are prepared to make substantial concessions. Silence and secrecy are their watchwords. But if the conditions, as submitted, constitute their last word, hope of peace may be regarded as having disappeared, if the feeling reflected in Russian circles is a true criterion. And that no substantial concessions on the main issues will be made is the belief both in Russian and Japanese circles.

Pessimism Reigns.

Last night in the inner camps of both plenipotentiaries the deepest pessimism reigns, M. Witte, it is positively known, believes the prospects of an agreement to be so remote as to be practically nil. He has no desire to prolong the agony, and instead of fencing when the plenipotentiaries come together after the Japanese have had the opportunity to examine the reply there is strong reason to believe he will not only welcome but will insist upon an immediate discussion of all the proposed basis. So pessimistic is he that he has already been talking to his colleagues of his plans when the rupture comes. Before sailing for home, he contemplates a brief visit to Chicago.

Will Stand Firm.

That the Japanese terms in so far as they touch the main points will not be withdrawn or materially modified is the opinion of the most competent Japanese authority on the ground who will talk for publication, namely, Julio Kumpei Matsumato, a member of the Japanese Parliament, who is here as financial emissary of Japan.

"The conditions in their broad outlines," said he last night, "have been substantially known to us in Japan, and the Russians will be much mistaken if they imagine the Japanese will not insist upon the two chief points—the indemnity and the cession of Sakhalin.

"To surrender either is impossible. If Baron Komura should yield on these points, public feeling in Japan would be so strong that he would be murdered upon his return to Japan. We must be reimbursed for the cost of the war, and we have natural claims to Sakhalin which we have never forgotten.

No Desire to Humiliate Russia.

"Japan has no desire to humiliate Russia more than is necessary, and even now is seeking to avoid wounding Russia's susceptibilities, but public opinion in Japan is absolutely so firm upon the main issues that no Japanese statesman could possibly dare to withdraw the terms which have been proposed as the basis of peace.

"The Japanese Government has only asked what, according to Japanese ideas, are considered most moderate terms. A strong party in Japan favored claiming not only Sakhalin, the Liaotung Peninsula, protectorate over Corea, and the evacuation of Manchuria, but also the cession to Japan of the territory around the mouth of the Amur."

Komura Reports to Japan.

Tokio, Aug. 12.—A cablegram message from Baron Komura, reporting that the credentials of the Russian peace plenipotentiaries were satisfactory in every respect, and saying that the Japanese had submitted a basis of negotiations to the Russians in writing, to which the Russians will make a reply, has been received with general satisfaction.

Statements credited to M. Witte have created the impression that possibly his credentials had been found unsatisfactory. The Japanese people are following the proceedings at Portsmouth keenly, but calmly. They are hopeful of peace, but are insistent upon satisfactory conditions, and are prepared to continue the struggle if the negotiations fail.

Czar's Manifesto.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 12.—M. Witte, before leaving St. Petersburg, says the Imperial manifesto which Emperor Nicholas will issue to-day on the occasion of the Czarevitch's birthday. As then drafted it did not mention the war or peace negotiations. M. Witte believes the manifesto is fraught with great consequences for Russia and mankind. "It will be," said he, "one of the most important documents in history."

More Russians Surrender.

Tokio, Aug. 12.—It is officially announced at Imperial army headquarters that 118 Russian officers and men surrendered at Nioro, Sakhalin Island, on August 8.

LAND AND WATER ATTACK.

Russians Get It on Both Sides From the Japanese Forces.

Tokio, Aug. 12.—Admiral Kataoka reports that he despatched a force to co-operate with the army in attacking a Russian force which was holding the southeastern coast light, twenty miles east of Korsakoff. The naval force, four armed boats, attacked the Russians on the morning of August 10, the army making simultaneous attacks from the eastward. After a bombardment lasting two hours, the Russians surrendered. The prisoners numbered 125.

DOUKHOBOR FANATICS.

Party of Thirty Nudes Captured Near Yorkton, Manitoba.

Yorkton, Assa., Aug. 12.—About 30 Doukhobor fanatics are on the rampage again seeking Christ. Without food they marched within half a mile of this town, when they striped themselves and burned their clothing. The police were notified and went out with drays, and blankets and brought the fanatics into the court house. Men, women, and children were included, and they intended marching through the streets in a nude condition. They will eat nothing but raw potatoes. Another similar party are now coming here.

Gives Himself Up.

Hamilton, Aug. 12.—After being a fugitive from justice for one month James Shackleton gave himself up to the police yesterday morning. Shackleton and Peter Williams, who were both employed at New's brick yard, had some words, which led to blows. Shackleton took a pick and struck Williams on the head, inflicting a serious wound. For several days it was thought that Williams would die, but after a couple of weeks he recovered and is now about again. He was remanded till Monday, when he will be tried.

PETERBOROUGH LADY
THE PRIZE WINNER
AT HIAWATHA REGATTA

The Annual Illuminated Canoe Parade and Races Last Night at Hiawatha a Gratifying Success—Miss Grey, of This City, Took the First Prize for Decorated Canoe—Prizes Donated by Local Gentlemen—The Annual Aquatic Moonlight Event at Rice Lake Was Participated in by Number of Persons.

Last night at Hiawatha the annual illuminated canoe parade and races took place, and the event cannot be characterized as anything but successful. The weather, which threatened rain, was not propitious, but in spite of this, the only discouraging feature of the evening, the parade was participated in by a goodly number and was thoroughly enjoyed.

The affair was the work of Mr. Johnston Paudash, who arranged it, and to his energy is due the credit of its successful issue.

There were a large number of persons present, many going from Peterborough, while a load drove over from Keene. Canoes, launches and yachts also brought crowds from many parts of the lake, until the wharf at Hiawatha, which served as the grand stand, was crowded.

The competition for the prizes in the principal event, the decorated canoe parade, was very keen, and considerable time was spent and pains taken by those participating in preparing their craft for the parade, which was spectacular in the extreme.

The wharf was gay in its array of Chinese lanterns and bunting, and to those who came from over the water to attend the event, presented a very pretty appearance.

The entire population of Hiawatha, of course, was out in force, the majority of the male portion in canoes, while their sisters and mothers and pick-up sweethearts watched their performances from the wharf with pride.

The arrival of the decorated fleet from the village was the signal for prolonged cheers and many expressions of commendation were heard upon the result of the work which the contestants had spent in preparing for the parade.

At a given signal the canoes, gaily decorated, and illuminated with numerous Chinese lanterns, started out from the landing place, and took the prescribed course for the judging. This was a difficult matter because of the universal excellence of the decorations prepared by those who entered for competition. It was eventually decided that the first prize should be awarded to the canoe, the occupants of which were Miss Grey, of Peterborough, now camping at Rainy Point, and Mr. Geo. Paudash. This prize was a handsome silver tea pot, donated by the committee by Hon. J. R. Stratton. The second prize went to Miss Dunkley and Mr. Dan. Cow, Jr. This prize was a gold bracelet, the gift of Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P.

One of the most exciting events of the night was the tandem canoe race. The prize winners in this race were D. Muskrat and G. Maracle, and the Cow Bros. The finish in this race was very close and the winners come in less than half a canoe length ahead of the second finishers.

A number of other important races were run, all of which created great interest, and furnished considerable excitement for the participants as well as the spectators.

During the progress of the programme fireworks were exploded, and this feature added to the pleasure of the evening which was in every respect a success.

POPULAR PROGRAMME GIVEN LAST NIGHT

By the 57th Band—A Large Crowd Present.

It was a pleasant change after the small band concerts in Jackson Park through the week to have the band out in full force at Victoria Park last night and give one of their splendid weekly concerts. There were two or three new members on the programme, and they were well received as were the more familiar selections.

The programme commenced with a new march "Across the Pacific", which was well rendered and delighted the crowd of people who were wending their way to the Park in large numbers. A cakewalk, "My Bamboo Queen" was another new selection and delighted the large number of promanaders in the Park.

That popular number "Scenes from Floradora" was again rendered last evening by request, and if possible the band did even greater justice to it than ever before.

Two numbers "My Happy Home" and a selection from Wang are very popular and they were again repeated at last night's concert. A march "The American Republic" is also another popular selection and was likewise repeated to the satisfaction of the crowd.

The programme was ended by a march, but by that time the crowd had greatly diminished, as for some reason or other a large number begin to leave as the second last number is being given, and everyone leaves when the strains of "God Save the King" are heard.

This should not be the case, but it seems that on a warm night everyone is desirous to get seated at a table in an ice cream parlour before the crowd arrives.

Missing Boer Fund.

A letter received from South Africa by C. H. Bergner, indicates that a fund of $300, collected by the local society of the American Transvaal League three years ago, has mysteriously disappeared. The letter is from the Rev. H. N. Boesman, of Pretoria. He says that the money, which was for the widows and orphans of the Boers killed in the war, has not been received there. Inquiry in Grand Rapids so far fails to locate where the money went to.

WERE WEDDED IN JANETVILLE

Miss Lelia A. Maude Bradburn Becomes Mrs. Geo. Robertson.

Groom is Related in This City—A Pretty Wedding.

A pretty wedding took place in the Janetville Methodist Church on Wednesday, August 9th, when Mr. George Robertson, of Souris, Man., brother of Mrs. J. C. Stacey, of this city, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony, with Miss Lelia A. Maude Bradburn, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Bradburn.

Precisely at three o'clock the bridal party entered the church to the strains of the bridal chorus, "O, Perfect Love", played by Miss Caro Peel, of Toronto, cousin of the bride. The bride was given away by her father, and looked handsome and radiant in a gown of white silk crepe de Japan, over taffeta silk, made with groupings of tucks, and silk embroidered lace yoke, and wore the customary bridal veil and bridal roses, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. Miss Mabel Winters, of Lindsay, her bridesmaid, was dressed in white silk mull, over a taffeta silk slip, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The two flower girls, Miss Enga Bradburn, and Miss Gladys Stinson, nieces of the bride, were dressed in cream silk and carried baskets of white and pink roses. The groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. Albert Robertson, of Springville. The ushers were Dr. W. Irvine, of Des Moines, Iowa, and Mr. C. Argue, of Janetville.

After the ceremony the bridal party was conveyed to the home of the bride's parents by Mr. Workman's handsome black team, followed by the invited guests, numbering about one hundred and twenty-five, where a reception was held. The dining-room was decorated with evergreens and flowers; also the reception room presented a very attractive appearance, one corner being banked with a pyramid of flowers and Maidenhair ferns.

The groom's gift to the bride was a gold locket, to the bridesmaid, a gold locket, and to each of the flower girls, a gold brooch set with pearls.

Her presents were both numerous and costly, among them, was a purse and address, from her Sunday School class.

After supper Mr. and Mrs. Robertson drove to Lindsay then took the evening train for Peterborough and eastern points. The bride's travelling costume was checked taffeta silk with hat and gloves to match.

Soon after their return they purpose leaving for Souris, Man., where Mr. Robertson has for some time occupied the position of principal of the Souris Public School. The good wishes of a large circle of friends go with them.

Among the guests from a distance were Mr. Robert A. Queensland, Australia, cousin of the groom; Mrs. Peel, of Toronto; Mrs. Stacey and Mrs. Robertson, of Peterborough.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT TO A SMALL BOY

Fell Off Band Stand in Jackson Park and Fractured His Arm.

Last evening Leo Clancy of Toronto, met with a painful accident, which will somewhat mar his visit to his cousin, Mr. Wm. McCormack, cutter at Thos. Harris's fur store.

The little fellow with several companions was playing about the band stand in Jackson Park last evening, when in some manner he fell off, fracturing his arm above the elbow. He was taken to Mr. McCormack's residence where the bone was set, and today the youngster is doing as well as can be expected.

VERY TRYING TO WOMEN

Are the Peculiar Ills Brought on by Catarrh of the Pelvic Organs.

Catarrh is a very frequent cause of that class of diseases popularly known as female weakness. Catarrh of the pelvic organs produces such a variety of disagreeable and irritating symptoms that many people—in fact, the majority of people—have no idea that they are caused by catarrh.

A great proportion of women have some catarrhal weakness which has been called by the various doctors who has consulted by as many different names. These women have been treated and have taken medicines, with no relief, simply because the remedies are not adapted to catarrh. It is through a mistaken notion as to the real nature of the diseases that these medicines have been recommended to them.

If all the women who are suffering with any form of female weakness would write to Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio, and give him a complete description of their symptoms and the peculiarities of their troubles, he will immediately reply, with complete directions for treatment, free of charge.

"Health and Beauty," a book written especially for women, sent free by Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

Miss Alice Dressler, of No. 1313 North Bryant Ave., Minneapolis, Minn., writes as follows concerning Peruna:

"I was suffering from catarrh of the throat and head. One of my college friends, who was visiting me, asked me to try Peruna and I did so and found it all and more than I had expected. It not only cured me of the catarrh, but restored me to perfect health."—Alice Dressler.

Miss Mamie Groth, Platteville, Wis., writes:

"I have for several years suffered with frequent backache and would for several days have splitting headaches. Several of my friends advised me to take Peruna and I asked my physician what he thought of it. He recommended it and so I took it and am entirely without pain of any kind now."—Mamie Groth.

In a recent letter from No. 2 Grant Ave., Denver, Col., Mrs. Ida L. Gregory writes:

"Some six years ago my husband suffered with nervous prostration, and advising with a friendly druggist he brought home a bottle of Peruna. His health was restored from its use, his appetite was increased and restful sleep came to him."—Ida L. Gregory.

Miss Florence Murphy, No. 1703 Second Ave., Seattle, Wash., writes:

"I suffered for over a year with female trouble, and although I tried several physicians none of them seemed to be able to help me permanently.

"It only took a little over three bottles of Peruna to make me well and strong. I never have backache, headache or bearing down pains any more."—Florence Murphy.

Mrs. Louise Westbrook, No. 9 East Columbia St., Detroit, Mich., Secretary of the West Side Lotus Club, writes:

"For several years I suffered with leucorrhoea and painful menstruation, which was followed by general debility, until I was but a wreck of myself. Thanks to Peruna I am a well woman to-day."—Louise Westbrook.

Miss Jessiemae Westland, No. 767 Beaubien Ave., Detroit, Mich., District Deputy of Detroit Independent Order of Good Templars, writes as follows:

"Peruna has been a blessing to me and gladly do I indorse it. For two years I suffered with catarrh of the stomach. I lost flesh and grew thin and emaciated, nervous and exhausted, so that I could neither work or enjoy life. I began taking Peruna and can now eat and enjoy everything I eat. I have been well over a year now."—Miss Jessiemae Westland.

SUMMER RESORT INTERESTS.

A writer in Rod and Gun makes a suggestion in regard to the utilization of our natural facilities for pleasure resorts, which may be practicable. He suggests that the Provincial Government take steps to bring into the market and, consequently, into use, the rocky and picturesque islands, and otherwise waste lands, which abound in the province, and build up the holiday business which is now so great a source of revenue to the people of the province. It is pointed out that these lands are useless for agricultural purposes. But they are useful as sites for forest reserves, and any disposition of them should be made with reference to these sources of timber supply. The writer mentioned, thinks that the province might secure two and a half millions for the sale of these lands in a few years at $5 per acre for islands, and $1 per acre for mainland. On the northern shore of Georgian Bay there are said to be as many as thirty thousand of these islands, not to speak of the contiguous shores, available for the purposes suggested. Detailed, the suggestions of Rod and Gun, are:

"These islands and mainlands should be offered for sale at $5 per acre for islands, and $1 per acre for mainland; that the cost of every survey should be added to these prices; that the timber should be sold to the purchasers at regular market rates; that building conditions should be attached; that no timber should be cut except on the permit of the Government; that each man should get one island and no more, or one fixed portion of the mainland; that a suitable amount of land at regular intervals should be kept by the Government for the free use of campers and people making canoe trips; that the purchasers of islands or mainland should be able to protect their land from trespassers of all kinds; that the Government should rigidly enforce the use of all kinds of nets that might by any possibility take or destroy game fish within five miles of any land thus offered for sale, and absolutely stop any netting in inland lakes; that fish and game should be really protected as they are being protected in some of the older States. There should be no preserves created as in the province of Quebec, as they keep away people who would spend money, and bring in little revenue."

It is impossible to estimate with any degree of correctness the amount of money left in the province every year by tourists, but the amount is large. In the state of Maine something like four or five million dollars were expended by summer holiday-makers. The subject may be well worth consideration, but there are many precautions that should be taken to protect other interests, than those of mere pleasure seekers, and those who derive profit from their presence. In the first place teh timber interests of the province in relation to reforstry, should not by any means be neglected. Besides, there will have to be a thorough revision in the game laws, for with a large number of aggressive tourists operating upon our fishing waters, the point of depletion, without strict preservative and propagative measures, would soon be reached.

Another element that is likely to bring about complication is the flag waving proclivities of our American neighbours. The incident at Stony Lake, in which an American flag disappeared, while it is to be regretted, is not anything of a surprise. In regard to the display of flags, Canadians are much more complaisant than our American neighbours, who are inclined to take advantage of the greater liberty shown in this country and make offensive displays of their flag, elevating it above our own flag and otherwise offensively flaunting it in the face of loyal British Canadians. So long as this is done it will be no matter of surprise if Canadians take it upon themselves to rebuke, in the most practical way, such ill-advised bumptiousness. And the wider the area which the American tourists frequent, the greater the danger of repr.sals such as that at Stony Lake. This is a small matter in itself, but things may easily come to such a pass that international complications may arise with results that would represent great loss to both countries. If the suggestion to utilize our islands and foreshores, is acted upon, this question of the flag display should be adjusted by some distinct understanding, if not some distinct and defined rule.

From a local point of view it is incumbent upon our own people at home to make the most of our adjacent summer resort regions. Stony Lake and the contiguous Kawartha Lakes, are becoming congested with summer population and before long tourists in that direction will have to go further afield. And it is right that they should do so. The people of Peterborough and vicinity have need of outing places as well as foreigners, and they should have the most accessible and best of the resort regions at their disposal. There is a tendency to neglect the Rice Lake region. This is not because of the unattractiveness of this region so much as the absence of adequate traffic facilities in the form of steamers sufficient to meet more than a limited demand for the conveyance of tourists. A moment's consideration of the subject of summer resort interests in Ontario opens out a wide range. Many matters of moment crop up which will require careful consideration and adjustment before any formal and definite scheme is decided upon.

WHAT MR. WHITNEY HAS NOT DONE.

(Montreal Herald.)

There must be times in these responsible and office-holding days when the Hon. James Pliny Whitney regrets the fervor of some of his utterances in the long years of his irresponsibility. That oratorical strenuousness, which lavished the most extreme terms of parliamentary obloquy upon the most ordinary controversies of administrative routine was always the Conservative leader's besetting sin. Curses, like chickens, come home to roost, according to ancient tradition, and it is certain that Mr. Whitney must now be feeling the weight of many of his past imprecations.

A few days ago one of Mr. Whitney's journalistic friends happened to read over the speech in which the then leader of the Opposition characterized the subsidy to the Georgian Bay branch of the G. T. P. as a crime slightly worse than murder. There was only one conclusion possible from the speech, so it was forthwith announced to an interested public that Mr. Whitney was about to cancel the agreement. Since then a certain section of his party has been crying to him day and night to cancel the G. T. P. agreement, or at least to bulldoze the railway, by the threat of cancellation, into making some "concessions." And poor Mr. Whitney has no earthly intention or desire of cancelling or altering the agreement in any way. He has found, on coming into office, that it was on the whole a legitimate proposal for the benefit of the Province; and although cancellation is undoubtedly within the power of the Legislature, and although the compensation that would have to be paid for work done under the agreement would not at the present moment be very heavy, there is not the least probability that the arrangement made by the Ross Government will be interfered with now that that Government is gone.

A yet more extraordinary change of attitude on the part of the whole Conservative party is to be noted in connection with the Sault loan guarantee. It is true that Mr. Whitney and his followers failed to stampede the Province on that issue as they did on some others, but that was not the fault of any feebleness of language on the part of the leader or his press. It was due to the fact that the Province had an abiding faith in the Sault industries, and was perfectly willing to back them up in their hour of trial; and in part to the commanding reputation of the men who were associated with the reorganization. To-day the Sault loan guarantee is accepted on its results as one of the wisest acts the Ross Government ever performed, and, in view of the extraordinary nature of the temporary opposition to it, one of the most courageous. The worst the Toronto News can say about it now is that the reorganization would probably have been eventually effected without it. Mr. Whitney has followed the dictates of wisdom rather than consistency, and is administering the policy of Mr. Ross in a spirit of entire friendliness to the corporation he once so roundly abused. Indeed, so far, he has afforded almost equal surprise by the success of his administration and by the extent to which it is a copy of that of his predecessors. But how he must wonder that anybody can desire a provincial Hansard!

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Master Plumbers' Association has selected Ottawa as the next place of meeting. Plumbers are proverbially unable to charge enough for their services, and therefore, with the memory of the salary grab fresh in their minds, Ottawa is regarded as an inspiring atmosphere in which to hold a plumbers' gathering.

Premier Whitney is to open the Canadian National Exposition in Toronto. Of course he will make a speech. Perhaps he will give some indication as to where he is to place the five or six agricultural colleges which, in the effusive, but irresponsible moments of Opposition, he promised to establish if he came to power.

Lord Roberts has made two or three attempts to come to Canada. A reason for his shyness which has not yet been suggested is that though Lord Roberts is the bravest of the brave, he shrinks from the bombardment of addresses with which he is sure to be assailed. Cut out the addresses and "Bobs" will come and see us.

Municipal ownership of public utilities has made greater progress in Ontario than is generally known. The following towns and cities in this Province now are operating their municipal electric lighting plants: Acton Almonte, Alexandria, Amherstburg, Aylmer, Barrie, Beeton, Bracebridge, Brockville, Chatham, Dresden, Dundalk, East Toronto, Fort William, Goderich, Hastings, Hespeler, Irqquois, Kincardine, Mitchell, Newmarkot, Niagara, Niagara Falls, North Toronto, Orillia, Paris, Parry Sound, Port Arthur, Prescott, St. Mary's, Thessalon, Thorold, Tottenham, Weston, Windsor and Woodstock. The municipal ownership of Peterborough is confined to the possession of one of the best waterworks systems of the Province. The people also own the School Board,—judging by the way they turn down its aspirations for a collegiate institute, and the City Council seems to own the city by the way it relieves us of our hard-earned coin through the medium of the assessor and tax collector.

Editor of Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—Would you kindly inform me as to the exact position which Mr. Henry holds with regard to the Children's Shelter? I understood he was a paid employee of the Children's Aid Society, who, in addition to his remuneration for certain duties, was paid for the board and lodging of any inmates of the Shelter. It appears from the way he is spoken of by the Press that he is "Mine Host". So I would like to know if Mr. Campbell, Mr. Lloyd and the town generally foist the objects of their charity on his generosity.

CURIOSITY.

Peterborough, August 11th, 1905.

Editor of Post Card Column:

Mr. Editor,—Bachelor was labouring under a false impression in his answer to Old Fogey's question in last evening's paper. Doubtless time has streaked his sister's hair with silver and wishing to retain her youthful appearance, she decks her head out with some gay little bonnet to make her look attractive. It is all right for Old Fogey to talk about the beauty of a pretty face under a pretty hat, but he did not consider those whom nature has not blessed with a pretty face, or fortune favoured with a full purse, with which to purchase stylish headgear. The crowning beauty of a woman is her hair, so therefore those, who have neither a pretty face nor a dainty hat, but have nice hair do not care to toss it by putting a hat upon it. And my advice both to Bachelor and Old Fogey, as I think they are troubled with the heat, is either to punch air-holes in the hats or go bareheaded, and keep their brain cool and not bother themselves with the doings of their fair friends.

STRAY LINE CAUSED TROUBLE

The embankments at the lift lock are well sodded and present a beautiful expanse of green which tempted some cows belonging to a Mr. Weir and proved that gentleman's undoing.

It seems that some gypsies had been camping near Mr. Weir's property and had put their horses in one of his fields after the haying had been done and then neglected to leave the fence as they found it, thus allowing that gentleman's cows to get out and stray onto the mountain of green at the lock.

Mr. Weir said there was a bylaw in the township permitting cows to stray through the lanes, but the magistrate said he could make no exception in this case as the offence was also against the city, and he imposed a fine of $2 with $4.15 costs to be paid in 10 days.

THE ADVANTAGES OF SOUTH BEACH AS A A DELIGHTFUL RESORT

This Popular Summer Watering Place This Season Has Jumped Into Popular Favor—Many Peterborough Guests are Spending a Few Days or Weeks There Enjoying the Fishing and Scenery—How the Guests Spend Their Evenings—Music and Dancing Popular—Rochester Contributes Many to Guest List.

Special Staff Correspondence.

South Beach, Clear Lake, August 11th. — "And still they come!" is the usual exclamation, as the Stony Lake arrives at the wharf with her fresh contingent of guests for Mr. Brook's "Wanoka." South Beach is booming, and it is a little surprising that this new summer resort — only in its first season — should have so good a pull in so short a time, on the tourist travel to the Kawartha Lakes.

Several reasons of a special nature, contribute to the rush for South Beach. Mr. Brooks, the proprietor, has been in pretty close touch with the tourist travel to Stony Lake for the best part of six years, previous to acquiring his present base. During that time he held a lease of the Carleton House, Young's Point, which he only threw up because of the local option law passed in that township abolishing hotel licenses. Mr. Brooks had during that time conducted a good house, formed a wide acquaintance with American tourists, which has resulted in giving him quite a pull in his new resort. It will also be noted that the majority of his guests are from Rochester, "the Flower City," and many of those here this season have been Mr. Brook's guests on previous occasions.

Another special reason which helps to make the rapid success for South Beach is the fact of its admirable location. It is not a rocky island, which becomes heated by a hot July or August sun to a temperature which rarely cools night or day, but is picturesquely situated on a high sandy beach, overlooking Clear Lake —as beautiful an expanse of water as can be seen, surrounded by scenery of rugged grandeur, for which the Kawartha Lakes district is noted. The entire frontage faces the lake and is covered with healthy green grass, the house being located in the centre of a natural park. There is nearly always a clear moist air cooled by the waters of the lake, which is peculiarly refreshing. The pure breath of the pine and balsam trees, the convenient sandy beach for bathing, and the pure cold spring water for drinking, are among other advantages of South Beach.

New Arrivals.

Among the newest arrivals this week are the following: J. W. Ross, Mrs. Ross, and Miss Edith Ross, of Rochester.

Dr. C. R. Barber, Mrs. Barber, and the Misses Gladys, Ruth and Helen Barber, Rochester.

Mrs. Julius Bolwer, Rochester.

Miss L. Guiry, Enniskmore.

Miss Nellie Dillon, Peterborough.

Miss Annie McCabe, Peterborough.

Geo. Stevenson, Peterborough.

E. H. Gehlke, Rochester.

W. C. Seeth, Rochester.

Chas. H. Gehlke, Rochester.

Miss Tierney, Ottawa.

Miss McAlkster, Montreal.

Miss Aggie McFadden, Peterborough.

Miss Lilkie Montgomery, Lakefield.

These with the other guests previously announced, most of whom are still here, make a jolly crowd. Social hops and delightful musical entertainments enliven the evenings, and are very much enjoyed by all. The broad verandahs afford ample space for dancing and promenading. The guests are greatly indebted to Miss M. McCabe, the proficient pianist of Peterborough, who has led the music on a fine, full-toned Heintzman pianoforte. Choice vocal music is almost always on tap, and there is no room for ennui or monotony.

Fishing is not a craze at South Beach, but a pleasant pastime. No one is talked to death about fishing adventures, and fishing tackle, so dear to the heart of the city sport, who seldom hooks a fish — but almost invariably displays bags and boxes full of queer outlandish baits, and hooks and devices, for seducing them Clear Lake, not being fished over so constantly as the upper lakes gives the guests of South Beach quite a cinch. Such a thing as a fishing party coming in without a string of fish, after an honest effort to catch them, has not been known here.

A 'shore dinner" has been arranged for to-morrow. This is one of the special attractions of up-the-lakes, and is usually an event which contributes to bring the guests more closely together, and so making friendships more lasting.

PETERBOROUGH WILL HAVE TO EXERT HERSELF NEXT YEAR

The rest of the delegates from the local Oddfellows Lodge to the Grand Lodge meeting at Brockville, Messrs. B. Wallace, S. Sharpe and Frank Wise returned last night, and are delighted with the result of their work to bring the next Grand Lodge meeting to this city. They state, however, that the people here will have to bestir themselves in order to beat out Brockville. The city council spent $500 in entertaining the visiting Oddfellows. It is probable that the Peterborough City Council will be asked to contribute a sum to enable the local Oddfellows to entertain their visiting brethren in a fitting manner.

GOOD DEMAND AND HIGH PRICES ON THE LOCAL MARKET TO-DAY

The farmers are paying particular attention to the harvesting of their crops which accounts for the rather small attendance on the market for this season of the year. The demand still continues good, and the farmers feel justified in demanding ing high prices for their produce.

On the square there were considerable quantities of new potatoes, and apples ,the potatoes selling at 25 cents per pk., or $1.25 to $1.50 per bag, and apples at 15 and 20 cents per pk. There was also some new corn offered at 15cts. per dozen, but some of it was rather too young for use.

There was, as usual, a greater attendance in the hall on the inside market, and here the variety of produce was also limited. Eggs sold at 17 and 18 cts. and butter went at the high price of 22 to 24c cts. per lb. There were a few fowl in evidence, chickens selling from 60 to 80 cents per pair and ducks at $1.00 and $1.10.

The prices received on the local market are equal to those received in Toronto where everything always commands the hioghest of prices. In nine-tenths of the other Ontario town and cities the prices received are not nearly so high as here. The living in those places may be lower than here, but the farmers in this county seem to be more prosperous than in other districts where the market prices are low.

DELIGHTFUL MOONLIGHT

FLOAT HELD LAST NIGHT FROM JUNIPER ISLAND

Everything points to a most interesting programme of races at Monday's annual regatta. The entry list will be large, and will include some of the best aquatic sportsmen in the province. Mr. Harry McDonald of the Toronto World, and Dr. Gaveller, of Fergus, returned after a week's stay at McCracken's.

Moonlight Float.

A delightful moonlight float took place last night under the auspices of the Cottagers' Association. The event took place at the conclusion of the dance at the pavilion, when Mr. R. B. Rogers' house boat 'Lotus," beautifully illuminated with coloured lights for to occasion, sailed at the wharf and took a large party on board. The yachts present also took large parties out, while many were towed in skiffs and canoes. The piano was placed on board the house boat and as the party floated around in the bright moonlight, many choruses added greatly to the pleasure of the event.

A pleasing feature of the affair was the pleasure which it gave the older participants, to whom it was an agreeable change after the mightly succession of dances.

The party returned to Juniper after a delightful sail.

You Can "Get there" Still Without Pull

BY HENRY C. STOKES.

Ever since the present active generation has been 'knee-high to a grasshopper," it has heard the lament that that day is past and gone when the boy with no means other than those contained within his own personality could hope to forge ahead in this world's affairs. The arguments put forth in support of this statement have been many; it is not the aim to recount them, but to show that all are refuted right along by the way in which boys who started out with no backing and were solely dependent upon their own efforts, daily come to the front — daily win out in fields where the croakers would have us believe there are no longer opportunities for a boy with ambition, ideas, and a willingness to work — but no influence.

Two Cabinet Ministers Who Have Won Out Recently.

When the eighties dawned he was still a school boy. In 1883 he learned stenography, and became a teacher at a meagre salary in the school in which he studied. For two years he was a court reporter. Next he rose to the principalship of a college preparatory school; still late he was private secretary and confidential stenographer. All these several steps he took in less than eight years, and at the beginning of the last decade he found himself in Washington, the private secretary of the then Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General.

His career since then is pretty well known; and the fact that he has enjoyed the confidence of three Presidents, one of them a Democrat, is pretty conclusive evidence that George B. Cortelyou has won out through his own efforts, and not because of that mysterious thing called "pull."

Paul Morton, who seems to be winning out just now, in a notable sort of way, began as an office boy in the freight office of a western railway. He was then sixteen years old. But the way in which he applied himself to the lowly duties as office boy won him a clerkship; from that position he went to a rate clerk's desk, and so on up to general passenger agent, when he successfully fought a serious strike of engineers and firemen, and gained recognition in railway circles throughout the country. The same qualities that caused him to win out then, and to win a clerkship while an office boy, are sending him forward still.

Thomas F. Ryan, now for the first time a national figure, was a humble drygoods clerk in Baltimore for two years following his departure, at the age of 17, from the none too prosperous home of two aunts in Virginia. Then he went to New York, entered a broker's office in a minor position and in four years had won a seat on the stock exchange. Shortly after he began the series of big financial undertakings that have won him the respect of "the Street;" and now he is known far and wide as the man whose actions put a stop to the internecine strife in the great Equitable Life Assurance Society.

Humble Beginnings of Three Governors.

Robt. M. La Follette, who has been winning out in more ways than one in Wisconsin, the last five years or so, was only eight months old when his father died. Thirteen years later he was the head of the family, helping to support his mother and her other three children by doing the work on the family farm.

For five years he farmed, then sold the property and moved to the State capital. There he entered the State university, became locally famous as an orator, had hankerings for the stage, but was kept from it largely by reason of the debts hanging over him; went to work in a law office; in five months was admitted to the Bar, and since that day, some 25 years ago, has managed to attain his present political eminence in the face of constant opposition of the bitterest sort.

Everybody knows how Joseph W. Folk, a boy with no backing, became a lawyer, went to St. Louis from Tennessee to practice, was offered the nomination of circuit attorney by the Democratic bosses, in the face of his declaration that he would wear no man's collar, and when elected, began his great work of unearthing graft and putting the grafters in the penitentiary. He is a national figure, and he has won out beyond a doubt.

Also there is Charles S. Deneen, Governor of Illinois. As a boy he worked hard on a farm in Illinois. Then he taught school and studied law books when he got an opportunity. He went to Chicago to finish his studies; his money gave out; he tried to gain employment in a law office, and failed. When reduced to his last penny, he got an offer of a position in St. Paul, held down the place until he was on his feet again; went back to Chicago and succeeded in gaining his degree by poring over Blackstone by day, while he taught school by night. Once more he almost starved, this time while waiting for clients; became interested in politics, displayed much shrewdness at the game; put influential grafters of various sorts in jail with startling rapidity, and last year won the gubernatorial nomination in the face of bitter and long drawn out opposition. Mr. Deneen's life has been an uphill struggle from the beginning—but he has won out.

John Weaver—Luther Burbank.

Lately the whole country has been filled with the news of the battle which Mayor John Weaver, of Philadelphia, has been waging in the name of reform upon the regular Republican organization. Well, he is another boy who started in without "pull" and is winning out.

Less than thirty years ago he came to this country from England, a stowaway, and a runaway from his father's humble home. He nearly starved while seeking work in New York. Then he went to Philadelphia, where he became a clerk in a dry goods store at $7 per week. He wanted to rise in the world, so he studied stenography, and became a court reporter. Next, he read law in spare moments and was admitted to the Bar. He was soon making more than a comfortable living as a commercial lawyer, when the Republican leaders, looking about for a respectable candidate for District Attorney, took him up, and elected him to the office. Before he had got fairly started in the work, he was nominated for Mayor, and elected, and today it is a safe guess to make that the men who offered him to the people of Philadelphia, as a thoroughly respectable man are wishing heartily that they had left him to continue winning out in the field of commercial law, and not give ham the opportunity to win out also as a reformer.

Luther Burbank, the Californian who has won world-wide fame within the last year or two because of his wonderful creative work in horticulture, began earning his living in a plow factory. Boy though he was, he soon invented a valuable addition to some machinery used in the shop, and caused his wages to be multiplied 25 times.

While he was working early and late in the factory, his thoughts were ever on flowers and plants, for which his fondness dated back to babyhood. So despite tempting offers, he quit the factory, and since then has devoted himself to his chosen field. More than once he has faced starvation in a land of plenty, as a lifelong friend has truly said. Until all within recent years he was an object of scorn even among his relations and friends and he was jeered by them to a man. But he had faith; failure and hard knocks of the world could not thwart his purposes; at last he won out, and to-day those who once derided and called him crazy now lead in the applause.

How Gates Got His Start.

The name of John W. Gates is rolled so frequently on many tongues these days that people generally have come to forget that only within the last half dozen years or so has he been prominent in any large degree.

A little over 30 years ago he was a married boy of 18 years and the proprietor of a pleasure hardware business in a country town a short distance from Chicago. Here he struggled along trying to make both ends meet until Isaac L. Ellwood, the man who first manufactured barbed wire in this country, hired him as salesman, with the cattle country as his field.

"Gates put a spool of the wire in his trunk and carried it as baggage to Texas. He arrived at San Antonio a lad of 23, obtained a permit of the mayor to erect a corral in the plaza—the first barbed wire fence put up—in Texas—hired 25 steers and was—ready for business.

"People came from miles around to see the show. They were to be convinced against their wills that the slight barbed wire barriers could avail against Texas steers. Cowboys drove the cattle in every direction except through the prickly wire. They had come to jeer and remained to buy.

"Gates sold more wire at 8 cents a pound in a day than Ellwood could manufacture in a month. So successful was his trip that he then and there decided, to use his own words, 'there was more money in manufacturing barbed wire than in selling it on a salary of $100 a month.' He induced a St. Louis friend to embark in business with him, and with $8,000 capital and two machines the boy salesman began his career in industry, finance and speculation that has won him the attention of two continents.

Winning Out in the Steel Business.

John C. Osgood, formerly president of the famous Colorado Fuel & Iron company, and who, as president, fought and won a battle with John W. Gates for the control of the company, was compelled to become an office boy at the age of 14 in a cotton mill in Rhode Island. His willingness to work soon won him promotion, and before long he moved to New York, where he was a clerk in a produce commission house for three years. Then he went back to Iowa, where he had lived as a child, at 19 was cashier for a coal mining company, and a few years later held the same position in a national bank.

By the early eighties young Osgood had become recognized as a coal mining expert, and was sent to Colorado by a railroad to report on the coal resources of the state. He was not long in discovering the wonderful possibilities of the state as regards coal; he set about at once securing coal lands; and a few years later formed the company that is now a giant in the industrial world. But when it was organized its headquarters was in one small room and the office force consisted of Mr. Osgood and an office boy.

Charles M. Schwab is another boy who has arrived at the front in recent years through his own efforts. His successor as head of the Steel Trust William E. Corey, started in one of Carnegie's steel mills, in as humble a position as did "Charlie" Schwab; in fact, the history of iron and steel has always been a history of ambitious boys coming to the front by reason of their own innate abilities.

As examples of what a boy with no other power than his desire to get there can accomplish in the field of amusement, consider the career of the late Kirk La Shelle, and that of the late Samuel Shubert.

Opportunities in the Theatrical Field.

La Shelle began as printer's devil in a country town in Illinois. He had scarcely attained his majority when he became foreman of the composing room of The Chicago Daily News. Four years later he was the paper's city editor next its managing editor; later was dramatic critic for another Chicago paper, and amateur playwright; and about a decade ago business manager for E. S. Willard, then on his first American tour.

During the next few years his fortunes were varied. Then, with a partner, he decided to back Frank Daniels for a stellar tour in the "Wizard of the Nile," an undertaking which more than one experienced manager had put aside as being too risky. To get the show ready for the opening night the partners had been compelled to spend all the money they could rake and scrape together, except the sum of $34. But the play justified La Selle's judgment. It gave him and his partner each a fortune, and from then on till the day of his death, last spring, La Shelle kept up the winning pace, being one of the country's leading managers.

"Sam" Shubert was a newsboy in Syracuse, when he induced the proprietor of a local theatre to let him and his brother Lee take care of the cloak room, and sell candies and rent opera glasses. Later he became an usher, and step by step he began crawling up the theatrical ladder, his brother Lee keeping him company.

While they were thus climbing, the theatrical syndicate was formed, and quite a number of theaters throughout the country were left with no hope of securing attractions. One of these was the theatre in which the Shuberts had begun as clockroom boys. Seeing the opportunity, they decided to put in a stock company at the theatre, and the capital was soon forthcoming, because the Shuberts had gained the admiration and the confidence of Syracuse by reason of their push and pluck. The venture was a success from the start and when the Shuberts decided to branch out in Rochester, more capital was at their beck and call. Next they were road managers, with great financial benefit to all concerned; and five years ago they broke into New York. When he was killed in the Harrisburg wreck last May, at the age of 28, Sam Shubert was looked upon as one of the foremost managers in the country, and was on the eve of taking over the management of a London playhouse.

These are but a handful of the men who have been winning out as these latter years; the recital could be continued indefinitely, until it became monotonous. But it would all be to the same point—that you can surely "get there," still without "pull," if you have the "stuff" in you.

A WESTERN AUTHORITY SPEAKS OF CANADA'S GREAT PROGRESS

During the Years Since the Liberal Government Assumed the Reins of Power the Immigration of Desirtble Classes Into the Country Has Increased Wonderfully--A Commendation of the Laurier Government.

That the future prosperity of Western Canada depends, in the ultimate analysis, upon two controlling factors—good crops and the flow of population to properly develop vast natural resources, is the opinion of the Manitoba Free Press.

It is satisfactory to know that in both these directions the outlook was never more remote than at present. The crop prospects, speaking in the large, were never better than now, a number of men whose knowledge qualifies them to speak with authority estimating the total wheat yield of Western Canada for the year 1905 at 100,000,000 bushels, or almost per cent. in excess of the highest previous records.

These indications of rapid material development are paralleled by the announcement of the immigration department of the Dominion Government published in the Free Press the other day, that the number of new arrivals in Canada during the last fiscal year was greater by over 16,000 than in any previous period of its history.

Last year 146,266 people from all parts of the world located in the Dominion. This is almost nine times the number of new arrivals that settled in Canada during the last year of Conservative rule. The difference in the results represents the difference in the efficiency of the two regimes.

It is a fact pretty generally known, but which is conveniently forgotten by opponents of the Laurier government, that for years prior to the defeat of the Conservative government the immigration into Canada was constantly dwindling.

The inauguration of a Liberal administration, on the contrary, was coincident with a steady and rapid upclimb in the number of new settlers locating in Canada. The change of departmental methods and spirit quickly showed itself in the difference of results attained, each succeeding year steadily eclipsing the record of its predecessors in the volume of immigration directed Canadaward.

What is better still, the bulk of the immigrants who have been induced to come to our country, thanks to the efficiency of the means adopted by the Dominion government, is composed of the most desirable classes.

In the earlier stages of Liberal administrations fears were professed by political critics because of the difficulty of assimilating so large a proportion of newcomers whose speech and ideals differed from those of the Anglo-Saxon. As a matter of fact, events have proved the utter groundlessness of these fears, for no classes among the new settlers have been quicker or more eager to learn the speech and conform to the laws and customs of the land of the adoption than have the settlers from continental Europe, to whom Canada has been and is the land of promise. Nevertheless, in the steadily increasing proportion which English-speaking people have within the past few years borne to the total immigration coming into Canada, there are a number of gratifying features. These settlers will contribute qualities to the Canadian national character that make them the most valuable settlers we receive. Those from the United Kingdom bring respect for law and authority, a sturdy independence of thought and character, and a robolute industry that constitute a national asset to the country at their adoption, while the Americans, in addition, display a resourcefulness and adaptability that speedily force them to the front rank of Western Canada's most successful settlers.

Furthermore, it should be noted that the coming to Canada of settlers from the continent of Europe has been on the whole an unmixed boon to the Dominion. Western Canada has under Liberal rule witnessed a rapidity of development unknown in any age to any country, mainly dependent for its prosperity upon agriculture. This development has necessitated the employment of armies of unskilled labour, and this labour has been largely supplied by the immigrants from continental Europe. The Italians, Galicians, Swedes, Germans and other European peoples, have found profitable employment in the construction work on railways, in cities and on farms and have, in the main, proved themselves as industrious and law abiding as the settlers either from across the boundary or from the British Isles. It is safe to say that their presence in Canada has relieved the unskilled labour market from what would otherwise have been a serious economic problem, and the development of the West would not be so rapid or so satisfactory had it not been for their coming. This is recognized—grudgingly, it is true—by those who five years ago, were most vituperative against these people, and against the Dominion authorities. It is but rarely that the Opposition press—at least in the West, where their value is appreciated — indulge in diatribes against the continental immigrant.

The results of the immigration policy pursued under Liberal rule in Canada have been such as abundantly warrant their continuance. When it is borne in mind that only a few years ago, as evidenced by the returns of that time, Canada was practically ignored by the immigrating world as a field for settlement, and that immediately following the inauguration of new methods of fostering and stimulating British and American immigration, the number of arrivals from those countries has assumed such proportions that today it exceeds the entire British immigration to the United States, there would appear to be no doubt but that the new methods adopted were responsible for so favourable and remarkable a change. The same opportunities for farmers were available in the early nineties as now, the free grants were no less productive, railway facilities from ocean to ocean through the fertile fields of the West were afforded as far back as 1887; the gates of Canada, both at the ocean ports and along the 3000 miles of boundary to the south, were always wide open; all the natural resources of the Dominion existed then as now; but the British settler passed our door on his way to the neighbouring republic; while the American agriculturist almost seemed to scorn the limitless fields extending along his northern border. But as soon as vigorous steps were taken to attract immigration, thousands on thousands of the most desirable settlers poured into Canada and became contented and prosperous citizens. The inference is irresistible that the changed methods are responsible for the changed results.

The inrush of population into Canada is one of the most satisfactory and hopeful features of the present position and future prospects of the Dominion. The continuance of the policy which has brought about this result is so vital to Canada's welfare that no consideration should be permitted to interfere therewith. In Western Canada where the benefits of the inflowing stream of immigration are more apparent and more startling, any departure from the methods which have achieved so much would be regarded as folly, both criminal and colossal. Rather should it be the aim of the government to widen the scope and increase the efficiency of its immigration service by more persistent and systematic efforts.

LINDSAY ACTUALLY DEFEATED OSHAWA

In What is Said to Have Been a Fast Game.

Lindsay 5, Oshawa 4. From these apparent facts it is evident that the days of miracles are not past. Yesterday was Lindsay's Civic Holiday and the Red Birds accompanied by a bunch of supporters journeyed to the lake town and actually managed to pull out a close victory.

The following clipping is taken from the Lindsay Post:—

A report of the last game of the season will appear to-morrow. The score was as follows, and supporters can judge the game accordingly. Three boys put up a magnificent fight, the new men doing well.

LACROSSE.

The Young Peterboroughs struck its colours to Campbellford Saturday afternoon in a very exciting lacrosse match which attracted a large number of spectators whose interest in the national game was evidenced by the manner in which they showed their appreciation of the clever work of the respective teams.

Peterborough put up a spirited defence, but was unable to repel the aggressive attacks of Campbellford and was finally obliged to surrender to the superior generalship of the latter, the score standing Campbellford 4, Peterborough 0.—Despatch.

ROLLING BOOM LOG'S RESULTS

Caused Accident to Three Young Ladies in a Canoe.

DOLLIE WATSON DROWNS

Miss Watson Lost Her Life In Attempting to Assist Her Friend, Who Was In Peril on a Rolling Log—Daughter of James Watson of Canadian Soo Steel Plant, and Stenographer in Sawmill Office.

Sault Ste. Marie, Aug. 12.—Miss Dollie Watson, 18 years old, daughter of James Watson of the steel plant, was drowned in the river above the rapids yesterday afternoon.

In company with Miss Thompson and a younger sister, she had been canoeing. Desiring to change positions in the canoe, moored beside a boom log. Miss Thompson got out on the log, and it began rolling with her. Miss Watson attempted to assist her from her position in the canoe, with the result that both fell into the water.

A man who saw the accident rescued Miss Thompson, but the other girl disappeared. The body was recovered in thirty minutes, but efforts at resuscitation were of no avail. Miss Watson was employed as stenographer in the office of the Lake Superior Corporation sawmill.

PARBOILED IN SOAP.

Great Tanks Explode and the Firemen Have Dangerous Task.

New York, Aug. 12.—Twenty firemen were carried, burned and unconscious, from boiling soap, five of them very badly parboiled, from a fire in W. H. Daggitt's Sons' soap factory, on West 12th street, yesterday. Tanks containing 70,000 gallons of soap fats exploded after a fire in the three-storey building had been brought under control.

For five hours the firemen fought this new danger, crawling on their stomachs on sidewalks outside the building, unable to stand in a poisonous cloud of smoke, which poured from the fiery soap greases.

Before the fire was under control, six of the firemen had been carried to the hospital, and many others, who did not go, were barely able to walk. The loss was estimated at about $50,000.

The soap greases continued to burn all day, and by night, when the fire was under control, 50 unconscious firemen had been taken from the poisonous smoke to be relieved by comrades, and many heroic rescues were made.

Fire Lieutenant Martin Mahoney swam through a vat of hot lye to save Fireman Clancey of engine 30, who had fallen unconscious. Both the fireman and his lieutenant were carried with the fall of a 5,000-pound safe through the floor into a cellar room, where a strong lye had been formed from the water and soap materials flooding the building. Clancey was crushed and internally injured during his fall, while the lieutenant fell into the lye uninjured and on top of the safe, where he partly kept himself out of the lye preparation. It was so dark that he could not see, but, feeling something in the fluid beside him, he took hold of it and pulled a boot off Clancey's leg. Then he realized for the first time that a comrade had fallen into the vat with him, and immersing himself to the neck into the hot liquid, which sapped his strength more and more every minute, he swam in the direction the boot came from, and found the unconscious form of Clancey, whose head was submerged. The lieutenant held the fireman until their comrades rescued them, and fainted when taken out. At the hospital the fireman's condition was said to be precarious, while the lieutenant suffered from prolonged unconsciousness.

Twelve hours after the start of the fire a crew of thirty fresh men from the fourth and sixth divisions filled the vacancies in the firemen's ranks, made either by those who were in the hospital or those too weak from successive fainting spells to work any longer.

A Fatal Accident.

Mr. Ed Scott, of Elkos Township, met with what may prove to be a fatal accident while loading gravel in a pit in North Easthope. He is now in Stratford Hospital with a fractured leg, a dislocated shoulder, and six broken ribs, several of which have pierced his lungs.

BLOOD POISON

On account of its terrible effects, blood disease is called the king of all diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted; so while it may not be a crime to have the disease, it is a crime to permit it to remain in the system. It may manifest itself in the form of Scrofula, Eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, itchiness of the skin, eruptions or blotches, ulcers in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, falling out of hair, disordered stomach, and a general depression of the system. If you have any of these symptoms don't neglect yourself. You have no time to lose. Beware of "old fogy" treatment—beware of mineral poisons—beware of Quacks and Fakirs. OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure this disease, never to return. Bank Bonds will protect you. Our treatment is not injurious in any way, but reaches the very root of the disease and eliminates all poison from the system. The symptoms of disease gradually disappear. The Return of SHERLOCK HOLMES

By A. CONAN DOYLE,

Author of "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes," "The Hound of the Baskervilles," "The Sign of the Four," "A Study in Scarlet," Etc.

ILLUSTRATED BY F. D. STEELE

The Adventure of the Golden Pince-Nez

No. 10 of the Series

(Copyright, 1904, by McClure, Phillips & Co.)

WHEN I look at the three massive manuscript volumes which contain our work for the year 1894, I confess that it is very difficult for me out of such a wealth of material to select the cases which are most interesting in themselves and at the same time most conducive to a display of those peculiar powers for which my friend was famous. As I turn over the pages I see my notes upon the repulsive story of the red leech and the terrible death of Crosby, the banker. Here also I find an account of the Addleton tragedy and the singular contents of the ancient British barrow. The famous Smith-Mortimer succession case comes also within this period, and so do the tracking and arrest of Huret, the boulevard assassin, an exploit which won for Holmes an autograph letter of thanks from the French president and the order of the Legion of honor. Each of these would furnish a narrative, but on the whole I am of opinion that none of them unites so many singular points of interest as the episode of Yoxley Old Place, which includes not only the lamentable death of young Willoughby Smith, but also those subsequent developments which threw so curious a light upon the causes of the crime.

It was a wild, tempestuous night, toward the close of November. Holmes and I sat together in silence all the evening, he engaged with a powerful lens deciphering the remains of the original inscription upon a palimpsest, I deeply immersed in a recent treatise upon surgery. Outside the wind howled down Baker-street, while the rain beat fiercely against the windows. It was strange there, in the very depths of the town, with ten miles of man's handiwork on every side of us, to feel the trouble of Nature and to be conscious that to the huge elemental forces all London was no more than the molehills that dot the fields. I walked to the window and looked out on the deserted street. The occasional lamps gleamed on the expanse of muddy road and shining pavement. A single cab was splashing its way from the Oxford street end.

"Well, Watson, it's as well we have no call to turn out tonight," said Holmes, laying aside his lens and rolling up the palimpsest. "I've done enough for one sitting. It is trying work for the eyes. So far as I can make out it is nothing more exciting than an abbe's accounts dating from the second half of the fifteenth century. Hello, hello, hello! What's this?"

Amid the droning of the wind there had come the stamping of a horse's hoofs and the long grind of a wheel as it rasped against the curb. The cab which I had seen had pulled up at our door.

"What can he want?" I ejaculated as a man stepped out of it.

"Want? He wants us. And we, my poor Watson, must get overcoats and cravats and galoches and every aid that man ever invented to fight the weather. Wait a bit though! There's the cab off again! There's hope yet. He'd have kept it if he had wanted us to come. Run down, my dear fellow, and open the door, for all virtuous folk have been long in bed."

When the light of the hall lamp fell upon our midnight visitor I had no difficulty in recognising him. It was young Stanley Hopkins, a promising detective, in whose career Holmes had several times shown a very practical interest.

"Is he in?" he asked eagerly.

"Come up, my dear sir," said Holmes' voice from above. "I hope you have no designs upon us such a night as this."

The detective mounted the stairs, and our lamp gleamed upon his shining waterproof. I helped him out of it, while Holmes knocked a blaze out of the logs in the grate.

"Now, my dear Hopkins, draw up and warm your toes," said he. "Here's a cigar, and the doctor has a prescription containing hot water and a lemon which is good medicine on a night like this. It must be something important which has brought you out in such a gale."

"It is indeed, Mr. Holmes. I've had a bustling afternoon, I promise you. Did you see anything of the Yoxley case in the latest editions?"

"I've seen nothing later than the fifteenth century today."

"Well, it was only a paragraph and all wrong at that, so you have not missed anything. I haven't let the grass grow under my feet. It's down in Kent, seven miles from Chatham and three from the railway line. I was wired for at 3:15, reached Yoxley Old Place at 5, conducted my investigation, was back at Charing Cross by the last train, and straight to you by cab."

"Which means, I suppose, that you are not quite clear about your case?"

"It means that I can make neither head nor tail of it. So far as I can see, it is just as tangled a business as ever I handled, and yet at first it seemed so simple that one couldn't go wrong. There's no motive, Mr. Holmes. That's what bothers me. I can't put my hand on a motive. Here's a man dead—there's no denying that—but, so far as I can see, no reason on earth why any one should wish him harm."

"Let us hear about it," said he.

"I've got my facts pretty clear," said Stanley Hopkins. "All I want now is to know what they all mean. The story, so far as I can make it out, is like this: Some years ago this country house, Yoxley Old Place, was taken by an elderly man, who gave the name of Professor Coram. He was an invalid, keeping his bed half the time and the other half hobbling round the house with a stick or being pushed about the grounds by the gardener in a bath chair. He was well liked by the few neighbors who called upon him, and he has the reputation down there of being a very learned man. His household used to consist of an elderly housekeeper, Mrs. Marker, and of a maid, Susan Tarlton. These have both been with him since his arrival, and they seem to be women of excellent character. The professor is writing a learned book, and he found it necessary about a year ago to engage a secretary. The first two that he tried were not successes, but the third, Mr. Willoughby Smith, a very young man straight from the university, seems to have been just what his employer wanted. His work consisted in writing all the morning to the professor's dictation, and he usually spent the evening in hunting up references and passages which bore upon the next day's work. This Willoughby Smith has nothing against him, either as a boy at Uppingham or as a young man at Cambridge. I have seen his testimonials, and from the first he was a decent, quiet, hardworking fellow, with no weak spot in him at all. And yet this is the lad who has met his death this morning in the professor's study under circumstances which can point only to murder."

The wind howled and screamed at the windows. Holmes and I drew closer to the fire, while the young inspector slowly and point by point developed his singular narrative.

"If you were to search all England," said he, "I don't suppose you could find a household more self contained or freer from outside influences. Whole weeks would pass and not one of them go past the garden gate. The professor was buried in his work and existed for nothing else. Young Smith knew nobody in the neighborhood and lived very much as his employer did. The two women had nothing to take them from the house. Mortimer, the gardener, who wheels the bath chair, is an army pensioner, an old Crimean man of excellent character. He does not live in the house, but in a three roomed cottage at the other end of the garden. Those are the only people that you would find within the grounds of Yoxley Old Place. At the same time the gate of the garden is a hundred yards from the main London to Chatham road. It opens with a latch, and there is nothing to prevent any one from walking in.

"Now I will give you the evidence of Susan Tarlton, who is the only person who can say anything positive about the matter. It was in the forenoon, between 11 and 12. She was engaged at the moment in hanging some curtains in the upstairs front bedroom. Professor Coram was still in bed, for when the weather is bad he seldom rises before midday. The housekeeper was busied with some work in the back of the house. Willoughby Smith had been in his bedroom, which he uses as a sitting room, but the maid heard him at that moment pass along the passage and descend to the study immediately below her. She did not see him, but she says that she could not be mistaken in his quick, firm tread. She did not hear the study door close, but a minute or so later there was a dreadful cry in the room below. It was a wild, hoarse scream, so strange and unnatural that it might have come either from a man or a woman. At the same instant there was a heavy thud which shook the old house, and then all was silence. The maid stood petrified for a moment, and then, recovering her courage, she ran downstairs. The study door was shut, and she opened it. Inside young Mr. Willoughby Smith was stretched upon the floor. At first she could see no injury, but as she tried to raise him she saw that blood was pouring from the underside of his neck. It was pierced by a very small but very deep wound, which had divided the carotid artery. The instrument with which the injury had been inflicted lay upon the carpet beside him. It was one of those small sealing wax knives to be found on old fashioned writing tables, with an ivory handle and a stiff blade. It was part of the fittings of the professor's own desk.

"At first the maid thought that young Smith was already dead, but on pouring some water from the carafe over his forehead he opened his eyes for an instant. 'The professor,' he murmured—'it was she.' The maid is prepared to swear that those were the exact words. He tried desperately to say something else, and he held his right hand up in the air. Then he fell back dead.

"In the meantime the housekeeper had also arrived upon the scene, but she was just too late to catch the young man's dying words. Leaving Susan with the body, she hurried to the professor's room. He was sitting up in bed horribly agitated, for he had heard enough to convince him that something terrible had occurred. Mrs. Marker is prepared to swear that the professor was still in his night clothes, and, indeed, it was impossible for him to dress without the help of Mortimer, whose orders were to come at 12 o'clock. The professor declares that he heard the distant cry, but that he knows nothing more. He can give no explanation of the young man's last words, 'The professor—it was she,' but imagines that they were the outcome of delirium. He believes that Willoughby Smith had not an enemy in the world, and can give no reason for the crime. His first action was to send Mortimer, the gardener, for the local police. A little later the chief constable sent for me. Nothing was moved before I got there, and strict orders were given that no one should walk upon the paths leading to the house. It was a splendid chance of putting your theories into practice, Mr. Sherlock Holmes. There was really nothing wanting."

"Except Mr. Sherlock Holmes," said my companion, with a somewhat bitter smile. "Well, let us hear about it. What sort of a job did you make of it?"

"I must ask you first, Mr. Holmes, to glance at this rough plan, which will give you a general idea of the position of the professor's study and the various points of the case. It will help you in following my investigation."

He unfolded the rough chart, which I here reproduce, and he laid it across Holmes' knee. I rose and, standing behind Holmes, studied it over his shoulder.

"It is very rough, of course, and it only deals with the points which seem to me to be essential. All the rest you will see later for yourself. Now, first of all, presuming that the assassin entered the house, how did he or she come in? Undoubtedly by the garden path and the back door, from which there is direct access to the study. Any other way would have been exceedingly complicated. The escape must have also been made along that line, for of the two other exits from the room one was blocked by Susan as she ran downstairs and the other leads straight to the professor's bedroom. I therefore directed my attention at once to the garden path, which was saturated with recent rain and would certainly show any footmarks.

"My examination showed me that I was dealing with a cautious and expert criminal. No footmarks were to be found on the path. There could be no question, however, that some one had passed along the grass border which lines the path and that he had done so in order to avoid leaving a track. I could not find anything in the nature of a distinct impression, but the grass was trodden down and some one had undoubtedly passed. It could only have been the murderer, since neither the gardener nor any one else had been there that morning and the rain had only begun during the night."

"One moment," said Holmes. "Where does this path lead to?"

"To the road."

"How long is it?"

"A hundred yards or so."

"At the point where the path passes through the gate you could surely pick up the tracks?"

"Unfortunately the path was tiled at that point."

"Well, on the road itself?"

"No, it was all trodden into mire."

"Tut, tut! Well, then, these tracks upon the grass, were they coming or going?"

"It was impossible to say. There was never any outline."

"A large foot or a small?"

"You could not distinguish."

Holmes gave an ejaculation of impatience.

"It has been pouring rain and blowing a hurricane ever since," said he. "It will be harder to read now than that palimpsest. Well, well, it can't be helped. What did you do, Hopkins, after you had made certain that you had made certain of nothing?"

"I think I made certain of a good deal, Mr. Holmes. I knew that some one had entered the house cautiously from without. I next examined the corridor. It is lined with cocoanut matting and had taken no impression of any kind. This brought me into the study itself. It is a scantily furnished room. The main article is a large writing table with a false bureau. This bureau consists of a double column of drawers, with a central small cupboard between them. The drawers were open, the cupboard locked. The drawers, it seems, were always open, and nothing of value was kept in them. There were some papers of importance in the cupboard, but there were no signs that this had been tampered with, and the professor assures me that nothing was missing. It is certain that no robbery has been committed.

"I come now to the body of the young man. It was found near the bureau, and just to the left of it, as marked upon that chart. The stab was on the right side of the neck and from behind forward, so that it is almost impossible that it could have been self inflicted."

"Unless he fell upon the knife," said Holmes.

"Exactly. The idea crossed my mind. But we found the knife some feet away from the body, so that seems impossible. Then, of course, there are the man's own dying words. And, finally, there was this very important piece of evidence which was found clasped in the dead man's right hand."

From his pocket Stanley Hopkins drew a small paper packet. He unfolded it and disclosed a golden pince-nes, with two broken ends of black silk cord dangling from the end of it. "Willoughby Smith had excellent sight," he added. "There can be no question that this was snatched from the face or the person of the assassin."

Sherlock Holmes took the glasses into his hand and examined them with the utmost attention and interest. He held them on his nose, endeavored to read through them, went to the window and stared up the street with them, looked at them most minutely in the full light of the lamp and finally, with a chuckle, seated himself at the table and wrote a few lines upon a sheet of paper, which he tossed across to Stanley Hopkins.

"That's the best I can do for you," said he. "It may prove to be of some use."

The astonished detective read the note aloud. It ran as follows:

Wanted, a woman of good address, attired like a lady. She has a remarkably thick nose, with eyes which are set close upon either side of it. She has a puckered forehead, a peering expression and probably rounded shoulders. There are indications that she has had recourse to an optician at least twice during the last few months. As her glasses are of remarkable strength and as opticians are not very numerous, there should be no difficulty in tracing her.

Holmes smiled at the astonishment of Hopkins, which must have been reflected upon my features.

"Surely my deductions are simplicity itself," said he. "It would be difficult to name any articles which afford a finer field for inference than a pair of glasses, especially so remarkable a pair as these. That they belong to a woman I infer from their delicacy and also of course from the last words of the dying man. As to her being a person of refinement and well dressed, they are, as you perceive, handsomely mounted in solid gold, and it is inconceivable that any one who wore such glasses could be slatternly in other respects. You will find that the clips are too wide for your nose, showing that the lady's nose was very broad at the base. This sort of nose is usually a short and coarse one, but there is a sufficient number of exceptions to prevent me from being dogmatic or from insisting upon this point in my description. My own face is a narrow one, and yet I find that I cannot get my eyes into the center nor near the center of these glasses. Therefore the lady's eyes are set very near to the sides of the nose. You will perceive, Watson, that the glasses are concave and of unusual strength. A lady whose vision has been so extremely contracted all her life is sure to have the physical characteristics of such vision, which are seen in the forehead, the eyelids and the shoulders."

"Yes," I said, "I can follow each of your arguments. I confess, however, that I am unable to understand how you arrive at the double visit to the optician."

Holmes took the glasses in his hand.

"You will perceive," he said, "that the clips are lined with tiny bands of cork to soften the pressure upon the nose. One of these is discolored and worn to some slight extent, but the other is new. Evidently one has fallen off and been replaced. I should judge that the older of them has not been there more than a few months. They exactly correspond, so I gather that the lady went back to the same establishment for the second."

"By George, it's marvelous!" cried Hopkins, in an ecstasy of admiration. "To think that I had all that evidence in my hand and never knew it! I had intended, however, to go the round of the London opticians."

"Of course you would. Meanwhile, have you anything more to tell us about the case?"

"Nothing, Mr. Holmes. I think that you know as much as I do now—probably more. We have had inquiries made as to any stranger seen on the country roads or at the railway station. We have heard of none. What beats me is the utter want of all object in the crime. Not a ghost of a motive can any one suggest."

"Ah, there I am not in a position to help you! But I suppose you want us to come out tomorrow?"

"If it is not asking too much, Mr. Holmes. There's a train from Charing Cross to Chatham at 9 in the morning, and we should be at Yoxley Old Place between 8 and 9."

"Then we shall take it. Your case has certainly some features of great interest, and I shall be delighted to look into it. Well, it's nearly 1, and we had best get a few hours' sleep. I dare say you can manage all right on the sofa in front of the fire. I'll light my spirit lamp and give you a cup of coffee before we start."

The gale had blown itself out next day, but it was a bitter morning when we started upon our journey. We saw the cold winter sun rise over the dreary marshes of the Thames and the long, sullen reaches of the river, which I shall ever associate with our pursuit of the Andaman Islander in the earlier days of our career. After a long and weary journey we alighted at a small station some miles from Chatham. While a horse was being put into a trap at the local inn we snatched a hurried breakfast, and so we were all ready for business when we at last arrived at Yoxley Old Place. A constable met us at the garden gate.

"Well, Wilson, any news?"

"No, sir—nothing."

"No reports of any stranger seen?"

"No, sir. Down at the station they are certain that no stranger either came or went yesterday."

"Have you had inquiries made at inns and lodgings?"

"Yes, sir. There is no one that we cannot account for."

"Well, it's only a reasonable walk to Chatham. Any one might stay there or take a train without being observed. This is the garden path of which I spoke, Mr. Holmes. I'll pledge my word there was no mark on it yesterday."

"On which side were the marks on the grass?"

"This side, sir—this narrow margin of grass between the path and the flower bed. I can't see the traces now, but they were clear to me then."

"Yes, yes; some one has passed along," said Holmes, stooping over the grass border. "Our lady must have picked her steps carefully, must she not, since on the one side she would leave a track on the path and on the other an even clearer one on the soft bed?"

"Yes, sir; she must have been a cool hand."

I saw an intent look pass over Holmes' face.

"You say that she must have come back this way?"

"Yes, sir; there is no other."

"On this strip of grass?"

"Certainly, Mr. Holmes."

"Hum! It was a very remarkable performance—very remarkable. Well, I think we have exhausted the path. Let us go farther. This garden door is usually kept open, I suppose. Then this visitor had nothing to do but to walk in. The idea of murder was not in her mind or she would have provided herself with some sort of weapon instead of having to pick this knife off

Ives' Brass Beds give brightness and dignity to a room.

Many artistic home furnishers have adopted the metal bed instead of the cumbrous and sometimes unsanitary wooden beds. A metal bed adds grace and beauty to a room, imparts an atmosphere of dignity oftentimes hard to secure with a wooden bed. Its lines are light and graceful and if it is an Ives bed it will be handsome and artistic in design.

Ives beds are always beautifully designed because Ives artists are the most proficient metal designers in America. They have made Ives famous for high class metal bank and hotel fittings.

THE RETURN OF SHERLOCK HOLMES

the writing-table. She advanced along this corridor, leaving no traces upon the cocoanut matting. Then she found herself in this study. How long was she there? We have no means of judging."

"Not more than a few minutes, sir. I forgot to tell you that Mrs. Marker, the housekeeper, had been in there tidying not very long before—about a quarter of an hour, she says."

"Well, that gives us a limit. Our lady enters this room, and what does she do? She goes over to the writing table. What for? Not for anything in the drawers. If there had been anything worth her taking it would surely have been locked up. No, it was for something in that wooden bureau. Hello! What is that scratch upon the face of it? Just hold a match, Watson. Why did you not tell me of this, Hopkins?"

The mark which he was examining began upon the brasswork on the right hand side of the keyhole and extended for about four inches, where it had scratched the varnish from the surface.

"I noticed it, Mr. Holmes, but you'll always find scratches round a keyhole."

"This is recent," quite recent. See how the brass shines where it is cut. An old scratch would be the same color as the surface. Look at it through my lens. There's the varnish, too, like earth on each side of a furrow. Is Mrs. Marker there?"

A sad faced elderly woman came into the room.

"Did you dust this bureau yesterday morning?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you notice this scratch?"

"No, sir; I did not."

"I am sure you did not, for a duster would have swept away these shreds of varnish. Who has the key of this bureau?"

"The professor keeps it on his watch chain."

"Is it a simple key?"

"No, sir; it is a Chubb's key."

"Very good. Mrs. Marker, you can go. Now we are making a little progress. Our lady enters the room, advances to the bureau and either opens it or tries to do so. While she is thus engaged young Willoughby Smith enters the room. In her hurry to withdraw the key she makes this scratch upon the door. He seizes her, and she, snatching up the nearest object, which happens to be this knife, strikes at him in order to make him let go his hold. The blow is a fatal one. He falls, and she escapes, either with or without the object for which she has come. Is Susan, the maid, there? Could any one have got away through that door after the time that you heard the cry, Susan?"

"No, sir; it is impossible. Before I got down the stair I'd have seen any one in the passage. Besides, the door never opened or I would have heard it."

"That settles this exit. Then no doubt the lady went out the way she came. I understand that this other passage leads only to the professor's room. There is no exit that way?"

"No, sir."

"We shall go down it and make the acquaintance of the professor. Hello, Hopkins, this is very important—very important indeed! The professor's corridor is also lined with cocoanut matting."

"Well, sir, what of that?"

"Don't you see any bearing upon the case? Well, well, I don't insist upon it. No doubt I am wrong. And yet it seems to me to be suggestive. Come with me and introduce me."

We passed down the passage, which was of the same length as that which led to the garden. At the end was a short flight of steps ending in a door. Our guide knocked and then ushered us into the professor's bedroom.

It was a very large chamber lined with innumerable volumes, which had overflowed from the shelves and lay in piles in the corners or were stacked all round at the base of the cases. The bed was in the center of the room, and in it, propped up with pillows, was the owner of the house. I have seldom seen a more remarkable looking person. It was a gaunt, aquiline face which was turned toward us, with piercing dark eyes which lurked in deep hollows under overhung and tufted brows. His hair and beard were white save the latter was curiously stained with yellow around his mouth. A cigarette glowed amid the tangle of white hair, and the air of the room was fetid with stale tobacco smoke. As he held out his hand to Holmes I perceived that it was also stained with yellow nicotine.

"A smoker, Mr. Holmes?" said he, speaking in well chosen English, with a curious little mincing accent. "Pray take a cigarette. And you, sir? I can recommend them, for I have them especially prepared by Ionides of Alexandria. He sends me a thousand at a time, and I grieve to say that I have to arrange for a fresh supply every fortnight. Bad, sir, very bad, but an old man has few pleasures. Tobacco and my work—that is all that is left to me."

Holmes had lit a cigarette and was shooting little darting glances all over the room.

"Tobacco and my work, but now only tobacco," the old man exclaimed. "Alas, what a fatal interruption! Who could have foreseen such a terrible catastrophe? So estimable a young man! I assure you that after a few months' training he was an admirable assistant. What do you think of the matter, Mr. Holmes?"

"I have not yet made up my mind."

"I shall indeed be indebted to you if you can throw a light where all is so dark to us. To a poor bookworm and invalid like myself such a blow is paralysing. I seem to have lost the faculty of thought. But you are a man of action—you are a man of affairs. It is part of the everyday routine of your life. You can preserve your balance in every emergency. We are fortunate indeed in having you at our side."

Holmes was pacing up and down one side of the room while the old professor was talking. I observed that he was smoking with extraordinary rapidity. It was evident that he shared our host's liking for the fresh Alexandrian cigarettes.

"Yes, sir, it is a crushing blow," said the old man. "That is my magnum opus—the pile of papers on the side table yonder. It is my analysis of the documents found in the Coptic monasteries of Syria and Egypt, a work which will cut deep at the very foundation of revealed religion. With my enfeebled health I do not know whether I shall ever be able to complete it, now that my assistant has been taken from me. Dear me, Mr. Holmes, why, you are even a quicker smoker than I am myself."

Holmes smiled.

"I am a connoisseur," said he, taking another cigarette from the box, his fourth, and lighting it from the stub of that which he had finished. "I will not trouble you with any lengthy cross examination, Professor Coram, since I gather that you were in bed at the time of the crime and could know nothing about it. I would only ask this: What do you imagine that this poor fellow meant by his last words, 'The professor—it was she?'"

The professor shook his head.

"Susan is a country girl," said he, "and you know the incredible stupidity of that class. I fancy that the poor fellow murmured some incoherent, delirious words and that she twisted them into this meaningless message."

"I see. You have no explanation yourself of the tragedy?"

"Possibly an accident, possibly—I only breathe it among ourselves—a suicide. Young men have their hidden troubles—some affair of the heart, perhaps, which we have never known. It is a more probable supposition than murder."

"But the eyeglass?"

"Ah, I am only a student, a man of dreams. I cannot explain the practical things of life. But still we are aware, my friend, that love gages may take strange shapes. By all means take another cigarette. It is a pleasure to see any one appreciate them so. A fan, a glove, glasses—who knows what article may be carried as a token or treasured when a man puts an end to his life? This gentleman speaks of footsteps in the grass; but, after all, it is easy to be mistaken on such a point. As to the knife, it might well be thrown far from the unfortunate man as he fell. It is possible that I speak as a child, but to me it seems that Willoughby Smith has met his fate by his own hand."

Holmes seemed struck by the theory thus put forward, and he continued to walk up and down for some time, lost in thought and consuming cigarette after cigarette.

"Tell me, Professor Coram," he said at last, "what is in that cupboard in the bureau?"

"Nothing that would help a thief—family papers, letters from my poor wife, diplomas of universities which have done me honor. Here is the key. You can look for yourself."

Holmes picked up the key and looked at it for an instant; then he handed it back.

"No; I hardly think that it would help me," said he. "I should prefer to go quietly down to your garden and turn the whole matter over in my head. There is something to be said for the theory of suicide which you have put forward. We must apologize for having intruded upon you, Professor Coram, and I promise that we won't disturb you until after lunch. At 2 o'clock we will come again and report to you anything which may have happened in the interval."

Holmes was curiously distrait, and we walked up and down the garden path for some time in silence.

"Have you a clew?" I asked at last.

"It depends upon those cigarettes that I smoked," said he. "It is possible that I am utterly mistaken. The cigarettes will show me."

"My dear Holmes," I exclaimed, "how on earth"—

"Well, well, you may see for yourself. If not, there's no harm done. Of course we always have the optician clew to fall back upon, but I take a short cut when I can get it. Ah, here is the good Mrs. Marker! Let us enjoy five minutes of instructive conversation with her."

I may have remarked before that Holmes had, when he liked, a peculiarly ingratiating way with women and that he very readily established terms of confidence with them. In half the time which he had named he had captured the housekeeper's good will and was chatting with her as if he had known her for years.

"Yes, Mr. Holmes, it is as you say, sir. He does smoke something terrible. All day and sometimes all night, sir. I've seen that room of a morning—well, sir, you'd have thought it was a London fog. Poor young Mr. Smith, he was a smoker also, but not as bad as the professor. His health—well, I don't know that it's better nor worse for the smoking."

"Ah," said Holmes, "but it kills the appetite."

"Well, I don't know about that, sir."

"I suppose the professor eats hardly anything?"

"Well, he is variable. I'll say that for him."

"I'll wager he took no breakfast this morning and won't face his lunch after all the cigarettes I saw him consume."

"Well, you're out there, sir, as it happens, for he ate a remarkably big breakfast this morning. I don't know when I've known him make a better one, and he's ordered a good dish of cutlets for his lunch. I'm surprised myself, for since I came into that room yesterday and saw young Mr. Smith lying there on the floor I couldn't bear to look at food. Well, it takes all sorts to make a world, and the professor hasn't let it take his appetite away."

We loitered the morning away in the garden. Stanley Hopkins had gone down to the village to look into some rumors of a strange woman who had been seen by some children on the Chatham road the previous morning. As to my friend, all his usual energy seemed to have deserted him. I had never known him handle a case in such a half hearted fashion. Even the news brought back by Hopkins that he had found the children and that they had undoubtedly seen a woman exactly corresponding with Holmes' description and wearing either spectacles or eyeglasses failed to rouse any sign of keen interest. He was more attentive when Susan, who waited upon us at lunch, volunteered the information that she believed Mr. Smith had been out for a walk yesterday morning and that he had only returned half an hour before the tragedy occurred. I could not myself see the bearing of this incident, but I clearly perceived that Holmes was weaving it into the general scheme which he had formed in his brain. Suddenly he sprang from his chair and glanced at his watch. "Two o'clock, gentlemen," said he. "We must go up and have it out with our friend the professor."

The old man had just finished his lunch, and certainly his empty dish bore evidence to the good appetite with which his housekeeper had credited him. He was indeed a weird figure as he turned his white mane and his glowing eyes toward us. The eternal cigarette smoldered in his mouth. He had been dressed and was seated in an armchair by the fire.

"Well, Mr. Holmes, have you solved this mystery yet?" He shoved the large tin of cigarettes which stood on a table beside him toward my companion. Holmes stretched out his hand at the same moment, and between them they tipped the box over the edge. For a minute or two we were all on our knees retrieving stray cigarettes from impossible places. When we rose again I observed Holmes' eyes were shining and his cheeks tinged with color. Only at a crisis have I seen those battle signals flying.

"Yes," said he, "I have solved it."

"Indeed! In the garden?"

"No, here."

"Here! When?"

"This instant."

"You are surely joking, Mr. Sherlock Holmes. You compel me to tell you that this is too serious a matter to be treated in such a fashion.

"I have forged and tested every link of my chain, Professor Coram, and I am sure that it is sound. What your motives are or what exact part you play in this strange business I am not yet able to say. In a few minutes I shall probably hear it from your own lips. Meanwhile I will reconstruct what is past for your benefit, so that you may know the information which I still require.

"A lady yesterday entered your study. She came with the intention of possessing herself of certain documents which were in your bureau. She had a key of her own. I have had an opportunity of examining yours, and I do not find that slight discoloration which the scratch made upon the varnish would have produced. You were not an accessory, therefore, and she came, so far as I can read the evidence, without your knowledge to rob you."

The professor blew a cloud from his lips. "This is most interesting and instructive," said he. "Have you no more to add? Surely, having traced this lady so far, you can also say what has become of her."

"I will endeavor to do so. In the first place, she was seized by your secretary, and stabbed him in order to escape. This catastrophe I am inclined to regard as an unhappy accident, for I am convinced that the lady had no intention of inflicting so grievous an injury. An assassin does not come unarmed. Horrified by what she had done, she rushed wildly away from the scene of the tragedy. Unfortunately for her, she had lost her glasses in the scuffle, and as she was extremely short sighted she was really helpless without them. She ran down a corridor which she imagined to be that by which she had come—both were lined with cocoanut matting—and it was only when it was too late that she understood that she had taken the wrong passage and that her retreat was cut off behind her. What was she to do? She could not go back. She could not remain where she was. She must go on. She went on. She mounted a stair, pushed open a door and found herself in your room."

The old man sat with his mouth open, staring wildly at Holmes. Amazement and fear were stamped upon his expressive features. Now with an effort he shrugged his shoulders and burst into insincere laughter.

"All very fine, Mr. Holmes," said he, "but there is one little flaw in your splendid theory. I was myself in my room, and I never left it during the day."

"I am aware of that, Professor Coram."

"And you mean to say that I could lie upon that bed and not be aware that a woman had entered my room?"

"I never said so. You were aware of it. You spoke with her. You recognised her. You aided her to escape."

Again the professor burst into high keyed laughter. He had risen to his feet, and his eyes glowed like embers.

"You are mad!" he cried. "You are talking insanely. I helped her to escape? Where is she now?"

"She is there," said Holmes, and he pointed to a high bookcase in the corner of the room.

I saw the old man throw up his arms; a terrible convulsion passed over his grim face, and he fell back in his chair. At the same instant the bookcase at which Holmes pointed swung round upon a hinge and a woman rushed out into the room. "You are right!" she cried in a strange foreign voice. "You are right! I am here."

She was brown with the dust and draped with the cobwebs, which had come from the walls of her hiding place. Her face, too, was streaked with grime, and at the best she could never have been handsome, for she had the exact physical characteristics which Holmes had divined, with, in addition, a long and obstinate chin. What with her natural blindness, and what with the change from dark to light, she stood as one dazed, blinking about her to see where and who we were. And yet, in spite of all these disadvantages, there was a certain nobility in the woman's bearing, a gallantry in the defiant chin and in the upraised head, which compelled something of respect and admiration.

Stanley Hopkins had laid his hand upon her arm and claimed her as his prisoner, but she waved him aside gently and yet with an overmastering dignity which compelled obedience. The old man lay back in his chair with a twitching face and stared at her with brooding eyes.

"Yes, sir, I am your prisoner," she said. "From where I stood I could hear everything, and I know that you have learned the truth. I confess it all. It was I who killed the young man. But you are right—you who say it was an accident. I did not even know that it was a knife which I held in my hand, for in my despair I snatched anything from the table and struck at him to make him let me go. It is the truth that I tell."

"Madam," said Holmes, "I am sure that it is the truth. I fear that you are far from well."

She had turned a dreadful color, the more ghastly under the dark dust streaks upon her face. She seated herself on the side of the bed; then she resumed.

"I have only a little time here," she said, "but I would have you to know the whole truth. I am this man's wife. He is not an Englishman. He is a Russian. His name I will not tell."

For the first time the old man stirred. "God bless you, Anna!" he cried. "God bless you!"

She cast a look of the deepest disdain in his direction. "Why should you cling so hard to that wretched life of yours, Sergius?" said she. "It has done harm to many and good to none, not even yourself. However, it is not for me to cause the frail thread to be snapped before God's time. I have enough already upon my soul since I crossed the threshold of this cursed house. But I must speak or I shall be too late.

"I have said, gentlemen, that I am this man's wife. He was fifty and I a foolish girl of twenty when we married. It was in a city of Russia, a university—I will not name the place."

"God bless you, Anna!" murmured the old man again.

"We were reformers, revolutionists, nihilists, you understand—he and I and many more. Then there came a time of trouble. A police officer was killed, many were arrested, evidence was wanted, and in order to save his own life and earn a great reward my husband betrayed his own wife and his companions. Yes, we were all arrested upon his confession. Some of us found our way to the gallows and some to Siberia. I was among these last, but my term was not for life. My husband came to England with his ill gotten gains and has lived in quiet ever since, knowing well that if the Brotherhood knew where he was not a week would pass before justice would be done."

The old man reached out a trembling hand and helped himself to a cigarette. "I am in your hands, Anna," said he. "You were always good to me."

"I have not yet told you the height of his villainy," said she. "Among our comrades of the order there was one who was the friend of my heart. He was noble, unselfish, loving—all that my husband was not. He hated violence. We were all guilty, if that is guilt, but he was not. He wrote forever dissuading us from such a course. These letters would have saved him. So would my diary, in which from day to day I had entered both my feelings toward him and the view which each of us had taken. My husband found and kept both diary and letters. He hid them, and he tried hard to swear away the young man's life. In this he failed, but Alexis was sent a convict to Siberia, where now at this moment he works in a salt mine. Think of that, you villain, you villain—now now, at this very moment, Alexis, a man whose name you are not worth, to speak, works and lives like a slave, and yet I have your life in my hand, and I let you go!"

"You were always a noble woman Anna," said the old man, puffing at his cigarette.

She had risen, but she fell back again with a little cry of pain.

"I must finish," she said. "When my term was over I set myself to get the diary and letters which, if sent to the Russian government, would procure my friend's release. I knew that my husband had come to England. After months of searching I discovered where he was. I knew that he still had the diary, for when I was in Siberia I had a letter from him once reproaching me and quoting some passages from its pages. Yet I was sure that, with his revengeful nature, he would never give it to me of his own free will. I must get it for myself. With this object I engaged an agent from a private detective firm, who entered my husband's house as a secretary. It was your second secretary, Sergius—the one who left you so hurriedly. He found that papers were kept in the cupboard, and he got an impression of the key. He would not go further. He furnished me with a plan of the house, and he told me that in the forenoon the study was always empty, as the secretary was employed up here. So at last I took my courage in both hands, and I came down to get the papers for myself. I succeeded, but at what a cost!

"I had just taken the papers and was locking the cupboard when the young man seized me. I had seen him

Pandora Savings

Because the Pandora range utilizes all the heat in the fuel it does the work quicker and better. If a range sends half its heat up the chimney it must burn more fuel to do a given work. It takes longer to burn a large piece of wood or chunk of coal than a small one, also it takes a longer purse to pay for the large stick of wood or big chunk of coal.

The quicker you can get the necessary units of heat to boil the kettle or cook the roast, the quicker your work is done and the less it costs to do it.

Because of the scientific construction of the Pandora range it gets more units of heat from a given quantity of fuel than any other range. It keeps all the heat in the range where the work is to be done.

For these reasons the Pandora range lightens the labor of cooking—eases the drudgery of kitchen work; it helps to make life easier; it gives more leisure because it saves time; it saves worry because it is absolutely reliable, and thus it saves the nerves; it saves the muscles because it is so easy to handle; it requires less attention than any other range; it does its work uniformly; it is an A 1 range in every particular; it is an economical and a handsome range.

It makes kitchen work easy.

already that morning. He had met me on the road, and I had asked him to tell me where Professor Coram lived, not knowing that he was in his employ."

"Exactly! Exactly!" said Holmes. "The secretary came back and told his employer of the woman he had met. Then in his last breath he tried to send a message that it was she—the she whom he had just discussed with him."

"You must let me speak," said the woman in an imperative voice, and her face contracted as if in pain. "When he had fallen I rushed from the room, chose the wrong door and found myself in my husband's room. He spoke of giving me up. I showed him that if he did so his life was in my hands. If he gave me to the law, I could give him to the Brotherhood. It was not that I wished to live for my own sake, but it was that I desired to accomplish my purpose. He knew that I would do what I said—that his own fate was involved in mine. For that reason, and for no other, he shielded me. He thrust me into that dark hiding place—a relic of old days, known only to himself. He took his meals in his own room, and so was able to give me part of his food. It was agreed that when the police left the house I should slip away by night and come back no more. But in some way you have read our plans." She tore from the bosom of her dress a small packet. "These are my last words," said she. "Here is the packet which will save Alexis. I confide it to your honor and to your love of justice. Take it! You will deliver it at the Russian embassy. Now, I have done my duty, and"—

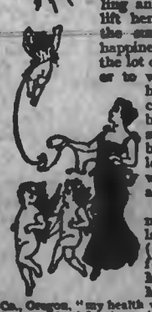
"Stop her!" cried Holmes. He had bounded across the room and had wrenched a small vial from her hand.

"Too late!" she said, sinking back on the bed. "Too late! I took the poison before I left my hiding place. My head swims! I am going! I charge you, sir, to remember the packet."

"A simple case, and yet in some ways an instructive one," Holmes remarked as we traveled back to town. "It hinged from the outset upon the pince-nez. But for the fortunate chance of the dying man having seized these I am not sure that we could ever have reached our solution. It was clear to me, from the strength of the glasses, that the wearer must have been very blind and helpless when deprived of them. When you asked me to believe that she walked along a narrow strip of grass without once making a false step I remarked, as you may remember, that it was a noteworthy performance. In my mind I set it down as an impossible performance save in the unlikely case that she had a second pair of glasses. I was forced, therefore, to seriously consider the hypothesis that she had remained within the house. On perceiving the similarity of the two corridors it became clear that she might very easily have made such a mistake, and in that case it was evident that she must have entered the professor's room. I was keenly on the alert, therefore, for whatever would bear out this supposition, and I examined the room narrowly for anything in the shape of a hiding place. The carpet seemed continuous and firmly nailed, so I dismissed the idea of a trapdoor. There might well be a recess behind the books. As you are aware, such devices are common in old libraries. I observed that books were piled on the floor at all other points, but that one bookcase was left clear. This, then, might be the door. I could see no marks to guide me, but the carpet was of a dun color, which lends itself very well to examination. I therefore smoked a great number of those excellent cigarettes, and I dropped the ash all over the space in front of the suspected bookcase. It was a simple trick, but exceedingly effective. I then went downstairs, and I ascertained in your presence, Watson, without your perceiving the drift of my remarks, that Professor Coram's consumption of food had increased—as one would expect when he is supplying a second person.

We then ascended to the room again, when, by upsetting the cigarette box, I obtained a very excellent view of the floor and was able to see quite clearly from the traces upon the cigarette ash that the prisoner had in our absence come out from her retreat. Well, Hopkins, here we are at Charing Cross, and I congratulate you on having brought your case to a successful conclusion. You are going to headquarters, no doubt. I think, Watson, you and I will drive together to the Russian embassy."

ANGEL CHILDREN.



Is there any happier woman in this world than that mother whose each successive little one seems to her but one more darling angel to continually lift her thoughts toward the sunshine of perfect happiness? But sorry is the lot of that poor mother to whom motherhood has ceased to be a cause of rejoicing, but has become instead a burden to be dreaded and looked forward to with melancholy and apprehension. "About three months before our last baby was born (which is our fourth), writes Mrs. Nellie Carl, of Myrtlepoint, Coos Co., Oregon, "my health was very poor. I had been troubled for about eight years with female diseases. I doctored with good physicians but obtained no relief, so I wrote to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, and was advised to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I did so, and am happy to say my health began to improve and I did my work up to the last, and felt splendid. "I got along finely during confinement, and have the healthiest baby I ever saw. When he was three months old he weighed eighteen pounds; he is now seven months old and weighs twenty-four pounds. I can say I have had no return of my old troubles. I thank you very much for the good you have done me."

Any woman may write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., a statement of her case, which will be considered in absolute confidence by this physician who stands among the foremost specialists of the century in the treatment of women's diseases. He will send her (in a plain, sealed envelope) sound, sensible, valuable advice free of all charge.

Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page, illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent free, paper-bound, for 21 one-cent stamps, to pay the cost of mailing only, or cloth-bound for 50 stamps.

John J. Burns Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills

He Had Chronic Inflammation of the Kidneys—Says his Brother Foresters Can Tell all About It.

Darnley, P. E. I., August 11th. — (Special). — John J. Burns, a prominent member of the I.O.F., here, whose cure of Chronic Inflammation of the Loins and Kidneys, caused a sensation some time ago, reports that he is still in splendid health. "Yes," says Mr. Burns, "My cure is entirely satisfactory. I have had no trouble since I used Dodd's Kidney Pills. They drove away the disease from which I suffered for eight years.

"No, I'll never forget Dodd's Kidney Pills. The doctor could not help me. I got so bad that I could scarcely walk, sit or sleep. I was about to give up entirely when an advertisement led me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Now I am in good health. Dodd's Kidney Pills saved my life."

If any one doubts Mr. Burns' story he simply refers them to his brother Foresters. They all know how he suffered and that Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him.

A WEDDING ROMANCE.

Soldiers Stood Guard Till Canadian Girl Was Wedded.

'Tis an old adage that the course of true love never did run smooth, and further proof of the truth of the proverb is now brought to light by the story of the rather romantic circumstances attending the marriage of Bolivia's only English-speaking merchant and a Canadian girl, graduate of McMaster University in 1900, and a former Baptist missionary to the South American republic.

The couple are Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Thompson of La Pas, Bolivia, and today they are at the King Edward Hotel, says the Toronto Star of the 9th June. Mrs. Thompson is a native of Harlem, a little place near the Rideau Lakes, and, after graduating from the Baptist College here, she went as a missionary to Bolivia, some few years ago. Then she was Miss Gile. There she met Mr. Thompson, and—as he rather humorously puts it—he married her because it was a case of Hobson's choice. She was the only English-speaking unmarried woman in the country. But Mr. Thompson hastened to add that he was not at all sorry that the range of his choice was limited.

A civil marriage is against the law of Bolivia, and, as the couple did not wish to be married according to the rites of the Roman Catholic Church, the possibility of their being united in Bolivia was out of the question. But faint heart never won fair lady, and Mr. Thompson and his intended bride took a two days' journey by coach to the border line of Peru. They crossed the line and entered a little Indian village. Peru had recently passed a law allowing civil marriages, but the Mayor, or alcalde, was evidently unaware of the fact, for when Mr. Thompson went to him and made his request, the head of the village had doubts and fears. The news got out, and great excitement was caused among the priests and the populace.

Then the would-be groom played a strong card. He produced a letter that he had previously procured from the President of Peru, giving the eminent gentleman's approval of the wedding. This had considerable influence with the Mayor, and he began to look up the statute books. He wanted to be sure of his ground, and therefore he consulted with the two judges of the town. The conclusion of their weighty deliberations was that the Mayor consented to perform the ceremony, even at the risk of offending the priests.

In the evening the preparations were duly made for the wedding. The people were wildly excited, and filled the streets about the Mayor's house, shouting and clamoring. A guard of soldiers was drawn up in close formation about the residence to prevent any violence, the house was barricaded, and the marriage ceremony, short and simple, but effective, was performed by the Mayor according to the law of Peru. It seemed more like a romantic affair of the days of old rather than a twentieth century ceremony.

There was no riot in the streets, although the excitement was at high-water-mark for some time, and the newly-married couple left the next morning on their return journey.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson have been visiting for the past month at her old home at the Rideau Lakes, and just now she is renewing old college acquaintances in Toronto. They will return to Bolivia shortly.

Mr. Thompson states that there are seven McMaster graduates now doing missionary work in Bolivia, but the law there prevents them from having a Protestant church on a public street. They have to invite people to their homes and hold their services there. The missionaries are allowed to teach no religion in their schools. Thought is widening, however, even in Bolivia, says Mr. Thompson, and they expect that at the next session of Congress a law will be passed giving freedom of worship to the Protestants.

Capt. Spain Condemns Commander.

Ottawa, Aug. 11. — Commander Spain, who conducted an investigation into the grounding of the Toronto steamer Argyle, while on her way to Oshawa with an excursion party, will make his report to Hon. Mr. Prefontaine in Montreal, to-day. He refuses to say what the nature of his report is, but, from what can be learned, the ship's commander will be condemned for running his vessel at full speed in a fog. When running at such a rate of speed with 250 passengers on board, and grounding, the authorities consider that only by a miracle was a catastrophe avoided.

Pains in the Chest.

Mr. John Clark, Port Hope, Ont., states: "Last winter I was so bad with a cold that I could not speak above a whisper, and had great pains in the chest. A friend advised me to try Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and one bottle cured my cold which I believe would have proven very serious if I had not used this medicine."

For the Piazza.

"The suitable is beautiful," and surely no piazza furnishings are suitable that cannot endure wind and weather and an occasional scrubbing or visit to the laundry. Fortunately piazza living is now so popular that proper furnishings of all kinds are both good and inexpensive. No screen to shut out sunshine or the gaze of curious passersby is comparable to luxuriant growing vines, but these cannot be grown in all situations and when they can will not mature in a night, like Jonah's gourd. As a substitute the Japanese bamboo shades or screens are better than ticking or any other textile hanging, because they admit more or less air and are not in the least injured by rain.

To give a veranda its most cozy and inviting look there must be a floor rug of some sort, if only a breadth of rag carpet or matting. The latter or a liber rug is preferable to a woolen rug, and yet there are few rains when the latter will become wet if rolled back against the house.

A box seat across one corner is as convenient as it is comfortable and inviting. Have the cushion loose and utilise the box for this and other cushions and pillows during the night and rainy weather.

Plants For the Piazza.

No piazza is really complete without a few blossoming plants, but it is any number of times better to have none than too many. Long, narrow boxes after the fashion of window boxes fastened just outside the top of the balustrade or on line with the outer edge of the floor are perfect for growing plants and vines.

Stolen Money Found.

Four of the six $2,500 notes stolen three weeks ago from a Liverpool cotton broker's clerk have been cashed through Russian banks. A description of the man who presented one of the notes at the Moscow bank has been received.

Two Million Deposits.

About two million dollars represent the amount that depositors had placed for safe keeping in the Denver Savings bank, which has just closed its doors. The depositors are for the most part of the poorer labouring classes, who can least of all afford to lose their savings.

Britain's Revenue.

A parliamentary return just issued in London shows the total public revenue raised in Great Britain for the past fiscal year was $768,000,000 and the expenditures reached $768,000,000. The navy cost nearly $185,000,000 and the army about $145,000,000.

British Postal Business.

For the financial year 1905-6 it is estimated that the amount to be paid by the British postoffice to railway companies for parcel post will be $5,130,000, and for postage collected for the colonies and foreign countries $2,200,000, while $2,550,000 is the estimate of the sum to be paid to cable companies.

Conditions Improving.

A satisfactory proof of improving labour conditions in the Old Country is afforded by the call for rates for the coming half year. The Whitechapel, London, guardians have reduced the amount of the call required until Lady Day, 1906, by 177,000, and many other parishes are doing similarly.

To Keep Down Prices.

To keep down the prices of meat and hold its cattle and live stock trade, the Toronto Board of Control has decided to spend $17,000 in the improvement of the municipality-owned Western Cattle Market and make a strong bid for increased business.

Murder and Suicide.

Yesterday afternoon at Aylmer, Ont., Joseph Menier shot Mrs. Napoleon Guay and then shot himself. Both are in a serious condition. Mrs. Guay probably will live but there is little hope of Menier's recovery. A few months ago Menier eloped with Mrs. Guay. She returned to her home last week.

G. T. R. Dividend.

The directors of the Grand Trunk Railway have declared a dividend for the half year ending 30th July. The company will pay the full dividend on the premier gilt edged securities and on the second preference and $7,400 will be carried forward.

Haggard's Scheme.

Professor Mavor, as witness before the Parliamentary Commission investigating the Rider Haggard report, quoted the Canadian Homestead Act to show that such a project as Mr. Haggart proposes cannot be carried into operation because it is against the act.

Illegal Fishing.

Dr. Reame, Minister of Public Works, stated to-day that a number of convictions had been secured against some fishermen in the Nipissing District for illegal fishing and other violations. The difficulty is that a large number of them have secured licenses and have transferred them to other parties for a percentage of the profits.

Charge of Infantacide.

The Crown issued a warrant charging a young girl named Eliza McNeil, belonging to one of the country districts with infantlcide. Information against the girl was laid upon the strength of a verdict returned by the coroner's jury, and the facts elicited in connection with the investigation.

Galt's Library Open.

Galt's Carnegie Library has at last been opened to the public. The building is described as handsome, and excellently fitted for the object for which it was designed. It is claimed that the interior is better arranged than any Carnegie library in Western Ontario. The public library which the new institution replaces had 2,000 readers.

After Canada's Nickel.

Col. Porter, R. E., director of the India mint, who came to Canada to investigate Canada's nickel resources, has examined the Sudbury nickel deposits and has probably satisfied himself that Canada can furnish the world with all it is likely to require in the way of nickel. India is likely to adopt nickel for some of its coinage.

Tilsonburg's Sensation.

As the result of the escape of Frank Mero from the custody of officers of the law at Tilsonburg on Wednesday, Constable Fick of that town has to stand trail on the charge of allowing him to escape. Bit Wife's Lips.

Mrs. Blance Williams has entered suit for divorce against her husband, Ernest Williams, of Pittsburg. Both are well known in the east end. In her testimony Mrs. Williams alleges indignities by her husband. The chief one, it appears, consisted in her husband biting her lips when she tried to kiss him of mornings before he went to work. She further alleges that on one occasion, when she tried to give him a wifely hug and kiss, he tossed her across the room.

Public Heating Plant.

The promoters of the proposed steam heating plant for Port Huron are prepared to go ahead and have the plant ready for operation by the time the cool weather comes, if satisfactory terms can be arranged with the city. A large power house will be erected and steam heat will be furnished to business houses, public buildings, stores, offices and residences at an expense much less than the cost of maintaining individual heating plants. The Sarnia Canadian wants the system adopted for Sarnia.

Hamilton's Gas.

Regarding the supply of natural gas to Hamilton and other places, the Hamilton Spectator says the Dominion Pipe Natural Gas Company, is branching out. Dundas is the nearest place to Hamilton which it supplies, but arrangements are being made to supply Brantford, St. George, Paris, Galt, Guelph and other places in the same district. The pipe to lay the line is in transit, and in many cases the franchises have been secured. It will be some time before natural gas will reach Toronto, although arrangements are being made to pipe it to that city.

The Groom Fainted.

At a wedding ceremony in St. Ann's church both groom and bridegroom fell in a dead faint at the altar just as the priest was announcing the bridal couple husband and wife. They quickly recovered, and the bridal ceremony and festivities were carried out as if nothing had happened. Michael Murphy and Miss Mary Casey were the couple, and Kate Casey was the bridesmaid. Intense excitement prevailed when the couple fainted, the spectators thinking that death had invaded the church at the happiest of moments.

Dog Saved Master.

Just a dog, a plain "mut," most people would call him, saved William Curran, an itinerant veterinarian, from serving thirty days in the Torrington jail for drunkenness to-day. While his master, in a state of intoxication, snored in the cell, his faithful dog stood guard over him throughout the night. When Curran was brought into court the dog was with him, licking his hand in sympathy. The judge sentenced him to serve thirty days in jail, and the dog walked gravely back to the cell-room with him. The actions of the dog so touched Judge Holcomb that he sent for Curran and gave him five hours in which to leave town.

TORTURE AND HUMILIATION

For Fifteen Years Face and Body Mass of Itching Sores—Could Not Express Suffering—Doctors Did No Good.

CURED BY CUTICURA WHEN HOPE HAD GONE

"My head was one mass of scabs, my forehead was covered down almost to my eyebrows, and I had to wear my hat all the time. My body was covered with spots in size from a pinhead to as large as a silver dollar. A white, crusty scab would form and itch, and words cannot express the torture and humiliation I suffered for fifteen years. I tried many doctors, and all kinds of treatments, but could get no help, and I thought there was no hope for me. A friend told me to get Cuticura. I did, and in three days my head was as clear as ever. I applied Cuticura Ointment night and morning, also taking a hot bath with Cuticura Soap three times a week, and using the Ointment freely after the bath. After using one cake of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely cured, without mark or blemish. I was so pleased I felt like running down the street to tell every one I met what Cuticura had done for me. (signed) H. B. Franklin, 717 Wash'n St., Allegheny, Pa."

AN INTERESTING SOCIAL EVENT

Miss Cora Moore Married to Mr. James A. Courtice.

Pretty Lindsay Wedding—Local Man Was Groomsman.

An extremely pretty ceremony, by which two popular young people were united, took place at 4 p.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 9th at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Moor, No. 8 Peel street, says the Lindsay Post. The principals in the interesting event were Mr. James A. Courtice, and Miss Cora Edith Moor, both of Lindsay.

The room in which the interesting ceremony was performed was most beautifully decorated with nasturtiums and palms, which made the surroundings look very pretty. To the strains of the wedding march, excellently rendered by Miss Carrie Moor, the bride, handsomely gowned in white taffeta, with shower bouquet of white roses, entered the room on her father's arm. Miss Pearl Courtice, sister of the groom, carrying pink carnations, and attired in grey crepe de chene, officiated in the capacity of bridesmaid.

The groom was ably supported by Mr. A. G. Cameron, of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. Roberts, after which the merry guests and the contracting party repaired to the dining room to partake of a sumptuous repast. At eight o'clock the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Courtice gathered at the G.T.R. station and amidst showers of rice wished them "bon voyage" on their trip to Rochester, through the Thousand Islands and Quebec.

The bride wore a very becoming travelling costume of shot silk poplin and hat to match, and in this case the somewhat hackneyed expression, "charming," may be used with more than ordinary force in describing her appearance.

THE LATEST NEWS FROM ENNISMORE

Harvest is Progressing Rapidly—Many Personal Items of Interest.

On Sunday last, Mr. Jack Donoghue, was the guest of Mr. Harry Cadigan.

Quite a number of our girls have returned from St. Joseph's Academy, Lindsay, and are anxiously awaiting results of their examinations. We are pleased to learn that Miss Agnes Scollard has passed her Theory examinations and taken honours in vocal music.

Miss Gertrude O'Donoghue is visiting friends in Peterborough.

Bleeding, Protruding Piles.

Mrs. James Brown, Hintonburgh, Carleton Co., Ont., writes: "I suffered from nearly every form of piles for twenty years, both here and in the Old Country, and have tried nearly every remedy. I am only doing justice to Dr. Chase's Ointment when I say that I believe it to be the best remedy obtainable for bleeding and protruding piles, of which it has cured me."

Brantford's Garbage.

It is estimated that the cost of Brantford's garbage collection system, which will probably be in operation by the fall, will not exceed one dollar per family average for the year. But a sum of $4,000 will have to be invested at the start to provide the necessary facilities.

Stung to Death.

Thos. Hawkins, 45 years of age, was stung to death by bumblebees, his death resulting about five minutes after the first sting. A son of Hawkins was cutting the lawn with a mowing machine, drawn by two mules, when he ran into the bumblebees' nest. In an instant the bees were stinging the boy and mules. The boy ran into the house, but the mules became frightened and reared and plunged. Hawkins ran to the team and was in the act of cutting them loose from the mower, when the bees attacked him. He was stung all over the body, and especially on the face and head. He ran a short distance and fell to the ground. He was dead when assistance reached him. His face was black from the stings. He leaves a widow and three children.

WHEN ALL HOPE WAS ABANDONED

Elzear Cote Found in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets a Speedy and Permanent Cure for His Stomach Troubles.

"I suffered for four years from stomach trouble. I consulted three doctors and they told me that I had Dyspepsia and no remedy would help me." So says Elzear Cote, of St. Hedwidge de Clifton, Que. But Mr. Cote found a remedy that those doctors did not know. It was Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and it cured him. He says:—

"Then I quit the doctors and started to take Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. After the first box I had no more trouble. It is now two years since I took them and I am still well. I do all my own work. I am never tired. That's why I recommend all who have stomach troubles to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets."

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest the food themselves. That gives the overworked stomach a chance to rest and it naturally comes back to its normal healthy condition.

The Ale that's Always Pure.

THERE has only been one real improvement in cooking ranges in many years. That improvement is the Imperial Oxford Diffusive Oven Flue.

While other makers were adding dampers, racks, door openers and shakers in a vain attempt to make improvements, we studied the heart of the range. We knew that the only improvement you wanted was a better oven, an oven that would help you bake better bread, pies and cakes, roast beef to a turn, retaining its juice and flavor.

The important feature of this system is the diffusive flue which draws in fresh air, superheats it and distributes it evenly throughout the oven. The article on the bottom shelf farthest from the fire is getting as much heat on all sides as the article on the top shelf next the fire.

We would like to explain this more fully. If your dealer doesn't handle the Imperial Oxford Range, write us for particulars. We will send catalogue and tell you where you can see the range. 14

STONY LAKE REGATTA

ON CIVIC HOLIDAY

A GRATIFYING SUCCESS

Yesterday's Aquatic Event at Juniper Island the Most Successful in History of Stony Lake--A Great Crowd of Spectators--Some Warmly Contested Events--Sailing Race Won by Mr. Milne Hamilton--Other Local Competitors Took Good Prizes--The Winners--Presentation of Prizes by Mrs. J. R. Stratton.

The annual regatta held yesterday at Juniper Island, Stony Lake, under the auspices of the Cottagers' Association, was probably the greatest success ever attained on Kawartha waters, in the realm of aquatic sports. All conditions united to produce this gratifying result, which surpassed the expectations of the Committee of the Association, who have been so untiring in their efforts in its behalf.

The day was a perfect one for such an event, and from the viewpoint of all classes of aquatic sportsmen could only be regarded with satisfaction. The balmy southern breeze which sprang up in the early morning, freshened gradually and in the afternoon was of a character which fulfilled the most earnest desire of the ardent yachtsmen. This, however, in no way interfered with the conditions for successful racing by the smaller craft, and some of the most interesting paddling and rowing events ever witnessed on the lake took place.

The attendance was large, the cosmopolitan population of Stony Lake turning out en masse. The event in addition to this, attracted hundreds of visitors from outside points, and it may safely be said that there was scarcely a point upon the Kawartha waters which was unrepresented. Sturgeon Point, Lindsay and Chemong were all most generous in their contributions of visitors to swell the vast throng in attendance, and a feature of their visit which was most heartily appreciated was their active participation and lively interest in the different racing events of the day. The hearty co-operation in social and athletic life between the summer residents of the sister waters, is a gratifying feature of the present season, and one which cannot fail to result in a distinct addition to the pleasures of the recreationist. A number of private parties arrived on Saturday evening from the upper waters. Among the yachts which arrived, each bearing its party, were those of Mr. Wilson, of Lindsay, and Mr. Hopwood and Mrs. Hopwood. The steamer Ogemah arrived in the morning with a party which numbered about 180 persons.

The Peterborough visitors were of course numerous, and many spent Civic Holiday in a delightful manner at the lake. The morning boat was crowded to its utmost capacity, and it is estimated that fully 400 people came up in this way.

The events of yesterday were of a uniformly high order, and though the day brought forth its surprises in the matter of finishes, it was throughout of a character which left nothing to be desired, as to interest and excitement. The finishes were of a nature which held the closest attention of the spectators and in almost every instance created the wildest kind of enthusiasm.

Those who so generously lent their services towards the successful outcome of the affair, are indeed to be congratulated upon the result of their efforts. The committee in charge, Messrs. R. B. Rogers, H. Buck, S. Henderson, and J. S. Knapman, were this year indefatigable in their efforts, and the gratifying result was largely due to their executive ability and forethought.

The Races.

The sailing races were first proceeded with. These took place over a six-mile course. The 14-foot dingy honours were again successfully taken into camp by Mr. Milne Hamilton, whose handsome craft the "203" has created such havoc with the records in its class since it was launched some months ago. The boats got away at 2.07 o'clock, Mr. Hamilton finishing in the lead at 3.03.

The open championship race, in which the six entries were started at 2.12 was an interesting spectacle, and the unfortunate accidents because of which it was decided by the judges to re-sail the race were most regrettable. Both leaders in the race in an entirely unintentional manner fouled the boats of other participants and it was deemed advisable to sail the race on Friday next.

The canoe sailing race was over a three-mile course. The 1st prize was carried off by Mr. Hopkins, Mr. Hubert McBain getting second place after an interesting competition.

The boys'm tandem canoe occasioned unlimited excitment and the work by the juvenile wielders of the paddles was highly creditable. Though their steering was at times somewhat off, and occasioned a number of "mix-ups," the turn was reached with the competitors closely "bunched:" Brown and Jackson secured the lead on the start but were overtaken and vanquished in race down the stretch.

The ladies' single skiff race was productive of much interest and enthusiasm and was closely contested in all its stages. Miss Isabel Hay carried off the honours after an exhibition in which she manifested much dexterity in the art of rowing. Miss Marson Schreber who finished second, won all kinds of admiring comments upon the speed which she developed.

This was followed by the men's single canoe race, which is always an event in which a leading interest centres. The race was of an exceedingly close, exciting character. It was won by Mr. H. G. Simpson of Lackfield, whose speedy work was watched with keen interest. Mr. Simpson shows a wonderful development over his last year's form and is undoubtedly one of the fastest in in the district. The competitors were closely bunched at the turn, and the race to the starting point was productive of the wildest enthusiasm.

The boys' tandem skiff race was a good exhibition, but was won quite easily by Clark and Lesh, who distanced their opponents.

One of the fascinating Stony Lake Regatta events is always the ladies' single canoe race, and yesterday's proved no exception to the rule. The honours were carried off by Miss Helen Hall whose victory was, however, a matter of speculation for some distance, owing to the strenuous pace adopted by Miss Gwen. Hall.

The men's fours was a race productive of all kinds of sensations, at one time—laughter, enthusiasm, and, probably, a few tears. It's mirth-productive properties were, however, perhaps uppermost. Hon. W. L. Graham's crew, consisting of Messrs. Collins, Rogers and Hall are certainly an aggregation of lifehaters,—anyone was who had temerity enough to enter such a dizzy whirl. An unfortunate foul unshipped the two crews who were locked in the throes of a struggle for the rear-end honours.

The men's tandem was a race in which the finish was never out of doubt. It was won by Messrs. Gordon and Galvin, after a most spirited contest with their speedy opponents, who finished in second place. The contestants got away to a good start and went to the turn in a bunch. The return journey was even more interesting and aroused much excitement.

The tub race yesterday contributed in no small measure to the ludicrous element in the day's proceedings and it was a spirited contest throughout.

One of the most amusing of the day's events was, however, the crab race, which was a spectacle which would surely tempt the gravity of a cigar store Indian. Mr. "Jim" Eakins, after passing through a number of "stunts" which at times looked like a daring attempt to "shoot the chutes" down the side of Eagle Mount, succeeded in passing the judge's stand with a good lead over his fellow-contortionists.

The tilting race was a strong reminder of the days "when Knighthood was in Flower." The contest yesterday between Mr. H. O. Eakins and Mr. Hopkins was an event of a most thrilling character, and the skillfulness of the respective contestants made the reaching of a decision an almost hopeless quest.

The Indians' canoe race was somewhat similar in one respect to the previous event—in this case "the Indian was in flour"—the winner, Mr. Jacobs, carrying off the bag of that product which was donated as first prize.

The launch parade which followed was a pleasing spectacle, indeed. Its course was around Bear Island, the procession of handsome crafts being led by Mr. H. G. Buck's "Maida Vale."

The boys' swimming race was closely contested, but was won by Mr. Cyril Lech in a fine spurt.

The mixed tandem canoe race brought out a number of starters, and it was most exciting at every stage. Miss Gwen. Hall and Mr. Norman Bell won out, however, and a close contest took place for second place.

Mr. Norman Bell took the honours in the upset race without difficulty, having performed the feat of upsetting and regaining his position within the canoe with almost incredible speed.

The punt race was an event which awakened the liviest interest. Mr. Fred. Collins came down the course with a speed which threatened destruction to small crafts, and his victory of yesterday gives him the undisputed right to the title of "Punt Champion of America." Special arrangements may be made at Henley next year for a new pair of Diamond Sculls emblematic of the world's championship. A number of local "has-beens" in yesterday's race will be requested to go out and get a "reputation," however.

The ladies' swimming race was a spirited contest and was cleverly won by Miss Marion Schrieber, Miss Gwen. Hall finishing a close second.

Mr. Fred. Collins carried off further honours in the last event of the day, the men's swimming race, winning, after a close contest, from Harry Rogers.

Presentation of Prizes.

The presentation of prizes took place at the pavilion at 8 o'clock, accompanied by a short but delightful musical programme.

The chair was occupied by Mr. R. B. Rogers. A vocal duet, "The Battle Eve," was rendered with splendid effect by Messrs. Herb. Morphett and Alex. Elliott, who, in response to an encore gave "Larboard Watch." Miss Canfield sang with charming expression and artistic interpretation "Little Boy Blue," and was also forced to respond to a recall.

The presentation of prizes then took place by Hon. J. R. and Mrs. Stratton.

Mr. Stratton took occasion to remark upon the splendid success which had been achieved at the regatta, which was the greatest in the history of the lakes. He also spoke of the wide-spread reputation of the Kawartha Lakes, which reached almost throughout the Empire. Our American neighbours had added greatly to the pleasures of the summer season at Stony Lake, and it was to be hoped that they would come in still larger numbers. After commenting humourously upon a number of the mirth-producing features of the afternoon, Mr. Stratton referred to the large number present from Chemong whose attendance had, to such a large extent, contributed to the success of the event. It was to be hoped that the people of Stony Lake would reciprocate on Tuesday of next week and attend in large numbers the annual Chemong Regatta.

The presentation of the prizes, which were of a beautiful character, then took place by Mrs. Stratton, after which Messrs. Morphett and Elliott rendered beautifully a vocal selection from "Lucia de Lammermoor." The accompaniments were played with sympathetic expression by Miss Alice Roger.

After three hearty cheers for the executive committee had been given the National Anthem was sung.

U. S. Boycott.

A meeting of Chinese called for today to discuss the boycott of American goods was not permitted by the government and the Chinese then formally presented a petition praying for permission to meet. A strong anti-American feeling is apparent among the Chinese.

TEMERAIRE WON AGAIN TO-DAY

Canadian Boat Won the Race at Rochester.

Deareated the Iroquois by Two Minutes and Ten Seconds.

Special to The Examiner.

Rochester, Aug. 15.—It was Temeraire's weather again to-day and as a result the Canadian boat scored another victory. Iroquois was again over the line at the start, first crossing at 11.08, and Temeraire following at 11.18. The challenger quickly overhauled and passed the defender, however, and before half an hour had passed, She had a lead of over half a mile. From then on it was a procession with the Canadian boat always in front, the finishing line being crossed in that order. Temeraire, 1.33; Iroquois, 1.35.10. The wind throughout the race blew at a rate of 17 to 20 miles an hour.

BAPTISTS AT RICE LAKE

Successful Excursion of the Baraca Bible Class.

The Class and Friends Enjoyed Their Outing at Rice Lake Yesterday.

Everyone was out of town yesterday, and all had a good time, especially those who accompanied the members of the Baraca Bible Class, on their trip down the river. The steamer Rainbow was chartered for the occasion, and left the Wolfe street wharf sharp on time with her capacity fully taxed.

The sail down the Otonabee River was greatly enjoyed by all. There was a constant change of scenery all the way down, and when the boat sailed into the lake the excursionists encountered a fine, fresh breeze, which was greatly appreciated.

The party had dinner at Gore's Landing, and after a short stay there they set sail down the lake to Harwood. The sail down Rice Lake was a very pleasant one, the scenery on the surrounding hills being at its best. The crops were ripe, and broad expanses of yellow and gold stretched forth in every direction.

Such a trip as this is not to be surpassed anywhere, either for pleasure or for a quiet holiday after a long week.

The party returned home in good time and were more satisfied with their picnic than if they had gone farther afield.

MR. C. STAPLETON HAD AN ACCIDENT

At G. T. R. Station in Port Hope Yesterday.

Fell Tripped by Loose Plank on Platform—Was Badly Bruised.

Yesterday Mr. Charles Stapleton, Sr., while on his way to Cobourg met with a painful accident. At Port Hope, when the main line train, which makes a very short halt came in, a rush was made for it. Some person in front of Mr. Stapleton tilted the end of a plank, throwing latter violently fore downward. The side of his face was severely bruised, but no permanent injury was inflicted. Mr. Stapleton was packed up and helped on board the train and he sufficiently recovered to continue his journey and saw the splendid horse show which was held at Cobourg.

Gravenhurst's Troubles.

Gravenhurst, according to a recently printed yarn, has been reduced to the verge of ruin by the establishment of the National Sanitorium there. This has elicited a warm protest from Councillor Grob, who says the population has been increased 25 per cent. since the sanitorium was constructed, ten years ago, and the assessment 44 per cent., and all branches of business are prospering. Quite a number of people are camping in the town owing to the impossibility of getting houses

Kingston Gets Called.

The Kingston papers do not feel at all complimented by the references to Kingston credited to Frank Smith, the horse editor of the Buffalo Courier. Smith said in Buffalo: 'Over in Kingston, Ont., some of the horsemen are too slow to catch cold on a frosty morning. Although it is a city of over 20,000 not a daily paper is issued in the town, and the foreign press does not reach the town until late in the afternoon. No wonder the convicts at Kingston want to escape." The Kingston News hopes the managing editor of the Buffalo Courier will inform Mr. Smith that there are two daily papers in Kingston and weeklies besides, and remarks that if this is a sample of the information turned out by Mr. Smith the sports will not give him the palm for accuracy.

Stratford, it is stated, accepted $25 from the circus for license to perform.

RAPID PROGRESS IS BEING MADE

Envoys Agree Upon Three of Twelve Articles For Peace—Corean Question Settled—Russia Agrees That It Is Outside of Her Sphere of Influence and That Japan Has "Preponderating Influence" in the Hermit Kingdom—Victory For the Open Door in Manchuria.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 15.—Although rapid progress was made with the peace negotiations yesterday, three of the twelve articles which constitute the Japanese conditions of peace having been agreed to by M. Witte and Baron Rosen on behalf of Russia, neither of the two articles to which M. Witte in his reply returned an absolute negative was reached. The crisis, therefore, is still to come. It may be reached to-day, as the cession of Sakhalin comes fifth in the list. The three "articles," as they are officially designated in the brief communications authorized to be given to the press, which were disposed of yesterday, are in substance as follows:

First—Russia's recognition of Japan's "preponderating influence" and special position in Corea, which Russia henceforth agrees is outside of her sphere of influence, Japan binding herself to recognize the suzerainty of the reigning family, but with the right to give advice and assistance to improve the civil administration of the empire.

Second—Mutual obligation to evacuate Manchuria, each to surrender all her special privileges in that Province, mutual obligation to respect the "territorial integrity" of China and to maintain the principle of equal opportunity for the commerce and industry of all nations in that Province (open door).

Third—The cession to China of the Chinese Eastern Railroad from Harbin southward.

The Question About These.

There never was any question about the acceptance on the part of M. Witte of these "articles," the first two covering in more emphatic form the contentions of Japan in the diplomatic struggle which preceded hostilities."

The third is a natural consequence of war. The cession of the railroad, the building of which cost Russian an immense sum, estimated by some at between $100,000,000 and $200,000,000 to China. Japan and China, therefore, will arrange between themselves the method by which the former is to be remunerated, and through this financial operation, Japan might have a considerable portion of her claim for the "expenses of the war," liquidated. The railroad is ostensibly the property of the Russo-Chinese Bank, although built by Government money advanced through the bank and since its completion operated, managed and policed by the Russian Government. Japan cannot take the railroad herself. To place herself in Russia's shoes regarding the railroad would be militarily to control the destinies of the three ports of the three Province of Manchuria, which she has promised to return to China.

Should Be Reimbursed.

But Japan is entitled to reimbursement for the expense to which she has been put in restoring the railroad below the present position of Linevitch's army, rebuilding the bridges and narrowing the gauge. If China could not find the money, some other power or powers might do so, and the road would become hypothecated to the powers which advanced the money, as other Chinese roads are to those which advanced the money for their construction. It was M. Witte himself who organized the Russo-Chinese Bank in 1895, and who has always been considered the real organizer of the Chinese Eastern Co. Mr. Berg, the attorney-general of the Russo-Chinese Bank, which owns practically all, if not all, of the shares of the road is attached to the Russian mission.

Amicable Sessions.

Both sessions of the conference yesterday are described as "amicable." There were several slight jars, but none of them were serious. The plenipotentiaries are showing admirable temper. The change in the weather may be partially responsible for the serenity manifested at the conference table.

China's Integrity Assured.

A Japanese authority said last night: "The integrity of China is assured if the treaty of Washington is signed, as Japan has insisted that this point be set forth in language that can neither be evaded nor misunderstood. Japan's policy, which on this subject has always been in line with the Hay doctrine, will find a more vigorous expression in the treaty of Washington."

Peace Prospects Bright.

Never since the envoys gathered here were the prospects of peace as bright as they are now. This statement is not a mere conjecture. It is based not only upon the fact that the plenipotentiaries have reached the stage of discussion, in itself a most hopeful sign, but upon the knowledge that Russia is engaged through her envoys in efforts to raise money, which, if successful, would enable her to pay an indemnity to Japan.

Jacob H. Schiff of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and Messrs. Straus and Seligman of J. & W. Seligman, were here to-day for the purpose of consulting M. Witte and Baron Rosen with respect to negotiating a loan to the Russian Government.

Toronto, Aug. 15.—There was a bit of a riot at Cobalt on Sunday night and the tough element tore things loose. The new mining town has become the centre of a lot of miners who have moved around a bit, but have so far been fairly orderly.

The Attorney-General was notified of Sunday's outbreak. Details were meagre, but Acting Attorney-General Dymond wired the Crown Attorney at North Bay to institute proceedings forthwith and arrest those implicated in the disturbance. The Department will spare no pains to enforce law and order in the district.

Parties who have recently returned from Cobalt say the rough element is warming up there and will have to be looked after.

New Fort at Kingston.

Ottawa, Aug. 15.—It is understood that the Militia Department will shortly undertake the erection of a fort at Kingston for the protection of the lower entrance of the great lakes. This will be the next battery that will be built after the one is finished below Quebec.

Earl Grey Will Attend.

Winnipeg, Aug. 15.—His Excellency Earl Grey has promised to be at the ceremonies attending the inauguration of the new Province of Saskatchewan at Regina.

JAPAN WARRIORS BUSY.

Tokio, Aug. 15.—It is reported unofficially that a body of infantry and several field batteries have landed on the peninsula of Khamshatka, protected by a fleet of warships.

To Escape Service.

Harbin, Aug. 15.—Among the soldiers medically treated here 1,200 were found to be self-mutilated on the first finger of the right hand.

Oyama's Dispositions.

Gunshu Pass, Aug. 15.—Field Marshal Oyama apparently is changing his dispositions and reducing his forces in Manchuria to augment those in Corea, where his front extends through Tchabootoun, the Chantafo, Schaktetzy and Manchents, constituting an uninterrupted series of powerful fortifications, mounted with siege guns.

Russians Retiring.

Tokio, Aug. 15.—It is reported that the Russians are retiring across the Tumen River, and that they will avoid a battle in Northern Corea.

Army Corps For Front.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 15.—The sixteenth army corps will leave for the front August 17.

Russia's New Loan.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 15.—The new internal loan of $100,000,000 will be issued August 17. The price will be 96 1-2.

The Pandora Reservoir

The Pandora is the only range with a reservoir stamped in one single piece of steel and enamelled. It is the only reservoir without seams, rivets or places to catch dirt. It has no sharp angles. All angles are made with rounding curves, and the whole reservoir is beautifully enamelled.

McClary's are the only range makers in Canada with a plant for making enamelled steel reservoirs, and that is why the Pandora is the only range that has a one-piece reservoir.

CORDIAL INVITATION

ADDRESSED TO WORKING GIRLS

Mlle. Robitaille Tells How Mrs. Pinkham's Advice Helps Working Girls

Girls who work, are particularly susceptible to female disorders; especially those who are obliged to stand on their feet from morning until night in stores or factories.

Day in and day out the girl toils, and she is often the bread-winner of the family. Whether she is sick or well, whether it rains or shines, she must get to her place of employment, perform the duties exacted of her—smile and be agreeable.

Among this class the symptoms of female diseases are early manifest by weak and aching backs, pain in the lower limbs and lower part of the stomach. In consequence of frequent wetting of the feet, monthly periods become painful and irregular, and frequently there are faint and dizzy spells, with loss of appetite, until life is a burden. All of these symptoms point to a derangement of the female organism which can be easily and promptly cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mlle. Alma Robitaille, 78 rue St. Francois, Quebec, Quebec, tells what this great medicine did for her. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Overwork and long hours at the office, together with a neglected cold, brought on a very serious female trouble until finally I was unable to go to work. I then thought of a friend who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when her health was in the same condition that mine was and straightway sent out for a bottle. I finished that and took two more before I really began to improve but after that my recovery was very rapid and I was soon well and able to go back to work again. I certainly think your medicine for sick women worthy of praise and am indeed glad to endorse it."

It is to such girls that Mrs. Pinkham holds out a helping hand and extends a cordial invitation to correspond with her. Her long record of success in treating woman's ills makes her letters of advice of untold value to every ailing working girl, and from her wide experience and skill she quickly points the way to health. Her advice is free, and all letters are held by her in the strictest confidence. Address, Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

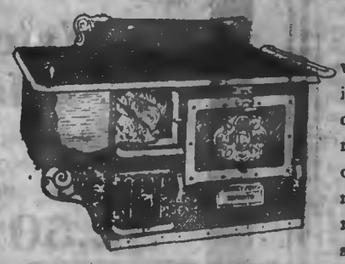
Oxford Chancellor Range



One of the troubles with most wood-burning ranges is the lack of hot water. The usual reservoir is of small capacity and not placed near enough the fire to raise the water to a sufficiently high temperature, and it takes considerable time and fuel to heat the water at all.

The Oxford Chancellor wood-burning range is fitted with a large reservoir of planished copper, which is easily kept clean. This reservoir is placed next the fire-box, and therefore the water heats very quickly and to a high temperature. The reservoir may be detached or attached to the range in five minutes by anyone.

Write us for booklets about the Oxford Chancellor Range, and the address of the nearest dealer who can show it to you. A post card will do.

No Ashes
In the
"Bison" Fire Pot

The fire pot in the "Bison" hot water heater is built slightly conical to prevent ashes sticking to it. There is no lodging place in the fire pot for ashes. Flames are thrown up and against the slanting wall of the fire pot—the side draft drags them against it—burns all the coal evenly from side to side. That is one reason why the "Bison" heats quickly, effectively, economically—it is one reason out of ten why the "Bison" is the best heater.

PETERBOROUGH COUPLE ARE THE PRINCIPALS IN A BIGAMY CASE

W. H. Sargent, a Former Peterborough Man, is Defendant in a Suit Entered by His Wife, A. M. Sargent—Case Was Tried in Revelstoke, B.C.—Had Been Formerly Defendant in a Forgery Charge--Wife Left Here Last September for the West to Bring Her Husband to Justice--Peculiarities of the Laws Which Are Taken Advantage Of.

A despatch to the Examiner dated Revelstoke, B. C., says: — A case which would have occasioned as much interest locally as the now famous Collins case running in Victoria had the same been brought to trial, was called in the police court here Monday morning.

There was a charge of bigamy laid against W. H. Sargent, a former resident of this city. Sargent left this city sometime in March of the present year, going east. He turned up here Saturday with a strange woman, registering at the Hotel Revelstoke as man and wife. He took wife No. 1 to call on wife No. 2 who who resides here, and after admitting his second marriage the trouble commenced. Mrs. Sargent No. 1 forthwith proceeded to put the law into motion.

On the case being called Monday morning, W. J. Briggs appeared for complainant and G. S. McCarter for accused. It was dismissed without any evidence being taken, on the ground that the justice of peace had no authority to issue warrant and apprehend the accused, or to take preliminary hearing, the second marriages having allegedly taken place in Toronto. From the argument it appears as a general rule all crime is local, and the jurisdiction over the crime belongs to the county or province where it is committed. This rule, however, respecting certain matters, has its exceptions, but bigamy apparently is not included amongst the replevin.

In England and Ireland it appears that any such offence may be dealt with, tried and punished in the county or place where the offender shall be apprehended as if such offence had been actually committed in that county or place. The law is the same in this respect in New South Wales. But in Canada an offender in a case of this kind is safe so long as he keeps away from the province in which the second marriage takes place. In case of a resident Canadian leaving Canada with intent to marry in a foreign country and so marrying, upon his return to Canada he may be apprehended and tried in Canada, but this does not apply as between the different provinces.

Mrs. A. M. Sargent, wife of the W. H. Sargent mentioned in the above despatch, left Peterborough last September to go to Revelstoke, her object in going there being to prosecute her husband for forgery. She won her case and he left for the east, coming to Toronto, where he married his second wife without first having obtained any separation papers.

LOCK WORKS BUILDING TENDERS ARE ALTOGETHER TOO HIGH

The directors of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company opened the tenders submitted for the erection of the proposed new buildings to be used as works by the company, and no contract was let. It is understood that the figures contained in the tenders were altogether higher than the company had contemplated paying for the construction of the buildings, and the statement is made that it is doubtful if the erection of the works will be proceeded with at present.

MR. H. T. STRICKLAND BREAKS MORE SWIMMING RECORDS

The Toronto Globe of Monday, said:

"H. F. Strickland, of Balmy Beach, yesterday morning beat all previous swimming records across Toronto Bay, covering the distance from the Yonge street wharf to the old Swimming Club headquarters in 42 minutes. The swim took place in the presence of five witnesses over the regular course adopted by the club last year, the actual time being:—Start, 8 hours, 11 minutes; finish, 8 hours, 53 minutes.

"Strickland made the first record over the new course last year in 50 minutes, but it was lowered by 15 seconds this year by Cochrane of the Swimming Club. The previous record was held by Joe Wilson, from the Yonge street wharf to Hanlan's wharf, in 47 minutes, but Strickland's record yesterday was over a course nearly 300 yards longer and was performed in five minutes less time. Strickland finished perfectly fresh and strong."

IRON MOULDERS CARRY CROWDS

One of the Most Successful Holiday Trips.

Cobourg was the Objective Point of the Excursion—Base Ball Game There.

The Iron Moulders' Union of this city never does things by halves. Whether it is a banquet, Easter Monday assembly, or an excursion, the undertaking always spells success, and the Civic Holiday outing to Cobourg was but another link to their long iron chain of successful achievements.

Over six hundred jolly souls boarded the special train on Monday morning bound for Cobourg, and the coaches provided were not sufficient to comfortably hold the excursionists, in fact a number were left behind. The run to Cobourg was made in good time, and upon arriving at the lake shore town the excursionists at once started in for a day's pleasure. The Citizens' Band of Cobourg, met them at the station, and played them to Victoria Park, an ideal spot for a picnic. Many who brought baskets had dinner here while others went to the different hotels, or were taken in hand by friends.

Cobourg is at present alive with Americans, and the town on Monday presented an animated appearance, indeed.

In the afternoon Victoria Park was centre of attraction. The Citizens' Band furnished excellent music during the day, and the Cobourg orchestra played its prettiest for the lovers of the "light fantastic," who danced to their heart's content. Many also patronized the toboggan chute, and had a plunge into the blue waters of Lake Ontario. In fact it was one continual round of enjoyment for the excursionists from morning until the train pulled out for home.

The chief event of the afternoon at the Park was, however, the baseball game between the Charlotte street Guild team and the Wharf Rats of Cobourg. The struggle was witnessed by a large crowd, and victory perched upon the banners of the Guild nine. The score was 19—14.

Following were the teams:

Score by innings:

Mr. P. Duncan satisfactorily filled the position of umpire.

In the evening the Cobourg band played the excursionists to the train. The platform at the station was thronged with people. The citizens of the town had given the Peterborough people a royal reception, and were sorry to see them depart. The trip home was made in good time, and without an accident to mar the day's pleasure. One and all voted the Moulders to be all right, and they were certainly to be congratulated on the success achieved. The excellent committee in charge spared no pains in their efforts to make the outing a success. The following were the officers of the energetic committee: Messrs. R. Stockdale, chairman; John Robertson, secretary.

The committee in charge regret very much that the excursionists were handicapped through lack of seating capacity on the trip. They state that the blame in this regard rests with the railway authorities, who did not give them the accommodation promised.

The committee also desires to publicly thank the Mayor and corporation of Cobourg for their kindness in erecting the dancing pavilion at the park, and also the Iron Moulders' Union, Cobourg, for their courtesies extended during the day. They engaged the Cobourg band, and in many other ways extended fraternal courtesies for which the local union is very grateful.

Choke Damp Victims.

Aaron Osborn and Vana Fisher, well diggers, are both dead from choke damp at the Matchine Jones farm, five miles south of Belding, Mich. They were repairing the well Thursday, when Fisher, who was 90 feet down examining a pipe, fell, landing on a cross-stick 45 feet below. Osborn went down to rescue him, and was also overcome. Both were dead when brought to the surface. They were found stretched on the cross-piece, and did not get into the water.

Convict Suicides.

When the alarm that a prisoner was missing was sounded last night Warden Hayes, of the King's Court Penitentiary, had a bad scare. But instead of an escape he found he had suicide on his hands. David Lahey, 21 years old, of No. 387 Atlantis avenue, who had been imprisoned for burglary, had become disheartened because his parents had disowned him, and he ended his life in the harness shop, using a leather strap to

SUDDEN DEATH OF FORMER RESIDENT

Mrs. H. Mulholland Died Suddenly at Nelson, B.C.

Was Taken Ill With Spinal Menengetis —Husband Was Private Banker Here.

Nelson, B. C., Aug. 13.—Mrs. R. Mulholland of Toronto died at the Stratcona Hotel on Saturday morning from an attack of spinal menengitis. The remains left this morning for the east. The deceased lady with her husband and daughter, Mrs. A. A. E. Curren, of Toronto, and friend, Mrs. H. F. Sharp, also of Toronto, was returning home from a trip to the Pacific coast, including the Portland Fair. She was taken ill at Arrow Head last Wednesday and brought here for treatment.

The lady mentioned in the above despatch was formerly a resident of this city, her husband, Mr. Robt. Mulholland, having been a member of the firm of Mulholland and Roper, private bankers. She was, therefore quite well known to many residents of Peterborough, where news of her death will be received with deep regret.

An Interesting Wedding Which Took Place in Percy.

A number of local persons will be interested in the following report of a wedding which took place in Percy township recently:

"On Tuesday, August 8th, at the home of the bride's parents, Spring Valley Farm, Percy, Miss Florence Mae Blezard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Blezard, was united in marriage to Mr. J. Y. Wilson, of St. Mary's, formerly of Warkworth. The ceremony was performed on the lawn, under an evergreen arch, from which was suspended a floral horseshoe of heather and fern. Rev. W. Johnston of Warkworth, officiated. The bride who was given away by her father, was gowned in point d'esprit over white silk, and the shower bouquet was of white roses and fern; her only ornament was a sunburst of pearls, the gift of the groom. The wedding march from Lohengrin was played by Miss Lilian Mix of Warkworth. The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Lilian Blezard, who wore embroidered white silk; pink roses and ferns were carried. The groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. George Wilson of Warkworth. After congratulations the bridal party and the guests, numbering about seventy-five, partook of a dainty dejeuner."

There is more real oxygen in a liquified form in the "solution of Ozone (the coupon kind)" than in any other preparation of a similar nature. As a prompt cure in the killing of all inside germs of thirst, lungs, stomach or bowels, it has no equal when coupled with "Celery King" the famous laxative. That the stringent Ozone needed a tonic of this nature to procure the best results was so apparent that the Public Drug Co., of Bridgeburg, Ont., offer through your druggist a free package of "Celery King" with every fifty cent or one dollar bottle of "solution of Ozone (the coupon kind." THE WEST AND THE EAST.

It is palpably plain that settlement and development of our new areas, directly benefit the existing settled portions. The peopling of the North-west creates demands for the industrial products of, say, Ontario. The activity prevailing in the West, is beneficial to the lumbering industry of New Ontario. The circle completes itself. Under the circumstances it is not bad economy to expend the public funds liberally to promote the settlement of our great West. One of the most potent factors in the building up of the West is the provision of adequate transportation. By this means alone will the grain grower of the West get the full benefit of the immense crops the soil is capable of producing. His crop is comparatively valueless to him if there are no facilities for getting it to the market. The wisdom of spending the public funds to complete the Trent Waterway is therefore obvious. It is not a sectional nor local enterprise, but has a distinct bearing upon the development, interchangeably, of both the East and the West.

The lawless element which always enters largely into a mining camp is disagreeably in evidence in the newly awakened mining region of Cobalt. It is not, however, probable that the condition of riot and lawlessness reported from that place will be allowed to continue. Canada is a law-abiding country, and we cannot for a moment tolerate the operations of lawless persons. Even in far-away Klondike, thousands of miles from the centre of authority, peaceable conditions were speedily established, and there were none of the disgraceful scenes which are characteristic of "American" mining centres in new districts. In taking measures the authorities of Ontario must take prompt action to establish law and order in the Cobalt mining district, which is comparatively so near the centre of authority. Access by railway is easy, and no temporizing with lawlessness will be permitted.

STONY LAKE VS. RICE LAKE

"An Unprejudiced Visitor's" Letter is Answered.

"Stony Lake" Has Some Things to Say in Reply to That Epistle.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — In the issue of the Morning Times of Saturday, August 5th, appears an article under the heading, "The Rice Lake Trip," in which the writer, "An Unprejudiced Visitor," seeks to institute a comparison between the respective beauties of the Rice and the Stony Lake trips.

It is difficult indeed to conceive of the reason why any mind should become prejudiced in the discussion of such a subject, unless influenced by an ulterior motive, such as shows out so transparently in the article. "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," if I remember rightly, in commenting upon the value of literary criticism, remarks that it is largely "a matter of oysters," its true value may be gauged to a large extent by the number of bivalves (and their accompaniments) of which the critic has been the recipient. In the Times' article the inspiration is so obvious, that further comment is unnecessary.

Everyone is surely entitled to whatever impressions he may receive upon either trip, and to come to what conclusions he wishes in the matter; as for myself, I find infinite charm in either trip. The preference of the general public is however manifested in the "overcrowded Stony Lake steamers" spoken of by the writer; and it is here that he appears to feel aggrieved, and in consequence, proceeds to administer a reproof in a truly "fishy" manner. His sentiments in regard to the wearing of "bloomers" are commendable, and are such as will likely meet the approval of Stony Lake cottagers, notwithstanding the "pink-tea" vision which he has created in order to establish a case which does not exist. His "facts" would also be commendable were they not at entire variance with the truth. The comparison, however, is a matter of purely personal concern, but as a summer resident for many years at Stony Lake I may say that I have heard of a case of ostracism for the wearing of ventilated trousers.

But it is not with regard to these matters, but against the malicious spirit of the article that I wish to protest. It is in his remarks upon the boat service that the writer betrays fully his angelic "unprejudiced" spirit. With his doubtless well-merited eulogy of the captains and crews of the Rice Lake steamers everyone will agree. They are undoubtedly the efficient, gentlemanly officers he describes them to be—"all honourable men," such as would under no circumstance make use of the slanderous comment and insinuation given vent to by the Times article. The individual and the public opinion upon the respective beauties of the Rice and the Stony Lake trips are being given daily in a calm and judicious manner by those concerned, without the accompaniment of the tumult of verbosity introduced by the Times gentleman.

The latter's statements with regard to the steamers and their crews is, however another matter, and one in which a comparison is particularly odious—though a mere glance will show that it need not be feared by the Stony Lake boats. The writer, after a series of singularly contradictory remarks, complains of the northern boats as being "not only uncomfortably, but dangerously, crowded, when nothing further than the immediate grab for dollars involves in many cases scant courtesy toward passengers." This is followed by a glowing account of an exact reversal of these conditions in the lower waters. Conditions on Stony Lake boats might, perhaps, be vastly improved were the crews animated by the "courteous" and gentlemanly spirit displayed by the writer of the article. However, to show the absurdity of his contention, a glance at facts (which are still recognized in some quarters) will suffice. If a simple glance at the class of boats upon the two waters is not sufficient to convince, a recourse may be had to past records. It may be sufficient to point out that a single drowning accident has yet to be recorded upon the "dangerously crowded" Stony Lake boats, without probing into somewhat unsavoury court records. A respective list of accidents might also be brought into the comparison were they not of so unpleasant and distasteful a character. The want of "courtesy" complained of is, it must be said, a rather unusual accompaniment of over-crowded boats, while a paradise, such as is pictured by the writer, awaits close at hand to receive the overflow.

The invariable courtesy exhibited by Stony Lake steamer crews and the excellent service has been a matter of congratulation among Stony Lake travellers, and a scurrilous and wholly unjustifiable attack such as that contained in the article would be greatly deplored were it not for its ludicrous aspect. It is a case in which "ye olden time" ducking stool for common scolds might be revived to good advantage.

Yours truly,
STONY LAKE.

The American Ignorance Concerning This Country

The lack of knowledge, another term for ignorance, of the great majority of the American people, upon matters pertaining to Canada, is almost pathetic in its prevalence. This lamentable ignorance in reference to the northern sister of the Republic, among the people inhabitating the latter, is not confined to the class of people who are uneducated, but is almost equally noticeable among the better class of citizens.

An evidence of this is furnished from Stony Lake. A letter came there addressed by a gentleman in Rochester, (one of the border cities) to a friend, at:

"Stony Lake,
"Some fishing point Lake Ontario,
"Victoria County,
"Canada."

The letter reached its destination, because the Canadian postal clerks were not quite as ignorant as the person who addressed it.

THE PASSENGERS WERE SEA SICK

But Excursionists to Niagara Falls Had a Good Time.

Annual Trip Under Canadian Foresters' Auspices a Huge Success.

The annual excursion conducted under the auspices of Court Little-John, C.O.F., and which has for its objective point Niagara Falls, is always one of the most popular Civic Holiday trips. That of yesterday proved to be no exception to the general rule, and one of the largest crowds of the day to leave the city was that which this excursion train carried. The special train, which left here at 6.30 a.m. was well filled, and the crowd was augumented by persons from Omemee, Lindsay and other places between this city and Toronto. An accurate estimate of the numbers who took in this excursion is impossible until the full returns are in, since a number of persons went to Toronto on Sunday by C.P.R., and joined the excursionists on Monday on their trip across the lake.

The majority of the excursionists took the Chippewa, the largest of the Niagara River Line fleet across the lake to Lewiston and Queenston. Although some of those who went to Toronto on Sunday took an earlier boat.

The lake trip was decidely the distinctive feature of the trip. A stiff breeze troubled the face of the waters on Lake Ontario yesterday and the consequence was that the great majority of the passengers were ill.

This was forgotten, however, shortly after shore was reached, and upon arrival at Queenston or Lewiston, as th individuals wished, they proceeded ot renew their enjoyment. Some took the trip up the Niagara River to the Falls by the Great Gorge route on the American side, while others went by the Park and River Line on the Canadian side.

The great progress of the power development at Niagara Falls, particularly on the Ontario shore, was the source of great interest to the visitors, and numbers visited the scene of the works, which are being carried on.

The return trip across the lake was a repetition of the morning journey, and again that much dreaded feeling of seasickness was experienced by a large number.

Upon the arrival of the steamer at Toronto, the special train was waiting to carry the passengers back to Peterborough, which was reached early this morning.

STONY LAKE VS. RICE LAKE

"An Unprejudiced Visitor's" Letter is Answered.

"Stony Lake" Has Some Things to Say in Reply To That Epistle.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — In the issue of the Morning Times of Saturday, August 5th, appears an article under the heading, "The Rice Lake Trip," in which the writer, "An Unprejudiced Visitor" seeks to institute a comparison between the respective beauties of the Rice and the Stony Lake trips.

It is difficult indeed to conceive of the reason why any mind should become prejudiced in the discussion of such a subject, unless influenced by an ulterior motive, such as shows out so transparently in the article. "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," if I remember rightly, in commenting upon the value of literary criticism, remarks that it is largely "a matter of oysters," its true value may be gauged to a large extent by the number of bivalves (and their accompaniments) of which the critic has been the recipient. In the Times' article the inspiration is so obvious, that further comment is unnecessary.

Everyone is surely entitled to whatever impressions he may receive upon either trip, and to come to what conclusions he wishes in the matter; as for myself, I find infinite charm in either trip. The preference of the general public is however manifested in the 'overcrowded Stony Lake steamers" spoken of by the writer; and it is here that he appears to feel aggrieved, and, in consequence, proceeds to administer a reproof to a truly "fish-wife" manner. His sentiments in regard to the wearing of "belled" skirts are commendable, and are such as will likely meet the approval of Stony Lake cottagers, notwithstanding the "pink-tea" vision which he has created in order to establish a case which does not exist. His "facts" would also be commendable were they not at entire variance with the truth. The comparison, however, is a matter of purely personal concern, but as a summer resident for many years at Stony Lake I may say that I have heard of a case of patriotism for the wearing of ventilated trousers.

But it is not with regard to these matters, but against the malicious spirit of the article that I wish to protest. It is in his remarks upon the boat service that the writer betrays fully his angelic 'unprejudiced" spirit. With his doubtless well-merited eulogy of the captains and crews of the Rice Lake steamers everyone will agree. They are undoubtedly the efficient, gentlemanly officers he describes them to be—"all honourable men," such as would under no circumstance make use of the slanderous comment and insinuation given vent to by the Times article. The individual and the public opinion upon the respective beauties of the Rice and the Stony Lake trips are being given daily in a calm and judicious manner by those concerned, without the accompaniment of the tumult of verbosity introduced by the Times gentleman.

The latter's statements with regard to the steamers and their crews is, however ,another matter, and one in which a comparison is particularly odious—though a mere glance will show that it need not be feared by the Stony Lake boats. The writer, after a series of singularly contradictory remarks, comprises of the northern boats as being "not only uncomfortably, but dangerously, crowded, when nothing further than the immediate grab for dollars involves in many cases scant courtesy toward passengers." This is followed by a glowing account of an exact reversal of these conditions in the lower waters. Conditions on Stony Lake boats might, perhaps, be vastly improved were the crews animated by the "courteous" and gentlemanly spirit displayed by the writer of the article. However, to show the absurdity of his contention, a glance at facts (which are still recognized in some quarters) will suffice. If a simple glance at the class of boats upon the two waters is not sufficient to convince, a recourse may be had to past records. It may be sufficient to point out that a single drowning accident has yet to be recorded upon the "dangerously crowded" Stony Lake boats, without probing into somewhat unsavoury court records. A respective list of accidents might also be brought into the comparison were they not of so unpleasant and distasteful a character. The want of "courtesy" complained of is, it must be said, a rather unusual accompaniment of over-crowded boats, while a paradise, such as is pictured by the writer, awaits close at hand to receive the overflow.

The invariable courtesy exhibited by Stony Lake steamer crews and the excellent service has been a matter of congratulation among Stony Lake travellers, and a scurrilous and wholly unjustifiable attack such as that contained in the article would be greatly deplored were it not for its ludicrous aspect. It is a case in which "ye olden time" ducking stool for common scolds might be revived to good advantage.

Yours truly,
STONY LAKE.

The American Ignorance Concerning This Country

The lack of knowledge, another term for ignornace, of the great majority of the American people, upon matters pertaining to Canada, is almost pathetic in its prevalence. This lamentable ignorance in reference to the northern sister of the Republic, among the people inhabitating the latter, is not confined to the class of people who are uneducated, but is almost equally noticeable among the better class of citizens.

An evidence of this is furnished from Stony Lake. A letter came there addressed by a gentleman in Rochester, (one of the border cities) to a friend, at;

"Stony Lake,
"Some fishing point Lake Ontario,
"Victoria County,
"Canada."

The letter reached its destination, because the Canadian postal clerks were not quite as ignorant as the person who addressed it.

THE PASSENGERS WERE SEA SICK

But Excursionists to Niagara Falls Had a Good Time.

Annual Trip Under Canadian Foresters' Auspices a Huge Success.

The annual excursion conducted under the auspices of Court Little-John ,C.O.F., and which has for its objective point Niagara Falls, is always one of the most popular Civic Holiday trips. That of yesterday proved to be no exception to the general rule, and one of the largest crowds of the day to leave the city was that which this excursion train carried. The special train, which left here at 6.30 a.m. was well filled, and the crowd was augumented by persons from Omemee, Lindsay and other places between this city and Toronto. An accurate estimate of the numbers who took in this excursion is impossible until the full returns are in, since a number of persons went to Toronto on Sunday by C.P.R., and joined the excursionists on Monday on their trip across the lake.

The majority of the excursionists took the Chippewa, the largest of the Niagara River Line fleet across the lake to Lewiston and Queenston. Although some of those who went to Toronto on Sunday took an earlier boat.

The lake trip was decidely the distinctive feature of the trip. A stiff breeze troubled the face of the waters on Lake Ontario yesterday and the consequence was that the great majority of the passengers were ill.

This was forgotten, however, shortly after shore was reached, and upon arrival at Queenston or Lewiston, as th individuals wished, they proceeded ot renew their enjoyment. Some took the trip up the Niagara River to the Falls by the Great Gorge route on the American side, while others went by the Park and River Line on the Canadian side.

The great progress of the power development at Niagara Falls, particularly on the Ontario shore, was the source of great interest to the visitors, and numbers visited the scene of the works, which are being carried on.

The return trip across the lake was a repetition of the morning journey, and again that much dreaded feeling of seasickness was experienced by a large number.

Upon the arrival of the steamer at Toronto, the special train was waiting to carry the passengers back to Peterborough, which was reached early this morning.

SPLIT, BRITTLE, DULL HAIR

All Come From Dandruff, Which is Caused by a Germ.

Split hair, hard hair, lustreless hair, brittle hair, falling hair, all owe their origin to dandruff, which is caused by a measley little microbe that burrows into the scalp, throwing up the cuticle into dandruff scales and sapping the vitality of the hair at the root, causing the several diseased conditions of the hair at the root, causing the several diseased conditions of the hair till it finally falls out. Modern science has discovered a remedy to destroy the dandruff microbe, which is combined in Newbro's Herpicide, the delightful hair dressing. Allays itching instantly and makes hair soft as silk. Take no substitute; nothing "just as good." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh special agents.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MISS EMMA LEMAY

End Came While on a Visit to Her Relatives.

The sudden death of Emma Lemay came as a great shock to her large circle of friends, and relatives here. The deceased was a young woman of 18 years, and had been an active worker in the Charlotte street Methodist church, of which she was a member. Her father and mother, and a number of other relatives, are left to mourn her untimely end.

THE HIBERNIANS AND FORESTERS

Ran a Most Enjoyable Excursion on Civic Holiday.

Some Features of a Trip Down the Otonabee River.

The members of Division No. 1, A. O. H., and of St. Peter's Court, C. O. F., will hereafter be firm believers in the truth of the old adage, "In union their is strength," as probably the second largest excursion of the season to Jubilee Point was run under their joint auspices Civic Holiday. The steamers City of Peterborough and Water Lily steamed out from the Wolf street wharf at 8 o'clock with fully 400 excursionists on board and a delightful sail was experienced to Jubilee Point, which was reached about 11 o'clock.

Immediate preparations were then made for dinner, and after the inner man had been satisfied one and all set about to thoroughly enjoy the afternoon, in fishing, boating and tripping the light fantastic in the pavilion, the same merry pastime being indulged in on the trip to the Point. The music was supplied by members of both societies.

The picnic was graced by the presence of four clergymen, who mingled with the excursionists and contributed in no small degree, by their presence, to the success of the outing. They were, Rev. Father Kelly, chaplain of A.O.H.; Rev. Father Galvin, chaplain, C.O.F.; Rev. Father Keeney, Aston, Ont., and Rev. Father Bretherton, Hastings.

One of the features of the picnic was a baseball game between the Hibernans and Foresters and resulted in a close score, 5—4 in favour of of the Irishmen. The teams were as follows:—

Hibernans—T. Gorham, p; G. McFadden, c; W. Whaley, 1b; J. Roach, cf; T. Dineen, lf; P. J. Teck, 3b; J. Hickey, rf; J. J. Hanrahan, 2b; Jas. Derocher, ss.

Foresters—J. Ponger, p; J. Denno, 3b; W. O'Brien, 1b; J. Murray, c; P. Collins, lf; Thos. Lane and C. Theobald, cf; J. Dennaird, 2b; J. Clancy, ss; E. Stafford, rf.

The game afforded considerable amusement and was watched with interest by a large number. Time would not permit the committee in charge to run off the programme of sports in its entirety and only one or two events were contested.

The tug-of-war between two teams from the Hibernans and Foresters ended in a tie—one each. They pulled so well in arranging the picnic, that it was only natural that they should break even in any contest.

The boys' race resulted as follows:—1, J. Kane, 2. E. Kelly, 3 F. Hayes.

The excursionists boarded the boats for the return trip at 5 o'clock, and reached the city shortly after eight. The committee in charge of the excursion worked hard during the day and are to be congratulated upon the success of their efforts. The officers of the committee were Messrs. Ches. Murty, chairman; John Hanraban, secretary, and Joseph Kelly, treasurer.

FRANK MEEHAN GETS SIX MONTHS

He Is an Old Offender and Received a Heavy Sentence.

A North-End Resident Caused Some Trouble and Paid for It—Two Drunks Fined.

There was a good docket at the police court this morning, and the seating space in the prisoners' box was taxed to its utmost.

Frank Meehan faced a charge of vagrancy. He pleaded for just one more chance, but his record was against him. He had served several short sentences here and at Cobourg, and had recently spent a term in the Central. When gathered in he was drunk and without money or friends. He asked for just one more chance, but the Magistrate said the best chance that he could give him was six months in the Central.

A resident on Dublin street came home late Friday night and couldn't find the key-hole. He then proceeded to kick the door and give vent to his feelings, rousing up the neighbours. He was fined $2 and $4.10 costs this morning.

George Shearer and Bruce Roddy stayed in town yesterday and indulged too freely in the flowing bowl. They were found drunk in a public place and were assessed $2 each.

DR. ORONHYTEKHA GREETED THEM

Excursionists at Foresters' Island Yesterday Saw Chief.

One of the Most Delightful of All the Holiday Trips.

One of the most thoroughly enjoyable of all the Civic Holiday excursions was that conducted by Court Chemong I. O. F. and had as its objective point Deseronto, Foresters' Island and the Lake of the Mountain. Last year this same excursion was run, and the success with which it met was such that it was decided to make it an annual event, and the wisdom of this course was amply demonstrated yesterday. About 300 persons participated in the pleasures of the trip yesterday, the great majority of whom came from Peterborough, 3 coaches, which by the time the last stop had been made were well filled, pulled out of the G.T.R. station at 7.30 and Belleville wharf was reached at 10 o'clock. At Belleville the steamer "Aletha" of the Lake Ontario and Bay of Quinte Navigation Company was boarded for the continuation of the journey. Mr. Horsey, the general manager of the steamboat company accompanied the excursionists from Belleville and from that point it was a personally conducted trip. Deseronto was reached at noon, and dinner was taken there, many going to the hotels and restaurants, while others took it in picnic fashion on the boat or on shore.

After spending an hour very pleasantly at Deseronto, the steamer was again boarded, and the trip continued to Foresters' Island Park, where the new Orphage was inspected. This is a beautiful building erected by the Independent Foresters, in which orphans of deceased members of the order are cared for. A new reception Hall has also been erected since the trip of last year. Dr. Oronhyetkha, the venerable head of the Foresters, was in Deseronto yesterday, and, accompanied by Dr. Shaw, of Keene, High Physician, arrived at the Island and in an address delivered from the verandah of his beautiful residence, on the Island, extended a warm welcome to the visitors, and gave them the freedom of the Island, inviting them to remain there during the whole day. Dr. Shaw, also gave a short address, while Mr. G. N. Brown, D.H.C.R. also spoke welcoming the visitors in happy fashion.

After remaining there for some little time the steamer was again boarded by all who wished to visit the Lake

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

AT ST. JOSEPH'S CHAPEL

EIGHT TOOK THE HABIT

Number of Young Ladies Who Enter Mount St. Joseph to Become Nuns--Six Sisters Who Took Perpetual and Final Vows in the Sisterhood of St. Joseph—His Lordship Bishop O'Connor Performed Solemn Ceremony This Morning—Many Visiting Clergy—Rev. E. J. Devine, S.J., Preached Retreat Sermon.

This morning Mount St. Joseph Chapel was crowded, in spite of the steady downpour of rain, the occasion of the gathering being the ceremony of taking the habit, by eight young ladies, and the perpetual and final vows by six Sisters of the Order of St. Joseph.

The ceremony had a special local significance, because of the fact that many of those who were thus admitted to the Sisterhood were residents of this city and community. A number of the friends of those admitted were in attendance, while a great many persons from outside the city, friends of the young ladies who were not local residents, were also present.

The ceremony took place at nine o'clock in the chapel ,which was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and which presented a very pretty appearance. His Lordship, Bishop O'Connor, performed the solemn and momentous ceremony in connection with admission of the devout young ladies to the Community of St. Joseph ,and the members of the clergy present were Rev. Father Father McColl, Rev. Dr. O'Brien, Rev. Father Galvin, Ven. Arch. Casey, of Lindsay; Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, of Ennismore; Rev. Father Michael McGuire, of Wooler.

The sermon of retreat was preached by Rev. E. J. Divine, S. J., of St. Mary's College, who impressed upon those who were taking their solemn vow, the beauty of character which their actions indicated, and referred to the work which they would be called upon to perform. They would henceforth renounce the world and would devote their lives to work of Christian charity.

The names of the eight young ladies, who took the habit with their name in religion are as follows:—

Miss Bridget Laronde, Pembroke—Sister Mary Eulalia.

Miss Mary Casey, Peterborough—Sister Mary Marcella.

Miss Margaret Nolan, Sault Ste. Marie—Sister Mary Deales.

Miss Mary Gannon, Ennismore — Sister Mary of the Rosary.

Miss Lucy O'Sullivan, St. Chrysostom, Que.—Sister Mary Francisca.

The music which constituted part of the ceremony was given by the members of the Sisters' choir, and was most impressive.

LOST YESTERDAY BUT WON THE ROUND

The Midland Team, Strengthened by Outside Players Defeated Locals by Score of 6-5--The Game Was Not Up to Championship Style--A Good Crowd Accompanied the Boys.

Among the many excursions that helped to depopulate the town yesterday, was one conducted by the Peterborough lacrosse club. A special train with 250 of the members, supporters and friends of the club, left the G. T. R. station about 9.30, and after a quick run drew into the northern town. The crowd was not augmented much by the Lindsay contingent, and the train went on. Near Orillia five cows were inclined to dispute the right of way, and as a result two of them will not give milk any more.

Midland was a sore disappointment to most of the excursionists, who expected to see a really pretty place with parks, lawns and houses on an easy slope and overlooking the bay. For a considerable distance before reaching the station nothing but long lumber piles were to be seen, and finally when the station was reached the scene was not of the prettiest. On one side was the business section, made up of a number of old buildings, and on the other side was the harbour, with the smelting works, with huge piles of ore on the other side.

But the crowd did not trouble themselves much about their surroundings until dinner had been put away and then they sallied out to see the sights. But the sun was hot and the condition of the streets such that they did not wander far, and returned for the chief attraction of the day—the lacrosse match.

Several players from Orillia were brought up to strengthen the home team, and rumours were current at some of the stations on the way up Midland intended to rough it.

The visitors went into the game with a big lead, and probably for that reason did not exert themselves any more than was necessary. The play throughout was fairly even, but the passing and shooting was poor. The visitors' home contented themselves by doing most of their shooting from centre. The defence, too, kept coming out, leaving the goal unprotected and their men uncovered, and in consequence when the home team got in a piece of combination work they got in close to shoot and sometimes found the nets.

Freeman and Rider appeared to be the pick of the Midland dozen. For the visitors Judd was always in the game and worked hard. Crowley got in some of his best speed with the ball and carrying the ball well up the field to feed the home.

Referee Pennock was again in charge of the game, and was a fair official, keeping the game in hand. A number of players were given rests for minor offences, the only serious offence being the assault by Aikins on Crowley.

The crowd at the game was large and orderly, the Peterborough supporters being much in evidence.

From the face-off the ball went to Midland territory, but quickly came back again. Cavanah got the ball on a long shot down, and after a couple of unsuccessful shots, Cavanah bulged the nets on a pass from Best. Midland wakened up, and Rider scored in one minute on a series of passes, and again Heenan scored on two passes from the face-off.

The home bunch were having the better of the play and the ball was kept in Peterborough territory. The Midland home worked in close on a series of short passes, and the defence had their hands full. Morgan intercepted some hot ones and O'Brien cleared quickly. But the Indians got busy and the scene of action was changed, and after a number of attempts, Judd sent one in. Judd made a long run down the field to the home team's nets, but failed to score, and the quarter was up. Score 2-2.

In the second quarter the rubber travelled from one end to the other, and after six minutes Rider sent one in from the side, the ball going through a hole in the net. The visitors had an opportunity to even up soon afterwards, but Ford's shot was a little too high, and the home team's defence, securing the rubber, sent it up, Freeman locating the nets in 31-2 minutes. The play was now more even and the visitors got in some fairly good team work, but when they got in close they seemed to get excited, and their shots went wide. McLaughlin made too free use of his stick and rested for five minutes.

Crowley worked in some of his long runs and his man could not touch him. Freeman's work at this time was good, and the Indians had trouble getting round him. Best got the ball on a scrimmage in front of the goal and sent it in. Score 4-3.

Best secured the ball from the face-off in the third quarter, but the home lost it, and after a few long passes Rider bulged the net in 3 minutes. McCabe and Rider mixed it up and each rested for five minutes.

Judd indulged in some very good playing and kept the play away from the visitors' territory. The rubber travelled all over the field, and the playing at this period was rather loose. Aikins followed Judd and used his stick too freely and went off for five minutes, Cook following for a like period.

Best secured the ball and dribbled it into the nets while the goal tender was absent. Score 5-4.

With a close score the play improved in the last quarter. Crowley and Aikins had some trouble, but the less said about it the better for the credit of Midland lacrosse ethics. At first the play was loose and the passing wild, but soon became faster and better. Midland secured the ball and after some good combination work got in close and kept the defence busy. McCabe intercepted a hot one, made a long run up the field and passed to Cavanah, who scored. With the score tied the play became faster and the ball was travelling quickly, and after some short, quick passing in front of the Peterborough goal, Rider notched the winning goal.

The visitors had the best of the rest of the game and kept the play close in Midland goal, but lost owing to poor shooting. Total score, Midland 6, Peterborough 5.

The following is the score:

1st—Peterborough, 5 minutes.
2nd—Midland, 1 minute.
3rd—Midland, 1-2 minute.
4th—Peterborough, 10 minutes.

T.V.L. PICKED TEAM WAS DEFEATED

In a Poor Exhibition Game by the Score of 7-2.

Two Old Veterans in the Game—Sensational Plays by "General" Tighe.

Saturday's game on Riverside Park was an easy victory for the representative Peterborough team over the combination Norwood-Havelock T. V. L. nines. The visitors arrived by freight at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and were augmented by a couple of local ball tossers.

The game was only a fair exhibition the local players starting right off the bat to fool around instead of putting up some good ball. Quinlan did not pitch anything like his usual style, but it was not necessary as the locals could easily maintain a lead over the visitors, the final score being 7-2.

Two old veterans, "Danny" McCabe, and "General" Tighe all the way from Panama, were very conspicuous on the visitors' line-up. Dan pitched a good game for a man who has reached the Celebration stage, and "General" Tighe's sensational plays were a strong feature of the game. Craig for the locals, distinguished himself at bat, fanning thrice, and going out to catcher on an easy pop fly.

The game was free, but only about a dozen fans availed themselves of the opportunity of seeing a game for nothing. Umpire Smiley was a satisfactory official to both teams. He is the real thing for those who view a game from across the river as his voice sounds like a giant talking through a megaphone.

LACROSSE.

To-night a meeting of the executive of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, will be held in the office of the president, Mr. W. S. Davidson, when it is expected that the action which the club will take in reference to the Midland Lacrosse Club's infraction of the rules yesterday, will be decided.

The three charges which are made are that the team played professionals, that they played them under assumed names, and the specific charge against Aikens of biting W. Crowley, the last one being the most serious of all.

The feeling at present is that the club should push the matter to the limit.

That such disgraceful occurrences as those of yesterday should be allowed is a disgrace to lacrosse and to the town in which they occurred.

HOCKEY.

Another meeting of the directors of the International Hockey League will be held in Calumet, Mich., in a short time, the exact date yet to be determined upon. Plans for next winter are in abeyance pending the decision of the Chicago capitalists regarding a team in that city. It is likely that Manager Bifield, of the White City, Chicago's great pleasure resort, and other parties will erect a $100,000 rink there and put a hockey club in the field next season. It is practically certain that hockey would prove a big winner in Chicago, and, with a rink having a seating capacity of 10,000, success would be insured.

There are a number of cities which would like to enter the league, but until Chicago is heard from no action on their applications will be taken. From present indications the International League will be represented by hockey teams next winter in Calumet, Chicago, Houghton, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Pittsburg and Duluth.

BOWMANVILLE'S ASPIRATIONS.

Bowmanville, Ont., Aug. 12.—In a Midland League game of ball, played here this afternoon, between the home team and Lindsay, the score was 11 to 1 in favour of Bowmanville. In the league standing, Bowmanville heads the list, having won six games, and has only one more to play, with Cobourg, which will be played here.

David Keeney and William Vance of South March were instantly killed by lightning, while Thomas McQuett, who was with them, was badly stunned, but escaped death. The three men were getting to a meeting of public school ratepayers when they sought shelter from the rain in an outbuilding of Mr. McQuett. Keeney and Vance were standing at the front door when the bolt struck, while McQuett, who had just stepped to the rear, had a providential escape.

MET DEATH BY DROWNING

Four Fatal Accidents in the Water Reported.

FATHER'S TERRIBLE TRIAL

Eddie Eller, a Pittsburg Boy, Slipped on Wet Stones When Fishing, But His Father Could Not Rescue Him Although He Plunged Into the Water and Made the Attempt.

Port Carling, Aug 15.—Eddie Eller, 13 years of age, son of Ed. Eller of Pittsburg, Pa., was drowned in Silver Lake, about half a mile from here, at noon yesterday. Mr. Eller himself had a narrow escape. He and his two little boys were fishing on the shore of the lake, and the boy Eddie, in casting his line, slipped on the wet stones and fell in. The father at the risk of his own life, for he could not swim and the water was deep, plunged in after his boy, but could not save him, and had difficulty in getting out himself. The body was recovered in a short time and medical aid was promptly on hand, but though there were hopeful signs all efforts failed to restore breathing. Mr. and Mrs. Eller, who, with their three children, were guests at the Stratton House, left last night for Pittsburg with the body.

MET WATERY GRAVES.

Every Man On Board the Garland Was Drowned.

Sydney, N. S., Aug. 15—In a terrific squall which swept Cape Breton coast yesterday the schooner Garland was upset about three miles off Lingan Head and every one of her crew of possibly four or five men met watery graves.

When the first news of the disaster reached Sydney the Dominion Coal Company's steamer Cacouna was despatched to the scene. After steaming about twenty miles from Sydney the Cacouna encountered the upturned vessel about three miles off Glace Bay, or nearly five miles east of where the upset occurred. There was no sign of life on board.

BAIT ACT ON TRIAL.

Gloucester Fishing Vessels in Newfoundland Harbors to Take Bait.

St. John's Nfld., Aug. 15.—Three Gloucester fishing vessels, with appliances for getting their own bait, have entered western harbors, where American fishermen enjoy fishery rights under the treaty of 1818, and have announced their intention to take supplies of bait. The customs collectors have telegraphed the Government for instructions whether or not to allow this, Premier Bond having said last winter that the Government's interpretation of the treaty rights applicable to coasts were inapplicable to harbors or inlets. The Ministry is now considering the matter.

Tries to Wreck a Train.

Fort William, Aug. 15.—One of the most dastardly attempts to wreck a train in the history of the Canadian Pacific was made between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock Sunday night, when a person as yet unknown placed an iron bar across both rails of the C. P. R. main line, about one mile from Fort William station. That the fast freight was not wrecked is due to the accidental discovery of the obstruction by a police officer.

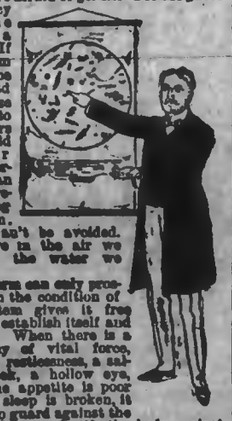
Many people are afraid of ghosts. Few people are afraid of germs. Yet the ghost is a fancy and the germ is a fact. If the germ could be magnified to a size equal to its terrors it would appear more terrible than any fire-breathing dragon.



Germs can't be avoided. They are in the air we breathe, the water we drink.

The germ can only prosper when the condition of the system gives it free scope to establish itself and develop. When there is a deficiency of vital force, languor, restlessness, a sallow cheek, a hollow eye, when the appetite is poor and the sleep is broken, it is time to guard against the germ. You can fortify the body against all germs by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It increases the vital power, cleanses the system of clogging impurities, enriches the blood, puts the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition in working condition, so that the germ finds no weak or tainted spot in which to breed. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whisky or other intoxicant.

"Your 'Golden Medical Discovery' is a sick man's friend," writes Geo. N. Turner, Esq., (Ex. Financial Secretary International Brotherhood of Teamsters), 2338 California Street, Denver, Colo. "For the past seven years my health gradually failed. I lost my appetite, became nervous and debilitated, very despondent and unable to sleep. No medicine helped me until I tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It put new life into my veins and increased vitality until I could once more enjoy life and attend to my business. Eight bottles effected a complete cure and gladly do I recommend it."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets—only one or two a day will regulate and cleanse and invigorate a foul, bad Stomach, torpid Liver, or sluggish Bowels.

A LANDSLIDE IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

Twenty Indians Killed and Twenty-Seven Badly Injured Near Spence's Bridge, B.C.—Details of the Great Convulsion, the Worst Since the Great Slide at Frank, Alberta, Three Years Ago—Indian Village Covered With Forty Feet of Rock and Trees.

Vancouver, Aug. 15.—Twenty Indians were killed and as many more frightfully injured Sunday afternoon in a landslide which occurred about 100 miles from Vancouver. The top of a mountain came down in an avalanche more than 2,000 feet wide and wiped out a native village.

The catastrophe occurred within half a mile from the Town of Spence's Bridge, on the line of the C. P. R. The slide was on the opposite side of Thompson River from the railway track and the point where it occurred was plainly visible from the car windows. The Indian village nestled on a little flat at the foot of the mountains.

Just after 3 o'clock there was a rumble from the mountain side and 3 minutes later it was all over.

Great rocks and trees were carried down and overwhelmed tiny houses.

A few of the natives ran down along the river when the slide was approaching, but not more than seven or eight got away. Others were caught at the extreme edges and got off with comparatively slight bruises.

Half an hour after the catastrophe occurred a relief party arrived on the scene from Spence's Bridge.

The main covered the centre of the village with 40 feet of rock and trees. No attempt was made to remove this, as the work will take days and all buried there are undoubtedly dead.

A dozen men and women with broken arms and legs were found in a brief search made of the outer edge of the slide and these have been taken to the hospital at Spence's Bridge.

The disaster is the worst since the great slide at Frank, Alberta, three years ago.

Twenty-Seven Injured.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 15.—A serious landslide is reported from Spence's Bridge, a small village on the C. P. R. Twenty-seven were killed or injured by the disaster. Relief parties are at work.

The Thompson River is filled by the debris and has flooded the C. P. R. tracks.

Manslaughter Is Charged.

Toronto, Aug. 15.—George Pullman, who boarded at 17 Lewis street, was arrested yesterday by P. C. Guthrie on a charge of manslaughter: "that he did slay and kill and cause the death of Thomas Mahoney." It was on the eleventh of March that Mahoney was found lying in a lane running off Lewis street by P. C. Ward. He died without regaining consciousness, and all he said was, "They have killed me this time." An inquest was held by Coroner Young. The jury brought in a verdict that death was due to pneumonia. The arrest of Pullman is the outcome of a lot of gossip amongst the neighbors. Four youngsters, aged about 10 years, claim that before Mahoney went into Ryan's house he was in the house of Mike O'Brien, 17 Lewis street, where Pullman boarded. They claim they heard a fight going on and looked through the windows and saw Pullman and another man beating and kicking Mahoney, and they claim that he cried for help. Pullman's partner, who is supposed to have been implicated in the assault, left town, and is now in the United States.

THOUSANDS OF CITIZENS
LEFT TOWN YESTERDAY TO SPEND CIVIC HOLIDAY

The Citizens' Day of 1905 Saw the Greatest Exodus in History of Peterborough--2000 Persons Went by G. T. R. Excursions--Jackson Park Was Popular With People of This City--Beautiful Weather Favoured the Excursionists--Many Went to Stony Lake for the Regatta.

PASSENGER TRAFFIC

Carried by G. T. R. Excursion	2000
To Jackson Park by Street Railway	2500
At Otonabee River points	600
At Stony Lake	1000
	6100

Yesterday, Civic Holiday, saw the usual number of excursions out of the city, and all that were held were reported as having been successful. On Civic Holiday, the great majority of those who are in a position to enjoy the day outside their home town, take advantage of some of the numerous excursions, and spend the day in one of the various enjoyable ways provided.

The usual exodus took place yesterday, and the town presented a very deserted appearance during the middle of the day.

There were fewer excursions out of town this year than there were on Civic Holiday, 1904, but they were all well patronized, and the prospects are that, although official figures are lacking, there were fully as many people away from home as on last year's holiday.

The day, as far as the weather was concerned was perfect, a marked contrast to the climatic conditions of to-day, and by reason of this fact, nearly everyone felt that it was incumbent upon them to leave the city.

The G.T.R. station yesterday morning presented a very busy scene indeed and from 6.30 until 9 o'clock, trains were leaving in all directions every few minutes.

It is estimated at the station that the number of persons who left the city by that line yesterday was in the neighbourhood of 2,000, which is in about the same number as those on Civic Holiday, 1904. The arrangements for handling the trains were good, and there was little or no confusion. All the trains got away well on time, and there were no complaints made on that score. All the excursions which left town by rail took this line.

In addition to those who went out of the city by the railway there were two large and successful trips down the Otonabee, while a great many drove to Chemong from where an excursion was run to Stony Lake for the regatta.

The street railway did a big business yesterday and Jackson Park, of course, was the popular objective point. Fully 2,500 passengers were on the cars yesterday, the majority going to the park.

Stony Lake attracted a great many persons yesterday and on Saturday night the train to Lakefield and the steamers to Stony Lake were crowded. A number returned last night, and the rest came down this morning.

Both railways sold 'special' excursion tickets, good going on Saturday and yesterday, at 'single fare' for the return trip, and a great many left the city Saturday, to return yesterday and to-day.

Taken altogether the holiday was much enjoyed by the citizens as a whole, and to-day they are back at work, refreshed for the day spent in a relaxation from business cares.

SEVERE ELECTRICAL STORM CAUSED DISTURBANCES SATURDAY

Springville Visited by the Most Severe Storm of the Year--Mr. Alex. Campbell Had a Very Narrow Escape From Death--Stable in Which He Stood Was Struck --Grain and Hay Burned in the Field--A Cow Met Death--Other Springville News.

On Saturday afternoon Springville and vicinity were assailed with a severe electrical storm accompanied by a downpour of rain. The storm centre seemed to be half a mile south of the village, going from west to east. The play of lightning was incessant, and considerable damage, fortunately of a minor character, was done. In a wheat field of Mr. Fred Clarke, Cavan, a number of shocks of wheat were struck by lightning and burned. In a hay field of Mr. D. Smith, Cavan, a quantity of hay was burned.

The stables of Mr. Alex. Campbell, North Monaghan, was the scene of a very narrow escape of the latter and his hired man. They had taken shelter in the stable from the storm and decided to make a rush for the house through the rain. They did so, and it is to this fact they owe their lives. They had hardly reached the house, when the part of the stable where they had been standing was shattered by a lightning bolt, which very fortunately did not fire the building. But a pair of horses that were in the stable were temporarily struck, and for a time made things lively, adding by their frantic plungings and rearings to the confusion created by the storm. Mr. R. Monoruf, of Cavan, had a cow killed in the field, and there were many minor happenings, many trees having been struck by the lightning and shattered.

Mr. M. Wickens, of the Brantford Institute for the Blind, is visiting friends in Springville.

What Are Piles or Hemorrhoids

From Which So Many People Suffer and Know Not How to Obtain Relief and Cure.

Piles or hemorrids are small tumors which form in and about the orifice of the rectum, and because of the itching, stinging sensations produced they cause the keenest suffering imaginable.

Piles are spoken of as itching, bleeding or protruding, according to which symptom is most noticeable, but every form of piles is accompanied by feelings of misery and uneasiness, which can scarcely be described.

As a cure for piles Dr. Chase's Ointment stands alone. It is positively guaranteed to give satisfactory results, and is backed by thousands of the most reliable people in the land as the only actual cure for this distressing disease.

Do not think of submitting to the suffering, expense and risk of a surgical operation or wating time in experimenting with untried remedies, when this tried and proven ointment is at hand to relieve and cure you. Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cts. at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto.

Canada's Opportunities.

At this particular time Canada could step in and supply the South African consumer with apples, which would meet with a ready demand, writes Mr. Charles M. Kittson to the trade and commerce department of Canada. Large red varieties are most favoured. They should be shipped in boxes containing about one-third of a barrel each. During the months of October, November and December the locally grown fruit is out of season, as is also Australian fruit, which country usually ships large quantities of apples and other fruits to South Africa.

Test the Kidneys.

Allow the urine to stand in a glass vessel for twenty-four hours, and if at the end of that it is clouded or has left a sediment in the bottom of the vessel you may be sure that your kidneys are diseased. As a means of invigorating the action of the kidneys and making them strong and healthy, there is no preparation so prompt and none so thorough as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Fatal Shooting.

The first fatal case of shooting in the Adirondacks for this year occurred yesterday near Prospect. Vincenzo, Alias, an Italian boy 15 years old, working with his father on a pipe line, was struck by a bullet in the abdomen. He was taken to Utica, N.Y., for an operation and died this morning. The bullet was from a rifle, and was fired by a hunter who has not been seen.

CITY CANNOT HAVE COMPETITION IN THE STREET LIGHTING CONTRACTS

A Situation in Which the Council Finds Itself Which Places it in an Awkward Position—Chamberlin Street May Have to Go Without Lights Because Peterborough Light and Power Company Will Not Supply Incandescent Lights and the Council Cannot Accept Offer of Otonabee Company to Supply the Lights.

The city appears to be in somewhat of a dilemma in reference to its street lighting, and the worst feature of the situation is that there does not seem to be any satisfactory remedy.

The facts in connection with it are these: It was decided, after making an investigation of the conditions, that three incandescent lights should be placed on Chamberlen street. A request was made to the Peterborough Light and Power Company to place these lights, and a reply was received to the effect that this request could not be granted because of the fact that the company had no incandescent lines running near the points at which the lights were desired. The letter recommended, however, that an arc light be placed there.

The committee did not favour this, though, and in the meantime the Otonabee Power Company wrote the city offering the contract to supply incandescent lamps at $10 per year each, which figure is $2 per year less than the present price charged by the Peterborough Company. They would be willing to place lamps at the places referred to, and the Fire, Water and Light Committee recommended to the Council that a contract be entered into with them.

But a snag was encountered here again. It appears that the city engineer foresaw troubles in this, and advised them to make haste slowly. What he feared was that in case the city ever wished to go into municipal lighting they would have to purchase the plant and equipment of the two companies, in the event of entering into a contract with them both to supply light for the street, because in a special bill respecting municipal lighting in Peterborough the provision is made that the Council shall, before debentures are issued to pay for any municipal plant, purchase any company's equipment, which shall at any time have done street lighting and he was of the opinion that while the Otonabee Company was willing to embody in their agreement a clause which would not bind the city to do this, this agreement would not override the act, and the situation now is that no matter how badly the Council may wish to have competition in street lighting, it will be impracticable to have it for this reason.

At last night's meeting of the Council Ald. Crowe moved that an agreement be entered into with the Otonabee Power Company to furnish incandescent lighting for such streets of the city as may be desired at $10 per light per year. In view of the position taken by the solicitor, however, Ald. Crowe withdrew the motion; and the motion will stand in abeyance in the meantime until the city solicitor shall have had an opportunity of conferring with Mr. R. R. Hall, of the Otonabee Power Company, in reference to the matter.

Those present at the meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee last night were: Ald. Johnston, Chairman; Ald. McIntyre, Hall and Crowe, and Mayor Best.

An account of $14 from the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Company for taking off the top of the old fire engine and removing some tubes was considered, and will be paid.

CONTRACT PRACTICE IS VERY STRONGLY CONDEMNED

In a recent issue of the American Medicine Magazine, Prof. P. Maxwell Foshay, M.D., of the Rush College, of Chicago, contributes an article on "The Ideals of the Medical Profession," speaking with reference to the contract practice, says: "Don't go into 'contract practice,' giving your services cheaply to some corporation, lodge, or group of families. In preference, work for small but direct fees until you can command larger ones. Contract practice not alone demoralizes the profession as a whole, but it puts a personal blight upon the personal career of him who yields to its seductions. Whoever succumbs to this temptation lives to regret it bitterly."

This advice is given to the young men who are just starting out in their practice of the profession, and will have some special interest locally in view of the discussion which has taken place on this question.

RATEPAYERS WILL VOTE ON FIRE ENGINE PURCHASE AT MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS

At Least That is the Proposal Now Made—Belief That People Will Vote in Favor of the Improvements to the Equipment if Allowed Another Chance—Division of Opinion Among the Aldermen as to the Best Course to Pursue—The Committee Will Go to Brantford and London, However, to Inspect the Engines—Matters Considered at Last Night's Meeting.

There is very little prospect that the city's fire-fighting equipment will be augmented by a steam fire engine, at any rate for some time. A few weeks ago the apparent unanimous opinion of the aldermen was that an engine should be purchased at once, but some of them have changed their minds again, and now it appears they are not sure that it would be the wisest course to pursue to buy a new engine without first giving the people some say in the matter, and the opinion seems to prevail among the aldermen that the best thing to do now is to submit again at the next municipal election the bylaw which was defeated in May, and which provided for the erection of a new fire hall, purchase of an engine, and other apparatus. It is believed that if this bylaw were submitted at the time of the election the result might be different. This course is one which some of the aldermen favoured, but there are two other sets of opinions held by the members, some professing to believe that there is no necessity for the purchase of a steam fire engine at all, and they cite the case of Brantford, which does not, it appears, possess an engine at all, but borrows one from the Watrous Company if they need one in case of emergency.

The third division of the council comprises those who are of the opinion that the city should buy an engine at once. They point out that if the fire underwriters demand it in order to place the city in a certain class in regard to insurance rates, the council has no alternative but to get the engine.

The Mayor also states his opinion that the city should, even if the underwriters did not demand it, purchase an engine, for its own protection, but the difficulty he foresees is in regard to the payment of the machine. He does not see where the money is to come from.

At any rate the probabilities are that the committee appointed by the council will go to Brantford and London next week and inspect the engines made there, so that when an engine is bought they will be in a position to advise which is the most desirable to buy.

KNIGHTS ENJOY STONY LAKE TRIP

About 100 Members and Friends Left This Morning by Train for Lakefield.

The clear, cool air with the bright sunshine makes this an ideal day for a picnic, and those who accompanied the Knights of Columbus on their excursion will find everything almost perfect for an enjoyable outing.

The Knights and their friends to the number of one hundred left the G.T.R. station at 8.30 this morning in special coaches attached to the regular train for Lakefield. On their arrival at the northern town they boarded the steamer Stony Lake and went for a trip through the beautiful lake of that name.

The party touched at several islands on the trip and had dinner at McCracken's Landing.

THE VEGETABLE GROWERS UNITE

An Association of Ontario Vegetable Growers.

Branch Organizations Will be Formed in Various Cities and Towns.

The officers of the recently formed Ontario Vegetable Growers' Association purpose organizing branches of the Association in connection with the leading cities and towns of the province with the object of forming branch associations. These organizers will be members of the Association, who are leading market gardeners in the vicinity of Toronto and Hamilton.

The Association will receive a Government grant this year of $800. It purposes using this money to hold a large convention for vegetable growers at the time of the Horticultural Exhibition in Toronto next November, and also offering prizes for a large vegetable exhibit at this show. The prize list for the show has been already completed.

The constitution of the Association provides for the formation of branch associations. The vegetable growers in the vicinity of any town or city may organize a branch association for which the membership fee is $1. The presidents of these branch associations become directors of the Provincial Association, have their expenses paid while attending meetings of the executive. The branch associations are expected to pay the Provincial Association 40 cents for each of their members, which makes all members of the local Association members of the Provincial Association.

The Provincial Association sends all its members copies of the annual report of the convention, a monthly magazine, which is the official organ of the association, and other printed matter. Vegetable growers who would like to see one of these branch associations formed in their vicinity are invited to write to H. B. Cowan, Department of Agriculture, Toronto, who is secretary of the Ontario Vegetable Growers' Association.

The Canadian National Exhibition.

Will be held in Toronto, August 28th to September 9th. See Grand Trunk advertisement for special rates.

Really cool outing trousers are of homespun

Flannel used to be correct for outing wear. Now homespun is the proper material. It certainly is an improvement.

Flannel is a close fabric whereas homespun is porous, light and retains its shape—looks better for a longer time.

We are making a line of very stylish summer trousers from our celebrated "Blunoz" and "Kilalo" homespuns. They are light, cool, stylish in cut and well made. We would like to have you drop in and see them.

COUNTY SHOULD PAY AS MUCH AS THIS CITY

A meeting of the Committee of the Whole will be held in the course of a few days and at that meeting the question of what inducements the city will be prepared to offer to the Eastern Dairyman's Association to hold their next meeting in this city. A committee of local dairymen will meet the council at this meeting, where the matter will be discussed. Mayor Best is of the opinion that the council should do something to secure the convention for Peterborough as the dairy industry is a most important one, and should be encouraged. He believes that the county should put up dollar for dollar with the city for the fund to secure the convention and to help pay the expenses, but no figures was mentioned as to which they should measure.

WORST STORM OF THE SEASON AT STONY LAKE

Yesterday's Was the Most Severe—Interfered With Dance at Juniper—Eko Camp Returns to Town—Should Have a "Caddy"—Musicale at Victoria House—Many Personal Notes of Interest From the Lake—Coming Events of Interest.

The storm which reigned supreme upon Stony Lake yesterday destroyed all prospects for a dance last night at Juniper Island. The storm was the heaviest of the season.

Musicale and Dance.

The members of Eko Camp who have enjoyed a delightful outing in camp at McCracken's Landing, left to-day for home. Some members of the party may return. A number of members of the Camp on Monday morning became deeply engrossed in baseball. An American visitor who stood for some time watching an exhibition of throwing and catching, remarked that a "caddy" was an immediate necessity for the bunch.

Eko Camp Departs.

A musicale and dance was held at Victoria House last night, when the guests were treated to a most enjoyable time.

Among those who contributed to the musical part of the affair were, Miss Loomis, of Pittsburg; The Misses Smith, Mr. Kerr, Toronto, and Dr. Barnes, Cleveland. The dance which followed was of an informal nature and was greatly enjoyed. Among those present were, Dr. and Mrs. Barnes and Miss Barnes, Cleveland, O.; Mrs. F. W. Sterling, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Smith and the Misses Smith, Cleveland; Miss Millar, Toronto; Miss Simon, Cleveland; Miss Loomis, Pittsburg; Mr. B. Harris, Cleveland; Mr. W. J. Walker, Toronto; Miss E. M. Dodds, Washington, Pa.; Miss K. Williams, Moundsville, W. Va., and Mr. F. G. Stanley and Mr. J. F. Kerr, Toronto.

Miss Loomis, of Pittsburg, who has been stopping at Burleigh Falls, returned home to-day.

Mr. J. A. and Miss Amos, of New York, have returned home, much pleased with their vacation at Stony Lake.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, of Peterborough, came up to Stony Lake yesterday.

Mr. D. W. Dumble returned home yesterday from his cottage, Baily-Bagit.

Miss Marguerite Sandersod, nine-year-old daughter of Mrs. W. A. Sanderson, hooked a 12-pound 'lunge recently which was successfully landed with the assistance of her sister, Genevieve.

Dr. I. L. Strodes and party of Carnegie, Pa., are spending a three weeks' fishing expedition at Stony Lake, with headquarters at Burleigh Falls.

Mr. Smith, of Cleveland, is a guest at the Victoria House, McCracken's Landing.

Mr. W. Martin and H. Engler, of Peterborough, who have been camping at McCracken's Landing, went home yesterday.

Mr. Morris Lowry and Mr. Gordon Cox received a duckling in the lake on Monday, being upset from their boat.

A tea meeting will be held this afternoon at St. George's church, near McCracken's Landing. Tea will be served from 5 till 8 p.m., followed by a concert.

Mr. Yownlock, of Toronto, returned home yesterday.

Mr. McCarthy, of Toronto, has his paraphernalia all packed to return to his home yesterday but on account of the storm the boat could not effect a landing at his island. Mr. McCarthy treated the matter philosophically and decided to remain another week at the lake.

Mr. Ronald McKee has been spending a few days at Glenwood.

7700 Wives Abandoned.

According to a statement made yesterday by Joseph Pool, the veteran City Magistrate, more than 7,700 women are abandoned in New York by their husbands in the course of a year. "There is no way of telling the exact number from the court records," said Magistrate Pool, "because the husbands are brought before us often on a charge other than that of abandonment—for disorderly conduct, for instance. Then at the hearing the real charge is disclosed by the evidence." "What is the chief cause of abandonment?" the Magistrate was asked. "Intoxication I should say from my experience in the different police courts. BANNER YEAR FOR ONTARIO'S CROPS

Ontario Government Makes a Very Favorable Report--Fall Wheat Has a Big Yield—Oats Classed as the Finest Crop in Years --Over the Average and Barley is Also in This Category--Pea Weavil Has Been Abolished--Fruit Crop Rather Light--The August Bulletin.

Toronto, Aug. 16.—The best fall wheat crop in Ontario for years is indicated in the August crop bulletin of the Department of Agriculture and which deals very thoroughly with the conditions as they were at about the first of the month. The harvesting of the fall wheat crop was begun rather later than usual in most sections, but the weather was favorable for cutting, and with the improved machinery now in use many had completed the work, and some had even threshed, before August 1. There was slight rust in some localities.

Comparatively little spring wheat is now grown in the western half of the Province, and in the eastern half the crop appears to be also decreasing in popularity. The crop is being described as being full in the head, with good straw, and promises more than an average yield. Odd mention only is made of rust.

Barley Over the Average.

Barley, like the other cereals, will go considerably over the average in yield per acre. The condition of the crop is variable, some correspondents speaking of much injury from rain and lodging, while others describe it as being first-class both in point of yield and quality. Several correspondents speak of barley and oats being sown together as a popular feed mixture.

Oats in a few localities had been cut at the beginning of August. The yield promises to be one of the largest, both as regards average and total yields, several correspondents classing it as the finest crop in years. High lands gave magnificent yields, but in low places it suffered considerably from the wet. The straw is described as being long, bright and stiff, and the heads as being well filled, although in some places lodging is complained of. Rust was reported in a few instances, and two or three correspondents spoke of the presence of wire-worm.

During the last four or five years the acreage of peas in this Province has shrunk by about one-half, owing to the ravages of the pea weevil, or, as it is popularly called, the "bug." This season happily, the pest is mentioned only to tell of its absence. The crop has been injured more or less by rain; nevertheless the yield per acre will run over an average.

Where grown as a field crop beans give promise of a large yield per acre, notwithstanding damage from heavy rains at the time of planting.

The season has been a remarkable one for hay and clover, cutting ranging all the way from the last week of June to the end of July. In fact, on August 1 there was some hay yet to mow in various localities, fall wheat and other cereals having ripened before the heavily covered meadows could be cleared, and there being also a scarcity of labor. The average yield for the Province will be among the best on record, although the big yields are chiefly in the western and central counties. In the opinion of most correspondents, timothy did relatively better than clover.

Poor Yield of Apples.

All varieties of berries have yielded well, and grapes also promise well. Apples will be poor in point of yield, but the quality will be rather above the average. In many sections there will be barely enough for local consumption. Peaches have done better, and may be classed as from fair to good. Some correspondents report good yields of plums, while others claim an almost complete failure. The common red cherry did well, but other varieties were a disappointment. The reports regarding pears, as in the case of plums, vary much, but they have done better than apples. Correspondents account for the rather poor orchard crops, first, from lack of pollenization, owing to the wet and cold weather prevailing during the blossoming period, and, secondly, on account of many trees failing to fully recover from the effects of the severity of the last two winters.

Reports are practically unanimous as to the favorable condition of pastures, several correspondents declaring that summer pastures were never better. Live stock of all classes were doing well. There was a remarkably steady supply of milk during the season. Immense quantities of both butter and cheese have been made, but very little of either article remains in the hands of manufacturers. The prospects are good for fall pastures, and there will also be an abundance of hay, roots, corn and other fodder for fall and winter requirements.

While there is a great diversity in the reports concerning the conditions of corn, the general tone may be considered favorable.

Scarcity of Labor.

There was more or less of a scarcity of farm labor all over the Province, notwithstanding that the situation had been considerably relieved by the presence of fresh immigrants from Great Britain. Farmers are utilizing improved machinery and newer methods more and more in order to get along with less manual aid. Skilled farm laborers receive from $30 to $40 a month and from $1.50 to $2 a day during harvesting, but inexperienced men get as low as half these wages.

Tobacco and Potatoes.

The growing of tobacco is confined mainly to Essex and Kent in the west, and to one or two counties in the east along the St. Lawrence. Although the plant suffered considerably from wet weather early in the season, it made good recovery, and its general condition was classed as good.

A large yield of potatoes is promised, and of good quality. Some of the seed rotted on low land, owing to the wet weather just after planting, but comparatively few correspondents anticipate rot in the new crop. The bug, as usual, was present in large numbers, and in some cases an extra dose of paris green had to be applied. Bordeaux mixture for potato blight appears to be coming into favor with Ontario farmers.

Fields Ready to Harvest.

Winnipeg, Aug. 16.—Fair, warm weather, with the thermometer as high as 88 at Regina, is bringing on wheat faster even than was expected, and if this continues the arrival of the first excursion on Tuesday next will be none too soon. Wheat cutting started in various parts of Manitoba yesterday on high-set farms, and reports to hand fully bear out forecasts of a remarkably heavy crop.

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

Editor of Post Card Column:

Some time ago I thought I saw in the Examiner an article defining the narrow path of the police force; relative to their duties and conduct on the street. This is a thing of the past; at least as far as one of the members of the force is concerned. He thinks nothing of talking for from thirty to forty minutes to a passer by, leaning up against some store or telephone post. A fine example for one who should know better. Is this what the city pays him for? If he would look after the G.T.R. and C.P.R. and prevent them from blocking the crossings longer than the time specified by law, he would not have time for lounging and would earn at least some of his salary.

ROBINS.

POST CARD

Dea M. Editor—I notice in the papers that the Police Magistrate, Toronto, is making a crusade against the persons who use profane language on the streets. There's a good chance for such a crusade here. I am often shocked by hearing blood curdling profanity passed between persons conversing on the streets and in loud enough tones too. It is often done in cool blood, too. Deliberate, senseless profanity. One can sympathise, —or rather excuse a little out-burst of strong language under strong provocation—for instance, a milliner's bill or the blow of a hammer on the thumb, but profane language perfectly gratuitous is a sin and a shame. Let the police and the magistrate get busy.

Yours truly,

MADAM.

Editor of the Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I saw in your columns some time ago how a stranger had remarked that Peterborough was becoming defiled, and also others saying the same thing. Now what is the cause of this, with a professing intelligent people? They say it is a dirty bird that won't keep its own nest clean. Are we getting too many wild birds?

Wound May Prove Fatal.

Amherstburg, Aug. 16.—The condition of Mrs. Horton, who was shot by her husband Saturday night, is not so favorable. One bullet struck her under the arm, the other went to her abdomen. The latter is causing trouble. Her father, John Lovegrove, will recover.

Norway's Unanimous Vote.

Christiania, Norway, Aug. 16.—Returns of the national referendum on the Dissolution of the Union show that out of 321,358 votes cast only 161 were given against the dissolution. The Storthing has been summoned to meet on August 21.

Repairing the Erin.

Detroit, Aug. 16.—The work of repairing the Canadian steamer Erin began yesterday. Her engine room was in a disordered condition as a result of the cracking of the cylinder last week, when Second Engineer Caldwell was killed.

A GOOD COMPLEXION.

What the Famous "Beauty Doctors" Say To Do.

What woman does not crave a good complexion? And what woman, whose clear, soft, delicately hued skin is the envy of all her friends, does not regard it as her dearest possession? It is very easy to have faultless skin—but it takes time and some patience. Out-door exercise, regular bathing, washing only in tepid water, regular hours for sleep and meals, will assist materially. Blood poisoning from constipation is the great cause of a bad complexion. There is only one thing which will effectually cure constipation, and that is fruit. Ripe fruit purifies the blood by acting on the skin, kidneys and liver. It causes the bowels to move, cures constipation and beautifies the complexion. An Ottawa physician has discovered a method of combining and concentrating the juices of oranges, apples, prunes and figs, and forcing in an additional atom of bitter from the orange peels—which thus makes a stronger fruit. It makes a new fruit with the fruit action intensified. The laxative fruit extract is combined with tonics and then condensed into tablets and sold under the name of "Fruit-a-tives" or "Fruit Liver Tablets." These little tablets are pleasant to take, have the mild fruit action, and will cure Constipation, Headaches, Liver and Kidney Diseases and all blood impurities. Get the genuine "Fruit-a-tives." Nothing else is "just as good," because "Fruit-a-tives" are the only tablets made of pure, fruit juices. For sale at all Druggists, 50c. a box, 6 boxes for $2.50 or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

Of Lexington, Ky., says:
"Peruna is an Excellent Medicine."

J. H. HIPPLEGATE.

J. H. Hipplegate, Supt. of Public Works, 61 West 6th St., Lexington, Ky., writes:

"I find that Peruna is an excellent medicine especially for catarrhal affections and all diseases leading to consumption, bronchial troubles or stomach troubles. It also acts as a preventative and keeps the system in a healthy condition so that it easily throws off disease. It is an excellent tonic and a great appetiser and as a large number of those who have been using it speak very highly of its curative powers, I am satisfied that my opinion of it is correct, and that it is deserving of high praise."
—J. H. Hipplegate.

Peruna is the remedy for catarrh. Almost everybody knows that by hearsay and thousands know it by experience.

Catarrh in its various forms is rapidly becoming a national curse. An undoubted remedy has been discovered by Dr. Hartman. This remedy has been thoroughly tested during the past forty years. Peruna cures catarrh in all phases and stages. There is no remedy that can be substituted.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

SUDDEN DEATH NEAR OMEMEE

Mr. Rea Was 71 Years of Age and a Respected Resident.

Presbyterian Church to be Repaired—Other Late News From Omemee.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Omemee, August 15.—Owing to such a busy time of the year a very few visited Norris & Rowes Circus, Lindsay. Those who went report favourably.

The heavy rains to-day are quite discouraging to the farmers as the bulk of grain was sawed on Monday.

The sudden death of Wm. Rea, Ops, aged 71 years, three miles west of here, cast a gloom over our village. He was a successful and respected farmer. His illness was only short being taken down on Saturday night from a severe attack of inflammation

Our churches were largely attended last Sunday, there being a number of holiday visitors here.

Rev. George Warren of Lakefield, will conduct the service in the Anglican church here next Sunday evening at 7.00 p. m.

The Presbyterian church is to undergo several repairs and the opening will be held sometime in the ensuing October.

Reports from former residents now living near Brandon district are very hopeful of a large and abundant harvest and much help required. A number of our young men will go.

Recent discoveries disclose the fact that Peterborough had their first cricket match back as far as the fifties, against an Omemee eleven. We also have living here the first bandmaster who organized the first band in Peterborough, viz., Wm. Sherwood. He is 83 years of age and can play any band instrument yet.

ALL SHOULD KNOW HOW TO SWIM

Mr. H. F. Strickland Writes an Article on Swimming Art.

Declares That Beaches are Not Ideal Place for Bathing—Advice to Swimmers.

Mr. H. F. Strickland, who recently has attained considerable notoriety by reason of his swimming feats, writing to the Toronto Sunday World on the subject of swimming, says:—

Of all the sports there is nothing that is so useful and necessary as the art of swimming. There are many sports which have seized the popular mind more favourably, but only for the reason that swimming can only be indulged in for a short season and only where favourable bathing places can be found. Referring to the beaches of this city as being ideal for bathing, such is not the case. This to non-bathers may seem odd, but as a matter of fact, the bathing on the beaches of Toronto is a sad delusion. As regularly as our hot weather sets in each summer the water in the lake is so cold that it is simply beyond human endurance to more than plunge in and get out as quickly as you can. I have been in Lake Ontario during every month in the year, and, ridiculous as it may sound, I can assure my readers that I have enjoyed a swim in Lake Ontario more on the 4th of January than lots of times in June, July and August.

The rapid changes of temperature in the lake are not generally understood, and while we are on the subject it might not be amiss to inform would-be bathers the reason, so that they can generally depend upon the water before going a long way on a sweltering day only to reach the lake and find "water, water everywhere, but none in which to swim." Invariably when the wind has been blowing off the shore for only half a day the water will be cold, because all the surface, or shore, water is blown out and the cold under stratum is consequently brought up to the shore. A strong west wind is also unfavourable. And wind from the south-west, south-east, or east is warm and the east and south-east winds are more. This fact is most discouraging to bathing and until Toronto can see fit to build a bang up good swimming bath like nearly every city in England now has, the sport will not be popular. England as a result has nearly always led in all world's records and there are not only men in it, but many celebrated lady swimmers. I should like to have the honour of designing the Toronto bath and live to see it built.

Students Must Swim.

I understand that a law has been enacted in the State of Pennsylvania to the effect, that no degrees are conferred at universities till the student can swim. There are many and complicated points regarding the magnificent art of swimming that I should like to go into, but it would require a book to intelligently illustrate them, so I will touch only on some. To ladies the great bogie is the weight of clothes which pruderishness has decreed they shall wear. I can assure you that if we male members of the race were compelled to wrap our forms in the skirts, stockings, ties, boots, hats and yes, even corsets, that our dear sisters are slaves to, we would soon get tired of the sport. It is quite out of the question for a woman to learn to swim in such toggery. The chances of learning to swim after childhood are bad enough, but most decidedly so with a ton of wet rags around one. Children are discouraged from swimming by the tearful and faggety mother, or grandmother, who always has the pointed finger and wagging head ready to point out the terrors of the deep and instil into the child a morbid fear of the water. They hear of the "weakening" and the many bogie ills until they turn to other forms of amusement. Personally I do not believe in the exaggerated evils of weakening from bathing. I have had my daughters, now 9 and 11 years of age, in the lake from April till November, and have known them to be in and out of the lake all day, and their bathing suits dry on them several times and have never seen one suggestion of harm as a result.

I believe one's diet is largely responsible for effects from and in the water. This leads me up to the great "drowning mysteries," and when all other reasons fail it is always the stereotyped cause "Took a cramp and sank," and often the addendum "was an excellent swimmer." In ninety-nine cases out of every hundred where bathers take a cramp they drown from "suggestion."

If every newspaper on earth were were to educate every man up from childhood that a certain thing was so, it would be very hard to persuade them to the contrary. To those who get cramps let me say a few words, if acted on, will no doubt save some lives. First of all, bear in mind that a cramp is not as dangerous as reputed. Your mind is impressed so strongly from hearsay that when you get a cramp you are as good as dead, and simply die of fear and panic. The commonest place to take a cramp is in the calf of the leg in the muscle known as gastrocnemius. We have nearly all experienced this at some time of our life when jumping into bed between cold sheets. Yes, it hurts, I will not dispute that fact. If ever you become subject to this cramp do not attempt to remain swimming. Turn on your back and with your arms you can easily swim, and rub the calf of the leg vigorously against the knee of the other leg, and alternate to the other calf and the other knee. Don't despair, you are a dead man. If a boat is near, call for help if you like, but keep on your back. I have had a cramp in both legs at once and have practised this idea and am confident that it will be found a sure means of saving many a life. Don't lose your head. If you strike weeds do not throw up your hands and waste all your good wind, but swim as rapidly as you can and by so doing your legs are brought nearer the surface and away from the weeds.

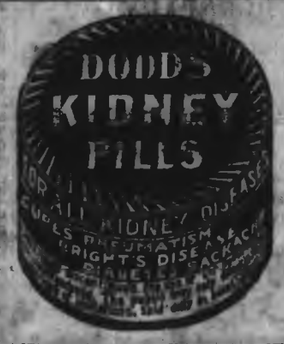
Life Saving.

Another important point is "life saving." This is the only real dangerous and much to be feared department of swimming. Many a time a fine young hero and good swimmer has been drowned in an endeavour to save some one—often one much easier spared—by an ignorance of the first principles of life saving in the water. Should one see a person in the water struggling, or even apparently almost drowned, do not reach them yourself exhausted. It is better to delay a few moments longer in reaching them, as it will not only make the chances of saving the one less, but also increase the danger of two drowning. Upon nearing the subject go cautiously and watch for their grasping you. The most likely place they will grab you is the wrist. Should such happen give your fists a quick, powerful downward stroke, thrusting your fists inward and your arms down and outward. This will loosen a hold of you. Instantly clutch the subject by the shoulders and turn his back to you and keep him thus. Grasp him either under the chin or around the biceps of the arm and swim the your three under him, and you will find it comparatively easy to hold him up and swim him to help, ashore. It is well to practice this in shallow water, but it must be deep enough to allow freedom, say up to the neck.

In conclusion let me add that scores of so-called "drowning" are mere surmises. It is something like the proverbial "heart failure" when the doctor can't find any other reason.

The stomach is a serious cause of drowning. Why, you ask. The abuse of the rules of health via the stomach. Many an ambitious would-be swimmer plunges into the water too soon after a big and often ill-chosen meal, and at the moment the vital force is concentrated around the stomach, and by the sudden demand on the heart he sinks. From "cramps"? No! From acute indigestion and heart failure. As for those who only get into the water periodically let me say to them to be prepared for it. Don't be soaked with nicotine or alcohol, or stagnant and overloaded stomach, or stagnant bowels. Do not enter the water "cool." The notion of "cooling down" is erroneous. You need be in a violent perspiration and your heart thumping but be comfortably warm, and if you like hot, and you will keep warmer while bathing. If you enter the water cool, or chilly, you are likely to remain so and be more subject to cramp. I know many medical men will not agree with this. They dispute it from theory, while I maintain it from actual experience and observation.

Let our city council see the wisdom of a good swimming bank, and we have the material to produce the world's best swimmers.



TOWNSHIP RATE HAS BEEN STRUCK

North Monaghan Ratepayers Pay One Mill for Township Rate.

Regular Monthly Meeting of Council Was Held Monday—The Estimates Predicted.

(Special to the Examiner.)

North Monaghan, Aug. 15.—The Council of this township met in the town hall on Monday, August 14th inst., at 7.30 o'clock p.m.

There were present Messrs. Jos. Madill, the Reeve; and John Brown, R. Fowler and J. Morrow, Councillors.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

The following communications were presented and read:

From J. H. Learmonth, enclosing agreement as executed between the Township and the Peterborough Radial Railway Company re construction of a spur line on Landsdowne street. This was received and fyled.

From Dumble and Johnston, stating a complaint from Mr. Jos. LeVasseur and threatening an action for damages against the Township alleged to have been caused to Mr. LeVasseur's property by the construction of a tile culvert, and grading done on the road near his lot. This was received.

Mr. F. Stinson and Mr. W. McKee attended the Council and appealed to have a reduction made to the municipal taxes of Mr. Jas. Lillico owing to the serious loss sustained recently by him from fire. This was received and referred until the rates were struck and the roll completed.

An application was made by the Road Commissioner of Road Division No. 1, for a sufficient amount of money to supplement the balance of commutation left this year in that division to perform one day's gravelling with eight loads upon the gravel road. This was allowed and the work directed to be done.

Accounts were handed in from the Kingan Hardware Company, pick handles, 80c; S. G. Bennett, gravel got by Commissioner of Road Division No. 3, $21.90; J. E. Fitzgerald, wood for poor, Clem, $5; Mr. Madill, gravel got by M. Clarke, contract on 9th con. line, $2.40.

These amounts were passed and ordered to be paid.

It was moved by Messrs. Morrow and Fowler that a committee consisting of the Reeve, Councillor Brown, and the Road Commissioner of Road Division No. 4 are hereby appointed to examine into the complaint of Mr. J. LeVasseur, and this Committee is hereby authorized to take such action or otherwise in the matter as they may deem necessary. This was carried.

Requisitions for monies for school purposes were received from the several boards of public school trustees in the Township, the Separate School Board of the city of Peterborough, and the clerk of the County of Peterborough.

They were of the amounts as follows:

School Section No. 1	$167
School Section No. 2	450
School Section No. 3	365
School Section No. 4	164
Separate Schools	80
The County of Peterborough rate	$1,816.96.

The estimated receipts and expenditures of the Township for the current year for the purpose of fixing a Township rate were passed as follows:

Receipts—

Commutation of Statute Labour	$855
Tax of dogs	140
Licenses	82
Fines	20
Total—	$1,097

Expenditures—

Salaries	$325
Interest	84
Charity	40
Printing, etc.	50
Board of Health	30
Low Taste	25
Road grading and gravelling	855
Roads and bridges	300
Miscellaneous	44
Total—	$1,715

which would leave the sum of $618 to be raised by a general Township rate.

On a total assessment of $620,000 this would require a rate of one mill on the dollar.

By-laws No. 555 and 556 levying a rate of 1 mill on the dollar, and 2 4-5 mills on the dollar for Township and County purposes, and the rates necessary to raise the amounts as requisitioned by the several school boards respectively were then given the necessary readings and finally passed.

Council then adjourned until Monday, the 11th day of September, to meet in the town hall at 7.30 p.m.

Fight Over a Girl.

Sixteen persons were injured and two towns were engaged in a bloody fight last night as the result of a voting contest for the prettiest girl. A patent medicine man in Stroh, Lagrange County, Ind., started the contest, which was open to the towns of Stroh and Elmira. A Stroh girl won, and charges of unfairness were made. Later, citizens of Elmira attacked and beat Charles Linderens and Ellis Stellenberger so badly that both may die. Residents of Stroh rushed to their rescue, and for five hours the town was in the hands of the fighters.

Coughed up Tack.

During a fit of coughing Mr. James Gillespie, a well known miner, of Dawson, coughed up a large sized carpet tack which had probably been lodged in his throat for years. He had been treated by physicians for an ordinary cough for years. The cough has disappeared since the tack was coughed up. Mr. Gillespie was one of the early stampeders to the country who mushed over the famous Teslin trail. He also prospected in the head waters of the Pelly river in 1870.

A WONDERFUL CURE OF RHEUMATISM

THE CAUSE An excess of uric acid and urates are deposited in the tissues of the body and joints, causing aches and pains which are called rheumatic.

All the various causes of rheumatism, such as the acute, articular, muscular and gout, have the same common cause—Uric Acid.

To effect a satisfactory cure the uric acid must be removed. This can only be done by introducing into the circulation a remedy which will dissolve the uric acid and stimulate the action of the excretory organs.

No Case That Ferrozone Can't Cure

The remarkable success of Ferrozone is due to the fact that it attacks the disease in the blood. It goes right to the root and cause of the trouble.

Ferrozone is a perfect solvent for uric acid and quickly destroys its evil effect. It stimulates and quickens the sluggish circulation and drives every trace of rheumatic poison out of the system.

No Case Can't Last If FERROZONE is Used.

We have conclusive proof of this. The strongest possible endorsements from people who have been cured after all else failed. If you suffer from rheumatism yourself, or in case you have a friend or relative subject to this disease, read the following—they tell their own tale.

LIFE-LONG CRIPPLE CURED

Mr. Louis Noll, 15 Fulton street, New York, N. Y., writes: "Ever since boyhood I have been a sufferer from rheumatism. My joints were twisted and swollen, and the pain at times was really intense. I used gallons of liniments, vapor baths, and other treatments, but was first noticeably relieved by Ferrozone. It cured me perfectly after taking twelve boxes."

Mr. Henry Hess, Pharmacist, 23 Rubidge Ave., New York, vouches for Mr. Noll's absolute cure. He says: "Mr. Noll has been freed from chronic rheumatism by Ferrozone. For years he has not been so well, and today shows no signs of rheumatic trouble. It is a pleasure to recommend Ferrozone."

The BEST remedy for rheumatism that science has produced is Ferrozone—it is unquestionably the only sure and lasting cure. Sold everywhere by druggists. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50—by mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. POLSON & CO., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

I.P.'S WALK THE PLANK.

When Premier Whitney admits that the Provincial authority has been exercised to cancel the commissions of all justices of the peace and that local committees in control of patronage are naming those whose commissions shal be renewed, his own experience of local politics should prepare him for what will follow. When the Government cancels the commissions, the local patronage committee will do the rest, and it is not quite to the point for the Premier to say that there is nothing partisan in the Government's action. The partizan element can readily be supplied by the patronage committee.

A correspondent from Prince Edward writes to-day saying that in that county there have been named one hundred and three Justices of the peace, or one for every forty-five electors in the county, and yet not a single Liberal J. P. has been re-appointed. Why should Premier Whitney say that the magistrates of the Province are not being dismissed? If all justices of the peace are suspended by the Government and the question of their reappointment referred to a Conservative patronage committee in each county, it is easy to guess what will happen in most counties. No doubt a revision of the magistracy is necessary. No doubt nearly all of those whose names should be dropped are Liberals appointed years ago, when that party was in office, and naturally the new men now appointed will be Conservatives. Some things may be regarded as matters of course.

But if Premier Whitney wants to keep his reputation for calling a spade a spade, he should not affect ignorance of what will follow, when all magistrates' commissions are suspended and their renewal placed in the hands of local patronage committees.—Toronto Star.

A PARTIZAN NON-PARTIZAN.

Premier Haultain is anxious to establish a non-partizan system of government in Alberta and Saskatchewan, the newly-created provinces. It looks as if Mr. Haultain would be satisfied with a form of government like his own independence—talk no party, and act party. He accepted office in a Conservative Association at Moose Jaw, which pledged the party to fight on party lines, and now we have Mr. Haultain writing a long letter to that active independent journal, the Toronto News, which talks no party, and acts "Tory." With party lines closely drawn, with opposing parties watching each other like hawks, there is a good deal of administrative and legislative action not quite on the line of the decalogue. With the party referee withdrawn from the programme of the game of government, as by party, would there not be a little more collusion than there is at present, with no little peril to the public interest? Whatever merit there may be in non-party conduct of public affairs, Mr. Haultain does not seem conspicuously fitted to lead a crusade in its favour. In his public life he has been a partizan, and has has shown himself to be a thoroughpaced partisan all through recent stirring events. Now, when some advantage seems to loom up in playing the non-partizan game, the independant role is advocated. Mr. Haultain may see some difficulty in maintaining the leading position he has occupied in Northwest affairs, if the question is to be decided on party issues. With his past record, with his holding office in a Conservative Association, pledged by resolution to fight it out on party lines, Mr. Haultain will have so little difficulty in persuading the people that his non-partizan propaganda has no co-relation to party interests.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Big as is the indemnity of a billion and a half dollars, which Japan is alleged to have demanded of Russia as a condition of peace, the western Canada wheat harvests, the Toronto Star thinks, at the present rate of development, would in the next decade realise sufficient to pay it. Canada is a country of vast possibilities.

The average yield per acre of wheat in Manitoba was 25.10 bushels in 1901; 26 in 1902, and 27.26 in 1903. Dr. Saunders saw these crops, yet of this year's in Eastern Assiniboia he writes, "I never saw crops averaging heavier or more promising."

The Japanese make war and peace with the same energetic thoroughness. They are as difficult peacemakers as they are indomitable opponents. If Russia does not consent to peace she will in all probability have to consent to pieces, of her territory, interests and influence in the Orient.

Hamilton housekeepers are complaining of short weight bread. Instead of getting a pound and eight ounces in the loaf they say they receive only a pound and three or four ounces. With a hundred million wheat crop in the Northwest there should be no excuse for this scamping.

Uncle Sam has rather over-done the boycott of the bodies of Chinamen. The slant-eyed Celestial is not content with being kicked off the continent, and has decided to retaliate by striking at Uncle Sam's heart, which is carried in his pocket, by boycotting Yankee goods. This is retaliation in earnest. It is estimated by a New Lowell, Mass., manufacturer, that the cotton manufacturers of New England alone stand to lose ten millions of dollars by the Chinese boycott. People cannot always get the big end of the bargain, and Uncle Sam is sure to learn that he must give, as well as take.

FIRST BIRTHDAY DAYLIGHT STORE

Messrs. Lang & Maher Have Year's Successful Business

A Progressive Firm Which Has Done a Splendid Year's Business.

One short year is a brief space in which to become firmly established in a clothing business—to take a place in the front rank, but this has been done by the young proprietors of the "Daylight Store"—the clothing establishment of Lang & Maher. On August 20 their first year in business is accomplished. In view of this and of the success that has been achieved, the Examiner had a chat this afternoon with the enterprising members of the young firm.

"To what do you attribute the splendid success you have achieved, the established place you have gained?"

"By starting right and keeping right." The young firm has had a successful year of business so far as sales are concerned, and especially in the good name and popularity their goods have earned, and a long and steadily increasing roll of business friends and patrons.

They modestly attribute their success to five leading causes:

First—The high quality of their goods; the three best brands in the clothing trade are found on their shelves—these are the "Sovereign" Brand, the "Northway" and the "Fit-Rite." All of these are high-class grades, combining the excellence of three of the most notable clothing manufacturers in Canada. In this selective grouping of style, fit, etc., there is included a range of clothing that is guaranteed to fit any variation of size or build of the human form, so that a customer can find in Lang & Magher's stock something that will meet his wants, no matter how exceptional they may be. They cater to fit the forms of the masses, and they succeed.

Second—The prices are in keeping with the goods, though in an inverse ratio, the highest class of goods at the lowest practicable prices.

Third—The policy of keeping the stock perfectly assorted. When a line becomes once broken it is put into the odd ranks and sold—that is, the price is so fixed that the goods are sold—cleared out. In this way the stock is kept in perfect condition and that the customer has always access to a thoroughly complete stock.

Fourth.—Strictly one price methods. When a consignment is opened and passed into stock, a fair living price is fixed and remains fixed. When a reduction is announced, the reduced price applies uniformly to the entire stock included in the sale.

Fifth.—The conditions have been favourable to success—the people have been prosperous, and the demand for high grade goods has been steady, and experience with the satisfactory character of the stock furnished by Lang & Maher has been an education in the way of appreciation of a better line of ready-to-wear clothing. The aim of the young firm has been to win the public confidence, and this has been accomplished by selling clothing which has met in every respect the recommendations of the firm—in a word, their goods are true to sample. Lang & Maher always live religiously up to the letter of their advertisements.

One potent fact in their success has been the light they throw upon their stock and methods, which has well earned the title of "The Daylight Store." Lang & Maher do not aim to burn the candle at both ends, but they have light at both ends of their shop—permitting the customer seeing what he is buying. Their goods and their methods are not afraid of the light.

Lang & Maher have had a splendid year's business and they are laying plans for better arrangements than ever before to meet the clothing wants of the public and make the anniversary of their first business birthday the starting point of a more vigorous campaign for the business forces of "The Daylight Store."

LIGHT AND POWER CO.
WILL HAVE TO LIVE UP TO CONTRACT

Fire, Water and Light Committee to Recommend to the Council That the City Engineer or Someone Else Report as to Whether the Lamps Furnished by the Company Are Up to the Terms of the Contract--Belief That the Lamps are Obsolete--Mr. Larmonth Says Company is Giving as Good a Service as Possible--Lamps are Same as Ordered by the Council.

Apparently there is trouble in store for the Peterborough Light and Power Company, at least that is the impression of some of the members of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, a meeting of which was held last night.

A decision was reached by the committee to have the city engineer or someone specially commissioned by the committee, report as to whether or not the company is carrying out the terms of the agreement, which some of the members claim it is not doing. The contract provides that the company shall place on the streets lamps of modern design, approved of by the town engineer, or by someone appointed by the council, and some of the aldermen hold the opinion that the lamps at present doing service in lighting the city streets, are not modern. In fact one of the members of the committee last night stated that they were fit only for the scrap heap.

The decision of the committee referred to above was precipitated by the controversy which has been in progress between the company and the council, in reference to charging the former for the time when the street lamps were not lit, when they should have been. The company claims that in view of the fact that they are trying to give the city a good service, they should not be charged for the time when the street lights happened to be out. The letter making this claim was read at the meeting last night, when a lengthy discussion ensued on the question, and the action referred to above was decided on.

Ald. Hall stated that the company was not living up to the letter of their contract from first to last. They were not giving lamps of the candle-power contracted for, nor had they given the town an improved lamp, as they had agreed. The lamps now being used on the streets are not being used in any of the up-to-date cities, and can be purchased for one dollar each. He was prepared to have his statements go before the public because he was satisfied that the agreement was not being lived up to. It was an impossibility to get 2000 candle power out of the present lamps because they were worn out.

Ald. Crowe thought it would be a good plan to get someone who would condemn the present lamps. It was outrageous that a lamp should be out for six weeks, and not attended to. There was in his opinion no use for dilly-dallying about the matter any longer. The council should see at once whether the agreement was any good or not.

Ald. McIntyre was in favour of making the company live up to its contract. He expected to have to carry out the terms of a contract when he signed it, and he could see no reason why the company should not be asked to do the same. If the agreement called for modern lamps of a design approved by the engineer, these terms should be insisted upon.

Ald. Hall finally moved that the city engineer be instructed to report upon the lamps as to whether they are up-to-date, and improved, and if he is not in a position to do it, that someone else be engaged by the committee to make the report.

The motion was seconded by Ald. McIntyre, and was carried.

Mr. Larmouth's Position.

Mr. J. H. Larmouth, managing director of the Peterborough Light and Power Company, was interviewed this morning by the Examiner in reference to the matter, and he had heard nothing of the action decided upon by the committee at the meeting last night, and when he was informed that he was to be made to "sit up" he smiled. He was not prepared to make any definite statement on the matter until he had seen the report of the committee to the council. He stated, however, that the company was doing its best to give the city a satisfactory service, and he believed the Peterborough streets were as well lighted as any other place of its size. With 150 lights on the streets it was almost impossible to keep all the lamps burning all the time, but as soon as one was reported out, it was attended to at once.

As to the lamps being out of date he recalled the fact that the lamps were just what the council had last year wanted. The majority of the aldermen of last year were formerly of the opinion that the lamps used on the streets of Peterborough were superior to those proposed by the Otonabee Power Company, and the company had taken the council at its word, and had retained the lamps.

The Agreement.

In order that the citizens may know the terms of the contract with the Light and Power Company, the following clauses from the agreement are quoted:

4. That the company shall and will during the term of ten years from the first day of January, 1904, by a proper and sufficient current, furnish and supply electric light for, and keep lighted as hereinafter specified, 120 arc lights of two thousand candle power each, of the most modern design, and approved by the town engineer or such other person as may be designated by the council of the corporation, for the purpose of lighting the streets of the town of Peterborough.

5. That for the purpose aforesaid the company shall and will for the term aforesaid furnish, supply, put up and repair and keep in order, all poles, wires, lamps, carbons and other appliances and fixtures required for that purpose or for additional lights to be put up, and shall at all times keep the globes of the lamps properly cleaned, all poles to be nearly straight and uniform as possible.

6. That the company shall and will keep each of said lights turned on and lighted from sunset till sunrise on each night of at least three hundred nights in each year during the said nights, or on such nights and parts of nights as shall be equivalent in the aggregate to three hundred full nights in each year.

7. That the company shall furnish to each of the said lamps a current of nine and a half amperes at a pressure of fifty volts, or such a current and at such a pressure as near as may be corresponding to the said pressure and voltage as shall on the average be equal to four hundred and fifty watts, and produce the best results, or such other current and pressure as may hereafter be agreed on by the said company and the corporation, and the company shall and will at all times allow an inspector appointed by the corporation to inspect and test the lights and the current supplied, and furnish such inspector every necessary facility for making such tests at the power house and elsewhere as may be required.

8. That in case the company shall, during the term aforesaid, fail to light and keep lighted the said lights or any of them during the time which the same should be lighted, then and in any such case, unless such failure is caused by any unavoidable accident, the proof whereof shall lie upon the company, the company shall pay the corporation as liquidated damages the sum of twenty-five cents per night, for each light not kept turned on and lighted for each night on which such failure shall have occurred and the corporation shall in each such case be at liberty to deduct such sum from the amount that would or might at any time be payable to the company under this contract in addition to the sum that would be payable for such lights if turned on.

12. The company agree to maintain a duplicate set of water-wheels and generators capable of supplying the said system of street lamps with electric current so that in the event of a failure of a water-wheel or generator or both, another set shall be immediately available.

13. The company agree to supply without charge during the months of May, June, July, August and September of each year during the currency of this contract, electric current for arc lamps similar to those used on the streets and not exceeding ten in number; such lamps to be placed in Victoria Park and maintained by the corporation.

14. The company also agree to furnish without charge the electric current for lighting the lamps in the bandstand on band nights in Victoria Park.

OTONABEE BARN STRUCK THREE TIMES IN THE SAME PLACE

Lightning is no respecter of persons nor proverbs. The familiar saying that lightning never strikes twice in the same was strikingly exemplified in freaks of the lightning near Keene during the electrical storm of a day or two ago. The barns of Mr. Wm. Kempt, south of the village, was struck in three places by the electric fluid, but no fire resulted and the chief damage was the wrecking of some of the rafters which will have to be replaced, and the splinting of some of its sheathing boards. A post of the building was grooved deeply by the lightning, but is still serviceable. The second proof that lightning is no respector of proverbs is the fact that a barn standing on the same spot as the present one was struck by lightning and destroyed by the resulting fire.

15,000,000 FEET OF TIMBER CUT

Dickson Company's Foreman Says That Quantity Has Been Driven.

Company Has Gangs of Men Cutting Timber This Season—A Successful Drive.

Mr. Wm. Cresswell, forest superintendent for the Dickson Co., Peterborough, was in town yesterday, says the Lindsay Post. He reports that 15,000,000 feet of timber sent last winter has been successfully landed to the company's mills at Lakefield and Peterborough, and with less annoyance to Stony Lake cottagers and steamboat men than before, the result of a new method adopted by him of splitting the drives up into small blocks while passing among the islands. Mr. Cresswell states that he has had two camps of men on the limits in Anstruther and Anson Townships all summer cutting hemlock and basswood, in order that they may dry enough to float next spring, and he is now hiring men for another camp, whose work will be to haul and skid the logs out by the early gangs. Mr. Cresswell will have six gangs of 50 to 60 men each in the limits all winter.

MIDLAND LACROSSE CLUB REPORTED TO THE C. L. A.

Last night the Executive of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club held a meeting in the office of the President, Mr. W. S. Davidson, when the game in Midland on Monday was discussed and the action of the Midland team was considered.

It was decided, after the matter had been very fully considered, that the charges against the Midland team, should be made to the Council of the C. L. A. The first charge is that they played men under assumed names. There is no doubt of this, and the men who were so played made no secret of the fact that they were not members of the team. In fact, Marshall and Robinson, two of the men referred to, asked the secretary of the local team if they could be given a few jobs with this team later on in the semi-final games.

The second charge is that Ed. Pennock of Stouffville, knew that these men were 'ringers,' but that he allowed them to play, accepting as genuine the certificates of these men, under other names.

The third charge is that of professionalism, and if the laws of the C. L. A. are allowed to take their course, all the members of the Midland team will be placed under the ban, and the members of the lacrosse team who played on Monday's game will have to leave the ranks of the O.H.A. This will hit Schaffer particularly hard, as he was one of the best men on the Midland hockey team last winter.

The last charge is that against Athens, that of W. Crowley, and, if justice is meted out to him, he will not be given an opportunity of repeating his cannibalistic feast for some time to come. This is a most serious offence and one which should be punished severely.

The local club has reported these matters to the C. L. A., and await the action of that body.

MR. JAS. WHITTON'S ADVENT AT BROCKVILLE

CHEESE BOARD MEETING

A Buyer Well Known Here Upset the Board in Offering Half a Cent More Than the Regular Buyers, But the Salesmen Were Afraid to Accept the Offer—Some Incidents in Connection With the Brockville Board Meeting.

Mr. Jas. Whitton, one of the best known cheese buyers on the local board into the Board at Brockville and his advent there caused some excitement. The Brockville Times says:—

As the meeting proceeded in the usual way with the sale of cheese, developments proved conclusively the evils surrounding the "regular" system, which has been the curse of the Brockville Board for several years past. Because a legitimate strange buyer, dropped into the fold willing to pay a much higher price than the local men for a respectable order, the salesmen stood afar off, afraid to accept. The buyer in question was Jas. Whitton, representing Mr. Magrath, a Belleville exporter. His best offer was one-half cent above the other fellows, and rather than take a chance in cutting away from their favourite buyers, the salesmen were unmovable except in a few cases. In criticizing the salesmen, however, it must be said in justice to several of them that they openly expressed themselves willing to deal with Mr. Whitton on the basis of Brockville inspection. Mr. Whitton, on the other hand, claimed the same privilege of his competitors, who invariably bought subject to Montreal weights and inspection. The discrepancy in the prices offered by Mr. Whitton and the Brockville buyers was characterized on the part of the former to be an attempt on the part of Mr. Whitton to "bull" the market. This theory was exploded by the reading of a telegram stating that at the meeting of the Belleville Board just held, sales were made by representatives of the same firms doing business here, at 11c and 11 1-16c. Mr. Whitton held to the 10c prices all through the piece, although turned down with great regularity. The local buyers were at their wits end, and any glances at the salesmen resulted in several impromptu conferences and private dickering, some even going so far as to adjourn to the mate-room for this purpose in open violation of the rules under the eyes of the officers. The Whitton bomb exploded in the camp threw rats in all directions and rather than meet him, devices of various kinds were employed to hold the factories which go into the same channels week to week.

Mr. Gardiner opened the bidding at 10 3-4c and Mr. Whitton took the first sale at 10 1-2c. Mr. Gardiner and Mr. Everitt sandwiched in sales at 10 3-4c and Mr. Whitton came back with 10 3-4c for the Everitt and Bracken combinations. Both salesmen refused. He then went one better by a bid of 10 7-8c for not only the combinations mentioned, but anything on the board.

Mr. Everitt expressed his willingness to sell, provided, however, that the cheese was inspected at the factory. To this Mr. Whitton would not accede. Mr. Cameron offered to sell 120 boxes, which the buyer said was too small unless he got it for shipment.

Messrs. Murphy, Patton and M. W. Everitt briefly advised the salesmen to let Mr. Whitton have the cheese, as they felt unable to bid any such prices as offered by him.

Mr. Whitton bid 10 7-8c again and was refused. He subsequently dropped back to 10 5-8c and 10 3-4c. At this latter figure the wanted either 500 or 1,000 boxes. Several buyers announced their willingness to take 10 7-8c for Brockville inspection. He would not entertain the price, but would give 10 3-4c for local inspection if his principal consented. He was given a few minutes to use the telephone and on returning announced his position as that of Montreal inspection.

Mr. Bissell characterized the proceedings as a disgrace, to the organization. The features of the gathering were the worst he had ever witnessed.

Mr. Derbyshire said the salesmen would be justified in selling to Mr. Whitton if he fyled with the Board a letter of credit from any of the chartered banks, as required by the rules. Mr. Bracken and several salesmen in chorus wanted to know how many of the buyers had complied with the rules in this respect.

Mr. Derbyshire said he was prepared to do so at any time.

This talk took place during Mr. Whitton's absence from the room. At the same time the special despatch

PRIZE WINNERS IN BARACA EXCURSION

The Baraca Bible Class has furnished the Examiner with the following report of their excursion to Rice Lake on Monday:

"The members of the Young Men's Baraca Bible Class of the Murray street Baptist church, held their first excursion to Gore's Landing, and Harwood, on the Otonabee River, and it was well attended. The boat which was taxed to its utmost capacity, left the wharf at 8 o'clock, and sailed gracefully down the beautiful waters of the Otonabee River. All on board were highly delighted with the ever changing view of scenery, cheering the happy campers here and there along the shores as the boat passed. After three and a half hour's sail down the sinuous river and across Rice Lake, the boat landed at Gore's Landing, where all disembarked and partook of dinner, in the old picnic style, and under the shade of an old apple tree.

"After all were well satisfied the boat again set sail down the beautiful waters of Rice Lake, to Harwood, where all enjoyed themselves in sports and games for a few hours.

"Ladies race, 100 yards — 1 Emily Miller; 2 Miss Mable Curtis.

"Gentlemen's race, 100 yards — 1 Mr. Jas. Ellis; 2 Mr. Bert Mullen.

"Coupled race — 1 Jas. Ellis and Miss Curtis; 2 Percy Blade and Emily Miller.

"Sack race — George Cross and Laura Curtis; 2 Percy Blade and Emily Miller.

"After all the sports were over the happy crowd sailed homeward arriving all good time and well pleased with the days outing.

"The members of the Baraca Bible Class extend a hearty invitation to all young men who do not attend a Bible class to come and join them. They meet in the class room every Sunday at ten during August."

PREPARATIONS FOR PETERBOROUGH'S FAIR

Prize Lists May Now be Obtained—Some of the Conditions.

Prize Lists of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition can now be obtained from the secretary, Mr. F. J. A. Ball or at any of the Banks or Hotels.

It will repay farmers and others to carefully go through these prize lists because the Directors have revised all the different classes of exhibits and largely increased the prizes. They would like to direct special attention to the following rules.

1. Exhibitors of live stock will be charged an entrance fee only and this will give free stabling. Competition in all live stock is open to the world.

2. No entrance is charged for poultry this year but a membership ticket which costs $1 entitles the owner to ten free entries.

3.—Exhibitors in dairy products, agricultural products, fruits, garden vegetables, plants and cut flowers, fine arts and ladies' work must be residents of the County of Peterborough or of the Townships of Cavan, Emily, Hamilton, Hope, Seagers or South Monaghan. The Directors made this rule in order to put down professionals, that is people who go from fair to fair with the same article and give the out of town district a chance to win, and it is to be hoped that their action will be appreciated and a very large entry be made in all classes.

OSHAWA PLAYS THE LOCALS SATURDAY

A Good Exhibition of Ball Will be Put UP.

A great football is billed for next Saturday when the Oshawa team comes here to play a league game with the Pirates. Cadman and Phelan are still with the Oshawa nine and will be the battery for the visitors on Saturday. Lindsay almost defeated Oshawa last week and surely the locals can do what the Red Birds could not.

In their game with the Royal Canadians the locals had no difficulty in locating Phelan and towards the last he was pounded quite freely. This game is the only attraction for Saturday and let everybody turn out and help the boys to win.

BASEBALL.

There is a rumour afloat that Toronto are on the lookout for a couple of the Lindsay Red Birds to play on their team.—Post. The Toronto's evidently want something they can lay the blame of their steady run of defeats upon.

* * * *

Lindsay lost in Bowmanville on Friday and the standing of the Midland League is now as follows:—

	W.	L.	Tie	Pct.
Bowmanville	6	5	1	.545
Port Hope	5	5	1	.500
Peterborough	4	3	3	.571
Cobourg	4	3	3	.571
Oshawa	3	4	3	.429
Lindsay	3	7	2	.125

* * * *

And it come to pass that no miracle was worked last week and Lindsay did not pull out a victory against Oshawa. According to the Post the score was reversed through a mistake and gave Lindsay the game instead of Oshawa. The true and only score was Oshawa 5, Lindsay 4.

HOCKEY.

It is remembered by both that Midland and Victoria Harbour hockey teams will combine this winter.

W. Talbot, sk 21.	T. Cameron, sk 16.

Mr. Kerr in the first round was defeated, the score being:—

R. C. Y. C.	Peterborough
J. Bolestad	J. McArthur
J. Birkett	H. W. Cox
R. Watson	R. G. Sturgeon
C. Bickle, sk 20.	W. R. Kerr, sk 17.

A MODERN MEDICINE

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cure Disease Through the Blood.

Medicines of the old fashioned kind will sometimes relieve the symptoms of disease, though they can never touch the disease itself—they never cure. Ordinary medicines leave behind them indigestion, constipation, biliousness and headache; purgatives leave the patient feverish and weakened. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, on the other hand, do direct good to the body, blood and nerves. They fill the veins with new, rich, red blood; they brace the nerves; they drive out disease by going right to the root of the trouble in the blood. They always do good—they cannot possibly do harm. Mrs. Ged Henley, Boxgrove, Ont., says:—"It is with thanks that I tell you that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured me after my doctor had said I could not be cured. I suffered from an almost constant fluttering of the heart, and sometimes severe pains. The least exertion would leave me breathless and tired out. My appetite was poor, and my head ached nearly all the time. I had lost all ambition to do any work, and felt very hopeless. I had taken a great deal of medicine without any benefit, until I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These have made a remarkable change in my condition, and I am feeling better than I have done for years. I gladly give my experience in the hope that it will benefit others."

Sold by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up strength in Mrs. Henley's case in just one way—they actually make new blood. That is all they do, but they do it well. They don't act on the bowels, they don't bother with more symptoms. They go right to the root of the trouble in the blood. That is why these pills cure anaemia, heart palpitation, indigestion, kidney trouble, rheumatism, lumbago, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, paralysis, general weakness and the special ailments of growing girls and women. But you must have the genuine with the full name Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TWO MORE CLAUSES HAVE BEEN PASSED.

Integrity of China and Surrender of Russian Leases--Conference Nears Crisis--Articles Upon Which a Rupture is Feared--Seven Remaining Articles Are More or Less Objected to by Russia, Two of Them Absolutely--Cession of Sakhalin Passed For Later Consideration.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 16.—The crisis in the peace negotiations upon which the eyes of the world are fastened is approaching rapidly. Two more of the twelve articles, Nos. 4 and 6, were disposed of yesterday. Article 4 consists of mutual pledges to observe the integrity of China and the policy of the "open door" for the commerce of all nations, and article 6 covers the surrender of the Russian leases in the Liaotung Peninsula, Port Arthur, Dalny and the Blonde and Elliott Islands.

To article 4 both parties gave ready assent, and the official statement of the adoption of that article took care to state that it was agreed to "unanimously."

Article 5, the consideration of which postponed until later, provides for the cession of the Island of Sakhalin. Discussion appearing useless at this stage on account of the firm negative given in the Russian reply, it was decided upon the motion of the Japanese to defer its discussion, thus revealing the Japanese intention of postponing to the end the life and death struggle. This is the usual procedure followed in diplomatic negotiations enabling the negotiators to come to an accord upon all possible points before tackling the crucial issues, and the fact that the Russians acquiesced in the proposition shows that they, too, are as careful and anxious as are the Japanese that the world should not accuse them of being responsible for precipitating the break, if break there is to be, and wrecking the conference. This in itself is a hopeful sign.

All questions relating to Corea and Manchuria except the cession of the Chinese Eastern Railroad, and the main Siberian line running through Northern Manchuria from the station "[illegible]" on the Amur, via Harbin, to Vladivostock, are settled in the five articles already adopted. Some confusion has arisen about those articles, and the following resume can be accepted as absolutely accurate:

Conditions Agreed Upon.

(1) Recognition of Japan's preponderating influence in Corea, etc.

(2) Mutual obligation to evacuate Manchuria, Russia to retrocede to China all special privileges, etc.

(3) Japanese obligations to restore the sovereignty and administration of China in Manchuria.

(4 Mutual obligations to respect the territorial and administrative integrity of China and the principle of the "open door."

(5) The surrender of the Russian leased to the Liaotung Peninsula, including Port Arthur, Dalny and the Blonde and Elliott Islands.

Remaining seven articles are (they are not in numerical order):

The cession of Sakhalin, reimbursement for the cost of the war, the cession to China of the Chinese-Eastern Railway, the article relating to that portion of the main line of the Siberian Railroad running through Northern Manchuria, which includes provision for policing of the road by China and not by Russia; fishing rights on the Siberian coast north of Vladivostock to the Behring Sea; the article affecting Russia's naval power in the Far East, and that providing for the surrender of the Russian warships interned in Far Eastern waters.

To all of these Russia has more or less objection.

Joint Control of Sakhalin.

London, Aug. 16.—The Daily Telegraph's Vienna correspondent understands that Russia will propose co-dominion over Sakhalin, similar to that which existed prior to 1845.

MR. WILLIAM TAYLOR PLAYS PART OF GOOD SAMARATIN

Befriends an Unfortunate Man Who Recently Came Here From England--He Died on Saturday and His Bereaved Wife is Now Being Looked After by Their Benefactors--A Pathetic Case--Man Only Worked Four Weeks When He Was Taken Ill--Their Store of Money Ran Out and Mr. Taylor Has Helped Them Ever Since.

A modern case of the Good Samaritan has come to light in Peterborough, and although in view of the past records of the gentleman who has again played the part of the Samaritan, his action in this case is not surprising, still it is of such a nature that while in his modesty he does not want his part mentioned, the Examiner feels that it should be called attention to.

It appears that thirteen weeks ago a man and his wife, Thomas Ashby Walkington by name, arrived in this city from England. On enquiring for work someone directed him to Mr. Wm. Taylor, familiarly known as "Daddy," and a lucky circumstance it was for the newcomers that they happened to fall in with Mr. Taylor.

On the same day that they went to him he procured work for the man, and for four weeks he was employed in the Waterworks Department. At the end of that time he was taken ill with pleurisy, and Mr. Taylor secured his entrance into the hospital. From that time until his death, which occurred Saturday, the unfortunate man did not do a tap of work, and all they had to keep them during those nine weeks was the money he earned during the four weeks he worked after his arrival here.

But they did not suffer from want because Mr. Taylor, having once interested himself in him, continued to attend to his necessities.

After having spent some time in the hospital he recovered somewhat, and was removed to his home on Harvey street, where they were occupying two rooms. Later, however, he was feeling worse again, and he sent for his benefactor, and told him that he would like to go to the hospital, and Mr. Taylor again procured room for him there, and there he remained until death came.

Prior to his death he called for Mr. Taylor and told him that he feared that he would not recover, and asked him if he would look after his wife, which he promised to do, and this promise he is now carrying out, though in his modesty he objects to any reference being made to his efforts on behalf of the unfortunate couple.

The funeral took place on Monday, and it was a good funeral, although the deceased was not a member of the Sons of England. Mr. Taylor got six of the members of that Order to act as pall-bearers, and he was laid to rest in the Little Lake Cemetery.

Mrs. Walkington is now at the home of Mr. Taylor, and she will remain there for some weeks at any rate, and in her approaching sickness will be looked after by Mrs. Taylor, who has ably supplanted her husband's kindness to this couple.

The motives actuating Mr. Taylor in extending the assistance to these people are those of pure sympathy, because he had never seen or heard of them until the man came to him asking for help to secure work, an appeal which Mr. Taylor has never been known to turn a deaf ear to. He is not asking for any charity in this behalf, but is attending to the needs of the bereaved wife himself.

Husband Disappeared.

A man giving the name of James Edmund Hewson, machinist, 57 King street west, Toronto, was on July 29 married to a pretty young Toronto woman by Rev. W. Tucker. The couple went to Niagara Falls for a week, and returned to Toronto, and two days later Hewson disappeared. The young wife enquired about her husband at a place where he said he was working and found he was not known there. Hewson is five feet ten inches in height, with long features, black hair, brown eyes, light moustache, and a large scar on the left side of his face. He has a broken tooth in his upper jaw, and is a heavy smoker.

Who would exchange the merry noise of children at play, with the childless home where the clock tick can be heard hour after hour in the dull silence? But there are a great many who would like to people the silent house with the children that fate has refused them. Fate is often in this case only another word for ignorance. Many a glad mother dates her happiness from the day she first began the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It often happens that with the cure of female weakness and the establishing of the delicate womanly organs in sound health, the way is opened for the joy of motherhood. "Favorite Prescription" is a specific for the chronic ailments peculiar to women. It cures them perfectly and permanently.

No other medicine can do for women so much as "Favorite Prescription." Do not therefore let any other medicine be palmed off on you as "just as good."

"Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, opium, cocaine or other narcotic. It is strictly a temperance medicine.

"I can truly say your medicine is a friend of mine," writes Mrs. Arthur Bratt, of Amherstburg, Ontario, Canada. "I am mother of four children and suffered greatly at times of birth of first three. When three months along with the last one I began to think of trying some medicine to ease them terrible pains, and asked our doctor whether there was anything he could give me to prevent labor pains. He said there was nothing that could help me. Then thought I would write to Dr. Pierce. He advised me to take 'Favorite Prescription.' I started to do so, as heard again. I was very weak, had heart trouble and would faint away two or three times a day. Our doctor could not help me and life was a drag. I would often say, oh, if I could only die in my sleep; but I took five bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and felt better every way. Got along well at the time of delivery. Had heard of pain-less childbirth, and I thought it must be a good medicine that would help these pains, but I know now for myself, and can not tell it plain enough. Your 'Favorite Prescription' is the best medicine as we southerners know. I advise my friends to try it. Baby is now two months old and is a strong healthy boy."

Stick of Dynamite Explodes in Bored Stone.

2 MEN IN GREAT SUFFERING

Bellin, an Italian Laborer on James' Bay Railway Dropped the Stone, and Explosion Followed—Scotman, Another Italian, Was Totally Blinded, and Bellin Was Badly Injured About the Legs.

Toronto, Aug. 16.—Totally blinded and otherwise injured, Philip Scotman was admitted to the General Hospital last night. With him was Dominic Bellin, fearfully cut about the thighs and legs, and both men were in great suffering.

They are Italian laborers. One of them dropped a stone containing a dynamite cartridge, and the miracle is that they were not blown to pieces. The accident occurred Monday afternoon, twelve miles north of Gravenhurst, on the new line being constructed for the James Bay Railway. Scotman and Bellin were among a gang of workmen who had been blasting. Bellin picked up a stone which had been drilled and contained a stick of dynamite which had not exploded. He was carrying the stone away when he dropped it, with the result that an explosion occurred and the flying stone cut up his body and blinded Scotman.

Both men were too badly injured to be moved far before receiving medical attendance. Yesterday afternoon they were put on the Muskoka Express and sent to Toronto. The ambulance met them at the Union Station and took them to the General.

BEES STING A MAN.

Mr. Lucas of Delhi May Be Fatally Injured.

St. Thomas, Aug. 16.—Mr. Lucas, farmer, near Delhi, on Friday was hitching a team of horses to a binder, when he was attacked by a swarm of bees. One of the horses died, and Mr. Lucas was so badly stung in freeing the horses that his life is in danger.

Drown in Far North.

Temiskaming, Aug. 16.—Joseph Legault and Frederick Cook, lost their lives one evening last week on the Kinojedin river near east of Lake Abitibi. It was after day's work was over and the two young men were disporting themselves in a canoe when it upset and both were drowned. The bodies were recovered.

Tossed on Lake Erie.

Buffalo, Aug. 16.—The steamer Idlewild, laden with 200 women and children, was tossed about rudderless on Lake Erie for five hours in the high wind which blew all day. When off Windmill Point, the rudder broke. The Idlewild was brought into port by four tugs, which were summoned by persons on shore who saw her in distress. The officers preserved order among the passengers. None were injured.

RAIN COVERED 4 INCHES.

Rain Storm Had Wide Area — Lake Traffic Demoralized.

Toronto, Aug. 16.—Yesterday's rain storm was accompanied by one of the heaviest rainfalls in the history of the observatory. It covers a wide area, including Lakes Erie and Ontario, the State of New York and the Atlantic seaboard. No rain is recorded in Canada east of Kingston, and the Muskoka district has escaped entirely. The official record is a trifle over four inches. The nearest approach to this was on August 4, 1878, when three and a half inches was recorded. Lake traffic here was wholly demoralized, and $1,000 damage was done to the island breakwater.

Spark Ignites Barns.

Glencoe, Aug. 16.—While threshing was in progress on the farm of John Little, Metcalfe, Monday afternoon, a spark from the engine ignited the straw and in a short time the barn and stock were burned. The loss includes the whole season's crop. Loss about $3,000; insurance $800.

Pains in the Chest.

Mr. John Clark, Port Hope, Ont., states: "Last winter I was so bad with a cold that I could not speak above a whisper, and had great pains in the chest. A friend advised me to try Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and one bottle cured my cold which I believe would have proven very serious if I had not used this medicine."

LEAKING joints are the natural outcome of the old style of boiler construction; two smooth surfaces squeezed together on a sheet of rubber. This rubber in a short time became dried out and left a leaky joint.

Oxford Hot Water Boiler

Nothing but iron and steel enters into the construction of the Oxford Hot Water Boiler—no rubber or composition washers are used.

Smooth, tapered steel nipples pressed into smooth, tapered holes make an absolutely indestructible joint. We would like to tell you the many other advantages of the Oxford Boiler. Our illustrated catalogue, "The Gurney Oxford Book of Steam and Hot Water Heating Apparatus," tells the whole story. It's free. 1001

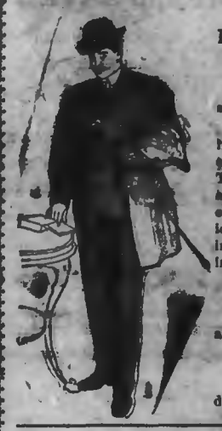
August Reduction Sale

Here's a bit of news that sticks a poking, prying finger into every man's exchequer and propounds a query with a decidedly economical twist to it.



Do you part about making a fine saving on a Clothing Purchase?

We won't carry over stock, and its at this season that we cut prices all to pieces.

Judging from the brisk activity now prevailing here, one would hardly think that the month of August, the so-called dull season is now on. There are no dull times where the inducements are tempting enough to bring trade. Pretenses or half way measures won't do it, as many clothiers have found out to their sorrow. The pruning knife must be applied to prices without making Any Allowance for Profit.

The Radial Railway Will Give a Freight Service

Mr. J. H. Larmonth has received partial reports from the party making surveys for the line to Lakefield. It has not yet been decided which side of the river the line will be located on, but it will probably be on the east side, since it will give a better view of the river and make possible a better route for this reason. It will, however, largely depend upon the terms upon which a right of way can be procured. Mr. Larmonth states that one man has already offered him free right of way across a 300 acre farm, and the farmers generally are appreciating the great benefits which a radial electric line will give. It is the intention of the company to inaugurate a package freight and express business, and the farmers will be able to ship their milk, butter and eggs and other produce to the city. Stations will be erected along the line of the railway, and a regular freight service established.

NEARLY 500,000 TONS OF WATER FELL IN CITY'S AREA YESTERDAY

Some Astounding Figures Showing the Extent of Yesterday's Heavy Rainfall--Exact Figures Were 480,700 Tons--In the City 108,750,000 Gallons of Water Fell --Of Incalculable Value to the Farmers--An Interesting Estimate of the Quantity of Water Which Came Down in Yesterday's Rainfall.

The long-deferred and plentiful rainfall yesterday, was doubly welcome, in that it came at a most opportune time, when mother earth was gaping with thirst, when vegetation was at a standstill, and when even deeply-rooted trees could not find the wherewithal to pump vitality into the shrivelling leaves, and the rain came copiously, and without the damaging incidents which so often accompany summer storms. The rain of yesterday was entirely beneficent, or practically so; there was comparatively little grain or hay to be injured, and no lightning smote, nor gales lodged grain wrenched boughs from trees, nor pelted the fruit to the ground. The rain will be the salvation of the late potato and root crops, pastures, and the dairy industry.

The rainfall yesterday was phenomenal in the quantity that fell, in fact it is doubtful if we ever had a heavier rain in this neighbourhood. The total amount that fell was 2 inches and 44-100 of an inch on the level. From a research of old weather records the nearest approach to these figures was that of July 27, 1897, when the rain fell during a series of heavy thunderstorms, to a depth of 2 inches and 29-100 of an inch, so that the amount that fell yesterday was almost one-quarter of an inch more.

To-day a complete change has passed over the face of nature. The parched fields that were baked to brownness are showing green in the dry warm sunshine. The brooks that a day or two ago were as free of water as Bank of Montreal stock, are rippling merrily over the pebbles. All nature is revived, and man and beast and bird take new pleasure in living.

The significance of such a rainfall is not generally appreciated, but it may be better understood by presenting a few figures illustrating its meaning. An inch of rain, according to Trautwine, amounts to 103.3 tons per acre, or 64,841 tons per sq. mile. The rainfall yesterday was practically 2 1-2 inches, therefore upon one square acre in the city yesterday there fell the enormous quantity of 259.4 tons of water; or to put it in another way there fell upon every square acre 96,630.66 gallons of water, or upon a square mile there fell the inconceivably large quantity of 68,250,000 gallons. Now, the area of the city of Peterborough is approximately 1700 acres, or 2 square miles. Upon the area of Peterborough yesterday there fell 480,700 tons, or 108,750,000 gallons of water.

As remarked, the storm of yesterday did almost no damage but some inconvenience was caused by the water washing out freshly-filled service trenches of the Water Company, and creating more or less large cavities dangerous to the public, especially those travelling in vehicles. The matter was however promptly dealt with. The superintendent got his staff speedily at work and by ten o'clock all the dangerous points were protected by red lanterns. This morning the work of repairing the damage was begun and completed about noon.

SUDDEN DEATH OF AN OLD RESIDENT

Decease of Thos. McWilliams After a Short Illness—Funeral To-morrow.

The death occurred this morning at 7.30 o'clock of Mr. Thomas McWilliams, an old resident of the town and county. Mr. McWilliams was always hale and hearty and made a host of friends throughout life. He was taken seriously ill with pneumonia a week ago, and his sudden death came as a great shock to his family and friends.

Deceased was 57 years of age and was born in the county, but had lived nearly all his life in the town. Those left to mourn his untimely loss are his wife, three daughters, Eliza and Edna at home, and Mrs. R. F. Myers; four sons, John and Willie, James and Thomas. There are also a brother, James, and a sister, Mrs. Z. Blodgett.

The funeral takes place Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the family residence, corner Locke and Lansdowne streets, and will proceed to the Little Lake Cemetery for interment.

Special to the Examiner.

Rochester, N.Y., Aug. 16.—To-days yacht race was an hour late in starting. Owing to the sea being very rough and the wind very light, the start was made in this order. Iroquois 11.57.05; Teresmire 11.57.10. Such wind as there was, seemed to die away almost entirely after the start And finally at 12.57 it was decided to call off the race for to-day. The yachts at this time were about even.

BACHELORS WON FROM BENEDICTS

An Exciting Baseball Game This Afternoon.

Knights of Columbus Enjoy the Day at McCracken's.

This afternoon at McCracken's Landing there was an exciting game of baseball, the participants being members of the local lodge of the Knights of Columbus. The Knights to the number of about one hundred arrived at the Landing about eleven o'clock this morning by the steamer Stony Lake, and proceeded to enjoy their short stay at the Lakes. A couple of baseball nines were quickly organized and an exciting game resulted. The contest was between the Bachelors and the Benedicts, and resulted in a win for the former by 0—4, after a hard combat.

The personnel of the teams were: Bachelors — Argue p; Morrin c; Crowe 2b; McFadden 3b; Rev. Father Fitzpatrick lb; Ven. Archdeacon Casey lf; M. Stevens ss; F. McGrath rf; Connors cf.

Benedicts — Argue p; Sheehy c; Gidroux lb; C. Young rf; D. O'Connell 2b; J. O'Brien 3b; M. O'Brien cf; Dr. McNulty ss; F. McPherson lf; H. LeBrun, deep centre field.

The Benedicts landed on Angliss' boy's shoots fairly well but bad errors in the field robbed Argus of a win. Rev. Father Bretherton acted as umpire.

It is said Mr. Jas. Lynch had intended to be present and play with the Benedicts and had he been able to do so, doubtless the result would have been different.

The party left the landing on the 1 o'clock boat for home, after having spent a very pleasant day.

RADICAL COMPANY INSTAL EXTINGUISHERS

In All of Their Cars—A Valuable Addition.

That the Street Railway Company do not intend taking any great chances with the fire fiend is evident now that fire extinguishers have been installed in all the cars. The apparatus consists of a cylinder about a foot and a half long and two inches in diameter and are filled with a chemical in powder form which when dashed into a small blaze will immediately extinguish it.

This apparatus may prove a valuable asset on some occasions, and may prove an effective check on what might have developed into a dangerous fire.

Excursionists Have Returned

Dr. Morgan and a number of others who went to Niagara Falls on Monday with the Foresters' excursion, returned this morning. They had to travel back to Toronto by rail in-stream of by boat, the lake being so rough that the boats could not navigate.

This morning the water was still so rough that none of the boats could leave their berths at the wharves.

The wind had subsided, but the waves were so high that it was considered dangerous to venture out.

SEASIDE EXCURSIONS

Low Rates to Famous Watering Places

The seashore with its refreshing and invigorating salt breezes has unbounded charms for those who are oppressed with the summer heat of inland cities, so the announcement of the Intercolonial Railway in another column should be read with especial interest at this particular time. The seaside excursions advertised by the I. C. R. from Montreal to the various points along the lower St. Lawrence, to the shores of Northumberland Strait, the Bay of Fundy, and the Atlantic coast, afford a splendid opportunity of leaving the Canadian metropolis for a vacation at astoundingly low rates. And by the splendid through trains, the "Maritime Express and the "Ocean Limited," leaving Montreal at 12.30 o'clock and at 9.30 o'clock, a fast and luxurious journey is assured, the excellence of their dining and sleeping car arrangements being unequalled on the continent.

CHINESE BOYCOTT WILL IN ALL PROBABILITY BENEFIT LOCAL MILLS

Belief That it Will Influence the American Cereal Company in Their Decision to Erect the Projected Large Flour Mill--A Great Increase in Business Recently--Present Daily Output is 3000 Cases a Day in Addition to the Bulk Goods--The Proposed Extension of the Local Works May be Proceeded With Soon.

The report to the effect that the boycott of United States products and goods in China, is being effective, and the consequent results to Canada's trade, may have a much greater influence to Peterborough's industries than would appear on the face of it.

Reports from different parts of Canada show that there is a much greater demand for flour from China since the boycott was instituted, and there is a good prospect that the trade done by Canadian millers for export to China will increase rapidly in the very near future. They are already feeling the good effects and this condition will continue to improve.

The fact that there is every probability that in the near future the American Cereal Company will go into the manufacture of flour extensively is an evidence of the benefits which Peterborough will doubtless reap from the action of the Chinese.

At the present time the American Cereal Company is doing probably a greater volume of business than it has ever done before in its history, and it is learned that it is almost impossible to fill the orders offering. The business is practically all foreign, comparatively very little domestic trade being done.

The daily output of the mills is averaging 3,000 cases of package goods, in addition to all the goods which are shipped out in bags or, barrels.

It would therefore seem that the reported extension of the works by enlarging them to reach the street line at Hunter street, is not at all to be wondered at, in view of the great increase in the business recently.

The local officials of the Company will neither confirm nor deny the report that the works are to be enlarged, but it is stated by those who are in a position to know that in the not distant future the present works will be increased very materially. Doubtless the recent great increase in the flour trade of the Dominion will influence the Company in its decision to erect speedily the large new mills which have been projected for this city, to be run in conjunction with the works of the Company.

MR. CLARENCE BELL'S LIGHTNING STORY

Mr. Clarence Bell, formerly of Peterborough, but now of Osgoode Hall, Toronto, has just returned from a visit to Bradford, and tells an interesting story about the queer pranks of the lightning near that town. Four barns and their contents were destroyed by fire after being struck by lightning, and it was a stroke of good fortune that fifteen men escaped death, or at least serious injury. The men were threshing in a barn, and when the storm came up they stopped for a time. Then came a lull and the men were about to start again when the farmer intervened and told them to stop until the second storm had passed over.

A moment later came a blinding flash, a roll of thunder, and the men heard the shingles being torn from the roof by lightning, which had struck the end of the barn. Instantly about a dozen tongues of fire leaped up from the maw of hay, and, although the rain was pouring down in torrents, the barn was quickly destroyed.

The men say they felt a strange sensation on the flesh of their bare arms when the flash came. It felt, they say, like fine sand being struck on their arms. They just managed to save the threshing machine by drawing it out of the barn.

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS FOR CANADIAN GENERAL

The financial page of the Toronto Star, referring to the prospects for the local works of the Canadian General Electric Company, makes some very roseate prophecies in reference to this company, and every citizen of Peterborough will learn with pleasure that the works here are in such good condition.

The Star says:—

Canadian General Electric will benefit as much from the development of Niagara Power as Toronto Electric. When the power reaches Toronto it will secure hundreds of contracts to convert the present steam plants of Toronto's varied industries with electric power plants. Such contracts may run into the thousands, big and little. Then the electric road between here and Niagara will be built. Construction will start this fall. According to a recent decision of the management of the Electrical Development Company, the Niagara power lines will be carried westward to London, and will ramify through all western Ontario. A large quantity of business will develop here for the Canadian General Electric, both from the construction work and from the conversion of steam plants in the numerous towns and cities in western Ontario. The work ahead will reach quite a few million dollars. General Electric is selling at a comparatively low level, and as its prospects are excellent it could easily run up ten points.

Mrs. Hubbard Abandons Her Labrador Trip

St. John's, Nfld., Aug. 17.—Advices from inland lumber camps in Labrador state that Indians report Mrs. Hubbard's expedition returning to the coast, having abandoned the attempt to penetrate the wilderness. She will probably return here on the next trip of the mail boat. Dillon Wallace, however, is pushing forward beyond any white man's previous track.

LINDSAY ALDERMEN ALSO CHANGE THEIR MINDS OFTEN

"The Czar of Lindsay," is the title bestowed upon Mayor Ray last evening by Alderman O'Reilly. The session of council was brief but interesting. Ald. McCrea was told by the Mayor that he changed his opinion too often to be a useful member, and Mr. J. R. McNeillie was assured—with a thump of the table to emphasize the statement — that he would not get a granolithic walk in front of his fine new residence this year.—Lindsay Post.

MR. PERCY BLADE CATCHES LARGEST FISH IN FORTY YEARS

The largest lunge that has been caught in the Otonabee river or Rice Lake, in forty years, was landed by Mr. Percy Blade this morning, at the Yankee Bonnett. Mr. Blade is a son of Mr. Arthur Blade, and has been camping at Crawford's Grove, and this morning he went out on the river fishing, and succeeded in hooking on to a mammoth lunge. After considerable difficulty, he succeeded in landing the fish, which tipped the scales at 29 3-4 pounds, which, as has been stated, constitues a record for the last forty years.

WHY LIGHTNING STRIKES BARNS

In Search of Moisture It Strikes Where Green Hay Lies.

This is the Opinion of Mr. F. L. Blake of the Toronto Observatory.

Recently a large number of barns have been struck by lightning in this country, and in view of this fact the following interview will be interesting:

"Why are so many barns struck by lightning these days?" was the question put to Mr. F. L. Blake, astronomical officer at the Observatory, Toronto.

"I am not sure there are more than there used to be," Mr. Blake replied. "The impression that there are may be due to greater publicity given to the occurrences. You may have noticed that more barns than houses are burned by lightning. I think that is because the barns generally contain hay and grain, which are moist to a certain extent, and moisture attracts lightning because it is a good conductor. On the other hand, houses are dry. Lightning rods are a good protection if they are numerous enough and have good ground connections."

"Is it of any value to have trees near a barn?"

"Well, lightning usually strikes a tree because it contains sap, which is moisture. The denuding of the forests, I think, may increase the danger from lightning, as it makes the air drier. Lightning is simply an accumulation of electricity in the air seeking the other pole, and in doing so it comes down through the air to the earth, through any convenient medium. I think that the reason the country has worse thunderstorms than the city is that in the city every iron point and pinnacle reaching up is insensibly drawing the electricity out of the overcharged air, and thus reduces the danger of an explosion."

VALUE OF A GOOD CIRCUS NAME

Norris and Rowe Known as Household Word for Honesty.

Their Shows This Year Rates Them as Fourth in Size With World's Largest Amusement Organization.

Enthusiasm, together with a pardonable pride in a good name are cardinal virtues of the honest showmen and these traits Messrs Norris and Rowe, the earnest young American showmen possess to a marked degree. The time has long passed when rash promises made by irresponsible managers of the little fly-by-night circus can convince the public who look to the circus for healthy entertainment and relaxation from the cares of their busy work-a-day lives. This healthy enjoyment everyone is entitled to, for all work and no play would surely make Jack a very bad boy indeed. The telegraph and modern journal soon record the success or failure of any business enterprise—whether it be in the trade, theatrical or circus world and as a consequence the bad shows are soon shunned, while the one that has lived up to its promises is accorded generous patronage. The value of a good name in the world of the white tents is greater than has been estimated. Norris and Rowe deeply appreciate this and they are determined to leave an unsullied reputation to the generation following them. These young showmen have brought to this section many meritorious circus enjoyments but it remains for them to surpass themselves this year and eclipse all former efforts. Every dollar of last season's successful venture has been put into their new greater circus. They have new trains in sections of twenty cars each, all new dens of cages, wagons. Two menageries; standard bred stock; equestrian acts of the highest grade; far-famed athletes in sensational aerial feats; acrobats; gymnasts; posturers; leapers; vaulters; jugglers; equilibrists; Japanese swordswomen; lady and gentlemen expert riders; performing wild animals, etc. It takes over five hundred employees and performers to properly give the shows.

Messrs. Norris and Rowe are confident that the public will coincide with them that they are justly entitled this year to designate their shows as the Norris and Rowe Greater Circus. Exhibitions will be given at Peterborough Saturday, August 26th.

ANOTHER ACCIDENT TO NO. "13" THIS MORNING

Jumps the Track at Charlotte Street and Delays Traffic.

If you don't believe there is anything in a name, just look at the record of car No. "13." This car has a lengthy record for all sorts of minor and major accidents, and this morning another was added to the list, when it jumped the track at Charlotte street and blocked the traffic on the Auburn-Exhibition grounds line for a good half hour. No damage was done.

ATTEMPTS TO AVENGE MURDER

Commits Crime to Meet Wife's Slayer,

"An Eye for an Eye and a Tooth for a Tooth"—Story of a Crime Which Reads Like a Romance.

Michigan City, Ind., Aug. 17.—"An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth," the old Mosaic law, is written on the wall of cell thirteen of tier C of the west range in the south cellhouse of the state prison in this city. To the casual observer the expression is nothing more than idle fantasy of some being who imagines his confinement behind prison bars to be a travesty on justice, but to old John Wilhelm of Indianapolis, who occupies the tomblike apartment, it means much. In it he sees a haven of peace and quietude.

John Wilhelm is virtually serving time of his own free will. He has a score to settle, and to accomplish his ends it is necessary that he don convict garb, and be entered upon the lists of the state penitentiary, for the object of his vengeance is destined to spend the remainder of his life within the walls there. The old man has made a solemn vow to himself to take the life of "Big Bill" Malladay, convicted slayer of Mrs. Wilhelm.

Three score and ten years ago there was born in the hills of New Hampshire a little son to the Wilhelms, a poor German family. There the little fellow grew to manhood, and from there he started north to seek his fortune in the west. In Indianapolis he met, wooed and won a pretty young girl for his bride. In the course of time children were born.

But illness came, Wilhelm's children died. When the last clod of dirt had been thrown into the newly made graves the brokenhearted father and mother slowly wended their way home.

Wilhelm, broken by grief, took to drink. Probably there was a time when he felt himself slipping and tried to recover himself. There are only two who ever knew what a battle he had to fight, and one of those two was cut down by "Big Bill" Malladay, of Indianapolis. Not once during the time of sorrow and disgrace did Wilhelm forget to love the one who suffered with him, and it was while returning to her one night after a week of intoxication that he stumbled upon her lifeless body at his very door, where she had been felled by Malladay's cane.

When the trial court found Malladay guilty of the murder of Mrs. Wilhelm and sentenced him to life imprisonment, Wilhelm was greatly disappointed. But not until later, when he was arrested and sentenced to the state prison on a larceny charge, did the real cause of disappointment become known. Just before being removed to the prison from the Indianapolis jail Wilhelm confided to the warden that he had himself arrested, convicted and sent to prison that he might be near Malladay and gain an opportunity to avenge the death of his wife, it being his plan to murder Malladay the first time he had an opportunity.

Warden James D. Reid was informed of the plan of the aged prisoner, and not a man in the state prison is more closely watched than Wilhelm. As yet the old man has not had his chance to carry out his avowed plan, but as long as the handwriting, "an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth," remains on the wall of his cell, just so long will the fire of vengeance burn brightly within him.

One of the Principals In a Legal Action.

To Decide Who is the Original Inventor of Wireless Telegraphy.

Ottawa, August 16th. — J. G. Ridout, of Toronto; Clarence Thompson of Montreal, and Henry Aylen, K. C., of Ottawa, have been appointed arbitrators, to meet shortly in Ottawa, to ascertain who is the original inventor of signaling devices in connection with wireless telegraphy.

This step is the result of rival claims before the Canadian Patent Office, by Sir Oliver Lodge, the eminent English scientist, and R. A. Fessenden, and Dr. DeForrest, Americans.

THE GROOM WAS PETERBORO' MAN

Mr. M. J. McDonnell Married Yesterday in Toronto.

St. Michael's Cathedral was the scene of a very pretty wedding yesterday morning, when Miss Lillian O'Connor, daughter of Mr. John O'Connor, was united in marriage to Mr. M. J. The bridesmaid was Miss Margaret O'Connor, sister of the bride, while the groom was supported by his brother, Mr. C. J. McDonnell. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Rohleder.—Globe.

Red Hot Flashes Off the Wires—Canadian and Foreign Despatches

Carbolic Acid by Mistake.

Mrs. Forest, of Bay road, Digby, N. S., yesterday went through a terrible experience, giving her only child, a two weeks' old baby, carbolic acid instead of castor oil. When the mistake was discovered Dr. Ford was summoned at once, but arrived too late to save the child's life.

Joe Menier Dead.

"Big Joe" Menier, who, on Wednesday last, attempted to murder Mrs. Guay, and then put a bullet in his own head, died yesterday at Aylmer. He had been unable to eat since he was made a prisoner, and appeared unconscious of what was going on. Menier's victim has quite recovered from her slight injuries. The man's real name is James Grenier, and he is said to have a wife and family in Quebec.

Blown to Shreds.

Nine Italians were blown to shreds and their hut to atoms by a dynamite explosion at the camp of Dunlevy Brothers, about six miles from Durbin, yesterday. This is thought to be only another Italian feud between a gang of desperadoes and Italians. The crime was not discovered until daybreak, when members of the camp found parts of the bodies of the foreigners hanging to the trees. The deed was premeditated, but there is no trace of its perpetrators.

Forged for Sweetheart.

Upon returning home last night from a drive with his sweetheart, William Christman, a farm hand, living near Mingo, was arrested on a charge of forgery. Christmas is alleged to have purchased a horse from D. Herr Casselberry, near the village of Trappe, with which to take his sweetheart out for a drive occasionally. The charge is that he presented in payment for the animal a check to which he signed the name of Henry H. Wagner. A constable watched the young woman's home until Christmas arrived back from his driving trip and then arrested him.

Cupid Gets Old Negroes.

Their combined ages, 1135 years, John E. Watt, a negro labourer, and Elizabeth Warfield, of 731 Lex street, New York, took out a license to marry yesterday. Watt, who is 75 years old, has been paying his attentions to the bride-to-be, who is 60 years old, for several years. They both board at the Lex street house and their love match has been an interesting topic among the residents of the neighbourhood, on account of their advanced years. The prospective bridegroom's first wife was murdered about ten years ago by a negro minister named Norton, who was hanged for the crime, in Camden county, New Jersey.

Waste of Salmon.

Vancouver World tells a story of almost incredible waste of salmon which will be particularly exasperating to readers in parts of the country where salmon are scarce, dear and practically unknown except in the canned form. The traps in the Sound were choked with sockeyes, the wharves buried in them, the machinery hopelessly behind and the fish consequently spoiling. Scows were alongside the wharves piled with sockeyes which were turning putrid whilst hundreds of men, women, and girls toiled in vain to keep up to the deliveries. Few salmon were finding their way into the Fraser, and fewer still to the upper waters. The greedy canners of the Sound promised to lift their nets when the fish grew too plentiful, and give the others a chance, but are killing off the sources of future supply as fast as they can.

THE RUSSIAN ENVOY STANDS FOR PEACE

Surrenders Seven Out of Eight Articles to Japanese---China Gained Wednesday---Two More Points Agreed To--Japanese Fulfilling the Promises Made Re. Manchuria--Articles 7 and 8 Disposed of--Rights Restored to China in Railway--Prospects Brighter--Crisis Monday.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 17.—The prospects of peace were distinctly brighter last night. The plenipotentiaries are now laboring with a seriousness and earnestness which leave not the slightest doubt that both are anxious to conclude a treaty. Though the main points remain to be tackled and the plenipotentiaries of each side outwardly speak as if, unless the other gives way the conference will go to pieces, the spirit of compromise is in the air.

When he returned to the hotel last night M. Witte, who was tired out with his hard day's work, said: "I am doing all I can do for peace. Of the eight articles we have already considered, I have yielded seven. No other statesman in Russia would have dared do so much, and I have done what I have done upon my own responsibility."

Crisis on Monday.

From an authoritative source it is now possible to forecast with a fair degree of accuracy that the crisis will come on next Monday. Articles seven and eight, dealing with the fate of the Chinese Eastern Railroad, having been disposed of yesterday, there remains, in addition to the cession of Sakhalin, which was passed over, agreement being impossible, the question of indemnity, which comes up today as article nine, the limitation upon Russia's sea power in the Far East, the surrender of the interned warships and the grant to Japan of fishing rights on the littoral north of Vladivostock. To all except the latter, to which Russia will agree, a negative answer has been returned absolute in the case of indemnity and Sakhalin. Perhaps both the others may be modified and yielded by M. Witte, in order to strengthen his insistence upon Japanese concession upon indemnity and Sakhalin. To yield on either of the latter it can be regarded as practically certain that M. Witte would consult the Emperor. The exchange of views on the five remaining articles is expected to be completed on Friday or Saturday morning at the latest. The plenipotentiaries will then adjourn until Monday and the interim will probably be used by them to consult their respective Governments. When they meet on Monday their last cards will be thrown upon the table.

Manchuria Slips Away.

Articles 7 and 8 were disposed of yesterday, the former in "principle" and the latter "unanimously," according to the official bulletins. Article 7 provides for the cession to China of the branch of the Chinese Eastern Railroad running south from Harbin to Port Arthur and Dalny and with a branch line connecting at Newchwang with the Shanhaitawan-Tientsin road. Article 8 provides for the retention by Russia of the line through Northern Manchuria which forms the connecting link of the main line of the Trans-Siberian and Ussuri Railroad, with its termini at Vladivostock and Harbarovsk.

Hopeful Prospect.

Tokio, Aug. 17.—The Nichi Nichi today says: "The continuance of the conference is indicative of a hopeful prospect for the conclusion of peace."

The paper declares that if the Russians had rejected absolutely the questions of the reimbursement and the cession of Sakhalin Island the Japanese would have withdrawn from the conference. These demands are equally as important as the Corean and Manchurian questions. Japan's victories have been realised by the vast sacrifices of money and blood without the prospect of Russia's compliance in the payment of war expenditures and the transfer of Sakhalin Island. There is no reason why the conference should not be continued.

REPULSED THE RUSSIANS.

Make Attacks on Jap Positions With Loss of Men.

Tokio, Aug. 17.—An official report says: "Early on August 14, in the direction of Changtu, a Russian force, consisting of a battalion of infantry, two sections of cavalry, eight field guns and six machine guns, attacked our position at Erhahipipa, eight miles north of Changtu, but was immediately repulsed. Our casualties amounted to one, and the Russians lost 35. Simultaneously three companies of infantry and two squadrons of cavalry attacked us eight miles northeast of Changtu. This attack was repulsed, and at 3.30 o'clock the Russians retreated northward, leaving ten dead. The Russians also made a small attack on Weihuan Paolen, which was repulsed."

Jews Start Riot.

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

Editor of the Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I would like to ask through your Post Card Column what has become of the question of earlier shopping on Saturday nights. This should not be let drop—it is a crying shame to see clerks working on the Sabbath morning as I have seen more than once in your town, not forgetting the poor, tired horses that are kept at it all night and sometimes turned out Sunday morning to finish up. I have actually seen delivery rigs calling at houses with parcels, both dry goods and groceries at ten o'clock on Sunday. Now, Mr. Editor, cannot something be done to remedy this cruelty? People are not so unreasonable as to expect clerks and drivers to work long hours where a little effort on their part will remedy it.

Thanking you in advance, I am
Yours etc.,
OBSERVER.

Editor of the Post Card Column:

Dea Mr. Editor,—I notice in last night's Examiner that the lightning-change Aldermen have again changed their minds—if it is not a rash confession to thus admit that they have minds to change. They have dropped the idea of buying a fire engine and are going to submit the question to the ratepayers next election. Then they have appointed a deputation to be accompanied by the 57th band, at least the clarinet end of it, to look over some fire engines and decide which is the better. Now there may be an entire change of personnel of the council next January. Then if the people decide to buy an engine another deputation will have to be sent out for the new council won't have any more confidence in the aldermanic deputation people turned down at the polls, than the people themselves. That's the way the money goes, and all to no purpose. Couldn't our aldermen take some charm that would help them to know their own minds for twenty-four hours at a time.

Yours etc.,
MANUFACTURER.

Editor of the Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—As a suggestion for the building of sidewalks next year, I would submit that some colouring matter, easy for the eyes to be mixed with the cement. The glare from the sidewalks on a bright day is very trying on the eyes and if the cement were coloured as is done in some towns and cities in the old land the result would be very beneficial.

Hoping this will receive due consideration, I remain
Yours truly,
"PEDESTRIAN.

Editor of the Post Card Column:

There is no doubt that the G.T.R. and G.P.R. both hold the crossings too long, and something should be done to prevent it. I would also like to ask Mr. Sandy if it is necessary that the gates should be lowered when the train is some two blocks away? This frequently happens. It is not the duty of residents of the town to which the railways, but the police force. They can do it and still look after their other duties.

The street railway has been lucky, in not having more accidents than they have had, but I would like the manager to explain why it is that the fenders which are supposed to be for protection, are not in use on car No. 17; and also why motormen are not required to sound their gong at each and every crossing. This requires attention, Mr. Manager.

A '37 LEADER PASSES AWAY

WAS ARRESTED AS A REBEL

Notable Figure in This Province During Last Century Succumbs to Paralysis—Took an Active Part in the Stirring Times of 1837—Sentenced to Be Hanged.

Toronto, Aug. 17.—Charles Durand, known throughout this Province as one of the oldest figures in legal circles, died yesterday afternoon at his residence, 237 Huron street. He attained the ripe old age of 95 years, and was one of the salient lights in the turbulent times that marked the making of the Province and the Government during the earlier years of the past century.

He was born at Hamilton, and in his younger years received what education was possible and later graduated for law. For some years he practised that profession at Hamilton. When the stirring times of 1837 threw this Province into the possibility of a civil war, Mr. Durand sided with the followers of William Lyon Mackenzie. His liberal ideas got him into serious trouble. He was arrested and thrown into jail with Lount and Mathews. When his case came to trial accusations were brought against him that led to a sentence of death being passed upon him. After some time and a revival of the case this sentence was changed to banishment.

Pardoned By the Queen.

When he was escorted to the frontier and told to go his way and never return to the Province, Mr. Durand made his way to Buffalo, and then to Chicago. Here he practised law, and some time later Robert Baldwin, who had been interested in his case, pleaded before Lord Durham to have the edict against Mr. Durand removed. His pleadings eventually were heard and carried before Queen Victoria, who granted him a pardon, and Mr. Durand returned to the Province in 1844.

With his return he settled in Toronto, where he practised law until 1890.

During the Sandfield Macdonald Government he was appointed an inspector of the Division Courts. His long connection with the courts made many friends for him, and not a few will regret his death. In 1890 he retired from active life, and since has spent his time in living over the stirring scenes of the past. Shortly after he retired he compiled an autobiography of his life and memoirs of his contemporaries. This, telling as it does the story of the rebellion of 1837, of the prominent figures in it and as Mr. Durand knew them, is one of the most interesting histories of that time of the making of this country.

Due to Paralysis.

His death had been expected for some time, and did not come as a shock to his family. Last January he suffered a stroke of paralysis and never really rallied from it. For the past few months he has been failing gradually.

Mr. Durand was married at the age of 23 to a Miss Bostwick, whose father's homestead was at King and Yonge streets. By this marriage he had five children, Miss Durand, Mrs. W. Bacon, Mrs. Dr. Oldright of Toronto, Mrs. J. E. Oldright of Austin, Texas, and Mrs. Dr. Fraser of Detroit. After the death of his first wife he married a Miss Bradshaw of Hamilton, who survives him, by whom he had two children, Dr. Charles Durand of Buffalo and Miss L. E. Thomas A. Elliott Dead.

Detroit, Aug. 17.—Typhoid fever caused the death of Thomas A. Elliott, M. A., night city editor of The Free Press, in St. Mary's Hospital, yesterday. Mr. Elliott had been with The Free Press from 1893, when he came here from the Canadian Northwest. He was a native of the Dominion, a man of collegiate education and a member of the bar. Not finding the legal profession tasteful to his temperament, Mr. Elliott went into the Canadian Northwest Mounted Constabulary, in which he was soon made an officer. From that service he came to Detroit. He was about 45 years old, not married; and is survived by his mother and sister in Toronto.

Toronto, Aug. 17.—Thomas A. Elliott, M. A., was a son of Mrs. Elliott, widow of the late Rev. James Elliott, D. D., Toronto, who resides, with her daughter, on East Bloor street. The remains will be brought to Toronto.

A gentleman, attracted by the range of Sanitary Closets and excellent values we are offering, invested in a new one, although he already had one that was working not badly.

The way he looked over the Closets we arranged before him for inspection showed he had been sifting the matter, and knew how to prove and disprove the claims of dealers.

The saving of health and expensive plumbing repairs, warranted the investment, he said.

WESTERN TERMINUS OF TRANSCONTINENTAL

Bishop Du Vernet Writes of Kaen Island--Town Site Situated on a Magnificent Land-Locked Harbor, Large Enough to Float the British Navy--No Private Land Speculation.

Bishop DuVernet—Rev. F. H. Du Vernet—who will be remembered by very many in Peterborough as having conducted a mission in St. John's church some years ago, writes the the following interesting letter to the Globe:—

While it may be quite true that the Board of Directors of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway have not yet even considered the question of the site of the western terminus, yet those closely connected with the company have taken such preliminary steps as to render it safe to say that the most probable site is Kaen Island, on Tuck's Inlet.

A brief description from one who has been all round this locality may be of interest:—

Kaen Island (pronounced by the Indians Kayen) is about 25 miles south of Port Simpson. It is a mountainous island, but on its north shore facing Tuck's Inlet there is a strip of land gradually sloping back to the base of the mountain, from half a mile to a mile and a half in width, and about three miles in length. This is the probable town site. The island is separated from the mainland by a narrow passage, but the mainland is rocky and unsuitable for buildings. To the west of Kaen island and separated from it by a strip of deep water, less than a mile in width, which forms the entrance to Tuck's Inlet, is Digby Island, 7,350 acres in size. This is a comparatively level island with good soil, but it is Indian reserve. Digby Island forms the western breakwater to Tuck's Inlet, which is about ten miles in length. Coming in from the Pacific by Brown's Entrance there is a channel a mile wide with a uniform depth of over eighteen fathoms. On most charts this has been erroneously marked "foul water." When near the west shore of Kaen Island a turn is made to the north, passing between Digby Island on the left and Kaen Island on the right (see picture enclosed.)

We sounded here again and again and found no bottom at twenty fathoms. This is the immediate entrance. Another turn, this time to the east, brings one to the proposed town site, situated on a magnificent land-locked harbour, large enough to float the British Navy.

As serious injury is often done to a new country by foolish speculation made by ignorant investors, it may be well to note as far as Kaen Island is concerned there is absolutely no room for private speculation. The Dominion Government controls the western point of Kaen Island and the whole of Digby Island is an Indian reserve. The Provincial Government has reserved the mountainous part of Kaen Island, worthless for building purposes, but suitable for a mountain park. The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company indirectly through an official has control of 10,000 acres, which embraces all the level land on Kaen Island not Indian reserve, and some good land on the opposite side of Tuck's Inlet.

This land and the money paid for it will be forfeited if this is not declared to be the terminus on or before June 30, 1906. The theory that the Kaen Island town site will be a second Port Moody ignores the fact that the Dominion Government is an active partner in the contract. When the G.T.P. submits its plan for a western terminus to the Dominion Government, and the Dominion Government approves of the location, this must be final for the Marine Department must light the way as from the Pacific—an entirely different entrance to that of Port Simpson harbour if Tuck's Inlet be the choice. Port Moody and Vancouver are on the same inlet, and it was a simple matter to extend the C.P.R. a few miles nearer the sea.

Northern British Columbia, with its magnificent scenery, its salubrious climate and its untold natural wealth in forest and field, mine and sea, will soon become most attractive to settlers. I am anxious to do all in my power to help the right kind of people to come to the Pacific Northwest, and shall be glad to give any information that I can regarding Northern British Columbia, the district in which I am constantly travelling. Speculating in town lots which are on the side of some steep mountain or on some rocky inlet miles away from any possible city will not help but retard the development of the country.

REMARKABLE SPREAD OF TEMPERANCE IN BRITAIN

The remarkable wave of temperance which is at present spreading all over Great Britain, is said to be due in the first place to economic conditions, and secondly to the great change in public taste.

"One of the chief reasons of the decrease in the national drink bill", said Mr. John T. Rea, secretary of the National Temperance League, to an "Express" representative, "is the strikingly condemnation of the use of alcohol by some of the most influential medical authorities.

"The total abstinence of the majority of the labour leaders is also beginning to tell on the labouring classes and members of trade unions, many of whom are now beginning to realize that total abstinence is an important stepping-stone to their future progress."

The manager of one of the largest firms of wine merchants, however, says "that the decrease in wine and spirit drinking is due to the present tightness of money and the high rate of income-tax. In consequence of this the public are only spending about half as much on wines as they were formerly in the habit of doing."

The following list of Government returns on home consumption of wines and spirits speaks for itself:—

Year.	Wines, Gallons.	Spirits, Gallons.
1899	16,681,000	44,413,918
1900	15,880,000	892,764
1901	15,220,000	45,226,494
1902	15,345,342	44,976,982
1903	13,492,000	41,884,663
1904	11,260,000	40,696,176

During the recent heat wave the change in the national habits of drinking has been specially noticeable. Comparatively little business has been done by the public bars, while the sellers of iced drinks, soda, etc., have been kept at full pressure.

IMPROVEMENTS IN CHEESE FACTORY

An Inspector Says There Is Lots of Room in This District.

Why Cheese From One Factory Was off Colour.

Reports received from dairy instructors, especially those in the eastern parts of the province, in which district Peterborough is located, go to show that there is great need of improvement in buildings and their equipment. One instructor writes: "Quite a few of the factories in my section have poor buildings and badly located, and it is next to impossible to make much improvement along that line while the season lasts, but I hope to see some improvement before next season." Another instructor writes that "the factories are not as good as expected, neither are the conditions surrounding them, but there is a very great improvement since spring, and the new factories that are going up are sanitary and a credit to the industry. We have a good lot of makers here, if they only had a fair show, that is, good factories, good drainage, and the raw product delivered in a pure, sound condition. There is a lot to be done yet in getting the raw product right, and it can be got only by co-operation among all connected with the business. There has been a wonderful improvement this year, and we hope to accomplish a lot more before the season closes."

Still another writes: "I find the whey tanks and their surroundings are the source of more trouble than any other one thing. The makers are doing as well as they can under existing conditions, the surprise is that they are able to turn out as good a quality of cheese as they do."

There is evidently a responsibility resting upon the proprietors of factories when they do not fully appreciate. It would, however, be to the ultimate advantage of proprietors to put their factories in proper condition, in order that the makers might turn out a first-class quality of cheese. Probably no investment would give better returns than the expenditure of two or three hundred dollars in fixing up the curing rooms in connection with the factory. Especially is this true in a season when we have so many hot spells as during the present season. A manufacturer or a factory owner states "that he cannot afford to put any more money into the plant at the present price of manufacture. The patrons tell him they are paying enough, and there we are". When a cut is made on the cheese, the fact is covered up and kept dark between owner and maker, and the patrons know nothing about it, and if they do they are more than likely to blame the maker than anyone else.

One of the factory instructors writes: "Thus far I have visited 56 factories in the interest of the cause, and have had a great many changes made, not only as to the way of curing the milk, but the place in which it was kept, and upon every visit I have been well and kindly received, and find that the vast majority of the farmers are greatly in sympathy, and appreciate the work done by the Department. In one of the factories in my group, the maker had a great deal of trouble with the flavour of his cheese, and I made a curd test, and found that the milk sent in by one of the producers was the cause of this bad flavour. The owner of this place was the secretary of the factory, and should have had a place which could have been set up as a model for other dairymen. We, however, found the stable a wretched one, and the milking machine setting on the floor in the most foul part of the stable. We found that the only washing which the machine received was a rinsing in cold water once each day, and once a week, as a sorts of preparation for Sunday, I suppose, hot water was used. The odor given off by this machine resembled a combination of old rubbers and dirty teat. The flavour of the cheese made in the vat could be detected in the curing room."

CANADIANS IN UNITED STATES

The Last Census Shows That There Were 1,181,255 Canadians There.

Canadians are in High Favour in That Country.

The Old Boys' Association of London, Ontario, is holding a reunion this week, says the Finance Chronicle, at which there is a large attendance of visitors from the United States. The Chicago Tribune estimates that 1,000 residents of that city could be sent to London, Ont., to represent the American members of the "Old Boys' Association." In the United States census of 1900 it is shown that 1,181,255 persons born in Canada now reside in the U. S., that is, there are one-fifth as many Canadians in the States as there are in Canada. Of Germans there are 2,666,990, and of Irish 1,618,587. At the Independence Day banquet in London the American Ambassador said there were more Germans in New York than in any city in Germany except Berlin. The classes chiefly represented in the States by Canadians are officers of banks, financial institutions, and those of a confidential character in mercantile firms. Canadians are in high favour for their steadiness, reliability, and all the higher qualities of a trusted employee. Canadians constitute an invaluable element in the business life of the United States. The outflow of population to the States from Canada has been towards the large cities and industrial centres, while the inflow is now from the farming districts of the Western States of America to the Northwest of Canada. The Chicago Tribune speaks of Canadians as "emphatically desirable additions to the citizenry of the country."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Is your Coal Wasted or Used?

It is comparatively easy to build a range that will make a lot of heat, but it requires the exact science of Pandora range building to produce a range that will use all the heat in the coal without waste.

A common range may burn twice the coal that a Pandora will, and yet do only half the work.

If you use a Pandora range you can be certain that your coal money is not wasted, but used.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Doukohobors probably parade the western plains in Adamic costume because they think Canada a Paradise.

The Mail and Empire is trying to extinguish Mr. W. F. McLean, the light of the World, by ridicule. Might as well try to batter down the pyramids with a pop gun. Mr. McLean welcomes any recognition, coming in any shape.

In an article in another column, it is stated that there are 1,800,000 Canadians in the United States. It may be so, and while we are pleased that the Yankees themselves consider Canadians the cream of their hash population, we are glad that the exodus over the southern boundary is over for ever. The tide is turned in the other direction. The twentieth century belongs to Canada and we are growing and developing. It won't be many years before a large number of our expatriated Canadians will be again north of the border, in the great Northwest, and enough Americans to balance the expatriation account.

The Ottawa Free Press is advocating a new residence for the Governor-General, and to forestall Toronto opposition, it advocates also a new residence for the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario. As to Rideau Hall, the plea is not, perhaps, amiss, since the present vice-regal residence at the capital is, architecturally, a thing of shreds and patches. In both cases there is room for improvement — in Toronto, on the score of unsuitable site, and in Ottawa on account of unsuitable buildings. There are so many needs in a new and growing Canada for perfectly legitimate expenditure that it is difficult to know where to begin first. We need additional transportation routes, and it seems itt would be wiser to spend money in completing the Trent Waterway tahn in building new gubernatorial residences. This may be a very material view to take, but in one case we have resulting a real and tangible benefit, while in the other, aesthetic considerations are the predominating elements.

TEAM RAN AWAY WITH A BINDER

An Exciting Runaway In Lakefield.

Personal News From That Village—Civic Holiday Observed Monday.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Lakefield, Aug. 16.—Miss Larmonth, of Hastings, who has been visiting in the village, the guest of Miss Kennedy, has returned to her home.

Dr. Scott, of Toronto, passed through the village Monday.

Monday was well observed in Lakefield as Civic Holiday. A large number of our citizens taking in the regatta at Stony Lake.

Messrs. Harry Simpson and Chas. Gordon, of the village, are showing up rather good at the different regattas in this vicinity, carrying off a goodly share of the honours, both from Sturgeon Point and Stony Lake.

Mr. R. P. Davidson came home from the lakes Monday with a fine string of bass, two of which would weigh four pounds each.

Mr. E. A. Tanner spent the holiday visiting friends in Port Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. Web. Sherin and family have gone to Stony Lake for a couple of weeks, occupying Miss Ray's cottage.

Mr. Herb. Montgomery is spending a few days at Stony Lake.

Miss Spellman, of Hastings, is the guest of Mrs. Kennedy.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sherin and family, are summering at their cottage at Mount Julian, Stony Lake.

Mrs. Roberts, of New York, who has been visiting in Lakefield with her sister, Mrs. Cumberland, left this week for her home in New York.

Messrs. H. Kidd, W. Hurl and Wm. Doidge took in the excursion to Buffalo and Niagara Falls Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Arnott, of Watertown, N. Y., is visiting in the village for a few days.

Mr. Lyman, of Buffalo, who is summering at Breeze's, Stony Lake, was in the village Tuesday.

Miss Nichols, of Hall's Bridge, is the guest of Miss Kate Simpson.

Mr. Wilbert Leonard spent Monday at Stony Lake taking in the regatta.

The Epworth League of the Methodist church postponed the moonlight excursion which was to be held Tuesday, till Thursday, August 17.

Quite an exciting runaway took place here on Monday afternoon, Mr. Matthews, who was taking a self-binder through the village, left his horses standing in front of the News office when he went into a store. The horses became frightened, and dashed down the street with the binder and ran into a post at the town hall, where the horses freed themselves from the binder and were caught at lock No. 1. Considerable damage was done to the self-binder.

A very successful garden party was held on the lawn of Mr. S. W. Leggott on the evening of August 10th under the auspices of the Cheerful Workers' Mission Band of the Methodist church.

MAKING BAD BOYS GOOD

Now Reforming Criminals By Operation.

Injuries Sustained in Early Years Found in Many Cases to be Responsible for Criminal Tendencies.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 13.—The Juvenile Court of this city, presided over by Judge Stubbs, is making a radical departure in the matter of reforming young criminals, and the results so far have more than justified the methods employed.

Of four boys, who have been operated on for the cure of criminal tendencies, not one has gone back to his old habits, and both judge and operating physician are convinced that the results are worth while. By the apparent reformation of three incorsigible boys and one confirmed thief the parents have been relieved of a burden and their homes made contented and happy.

Judge Stubbs and Dr. John Kolmer, a brain specialist, were discussing several years ago cases that come before the Juvenile Court, and the physician advanced some theories regarding crime that appealed to the Judge. The latter spoke of the seeming cruelty of having to send the child of honest parents to the Reform School, and spoke of his policy never to imprison a child until everything else had been tried. This led to suggestions as to possible inability on the part of some children to control themselves. From suggestions then made it was determined to try experiments in cases where the facts seemed to justify them.

Soon after this conversation Roy Ellis was arrested. The Judge recognized him as a lad who, though only nine years old, had been frequently before him. His parents were industrious, well to do people. Until five years old he had been tractable and had given his parents no trouble. Then a change had come over him, and for four years he had been a source of vexation. Time and again he had been arrested on complaints of neighbours, and his parents were forced to admit that they could do nothing with him.

The court turned him over to Dr. Kolmer, and the physician began a study of the case. The parents were at a loss to account for the change in the child's disposition, but in examining his skull the physician found a depression as if from a fall or blow. The parents repalled that the boy was struck a blow on the head when about five years of age, and that the marked change of disposition came about that time.

The parents were called into consultation with the court and the doctor before any steps were taken, for their consent was necessary to the operation. The court had told them that it was only a question of an operation with its attendant dangers and its hope of reformation, or sending the boy to the reform school with the chances that he would come out no better than he went in. Under these circumstances consent was given, and the operation was performed.

Good Boy Since.

Part of the skull was removed and it was found that it had greatly thickened, making the pressure on the brain pronounced. The boy is now thirteen years of age, and in the four years since the operation there has never been a complaint against him.

The probation officer of the court has kept his eye on him, without the child's knowledge, and has made frequent inquiries among his associates. Not a single act of disobedience in school or at home has been reported, and his teachers agree that he is a model boy.

The case of Jesse Beard, fourteen years of age, was a notable one. The boy's parents are educated, refined and in good circumstances. There are six children in the family, and Jesse is the only one that ever gave the parents any trouble. Ever since he was four years of age he had been subject to fits of temper, and in such periods no one could do anything with him. There was not a family within two squares of the Beard home that did not have a horror of the lad, and on many occasions he was taken in charge by the police on complaint of neighbours.

Trouble Easily Located.

The cause of the boy's trouble was located. The parents said that he had fallen from a building when four years of age, but he recovered from his injuries so quickly that the incident passed out of their minds till it was revived by the physicians questions. Examination showed that the injury had been received on the left side of the head along the fissure of Rolando. When a part of the skull was removed it was found to have pressed on the brain owing to the indentation made by the fall and the thickening of the membranes since that time.

The boy has now been out of the hospital for more than a year, and there has been no signs of the pations by which he was once so easily swayed. He has three sisters and two brothers and there is no apparent difference in their dispositions; Jesse being as tractable as any of the others since he left the hospital.

Few of the cases submitted to Dr. Kolmer by Judge Stubbs are operated on. If the defect is constitutional resulting from heredity—or investigation shows that it is the result of environment, the physician does not operate.

He is convinced though, that much of the crime in the young is due to physical deformities, and in cases of this kind attempts to give relief.

One boy was a confirmed thief. Examination convinced Dr. Kolmer that the criminality was due to a compressed brain and he operated on the boy, sawing open the skull from the forehead, nearly to the vertebra. The boy will be kept under surveillance by the probation officer, and reports will be made from time to time to the court. Dr. Kolmer is watching the case with great interest.

SPAIN'S KING ALARMS COURT

Takes Motor Trip and Rides Across Pyrenees.

Visits Lourdes Shrine—Is Impressed With Sufferings of Pilgrims and Promises to Pray for Them.

Madrid, August 17th. — There was consternation in court and ministerial circles yesterday, owing to the sudden disappearance of the King from San Sebastian.

His Majesty started on his motor car without warning and in a short time all trace of him had been lost.

Police telephones were set ringing, Pampeluna, Hendaye, and other places were called up in turns, but all declared that they had seen nothing of the King.

While San Sebastian telephoned the Governor of Navarre, the young King was speeding across the Pyrenees, via Jaca, and on to Pau, where he visited the castle of Henry IV.

The authorities at Pampeluna waited to catch a glimpse of the elusive monarch, but he crossed through the town at such a speed without stopping that the news they were able to report to the authorities was most confusing.

One officer declared that the King was accompanied by the Infanta Teresa, but a message from San Sebastian stated that the Infanta had remained there. It was then agreed that one of the King's companions had been mistaken for a lady.

Finally all doubts were set at rest by positive information that the King was at Tarbes, and afterwards that he had motored to Lourdes, where he visited the famous grotto.

Nobody took much notice of the tall young man who, dressed in a blue motoring costume and cap, stood in an attitude of deep devotion before the grotto, over which the many crutches of the miraculously healed are arranged in a panoply, and where by day and night wax candles are kept burning.

As the King took his place in the long line of pilgrims waiting for their cup of water from the spring, a whisper went around that the devout young pilgrim was his Catholic Majesty.

It is characteristic of Lourdes that his presence did not interfere with the bathing or the drinking of the water, and that the continuous appeal to the Virgin to heal the sick who had come there to seek her help never stopped for an instant.

The young King prayed for some time at the grotto, and then went into the basilicon to mass. On his way to the building, which is only 200 yards from the grotto, the King was mobbed by poor sufferers — consumptives, cripples and pilgrims of all ages — who begged His Majesty to pray for them. In some cases they even asked him to touch their wounds.

King Alfonso was evidently deeply moved by all the suffering he saw around him and promised to pray for the pilgrims.

Inside the cathedral the King was shown the chalice, the gift of his father, Alfonso XII, when Prince of the Escurial.

The Government agrees with the high dignitaries of the royal household that something should be done to check the King's unbridaled motor enthusiasm. The difficulty is that no one knows how to proceed about it.

Stole Fifteen Cattle.

William Cochrane, Claresville, Kent county, was absent from his farm a few days back when two men entered his fields and were seen to coolly drive off fifteen of his cattle. When Cochrane returned he followed the men and found they had taken the cattle fifty miles by road to Glanworth and there had them loaded and consigned by rail to Caledonia, but had not gone with them. The men are believed to be Indians. Developments in this very unusual form of theft are looked for with interest.

7000 Labour Sermons.

On the Sunday before Labour Day, Sept. 3, 7,000 Presbyterian preachers in the United States will preach to the working class upon some phase of the labour question. This is in accordance with a plan outlined by the department of church and labour, recently organized by the Presbyterian Church. Superintendent Charles Stelzle of this department, who has his headquarters in Chicago, to-day sent out an appeal to preachers of the Presbyterian Church outlining the purposes of the new department, which is to encourage more helpful relationship between the workingmen and the Church, and requesting them to preach on the labour question on the Sunday before Labour Day.

DANDRUFF DON'T WASH OUT.

The Germ That Causes It Has to Be Destroyed to Cure Dandruff.

Many a woman spends an hour twice a week scouring her scalp, thinking that by scrubbing off the scurf she will cure the dandruff. Two hours a week, at the age of 40 years, she has spent 260 days of 12 hours each, or two-thirds of a year of her life, in that vain hope; vain because you can't cure dandruff without killing the dandruff germ, and the only hair preparation on earth that will do that is Newbro's "Herpicide"—also a delightful hair dressing, and thorough antiseptic against all contagion from use of others hair brushes. Sold by leading druggists. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, special agents.

Died on Holiday Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Clarke of Mount Vernon, N.Y., left their home with their two children, a boy aged 6 and girl aged 4, two months ago, for a pleasure trip in Europe and Algeria. Word has just been received at Mount Vernon that both children died of spinal meningitis in Algeria.

Test the Kidneys.

LOCAL BOARD IS PROGRESSIVE

Canadian Dairyman Eulogizes Peterborough Cheese Board.

While in Peterborough recently, a representative of the Canadian Dairyman secured an excellent photograph of the Cheese Board, which is published on this page. This Board is one of the most progressive in Canada and has an efficient staff of officers, who are as follows: President, J. Drummond; Vice-President, T. D. Young; Secretary, John Riddell; Treasurer, Jas. Middleton. There are 46 factories and 9 buyers, who compose the Board. This Board was started in a small way over 33 years ago and has grown to be one of the largest in Canada. There are only two other Boards on which more cheese are sold, there being nearly 6,000 cheese boarded every meeting. White cheese and butter are not manufactured in this vicinity to any extent. Most of the cheese sold is purchased by representatives of Montreal houses. The Dairyman was assured that there is no cheese sold on the street.

Mr. T. D. Young, who is acting as president during the absence of Mr. Drummond, fills the position capably and the manner in which the business of the board is conducted would be an object lesson to many boards.

Mr. John Riddell, secretary, stated at the meeting that two years ago, Peterborough was shelved in favour of Belleville for the annual convention of the Eastern Dairymen's Association, but he believes that it is their turn now. Accordingly he moved that a committee be appointed to interview the city and county councils that they may extend invitations to the association to hold the next convention in Peterborough. A committee will also be in attendance when the executive of the association meets in Toronto during September.

JOINT MEETING TO BE HELD SOON

Time for Conference on Securing Dairymen's Convention Will be Decided Saturday

At Mid-Meeting of the Roads and Bridges Committee of County Council.

It is probable that on Saturday the date of the joint meeting of the city and county councils, or committees representing each, to decide upon what course of action will be taken in reference to the meeting of the Eastern District Dairymen's Association, will be taken.

On that day a meeting of the Roads and Bridges Committee of the county council will be held in the county buildings here and the city council will send a representative to the meeting to arrange, if possible, a joint meeting. It will have to be held in the near future, because the executive of the Dairymen's Association will meet in Toronto during the progress of the exhibition to decide upon the place in which the next convention will be held, and the local authorities will have to send a deputation to the executive meeting in order to secure the meeting in this city next year.

A MID-SUMMER SOCIAL EVENT

Miss Mae B. Glass Married to Mr. A. S. Goard.

Two persons were made happy yesterday, when, at the residence of Mr. E. C. Howson, Water street, Mrs. Howson's sister, Miss Mae B. Glass, was united in marriage to Mr. Arthur S. Goard, of Hartney, Manitoba.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of about twenty-five guests by Rev. W. P. Goard, of Hartney, Manitoba, brother of the groom. The bride was attended by two little flower girls, Leila Howson, niece of the bride, and Ruth Goard, cousin of the groom. The bride was attired in a beautiful imported gown of hand embroidered mull, with garniture of aloe, and she carried a bouquet of white roses. The ceremony was followed by a dainty dejeuner des noeces. The happy pair embarked on the evening express for Hartney, Manitoba, their future place of residence. The bride was favoured with unusually elite wedding presents. The groom's gift to the bride was a solid gold watch, and each of the flower girls received a pearl crescent. The out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Neill, Winnipeg, Rev. W. P. and Mrs. Goard, Hartney, Manitoba; and Mrs. H. Thompson, Miss Parkins and Miss Davy, of Toronto.

FINE SET OF VIEWS AT JACKSON PARK

As Usual There Was a Large Crowd in Attendance.

Despite the cool air last night a big crowd was on hand as usual at Jackson Park to hear the band concert and witness the moving pictures. The crowd was a very orderly one, and with the exception of a little mix-up the policeman's services were not required.

A good set of moving pictures were shown and were very much appreciated. A trip by rail through the Alps mountains was very fine, and "The Lost Child" furnished plenty of amusement for everyone.

A new set of views will be shown every night this week, and with fine weather the big crowds at these popular entertainments will continue.

ADDITIONAL POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE

Editor of the Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—Allow me space to warn the young ladies of the city of Peterborough and in particular the mothers to keep their daughters off the streets in the evening. At twenty minutes past ten last evening, I, with others was coming from Jackson Park on Hunter street. Opposite St. Peter's I saw two young ladies coming up Rubidge street at a very quick pace, and a young man following after and stopped one of them. We passed on thought thinking there seemed something strange about it as I heard him speak to her. I was in front of Mr. T. Hurley's residence when I heard the ladies scream several times and begin to weep. I called for help and on arriving it was found that the young lady had been assaulted and her assailant immediately took flight. On speaking to a party residing quite near they said that the occurrence was nothing new to happen. Now it is a warning to every lady in the city to leave Jackson Park earlier. That part of the city, that is Rubidge street and back in that part of the city, is greatly in need of police protection, also of light. It is also a warning to girls, both old and young to have a guard with them.

Yours truly,
ONE IN SYMPATHY.

Falling from Alps.

Prof. Heim, the well-known geologist and Alpine climber, at the Zurich meeting of the Swiss Alpine club described the sensations he experienced in falling from a precipice in the Santos Alps. He was not troubled in breathing. He felt tranquil, but was endowed with unusual mental activity, and varied thoughts and ideas flashed rapidly through his brain. A thousand long-forgotten incidents of his past life came pleasantly to his memory. Then came the sound of soft and soothing music, and at that instant he knew that he had struck ground. He lost consciousness absolutely without pain or the slightest sensation of shock.

Passengers Screamed.

During the electric storm at Galt a bolt struck the trolly wire in front of the street railway office. A car had been brought to a stand not far from the office, and the lightning flashed along the wire to the car and down into the car. Fortunately it only burnt out one of the motors, but the passengers received a bad scare and the women screamed.

THEY ARE THE BEST

Why furnaces crack in Summer.

In the old fashioned hotwater heaters with wide, flat surfaces, the soot finds a splendid resting place. A scraper and brush runs soot into the interstices between the water sections. There it cakes and hardens, absorbs moisture, then it expands, and you have a cracked waterpot. If you have a "Bison" hotwater heater you won't have any furnace troubles. There are no flat soot collecting surfaces in the "Bison"—no crevices where soot can lodge; there will be no cracked waterpots, no delays, no mess, no plumbers' bills.

Prospects For The Annual Aquatic Event at Chemong Are Good.

Special Prizes Being Offered for Sailing and Skiff Races—The Programme.

Last night a special meeting of the Chemong Regatta Committee was held when arrangements were completed for the aquatic event on Tuesday next, which promises to be the most interesting and most successful in the history of Chemong.

The reports of the sub-committees were received, and each showed that the particular duties assigned to them had been faithfully carried out, and when Tuesday morning breaks the best planned regatta ever held on Lake Chemong will take place.

Special interest will be centred in the sailing race, which will be participated in by a number of sailing boats, three of which will come from Sturgeon Point. OSHAWA PLAYS HERE ON SATURDAY

The Locals Need the Game and are out to Win.

Do not forget the great game with Oshawa on Riverside Park on Saturday. This is the first time the locals have had a chance to try conclusions with the lake town bunch and they need a victory to keep their hold on the pennant.

The Red Birds were only defeated by one run in Oshawa last week and the Pirates can surely pull out a victory. Cadman and Phelan are still doing the battery work for Oshawa, but the locals should not have trouble in locating Phelan, as he was laced to the four corners of the lot in the latter half of the game here with the Royal Canadians about two weeks ago. The game is called for 3 o'clock sharp.

HUNGRY NINE WON THE GAME

Defeated the Good Kids Last Night by Score of 5—1.

The Hungry Nine and the Good Kids again clashed at Jackson Park last night and when the moon came out the score stood 5-1 in favour of the Shamrocks. The game was full of features from Umpire Jimmy Callahan, down to Red O'Brien on the bench. The umpiring was of the kind a blind man dishes up and O'Brien's antics on the side lines would put a bob-tailed monkey in the shade.

Collie Barrett made a sensational one-hand stab of a hot liner and missed; one Jack Ross collided with the fence with the result that the lumber suffered most, and Duke Oldham caught everything in his mask.

The teams took the field as follows:

Hungry Nine (5)—Dobson, p.; Oldham, c.; M. Whaley, 1 b.; B. Whaley, 2 b.; Collie Barrett, 3 b.; Lapoh Derocher, s. s.; C. Dobson, r. f.; W. Delaire, c. f.; Dutch Storts, l. f.

Good Kids (1)—Ike King, p.; Dunnett, c.; Kearns, 1 b.; C. Ross, 2 b.; Davidson, 3 b.; Larry Whaley, s. s.; Boner Graham, r. f.; J. Lacy, c. f.; Ike Watson, l. f.

Fourteen hits were made off King in the second and if darkness had not come on they would have been batting yet, but the Good Kids refused to play by moonlight.

BASEBALL.

"Minutes" Lafontaine, manager of the Hungry Nine intends to arrange a game here on Labour Day between his team and a Cobourg nine.

VISIT OF THE PRINCE.

State Ball at Quebec Given by Earl and Countess Grey.

Quebec, Aug. 17.—The state ball which was given by Their Excellencies the Earl and Countess Grey at the citadel vice-regal quarters last night was one of the grandest social functions that was ever held in the ancient capital. Beside the special guests, H.R.H. Prince Louis of Battenberg and officers of the second cruiser squadron, there were present some six hundred other invited guests.

Prince Louis of Battenberg, who is the guest of the Governor-General in the citadel, went aboard H. M. S. Drake at 11 o'clock yesterday morning and received the local consular corps.

Their Excellencies the Earl and Countess Grey and household staff will leave for Ottawa on Monday next.

OPERATOR OPENED SWITCH.

Verdict of Coroner in Connection With the Mentor Wreck.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 17.—Coroner Sigelstein yesterday rendered a verdict in connection with the wreck of the Twentieth Century Limited on the Lake Shore Railroad at Mentor, O., on the night of June 22, in which 19 lives were lost. The verdict in part follows: I find that the switch was opened by Walter F. Miner, the night telegraph operator in charge of the station.

CLAIMS JURISDICTION.

Sultan of Morocco Declines to Accede to French Demands.

Fez, Morocco, Aug. 12.—The Sultan has declined to accede to the demands of the French Minister for the payment of an indemnity and the release of the chief of the Algerian settlement at Ghars, who was arrested in consequence of local troubles. The Sultan claims jurisdiction over all Algerian settlers in Morocco. The incident may lead to important developments.

ATTACKED CHINA'S EMPRESS.

Assailant, Dressed As a Soldier, Bayonetted by Guard.

Frankfurt, Aug. 17.—A Tientsin despatch to The Frankfurter Zeitung says that an attempt was made upon the life of the Empress of China yesterday as she was passing through the northwest gate of the city to her summer palace. Her assailant was dressed as a soldier and was bayonetted by the guard.

Both Will Recover.

Amherstburg, Aug. 17.—It is probable that the case against Alfred Morton, who shot his wife and her father last Saturday night, will not come up before the fall Assizes. He was arraigned here, and remanded for one week. The victims will not be in condition to give their evidence before then. John Lovegrove, Mrs. Horton's father, is progressing favorably. Mrs. Horton had a restless night, but her recovery is expected.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 17.—John O'Shea of Deseronto, Ont., wheelsman of the president Anderton, was drowned here Tuesday night. O'Shea walked off the dock after the steamer. Three others followed, but were rescued.

CONDITIONS ARTIFICAL.

Shooting at Bisley Camp Wrong, Says Expert and King's Prizeman.

London, Aug. 17.—(C. A. P.)—Walter Wingans, in The World, giving his views on rifle shooting at Bisley, says: "The system of shooting is all wrong. It is absolutely contrary to the conditions of warfare. The Bisley champion is almost more useless at the front than the man who never before handled a rifle. Shooting at a big stationary target at long range is the worst possible training. The Bisley man fires under the most artificial conditions. He lies down on his stomach, rests his elbows on the ground, and a baby could do that."

Interviewed on Mr. Wingans' article Sergt. Comber, the King's Prize winner, was asked if he thought much of the shooting at Bisley. "Too artificial," he said, "certainly some of it is; for instance the wearing of orthodoxic glasses in the last stage of the King's Prize. Ninety per cent. of the men wear them, but you do not use such things in war. I have suggested to the National Rifle Association that they be prohibited."

Who would exchange the merry noise of children at play, with the childless home where the clock tick can be heard hour after hour in the dull silence? But there are a great many who would like to people the silent house with the children that fate has refused them. Fate is often in this case only another word for ignorance.

Many a glad mother dates her happiness from the day she first began the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It often happens that with the cure of female weakness and the establishing of the delicate womanly organs in sound health, the way is opened for the joy of motherhood. "Favorite Prescription" is a specific for the chronic ailments peculiar to women. It cures them perfectly and permanently.

No other medicine can do for women so much as "Favorite Prescription." Do not therefore let any other medicine be palmed off on you as "just as good."

"Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, opium, cocaine or other narcotic. It is strictly a temperance medicine.

"I can truly say your medicine is a friend of mine," writes Mrs. Arthur Brost, of Amherstburg, Ontario, Canada. "I am mother of four children and suffered greatly at times of birth of first three. When three months along with the last one I began to think of trying some medicine to ease those terrible pains, and asked our doctor whether there was anything he could give me to lessen labor pains. He said there was nothing that could help me. I then thought I would write to Dr. Pierce. He advised me to take his 'Favorite Prescription.' I started to take it at fourth month. I was very weak, had heart trouble and would faint away two or three times a day. Our doctor could not help me and life was a drag. I would often say, oh, if I could only die in one of these spells; but I took five bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and felt better every way. Soon alone until the time of delivery. I had heard of painless childbirth, and I thought it must be a good medicine that would help those pains, but I know now for myself, and can not tell it plain enough. Your 'Favorite Prescription' is the best medicine as we mothers know. I advise my friends to try it. Baby is now four months old and is a strong healthy boy."

Mr. J. W. Bryans attended a meeting of the High School Board of Norwood on Monday.

The local bunch of lacrosse stick handlers journeyed to Toronto on Saturday last to cross sticks with the Young Torontos of that city. Well, they did not do a thing, as the finish was what might be called a glorious one, as the score stood 14-1 in favour of Toronto. The game at the start was very fast, but gradually grew very one-sided. Waghorne, as referee, had very little to do, there being only three men put to the fence during the game. Owing to the Young Torontos' strong defence the locals were unable to make any of their shots tell. After the game the locals were the guests of the Toronto team, when the latter served a very nice supper. Mr. Waghorne congratulated the teams for the clean game they had played, and stated that he was glad to see such feeling as existed between them. After supper was over the boys spent about an hour in friendly conference, and three hearty cheers for each team and the referee were given.

The line-up was as follows:—

Havelocks — Robson, McGillivray, Lancaster, Barlow, Reid, Mein, Coughlan, Muldoon, Ford, Sullivan, Wilson, Ferguson.

Toronto—Dunkerley, Woods, Sibly, Sauriol, McArthur, John Heal, Joe Heal, Mara, Murphy, Tod, Tyler, Morrison.

A severe thunderstorm accompanied by heavy rain passed over Keene on Saturday afternoon. A number of trees were struck and Mr. Wm. Kempt's barn was struck twice, in the northwest and in the northeast corners. The timbers were splintered, but fortunately not set on fire. Mr. Kempt had a barn burned on the same site about ten years ago.

In spite of the windy weather, the Hiawatha water picnic was well attended and was a decided success. A pleasant time was spent by all.

Set Fire to Church

A stir was caused by the discovery of a fire in the Roman Catholic church at St. John's, Que., about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A desperate attempt had been made to burn the edifice. A quantity of paper had been ignited and placed in one of the pews near the entrance and the fire was well under way when discovered. The mystery of the case was solved this morning when a man named Lepine gave himself up at the police station as the one who had committed the deed. He has already served five months in jail for a similar offence in burning a barn. He is now in custody.

REGINA HAS A BIG GATHERING

Saskatchewan Liberal Stalwarts Meet in Convention.

250 TO 300 ARE PRESENT

First Session Devoted to Routine Work and Organization — A Drive About the City—Resolutions in the Platform Urge a Port on Hudson's Bay — Convention Headquarters Centrally Located.

Regina, Aug. 17.—The Saskatchewan Liberal convention opened here yesterday morning with a very good representative gathering of delegates, the assemblage numbering between 250 and 300. Complete delegations from a number of points on the Soo and Prince Albert branch lines are on hand.

The first session was devoted to purely routine work and organization. Levit Thomson of Wolseley was elected Chairman and A. Ross, Regina, Secretary, pro tem.

A resolution embodying the platform was moved by A. McIntyre, M. P. P., and seconded by W. Grayson, Moose Jaw.

The meeting also briefly discussed the Liberal attitude as to party Government in Saskatchewan, the tenor of the speeches being unanimously favorable.

In the afternoon the Board of Trade took the delegates for drives, showing them the great strides Regina has made in recent years. The outing included the inspection of the new civic electric light and waterworks power house and a display by the fire brigade.

On Thursday evening the delegates will be entertained at a smoking concert in the skating rink, when a number of short addresses will be delivered by prominent visiting Liberals.

Convention headquarters have been located on Hamilton street, near all the leading hotels and the railway station, but the sessions of the convention will be held in the City Hall.

Platform resolutions will not be discussed until to-day, but it is understood they embody declarations closely following those of the Alberta convention. They will go farther, however, in some particulars, and will ask that a port be established on Hudson's Bay and that the Federal Government build the road or render material assistance.

Chatham, Aug. 17.—Yesterday morning information was laid by John Cochrane of Ridgetown against Robert Mills, now in jail at Brantford, charging him with stealing 15 head of cattle from his farm at Clearville. The cattle disappeared over a week ago and have since been recovered.

Montreal, Aug. 17.—Joben Wass, an employe of the Grand Trunk shops at Point St. Charles, met a horrible death yesterday, when he got caught under one of the steam hammers, and before the machinery could be stopped, was literally hammered to a pulp. He was 50 years old.

Both Legs Broken.

Winnipeg, Aug. 17.—Robert Stadhouse, working for Green & Lidster, plumbers, was run over by a street car at the corner of Gertrude and Pembina streets last night, both legs being broken. He was removed to St. Boniface Hospital and will die.

Canadian Mail Subsidy.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 17.—The Canadian Government has renewed the mail contract with the Union Steamship Co. for the Canadian-Australian line, the subsidy payable by the Dominion being increased $15,000.

Pains in the Chest.

Mr. John Clark, Port Hope, Ont., states: "Last winter I was so bad with a cold that I could not speak above a whisper, and had great pains in the chest. A friend advised me to try Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and one bottle cured my cold which I believe would have proven very serious if I had not used this medicine."

LONG ago we realized that the baking and roasting qualities of the oven of a range are of greatest importance to the range user. We brought our knowledge, gained by years of experience, to bear on this one point. The result was the Imperial Oxford Diffusive Oven Flue. With this exclusive feature, the Imperial Oxford stands to-day the most perfect baking and roasting range on the market.

After getting this most important feature of a range to such a point of perfection we naturally did not neglect any other improvement which could add to the working of the range. These improvements were incorporated in the because they added to the life of the range, simplified its operation or economized fuel.

Of these improvements the draw-out oven rack is one which will instantly appeal to the cook. The handle of this rack is outside the range—always cool enough to hold with the bare hand. By pulling this handle forward anything roasting in the oven may be drawn out onto the oven shelf to be basted, without touching the hot pan or reaching into the oven. The same applies to the testing of bread, cake or pies.

We would like you to see the Imperial Oxford Range. If your dealer doesn't handle it, write us for illustrated literature and the address of the nearest dealer who does. 15

Midland Lacrosse Team Must Answer Charges

The C. L. A. will take up and investigate the charges made by the Peterborough Lacrosse Club against the Midland team. This is the information contained in a letter received this morning from Mr. W. H. Hall, the secretary of the association, by Mr. E. M. Best, the secretary of the local club.

The letter which arrived this morning says:—

"I have just received your letter and am sending it to President Allen. Can you furnish us with declarations as to the statements in letter. An action will certainly be taken if there is any proof. That man Aikens should certainly be expelled from the association if your statements are backed by declarations. I haven't received the referee's report yet. I hope to know about your next semi-final games in a few days and will notify you at once.

Yours truly,
W. H. HALL.

JACKSON PARK IS NOW RETRIEVING ITS REPUTATION

Mr. Robert Wilson, the special policeman at Jackson Park informs the Examiner that the conduct of the persons who frequent that park has very materially improved since he has been in charge there.

Last night there were a few youngsters who were not behaving as they should and these will be attended to to-morrow.

Generally, however, those who frequent the park are on their good behaviour and the reports of bad conduct which come from that section of the city prior to the appointment of Mr. Wilson, have stopped. Apparently his presence there has had the desired effect for no one now states that there are any exhibitions of unseemly conduct there.

IROQUOIS WINS TO-DAY'S RACE

Defeated Temeraire in Yacht Race at Rochester.

Canadian Boat Was 29 Seconds Late in Crossing Last Buoy.

A special wire to N. B. Darrell's stock brokers' office states that in the fourth race for the Canada Cup the American yacht Iroquois was the winner. At the last buoy the Temeraire was 29 seconds behind the American boat, and it was thought that she had a good chance to win out. It appears, however, that she did not measure up to expectations and fell behind, the Iroquois crossing the line first.

This makes them even up again, with two wins each, and the deciding race will consequently be given greater interest by reason of this fact.

TURNBULL CO.'S FORWARD MOVE

Will Add Dressmaking Department to the Store.

Many Improvements are Being Made —A Progressive Firm.

The J. C. Turnbull Company has a reputation as one of the most progressive of the dry goods firms of the city, and it has always lived up that reputation. Recently the company has decided upon the establishment of a new department to the store, and there is every reason to believe that it will meet with popular favour. The new branch of the business will be that of dress-making, and Miss E. Burch, of Brockville, an experienced, and thoroughly capable lady, has been secured to take charge of the department.

Miss Burch has had charge of similar departments in large stores in American cities, and will arrive in this city in time to open up this branch on September 5th.

Quarters are now being prepared for this branch on the first floor in the south section, while the millinery show rooms will be removed to the north side, taking the place of the ladies' Ready-to-wear Department, the latter being given room in the section vacated by the millinery.

An expensive and beautiful glass show case, 18 feet long, and 6 1-2 feet high, will be placed in the millinery department. The frame will be of oak, and inside there will be numerous electric lights. Large reversible mirrors will be installed in both the millinery and ladies' ready-to-wear branches of the business. The improvements carried out will be on a costly and modern scale, and the Turnbull Company will have everything, neat, tasty and attractive.

The show cases are being made by the Peterborough Canoe Company, while the mirrors are supplied by the Frimory and Messrs. Duncan & Dunbe will have charge of the decorating.

MANY WILL GO TO NORTHWEST

Prospects That the Annual Excursion Will be Large.

Already More Than Fifty Have Registered With C. P. R.

The local C. P. R. officials report that there are a great many enquiries in reference to the harvest excursions to the Northwest this year. Already fifty-two names of those who intend going to the West on this trip have been registered, and the prospects are that three coaches will be filled with passengers who take the train at this station. The Government of Manitoba has sent out circulars stating that thousands of men will be needed to save the crop, and they have arranged the dates upon which the excursions will be run. The first will be from the Atlantic division, and will leave on Saturday, August 19. On August 9 the excursion will run from Toronto and the west, and on September 4 from this district.

This will give the harvesters plenty of time to arrive in Manitoba in good time to be of assistance to the farmers in getting the crop harvested.

The G. T. R. system will run the excursion from here on the same date and will doubtless carry good crowds as well.

BRISK BUILDING BOOM IN THE SOUTH END

Many New Structures Ready to Meet the Demand for Homes.

A walk through the south end of the town reveals a very large extent of building operations, mostly dwellings of a good class. Mr. Walter Stocker, whose business takes him to every part of the city, speaks in glowing terms of the large number of good houses going up. He himself has become infected with the building fever, having erected this season a neat double dwelling at the corner of Bethune and Perry streets. In token of the wisdom of his enterprise one of the dwellings is already under lease, and the other awaiting a tenant, who it is pretty certain will not be long wanting.

CANADIANS WERE FIRST IN THE FIELD

Our First Sault Canal Was Constructed in 1797, But the American Celebration of Their First Canal at That Point Marks a Great Commercial Triumph—Our Own Modern Canal and Its Business—Cost For Our Commercial Freedom Was Just $4,000,000.

Apropos of the recent international celebration of the construction of the first American canal at the "Soo," which distinctly marked a great commercial triumph, it may be well to remember that while our neighbours take to themselves the honour of building the first Sault Canal, the truth is Canada was many years in advance of them. As long ago as 1797 a canal on the Canadian side was constructed. The Northwest Company was at that time competing with the Hudson's Bay Company for the fur trade. As will be remembered, the Northwest Company was a Canadian corporation, with headquarters at Montreal, while the Hudson's Bay Company was English. The Hudson's Bay people operated via James Bay, drawing their supplies that way, and sending out their furs by the same route. The Northwest Company, on the other hand, traded through Canada. That corporation found it necessary to send its batteaux up the Georgian Bay, and across the head of Lake Huron, to Lake Superior. In order to reach the latter lake the Sault rapids had to be overcome, and here the canal was built. The remains of this structure, which was abandoned when the company failed, are extant to this day, and it is understood that they perform the duty of a flume for the power company.

Uncle Sam's Canal.

The growth of business on the Upper Lakes led, in the early fifties, to an agitation for the construction of a ship canal on the Michigan side. The State of Michigan pressed the enterprise, but ultimately the United States Congress took it up and built the now celebrated waterway as a national work. It is related that some of the greatest of United States leaders opposed the project as useless. Thus Henry Clay is credited with having spoken against it in Congress in sarcastic terms. He is alleged to have said that the idea of developing trade west of St. Mary's River was a dream beyond the conception of the wildest fancy. But Clay had little knowledge of the possibilities of his own country or he would not have objected to an enterprise which has been a prime factor in the development of the great West.

Enormous Traffic.

The Sault business has been of such rapid growth that the canal as originally constructed was soon too small to accommodate it, and as a consequence new locks were opened. To-day the mammoth vessel can be floated from lake to lake, and it is estimated that there passes through the locks 35,000,000 tons of freight annually. The Sault canals—that on the Canadian side and that on the United States side—do more business than the Suez Canal, which is a waterway of some importance. Canada used the United States canal for some years under the Washington treaty of 1871, which requires each country to give the other equal rights in the canals. This was an advantage to us, but it was not nearly so great a benefit to Canada as the reciprocal use of the Canadian canals was to the United States.

Our Own Canal.

In 1888 we decided to have a waterway of our own with a view to being completely independent of our neighbours. The circumstances which resulted in this decision were numerous, and were spread over a number of years. In the first place, we found that we could not send our troops through the United States canal, although on our own vessels. This was an awkward situation, especially during the rebellion. It was legal enough; but then, it was not convenient. The obstruction to traffic could easily have been extended by the United States, so that the restricted use of the canal would not really be of any service to us. Again, there was no guarantee that the United States Government would continue the free navigation of the canal to us. There were movements making for discrimination. One of these was successful in President Cleveland's time. Because the tolls on wheat passing through the Welland to Montreal, via the St. Lawrence canals, were no higher than those on wheat passing through the Welland, but going no farther than Ogdensburg, our neighbours assumed that they were discriminated against, and placed a heavy toll on vessels using the Sault canal.

$4,000,000 For Freedom.

Canada was not willing to be cut in two from the maritime standpoint, and to be at the mercy of a sometimes whimsical neighbour. We therefore struck for freedom, and the cost was just $4,000,000. Our canal is a structure of superior character, and does us a great deal of credit. It is furnished with all the latest improvements, and is capable of accommodating vessels draging 20 feet. The lock is 900 by 60, and this will take in anything afloat. The Canadian and United States canals are free to everybody. Thus, the two countries are in co-operation in the work of facilitating intercommunication. Now, the canal provisions of the Washington treaty can be set aside if the people next door so desire. We are completely independent of them, and if they do the result will not at all affect us.

VERY CLOSE TO FROST
THERMOMETER READS 40

The near approach of frost the past two nights, gave one the shivers and sent one to sleep with a dim dread of a killing frost blighting the northwest wheat crop. On Wednesday night the thermometer dropped down to 42 degrees, ten above the freezing point, and last night it descended a couple of degrees lower and touched 40 degrees. It is said that there was a slight white frost in some places, but no serious damage was done. Every August almost we have a slight touch of such weather as this, cool to cold nights and hot days.

STOLE A SAIL BOAT AND ASKED FOR LIBERTY

There is at present an excellent sail boat lying in the west harbour awaiting an owner, says the Port Hope Guide. Yesterday morning Mr. McMahon noticed a sail boat opposite the pavilion being tossed to and fro, and the two young men in charge between the ages of 14 and 17 years, making a desperate effort to get to the pier. They had very little experience as to sailing, but Mr. McMahon instructed them from the pier, and after much hard work they managed to bring the boat to the west pier, Here Mr. McMahon took charge of the boat, and so frightened was the younger boy of an upset that he begged to be left on the pier, and his request was granted.

The boat was a two-master, about 25 feet in length and well equipped, and Mr. McMahon was led to believe it had been stolen. When taking it over to the west harbour he accused the boy of stealing it and threatened to have him arrested. Everything was going along lovely, but when nearing the Radiator Works the boy sprang from the boat to the dock, met his companion, who was left on the pier, and they got over the ground towards the station at a lively gait. As soon as Mr. McMahon tied the boat up he pursued them, but they had too much of a start and no trace could be found of them.

Chief Bond was out of town and the matter was reported to Constable Gamble, who has sent several postal cards around endeavouring to find an owner.

Several Rochester hotel cards were found in the boat and it was supposed that the boat had been stolen from Charlotte.

1400 HOGS RECEIVED HERE IN ONE DAY THIS WEEK

On one day this week there were 1400 hogs delivered at the local packing house of the George Matthews Company, Limited, which pretty nearly constituted a record. The increase in the price of hogs during the past week has had the effect of bringing out a large quantity, and on Wednesday the staff of the packing house mentioned had to handle 1400 animals.

A great many of these were supplied by farmers in this county, although numbers were shipped in from other places. The prospect is good for high prices for prime hogs during the next few weeks.

CAMPERS ARE IN FOR TROUBLE

Otonabee and Monaghan Farmers Resent Their Action

Many From Monaghan go to the North-west—The New Wharf Progressing.

Special to the Examiner.

Bemafort, August 17.—Mr. John Dixon who resides on the Otonabee side of the river finished his harvesting for the season the second week of the present month.

Amongst those who visited the North West during the summer are Mrs. J. Emerson, Mrs. Hicks, and Mrs. Deyell, and Messrs. Isaac Kerr, J. Blakely and J. Rutherford, jr. The three gentlemen mentioned will return soon as convenient to improve claims secured by them near Regina in June.

One of the grievances, and not a new one is the fact that so-called campers, (fiends) on our shore occasionally torture numbers of the young cattle, freely ranging on their owners' pasture lands by throwing boiling water on them. Two prominent men here have cattle tied in recently for treatment through this unmanly kind of sport, and there is no doubt that such mischief will get a required check in time with the well-deserved penalty.

Our new wharf is in course of construction and will be a needed convenience. Mr. J. Yelland, of Peterborough, has the work in hand, and will complete it early in September. By the plan given the structure will extend into the water 60 feet, and have a frontage of 40 feet. The extension into the stream will be 12 feet wide, and the front part a corresponding width. This will make it L shaped.

The threshing, which has been in full swing since the first of the month, is resulting in good yields, especially in wheat.

One of the rules, it is said, of the separator men is, on the staggers, at least, to do as much as possible of what is called "spelling" an advantage that allows more land to work on later in the season. The Blakely Bros., during the second week, were at about a dozen places, part in Monaghan and part in Otonabee. The effort also corresponds with the keen demand for barn-room, to stow away the balance of the harvest for later threshing.

THE FORTUNE WAS SPURNED

Refuses One Hundred Thousand Dollars.

Fled From Belgium Years Ago With $100,000 of His Money to Avoid Joining the Army.

(Michigan City, Ind., Aug. 16—Leopold Turney, a resident and an inmate of the county poor house, has an estate amounting to $100,000 at his home in Belgium which, contrary to his wishes, his daughter, Mrs. Cenna Regnier, of Green Bay, Wis., is trying to have him claim.

To prevent himself and his sons from being drafted into the military service, Turney brought his family to America, in 1849. He had about $100,000 with him in money and left behind him property worth about $50,000. Landing at New York the family made its way to Chicago. In a short time they moved to Valparaiso, Ind., and about 1855 to Michigan City.

By this time the money Turney brought with him was exhausted, and the family began to experience straitened circumstances. But for some reason he did not avail himself of the property he still owned in Europe, probably because he still feared the conscript. Mrs. Turney died in Columbia City in 1872, and a few years ago his children having grown up and left home. Turney was admitted to the Infirmary, his ownership of a foreign estate not being known except as a sort of legend among the children. The four sons are scattered, no two residing in the same state.

A nephew of Turney learned of the fortune in Belgium, and made efforts to locate his cousins, supposing his uncle dead. He is a clerk in the ocean mail service, and one day by chance a letter addressed to Mrs. Regnier passed through his hands. He wrote to her about the property and she went to Belgium to investigate.

On her way she visited her father in his pauper retreat. The old man grew angry when he found that she had learned of his estate, but as he speaks little English, and the interview was conducted in French, the details are not known. But the daughter continued her journey and has now returned more than satisfied with what she discovered.

While abroad she learned that her father had through lawyers kept in touch with his property so that he can realize on it at any time, and that its value now exceeds $100,000. Of all this he never treated a word to his children. She also learned that her mother had inherited an estate in Belgium and legal steps will be taken to realize on that. She employed an attorney abroad and another in this country to prosecute these claims.

MR. J. E. NOBLE'S CRUISE ENDS

Former Well Known Peterborough Man Has Enjoyable Holiday.

Took a Trip on Lake Ontario and Bay of Quinte—Some Incidents.

The Examiner has received the following article, from Toronto with a request for its publication. The "Jimmie Noble" referred to is Mr. J. E. Noble, chief engineer at the asylum, Toronto, formerly of this city:

The private sailing boat Oak Leaf arrived back safe in Toronto after a three weeks' cruise along Lake Ontario and the Bay of Quinte. Jimmie Noble did not send that crate of fish to the sporting editor for the simple reason that he did not catch them. The fish must have had notice of his coming and migrated to other waters. Doctor Joe Brown was afraid that his patients would all recover during his absence, so he left the ship at North Port and went home to attend to his practice. This improved the chances of the safety of the party just 33 1-3 per cent. Jolly Captain Tommy Williams amused the crowd with numerous side-splitting yarns of lake life on sailing vessels. Handsome Billy Booth, who was the only unmarried man on the boat, spent most of his time in dressing his beautiful hair (he has not half a dozen on his scalp). Alderman Bill Stewart was helmsman, and he never failed to guide a straight course, just as he does in the council chamber in the Queen City. Harry Craven, who was chef for the party, set up meals fit for a king. Jimmie Noble served the soda water and milk, as that was the only liquid on board Toronto milk, half and half, that is half Lake Ontario, pure, and half chalk. The soda was Seagram's, and Walker's, 83 and Imperial. The party look like regular sea dogs and are tanned to the colour of leather. The next trip the boys take will be on the same boat, but by a different power, as Mr. Stewart intends to install a 30-horse power motor in the vessel next week.

(Associated Press Despatch.)

New York, Aug. 16.—According to The World, the Rev. E. A. Maury, pastor of the Second Reformed Church in Jersey City, made this astonishing statement yesterday: That to him and five others a murderer proved, after being executed on the gallows, that he retained consciousness, memory and the power of voluntary motion after his neck was broken. The Rev. Mr. Maury had been chosen to serve on the Sheriff's jury at the hanging of Edward F. Tapley in the Hudson County Jail, and had been asked to minister religiously to the doomed man. He served on the jury, although he is strongly opposed to capital punishment. He said last night:

"I have seen seven unfortunates hanged. One was Paul Gens, who was executed in the Hudson County Jail, April 13, 1897, for the murder of Clara Arnim. In the fight I shall make to abolish capital punishment in New Jersey, I shall argue that sometimes a man is conscious after his neck is broken. Paul Gens was in my charge; he and I discussed the question whether a man's brain might be active after his cervical vertebrae were broken. Gens was certain he would be conscious after his neck was broken. He said to me: 'Watch me closely. After my body is jerked upward and I fall to the rope's end and my neck is broken, I will wait about a minute; then I will close my hands twice, then once, then twice again. I arrange this signal now so that none of the doubters who may be looking at me has say that my movements are only involuntary twitchings.'"

The clergyman continued: "When Gens fell, after being jerked into the air by the fall of the weight, his body stiffened. About three-quarters of a minute passed, then Gens closed his hands twice, opened them again, closed them once, then twice again. I distinctly saw his pinioned hands make the signal he said he would give me. So did six other men whom I had told Gens's promise of what he would do. The horror of it was almost overwhelming."

The then Sheriff Heller, of Hudson County, and Dr. Schneider were as positive as Maury that Gens made the prearranged signal.

Another Shooting Affray.

Last evening the body of a young boy, an Italian employed as an order boy at the Oxford Mountain, E. R., was found on the roadside in Melbourne, Que., near an Italians' camp. The boy had been shot. His father, who is an employee, cannot give any reason why his son should be shot. He had apparently been dead for some time, and there were two bullet wounds in the region of the heart. How or when the shooting occurred is a mystery. Following so closely the mysterious killing of the boy at Farnham, the affair caused a big sensation.

His 100th Birthday.

Much Fruit Lost.

Much fruit is reported lost on the Niagara peninsula this year owing to the impossibility of finding sufficient help to gather, pack and ship it. At numerous points women are driven from and to their homes and the places where they work, with pay reaching $2 a day in prospect.

Bitten by Pet Pug.

Three persons were bitten at Arverne, N. Y., by a pet pug dog which was suffering from rabies, and sent to the Pasteur Institute, No. 313 West Twenty-third street, Manhattan, yesterday. They are Mrs. Young, wife of Joseph C. Young, a prominent builder, of Remington avenue, Arverne; her eight-year-old daughter, Freda, and her maid, Lizzie Pearsall.

Eaten by Dogs.

A special from St. John's, Nfld., says that the steamer Kita, which has arrived there from Labrador, brings word from Okkak of a woman and child being eaten by dogs. They were crossing to a neighbour's, when the woman fell in an epileptic fit, and thirty angry dogs set upon the pair and tore them to pieces. Only the woman's bones were recovered for burial.

Holy Ghost Society.

Philadelphia has seen the last of its Holy Ghost Society, which only a comparatively short time back made such a show of religious fervour and worldly prosperity. Its temple has been sold for factory purposes, and the only living survivor, Mrs. Caroline Lang, is starving herself to death, and so weak she can hardly stand, to propitiate the priestess Mirs Mita, and waiting for her to come and prevent her being turned out of the temple.

London's Prices.

London follows Toronto in growling about the increased prices for dairy products. Eggs have risen from 16 to 18c, the price last year, to 18 to 20c this year; creamery butter from 23c last year to 26 to 28c this; dairy butter, 18 to 20c last year to 20 to 24c this. Flour, 2 3-4s last year, is 3s this. Meat and groceries have gone up proportionately. Retailers tell the London Free Press the extra coin is not coming their way and hint that the middleman is in on the big end of it all.

Bow Bells Again.

Bow bells are once more to ring out in chime above the noise of London's traffic. No peal of bells in England is more familiar than that of Bow church. The famous story of Dick Whittington centres round them, and it is the old chime of "Turn again, Whttington, Lord Mayor of London," which is to ring out from the tower. Sir Charles Villiers Stanford has harmonized the setting for the new chime, which will be played on the full set of twelve bells. These were rehung two years ago and have now been seen to once more by the very firm which cast the first of them as far back as 1669.

Thousands of Women ARE MADE WELL AND STRONG

Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Rests Upon the Fact that It Really Does Make Sick Women Well

Thousands upon thousands of Canadian women have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Their letters are on file in Mrs. Pinkham's office, and prove this statement to be a fact and not a mere boast.

Overshadowing indeed is the success of this great medicine, and compared with it all other medicines and treatment for women are experiments.

Why has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound accomplished its widespread results for good?

Why has it lived and thrived and done its glorious work for a quarter of a century?

Simply and surely because of its sterling worth. The reason no other medicine has even approached its success is plainly and positively because there is no other medicine in the world so good for women's ills.

The wonderful power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the diseases of womankind is not because it is a stimulant—not because it is a palliative, but simply because it is the most wonderful tonic and reconstructor ever discovered to act directly upon the uterine system, positively curing disease and displacements and restoring health and vigor.

Marvelous cures are reported from all parts of the country by women who have been cured, trained nurses who have witnessed cures, and physicians who have recognized the virtue in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and are fair enough to give credit where it is due. If physicians dared to be frank and open, hundreds of them would acknowledge that they constantly prescribe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in severe cases of female ills, as they know by experience that it will effect a cure.

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhœa, falling, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration, or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences and be restored to health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Anyway, write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice. It's free and always helpful.

A Heavy Loss.

The loss by the burning of the Aberdeen mill of Messrs. Donal Fraser & Son, at Fredericton, is now put at $85,000. The insurance is $35,000, of which $20,000 was on the lumber and $15,000 on the mill. There is some question as to whether the mill will be rebuilt.

Sent Her 7000 Miles.

Having resided for some time with her grandfather, at Witham, Essex, Eng., little Violet Bradshaw, aged eight, desired to go to her father at Victoria, British Columbia, 7,000 miles away. Her grandfather took her to Liverpool, tied a label round her neck, stating her name and destination, and endeavoured to book her to New York on the liner Teutonic. The company's regulations would not allow such a tiny passenger to go alone, but an American lady came to the rescue and promised to take care of the child on the voyage. From New York to Victoria Violet travelled alone, and has reached her destination.

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

Editor of the Post Card Column:

Sir,—Where were the police? The other evening a sad sight was to be seen. A citizen in Peterborough was to be seen in company with two ladies, all under the influence of liquor, driving on the streets up to the hour of two o'clock in the morning, sitting on a bundle of straw on a rig—both married women. The man should have been home in the bosom of his family instead of being so engaged. Not being satisfied with the drink they had, they were going from one hotel to the other. One of the same women was intoxicated last evening. It is a common occurance to see the same ladies driving around town drunk.

Hoping you will find space for the above in the cause of common humanity, I remain,

Yours,

OBSERVER.

Editor of the Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—In two of this week's issue I have noticed cards complaining about the conditions of railway crossings where gates are used. These gentlemen should know that it is often necessary to commence to lower the gates when a train is two blocks away, because these trains generally approach at a good rate of speed. I am in charge of the busiest crossing in the city and know that it has not been blocked for a full five minutes during the past month. Also we can attend to our business properly without outside help or interference.

Yours truly,

GATEMAN.

Editor of the Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—A writer signing himself "Commercial" in last evening's Examiner, asks why car No. 17 is not supplied with fenders. If "Commercial" will use his eyes as nature intended he should, he will see that No. 17 is supplied with fenders. They are, however, under the car body, but answer the purpose, perhaps better than in the orthodox place. Let "Commercial" look again.

Yours truly,

PEACE CONFERENCE REACHED A CRISIS

If Conference Breaks Komura Will Be Blamed --M. Witte Not Precipitate—So the Associated Press Figures It Out After a Most Unsatisfactory Day at the Peace Conference—No Progress at All Made Thursday Indemnity Reached and Frowned Down By Russia.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 18.—The crisis in the peace conference has been reached and pessimism is again the note. But there is still hope. Predictions of a final rupture to-day certainly will not be justified unless Baron Komura figuratively picks up his hat and announces that it is useless to proceed further. M. Witte at least will not be precipitate. At to-day's session after article 11 (the limitation of Russia's sea power in the Far East), and article 12 (fishing rights on the Russian littoral), are disposed of, he will favor an adjournment until Monday to hear the last word from St. Petersburg.

The pessimism last night was based upon the fact that no progress was made yesterday. The exchange of views at the morning session upon article 9 (remuneration for the cost of the war), showed at once the plenipotentiaries were as far apart as the poles and it was passed over. Article 10 (the surrender of the interned Russian warships), was also passed, not, in the opinion of one of the plenipotentiaries when the Associated Press correspondent saw him last night, because it could not have arranged, but because with the shadow of the two main points in dispute hanging over the conference both sides were cautious and preferred to postpone it to the end. Article 11 (limitation of sea power), is also adjustable after modification, and article 13 will present no difficulties.

So that last night the situation is practically what it was when M. Witte last Saturday presented the Russian reply with its non possumus to article 5 and 9 (indemnity and Sakhalin). The only chance now is compromise—Russia to yield Sakhalin and Japan indemnity. Neither will yield both and perhaps Japan, at the final show of hands will yield neither. M. Witte, under the Imperial indications contained in the instructions given him before he was St. Petersburg can agree neither to pay war tribute nor cede a foot of Russian soil. St. Petersburg, therefore, in the last resort, remains to be heard from. Doubtless this is the reason why he favors a postponement to-day over Sunday. Baron Komura probably will welcome an adjournment of two days in order that he also may lay the situation before his Government for its final decision.

Admiral Kruger Retired.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 18.—By Imperial ukase, Vice Admiral Kruger has been placed on the retired list. Commander Gasevitch of the battleship Georgi Pobiodonosets and the commander of the transport Prout on both of which vessels mutinies occurred recently, have also been retired.

Russia's New Loan.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 18.—An imperial ukase was issued yesterday formally authorizing the issuance of the new internal loan of $100,000,000 at 5 per cent.

40 Slain in Anti-Hebrew Riots.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 18.—An official account received here of the disturbances at Bielostock, Russian Poland, confirms the report that forty persons were killed. Hebrews opened fire on the troops, who replied with volleys.

A despatch received here from Bostoff on Don states that a number of strikers have been lynched by indignant citizens.

Gift From Baron Komura.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 18.—President Takahasi of the Seattle Japanese Association Wednesday received $500 from Baron Komura, donated by the distinguished statesman to the Japanese school of this city. The course of the school consists principally of Japanese language and literature.

BRITAIN AND GERMANY.

Von Buelow Sees the Kaiser on Anglo-German Relations.

Berlin, Aug. 18.—According to several high officials of the Government Prince Von Buelow, the Imperial Chancellor who Wednesday left Norderney, where he was spending his vacation, for Berlin, went yesterday to the castle of Wilhelmshoehe to see Emperor William. Dr. Von Muelberg, Under Secretary of the Foreign Office, who left Berlin for a vacation of several weeks was suddenly recalled to join the Chancellor at Wilhelmshoehe.

The reason for these movements is so far only the subject of conjecture but it is known that the relations between Great Britain and Germany have recently been on the point of breaking to an extent beyond the knowledge of the public.

Precisely what happened has not been learned but a serious situation existed—indeed, it is understood, it has not yet been dissipated. The British Government appears to hold the conviction that the German Emperor is seeking to form a European combination against Great Britain.

Prospects of Agreement.

Paris, Aug. 18.—A semi-official note was issued to-day with the object of allaying the increasing inquietude relative to the indefinite prolongation of the Franco-German negotiations concerning the proposed conference on the Moroccan reforms. The notes gives assurance that the negotiations are proceeding satisfactorily, with the prospect of a final agreement in the near future.

SAM GOMPERS HEARD.

Philadelphia Delegate to Typographical Convention Fired Out.

Toronto Aug. 18.—Nearly the whole of yesterday morning's session of the International Typographical convention was taken up in debating the question of the union future of Shelby Smith. The Committee of Appeals reported in favor of the expulsion of Shelby Smith, who, as editor of the Trades Union News, of Philadelphia, charged the International Executive with aiding "rat employers" and stabbing the local union. The debate was long and acrimonious, and resulted in the union accepting the Appeal Committee's recommendation to expel Delegate Shelby Smith of Philadelphia.

Colorado Springs won by thirty-seven votes over Pittsburg in the bid for next year's convention of the International Typographical Union.

Sam Gompers Heard.

An address was given by President Sam Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, at the close of the reading of the report of the 8-hour day committee. Mr. Gompers strongly backed up the movement, and urged that there be no weakening on any point.

The report of the 8-hour committee was a strong affirmation of the principles involved and will be discussed to-day, and, to judge from the sentiment shown, will be adopted probably in toto.

TOWN OF SOUTHAMPTON.

Inauguration Festivities Pass Off With Great Eclat.

Southampton, Aug. 18.—Yesterday was a great day for the inauguration festivities of this, the newest of Ontario towns. People were here from all over the good old county of Bruce and many former residents of the place came back to participate in the function. One of these was Mayor Ferguson of Stratford. He told the people of his boyhood days in Southampton in the sixties, when it was a small village; now it was a thriving town of over 2,500 people, with splendid industries, summer hotels, railways and not a home to be rented, though many new ones are going up.

Col. Belcher, Mayor of the town, was the leading and directing spirit in the celebration. His courteous manners and pride in his town was well reflected in the conduct of all the aldermen, business men and citizens.

The main feature of the celebration was a procession, including the school children, to the town park, where there were horse races, trick performances, a balloon ascension and public speeches. Alex. Muir of Maple Leaf fame made a stirring patriotic speech and Mr. Ferguson and Mr. W. F. Maclean, M. P., spoke of the public spirit which should animate a town.

William Galbraith Dead.

Toronto, Aug. 18.—At the ripe old age of 73 William Galbraith of West King street died at the family residence early yesterday morning. Years ago he was the president of the Toronto Board of Trade. During the big fire in this city Mr. Galbraith lost his business, and this is thought to have undermined his health.

Died at 95 Years.

Peterboro, Aug. 18.—Thomas Hope, the oldest resident of Otonabee Township, and one of the pioneers of Peterboro County, died Wednesday night, aged 95 years. He was born in Northumberland, England, and came to Canada in 1815. He leaves a family of four sons and three daughters.

Outbreak of Achinese.

Amsterdam, Holland, Aug. 18.—A telegram received from Batavia, Dutch Indies, reports an ugly outbreak of Achinese rebels, who attacked the Dutch post at Rambong, killing two officers and twenty-two men. Only six of the post succeeded in escaping and these were wounded.

Murder in Keewatin.

Ottawa, Aug. 18.—The mounted police have been informed of what looks like a murder committed in the wilds of Keewatin, 350 miles to the northeast of Winnipeg, at the place called Cat Lake. The victim, an Indian, was found dead in his lodge.

Give Fair Play to

A really reliable remedy for headache—Zutoo.

If you have got it into your head that Zutoo Tablets will hurt you, you are mistaken.

It isn't fair to us for you to judge Zutoo by the drug cures.

It isn't fair to yourself to suffer from headache, when this really harmless vegetable headache cure is within your reach.

The fair thing for both of us is—to judge Zutoo on its merits—to test it.

If you find it does not cure your headache, sick, nervous or otherwise, in twenty minutes, and leave you feeling good every time—no bad after effects, then discard it.

But do not condemn it unfairly without a trial, and keep on suffering from headaches. You really do not have to, and one trial of Zutoo will prove it.

All we ask for Zutoo is fair play—that you give it a trial before concluding as to its merits or demerits.

Wont you do this? You'll be glad ever after if you do.

We'll send trial tablets for nothing, or you can buy them at dealers in 10c., and 25c. packages.

Any Troubles In Your BATHROOM?

If you are having any trouble with your CLOSET or BATHROOM CONVENIENCES, come round and have a talk with us.

A gentleman, attracted by the range of Sanitary Closets and excellent values we are offering, invested in a new one, although he already had one that was working not badly.

The way he looked over the Closets we arranged before him for inspection showed he had been sifting the matter, and knew how to prove and disprove the claims of dealers.

The saving of health and expensive plumbing repairs, warranted the investment, he said.

How is yours working? Bring your Bathroom Troubles to us. Our Toronto Stock is what we sell in our Peterborough Branch.

CHRISTENING OF LABOUR DAY

Some Interesting History in Connection With Its Ingeption.

Robert Price, a Miner, is the Man to Whom Credit Must be Given.

The next legal holiday will be Labour Day, and it will be celebrated two weeks from Monday, September 4th. In view of the fact that this day is rapidly approaching some facts in connection with the inception of the day and the growth of labour organizations, will be read with interest.

The earliest known trade union composed of journeymen organized on this continent, was the new York Society of Journeymen Shipwrights, which was legally incorporated in 1803. In the same city three years later unions of tailors and carpenters were formed and in 1819 a union of hatters was organized.

Thus the history of the trades union movement goes back a century, but the inception of Labour Day is of a much recent date. And among the many hundreds of thousands of workmen who, on the first Monday of September each year, parade the streets in labour's cause it is safe to assume that of all that vast throng not one in 10,000 can name him who is, by right, "Father" of Labour Day.

Robert Price, once a well-known resident of Lonaconing, Md., is the man to whom all honour of Labour Day is due. And yet his name is well-nigh forgotten in labour circles, his very whereabouts being uncertain. He was last heard of in Kansas, an old man of seventy or more.

But a quarter of a century ago Price was a sturdy miner, bringing forth by the sweat of his brow and the brawn of his strong arms the treasures of Mother Earth. At that time the Knights of Labour was approaching the zenith of its power, which continued to increase until 1885 when the American Federation of Labour gained the ascendancy. One of the strongest workers for the Knights of Labour in his own district was Price. Early and late he laboured for the cause, and when in 1881 Local Assembly 348 met to choose a delegate to the general assembly of the Knights of Labour it was but natural that the choice should fall upon Price.

The convention met in New York City. The typographical members of the order gave a street parade and the members of the assembly temporarily adjourned to witness it. Stirred by the sight of the marching horde, fired by the enthusiasm of the participants and glorying in the idea that the marchers were members of the order to which he had given so much of his time, Price entered the convention hall. The convention meeting was filled with the life and spirit of the pageant just witnessed and many remarks were made on the occasion. At a moment when there was a momentary hush in the babel of voices about him, Price arose. Tall, well-formed and in the flush of manhood he stood erect. His manner far over the balcony in which he was seated and caught the eye of Master-workman Powderly. For a moment his voice was hardly heard above the din of sounds. Gradually the noise about him became less and soon his full round tones were heard in the farthest recesses of the great hall. At the conclusion of his address, which was filled with rhetorical bursts of oratory, he stopped for a moment, and with a voice choked with emotion and showing the depth of his feelings he said:—"I move you, Mr. Chairman, that it be the unanimous decision of this convention that hereafter one day of the year shall be set aside and on that day labour shall not labour, but go forth and show that it is the right of its prowess."

He sat down and the cheering which followed his remarks and motion made the building fairly rock as one thousand men sprang to their feet. At last, when he managed to restore order, Powderly, turning toward Price asked:—"And what do you intend to call that day?" Quickly and without a moment's hesitation Price sprang to his feet and exclaimed "Labour Day".

Again was all semblance of order destroyed, and the meeting came to a sudden end, but not until Price's motion had been carried with overwhelming numbers.

To-day Labour Day is observed as a legal holiday in all the states and territories of the United States except Nevada, North Dakota and Wyoming. Its observance has spread across the Canadian border and the day is now generally celebrated over a large section of the Dominion.

On each recurring anniversary the bone, blood and sinew of the country abstains from all work, and, triumphant in its might, files before the eyes of admiring throngs the proud banners of labour's worth and power.

A POINTER WORTH HAVING.

The merits of Ozone are well known, but in buying it one must be sure to get the purest form. Also, Ozone should always be taken along with "Celery King" the famous tonic laxative. The purest form in which Ozone is put up is "Solution of Ozone" (the coupon kind) and each bottle of this brand contains a coupon entitling you to a package of "Celery King" free.

No other firm in the world can give "Celery King" with Ozone. We give because our Ozone thus brings the highest results. In addition, you get just about twice as much "Solution of Ozone" for your money as of other kinds, and you also get it in the purest and most concentrated form. You also get "Celery King" free, instead of having to buy it which you would need to do in order to have full benefit from the use of Ozone.

Your druggist should have "Solution of Ozone" (the coupon kind.) If not, write to the Public Drug Co. Bridgeburg. Sold by W. B. Warne.

Houses That Can Be Built Complete For As Low As $900

There is great activity in building operations in Peterborough this year but it is to be noticed that nearly all of the houses that are not being built for owners are of the more expensive variety which will demand a rate of rental beyond the capacity of the average working man. In view of this fact, and in view of the probable large increase in our working population, due to extensions of two of our largest industries, it will be interesting to submit an article showing that comfortable six-room houses with modern conveniences and improvements can be constructed in Toronto for $900, not counting the value of the site. If this can be done in Toronto it can also be done in Peterborough. But whether the figures are reliable, or not the Examiner does not, in the absence of expert knowledge, touch. The proposition is, however, worth reading:

Concrete Houses.

The plans are drawn for semi-detached six-room houses with unfinished attic and a small cellar. The material is concrete. The composition is cement one part, sand three parts, stone or gravel five parts. The general plan of construction is the pier system with curtain walls. Each semi-detached house is built to nine piers. Each pier is two feet lateral by one foot thick—and solid concrete on a concrete foundation. The curtain walls are from three to four inches thick. The roofs are of shingles.

The basic principle is the pier. This—so Mr. Tellier says—has been tested to carry more than twice as much weight as would be required of it in a house of the specified dimensions. Each house is drawn for 24 feet depth by 20 feet in width, with 17 feet walls to the eaves. All the weight is directed to the piers, which are built similar to the buttments of a church, with three piers to each exposed side of the house. Beams are built into the piers. These beams sustain the entire weight of the floors, the ceilings and the roof. The curtain walls between the piers support no more weight than would be required of an ordinary window. This simplifies construction and reduces the expense.

Internal Economy.

The internal economy specifies two large rooms on the ground floor—a kitchen and a parlour or living-room. The front room is square, and runs the entire width of the house minus the width of a hall way. The kitchen is oblong, and occupies the rest of the ground area minus the space for a pantry, a room for fuel and a closet. The bath is built under the floor—of concrete. It is closed over by a trap-door, which becomes part of the floor. As both closet and bath are on the ground floor, the cost of plumbing is reduced to a minimum.

On the second floor—reached by a stairway, leading up from the front door—are three bedrooms and front sewing room, which may be used as a bedroom. These rooms are all well lighted and of moderate size, with eight-foot ceilings clear of the roof. The attic above may be used as a lumber room, or if necessary fitted up as an extra room. A small cellar is provided under each house, and included in the initial cost, though not large enough to accommodate a furnace.

The internal finish is necessarily plain. No lath or plaster is required. The concrete finish is smooth enough to paper, if that is desired. It may be left plain or it may be tinted—which would, of course, be an added item of expense. The floors are of pine. The ceilings may be of either pine or lath and plaster, at about the same expense.

Externally simplicity prevails, not without style. The plans are drawn to accommodate large windows which may be made smaller at will. Over each door is a porch. The steps are of concrete. The landing at the door is five feet by three feet. Window ledges are of cement, and large enough to hold boxes of flowers. In each roof there is a gable with a dormer window. Chimneys are of concrete and all built clear to the ground. Each house contains two chimneys. The method of heating is the stove. Shapes of chimneys vary to suit a variety of designs. Roofs vary similarly. The variety, in fact, is all in the roofs; the monotony mainly in the walls. Externally the walls may be painted or not. The paint would be an extra charge. As to warmth, the houses are said to be warmer than a frame house of similar design.

To a Minimum.

Items which reduce cost in these houses are simplicity of design, comparative cheapness of the bulk of the material, the system of replicating and the cheapness of most of the labour.

Actual figures for the cost of the concrete are not available. The cost of laying it is less than half the cost of laying brick or of carpentering. Built in lots of not less than twenty, such houses are estimated to cost—without the restrictions of onerous by-laws—$900 each.

This cost covers all modern improvements, including drains and plumbing. It has been figured to the lowest possible limit. There are no frills. But such houses as are specified in the plans are warranted safe, roomy, hygienic and comfortable—and capable of lasting more than a lifetime. They are almost fireproof from without. As there is very little woodwork, except in the ceilings and floors, they are as nearly fireproof from within. A three-inch curtain wall of concrete separates each house from its neighbours.

Aggregate Cost.

To build such houses in pairs and with ample room between the side walls and the pair next, there should be four feet extra to the width of the lot. This would necessitate a lot of 24 feet frontage which, at $6 a foot, would cost $144, bringing the total cost of house and lot up to $1,044.

At least ten feet should be left clear in front for a small lawn. With a lot of 110 feet depth this would leave a plot 72x24 feet at the rear, after deducting four feet from each lot for a lane of eight feet in width. Of this, a plot 50x16 feet could easily be utilized for a garden, which, with a little husbandry, would provide not only a portion of the cost of living, but a home attraction and a healthy recreation as well.

To this initial cost, of course, must be added several other items before such houses could be considered as propositions for rental.

DOURO FARMER BITTEN MANY TIMES BY DOG

Mr. George McKeivor, a highly-respected resident of Douro Township, yesterday afternoon sustained injuries of a most distressing nature by being bitten three times upon the arm by a dog.

Mr. McKeivor was working in a field a short distance from the house when first attacked by the canine, which, when ordered home by Mr. McKeivor, turned fiercely upon him, sinking his teeth deeply into the flesh. Mrs. McKeivor, who witnessed the unfortunate occurrence, hastened to her husband's assistance, and had just reached him, when the animal turned again and renewed the attack, inflicting a second bite a short distance above the elbow.

Mr. McKeivor, went home, the dog following. As he was about to enter the house, the canine made a third onslaught, upon this occasion seizing him by the shoulder.

Dr. Douglas, of Warsaw, was at once summoned, and is in attendance upon the injured man, whose early recovery is hoped for by his many friends. The wounds are to-day in a very much inflamed and swollen condition, and some fears are entertained as to complications which may ensue.

It is hoped, however, that these results will not follow. The dog, which was a valuable collie, was at once dispatched.

CONVENTION OF PRINTERS.

Socialism and a Delegate Expelled For the Present.

Toronto, Aug. 17.—Triple-featured was the third session of the International Typographical Union at the Labor Temple yesterday.

Firstly, there was the address of Col. Fred Driscoll of Chicago, commissioner of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, important in the expression of sentiment of an employing body that had few differences to adjust with the union.

Secondly, there was the indifference shown by the meeting to the suggestion of Delegate Bandlow, Cleveland, that they declare for general ownership of the tools of production, an idea branded as socialistic.

Thirdly, there was the announcement of the expulsion of Delegate Selby Smith of Philadelphia, for having fomented trouble, until he apologizes in the same public manner as he made charges against the executive.

MR. WHITNEY ON COBALT.

Examination Shows Fuse at Cobalt Was Exaggerated.

Toronto, Aug. 17.—Premier Whitney has issued the following statement.

"I am sorry that an incorrect statement of alleged rowdyism at Cobalt has been made public. In the first place there was no trouble of any description there on Sunday.

"What trouble there was occurred there on Friday and was caused by several men getting under the influence of what was sold as "hard cider." There has been no trouble whatever since last Friday. The place is as peaceful as any other locality in the Province.

"The license inspector is dealing with the matter in the proper way. The public may feel no anxiety regarding the peace of Cobalt. The Government will do its duty without hesitation when circumstances call for it. At present, I am happy to say, there is no occasion for it."

WIDOW ENDS HER LIFE.

Mrs. Annie Delaney of Port Arthur Commits Suicide.

Port Arthur, Aug. 17.—A tragedy occurred here yesterday morning, a widow named Mrs. Annie Delaney committing suicide by taking a dose of carbolic acid. She had recently come from Manitoba and had been worrying for some time past over certain investments in farm lands. It is unlikely that an inquest will be held.

THE YELP OF THE WOLF.

Hamilton Times.

C. Lavis, a Tory heeler, writes to the World complaining that Mr. Whitney has not dismissed every Liberal provincial official, and installed Conservatives. He declares that the "weak and vacillating weather cock fronts that Premier Whitney has at different times presented to us, are causing the greatest alarm in the rank and file" of the party, which was pledged to give the Conservative workers the spoils. Hear him:

I will picture a scene from our own campaign that will be familiar to many in other ridings, as very many similar scenes occurred during the campaign. I will quote from a speech by M. B. Morrison, M.P.P., representative for West Hastings: "Gentlemen, there are 12,000 office holders backing up this rascally Ross Government, and if you elect us, gentlemen, our honoured leader, Mr. Whitney, will turn all these scoundrels out of office and put honest men in their places—(Hurrah for Whitney, Rah! Rah! Rah!) — and if my leader refuses to put them out, gentlemen, I will tender my resignation, gentlemen — (Hurrah for Morrison! Rah! Rah! Rah!)

On the same platform were Sir Mackenzie Bowell, H. Corby, M. P., E. Guss Porter, M.P., W. B. Northrup, M. P., J. W Johnston, Major R. J. Graham, and others, who either by their silence or by approving words, endorsed all that was said by our candidate. No one doubts that all such statements were made with the knowledge and approval of Premier Whitney, and unless I am mistaken some of his own speeches conveyed the same meaning. Yet in the face of such facts he very recently stated to some of our prominent citizens that it was not his intention to change any of the office-holders, unless for very grave reasons. The thunder of such words has soured the milk of human kindness in the breasts of the workers in this section, and to us there appears to be a fatal impediment in his veracity, his honour and his integrity."

Lavis voices the spoils hunger of the party. He wants his pound of flesh; he wants it now; and he won't be put off with twelve ounces. "Premier Whitney," he says, "evidently like Ananias and Sapphira, wishes to keep back part of the price of his election and elevation, or has he betrayed us, like Judas Iscariot, into the hands of our enemies? If so, we would suggest that he follow the example of Judas, and relieve the party of the heaviest burden it ever carried in the way of a leader. . . . Notwithstanding the advantages of social culture and education, he has never risen or displayed talents above mediocrity, unless it be an egotistical, autocratical, tyrannical despotism." Hope deferred has surely sickened Lavis, and his case is that of thousands of Tory heelers who had been promised offices as the price of services. Now they are sore and surly. Lavis says the party is a party of "lions led by a stag." And he adds:

Some evidence of such feeling was apparent in this section when Premier Whitney attended a picnic here on July 3rd. Not a carriage met him at the station. No one attended him from the grounds returning, and as it slowly wended its way up Front street, it attracted about as much attention as an empty hearse. . . . We want a man as leader with the same inflexible characteristics of our old leader, H. Corby, ex-M.P., and then every nundum-pactum, or campaign promise could hold up its head, and say, "I know that my reddemer liveth."

That may smack of sacrilege, but it leaves no doubt in the mind as to the heartiness of the writer. It is the hold of the spoils wolf, and it is an intimation that although dog does not eat dog, unless Mr. Whitney leads the ravening pack to where it can appease its gnawing hunger, he may himself be turned upon and rent in pieces.

No wonder a leader beset by such a ferocious following finds it hard to pursue an honourable course.

TO BEAUTIFY THE CITY.

The following proclamation by the mayor of Denver has been printed in a good many newspapers, but the points are good:

If your store front, residence or fence is dull or dingy, order it painted.

If your awning is old, torn or faded, get a new one.

If your sidewalk, fence or gate needs repairing, fix it.

Destroy the young weeds that are starting on your property, and on your neighbour's property.

If your advertising sign is old and faded, take it down and have it re-painted.

Resolve never to throw paper on the streets.

Take all the dandelions out of your lawn; they spoil its beauty.

Burn all the rubbish possible; allow no one to throw it on the streets, alleys or vacant lots.

Promise never to spit on the sidewalk.

Organize a block improvement society and allow no weeds to grow on your sidewalk, area or vacant property in your block.

Ask your milkman, groceryman and expressman to have their wagons painted.

Irrespective of the size of your house make the lawn your guest.

Illuminate the front of your store in the business section.

Every effort put forth or dollar spent to improve our city's appearance, will be returned twofold.

It is reported that the citizens of Denver have met these injunctions with practical approval, and the results have been most satisfactory. How would it do for the citizens of Peterborough to lay them to heart and act upon them? There are some citizens who do so. If one takes a walk, or a drive, about town, there are revealed many fine lawns, and grounds well kept, and beautiful. But in the majority of instances the fine effect of these is spoiled by untidy street surroundings. In front of a fine lawn is too often seen a frowsy boulevard, and in front of that a deep mud pool, caused by the civic neglect to provide proper drainage. Until the town and the city co-operate we can't expect the best results. The corporation street staff have a nasty habit of leaving things half done. A bit of grading or street work is done, and there are left unsightly and unlevelled corners of unfinished work. If our lawns were as untidy as the streets abutting them, Peterborough would resemble a backwoods "slash." Why can't the corporation officials do their work tidily, and set an example to citizens, instead of citizens giving them the cue? Taxpayers tax themselves willingly to beautify their grounds and residence fronts, and they would not object to the corporation spending a little more money in cleaning up streets decently after so-called "improvement" operations.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Mr. J. P. Whitney, the Brantford Expositor thinks, ought to be a good deal more considerate of the other J. P.'s than he has thus far been.

About the best thing Lord Beaconsfield ever did for Britain was to purchase a controlling interest in the Suez Canal. At its inception the project was decried, and British financiers would not look at it. The canal, however, has proved to be a great success financially and commercially. It is reported that 4,237 vessels of a net tonnage of 13,401,835 tons passed through the canal in 1904, as compared with 3,761 vessels of 11,907,288 tons in 1903, showing an increase of remarkable proportions.

Interlaken, Aug. 15.—Not in the history of a lifetime does it fall to the lot of an individual to witness a scene such as that observed by LeRoy C. Bradley and a friend, of this village, while driving near Sheldrake station, on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, four miles from this place last Saturday.

When approaching the farm of Elnathan Hall they observed a great commotion among some stock in a pasture lot near the railroad, and so informed Mr. Hall, and together they went to discover the cause of the trouble. Their surprise can better be imagined than described, when they saw that the pasture lot was swarming with bees which had come from an aviary adjoining and were attacking the stock. They immediately went to the barn, and obtaining a buffalo robe and some blankets, returned to the pasture with the intention of rescuing the horse, two calves, several pigs, and even the chickens, being also attacked.

By some means the pigs and calves had got out of the lot and escaped, but when the men returned they found the horse literally covered with the busy insects, who were out for battle, sure, and the air for a distance of twenty feet high was black with them on the wing.

The men in place of rescuing the horse, which had now fallen to the earth, were compelled to fly for their lives, as they were attacked in turn by the angry host of bees, and ran for the house near by, followed by the swarm. They sought entrance inside, and were compelled to close the doors and windows, and even then the bees attacked the outside of the building, seeking ingress, and kept the men and other occupants of the home prisoners until near evening.

When they were able to go out and view the scene of the battle of the bees, they found the horse had been stung to death, and the pigs and calves afraid to come back to the pasture. What caused the bees to array themselves in battle, or whether the different swarms were having an encounter among themselves when they came in contact with the horse and other animals, is hard to tell, but it is an experience that Mr. Hall, Mr. Bradley and the others will not be anxious to repeat soon. The horse killed by the bees was worth $150.

A COPPER BOTTOMED RHEUMATISM CURE

(Hamilton Herald.)

Have you rheumatism? Do you desire to be rid of it? If so, place a piece of sheet copper in the heel of your shoe, and go on your way rejoicing. This is not a patent medicine ad., nor an attempt to boom the copper industry. Before poohpoohing the notion as an old wife's fable, consider the case of Alvin C. Best, of the G. N. W. Telegraph Co., as given by the Hamilton Herald: "For years Mr. Best had been a sufferer from rheumatism. He became so crippled that he could scarcely get about. At last he had concluded that it was all up with him so far as this world was concerned. A few months ago Mrs. Best told him that a friend had told her of a friend who had been cured of a bad case of rheumatism by wearing copper in her shoes. Mr. Best scouted the idea. But a few days later he came across some old copper, and it occurred to him that he might try the experiment—even if it did him no good, it couldn't do him much harm. So he made a couple of plates from the sheet-copper and put them into the heels of his shoes. After wearing the copper in his shoes for a day he felt relief. The next day he felt better still. He continued steadily to improve, until in a few weeks he was entirely cured, and now, though an elderly man, he goes about as chipper and spry as a youngster." The Herald adds that since he was cured Mr. Best has told several other rheumatic sufferers how he obtained relief, and they have tried the copper cure, invariably with good results. We gladly spread the good tidings, seeking no credit, and assuming no responsibility.

Test the Kidneys.

Allow the urine to stand in a glass vessel for twenty-four hours, and if at the end of that it is clouded or has left a sediment in the bottom of the vessel you may be sure that your kidneys are diseased. As a means of invigorating the action of the kidneys and making them strong and healthy, there is no preparation so prompt and none so thorough as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

GOOD NEWS FOR THE OLD FOLKS

Mr. Angus McMillan Tells Them Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Will Cure Their Stomach Troubles.

Of peculiar interest to the aged is the story of Mr. Angus McMillan, of Laggan P.O., Glengarry County, Ont. Mr. McMillan is now over 82 years of age and looks hearty enough to reach the 100 year mark. He attributes a large part of his splendid health to Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. He says:

"I suffered from Dyspepsia for more than twenty years but never met with anything to cure me until I used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. After using them for two days all the pain and restlessness left me.

"I am in one sense a new man and have great reason to be thankful for all the good Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have done me."

Stomach troubles are one of the burdens that old folks have to bear. It is good news for them that there is a speedy cure for them in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Great Future for the Sault.

With the canals on both sides of the international line, and with traffic growing rapidly, the Sault has a great future to look forward to. It is the pivotal point in Canada, and is bound to grow in importance and in wealth. That the celebration of the event which has made the Sault what it is should be entered upon heartily is not to be wondered at. The opening of a system of through navigation was a contribution to the progress of the country of the highest value.

—An innovation in connection with the Central Canada Exhibition, Ottawa, Sept. 9th to 16th, which will be approved by all patrons of the Fair is the decision of the directors to keep the various exhibit buildings open every evening of the Fair until 9.30. In the past many have expressed the wish that the building might be kept open later than six o'clock. The directors, ever anxious to please, have this year complied with their request. The displays will be illuminated by electric light.

—It very rarely happens that crops —come so near destruction as they did this year, says the Warkworth Journal. Had the wet hot weather continued for a few days longer the farmers would have counted this as the third poor year for crops. Hay was on the verge of being ruined; wheat, rye and barley was in the same condition. Just at the critical point, however, the weather man relented and in consequence the farmers of Northumberland county are harvesting the bunner yield for a generation. The farmer that grows this year is a poor affair and will get the sympathy he deserves.

—To-morrow the C. G. E. Angling Club holds its annual excursion down the river.

—The Norris and Rowe Shows will visit Peterborough one week from to-morrow.

—The Harvey Agricultural Society will hold their fair at Lakehurst on October 5 and 6.

—To-morrow the Roads and Bridges Committee of the County Council will meet at the County Buildings.

—There was another good crowd at Jackson Park last night, though the absence of the band doubtless kept many from going who would otherwise have been there.

—After this week the Stony Lake traffic will slacken considerably, though it is reported that many of the cottagers have arranged to remain at the lakes during September this year.

—The committee of Court Chemong, I. O. F., in charge of the Civic Holiday excursion, met last night to close the business in connection with the excursion. It was found to have been most successful.

—The Daughters of England will run an excursion to-morrow afternoon to Chemong Park. Busses leave corner Albert and Park streets, and South Central School and postoffice at 1.30 sharp. Fare 25 cents return. Children half fare.

—On Friday, August 25, Havelock's Civic Holiday, an excursion will be run from that town to Roseneath, where the Havelock baseball team plays a game in the T. V. League. A special train will be run from Havelock to Peterborough, and from here the party will go to Roseneath by the City of Peterborough, which has been chartered for the occasion.

—To-morrow the printers of the city will hold their annual picnic, an event looked forward to from one year to the next with great expectations by the printers, their wives and sweethearts, and any friends who may be fortunate enough to get an invitation. In consequence of the picnic the Examiner will be issued at one o'clock instead of at four o'clock.

—Mr. Leslie, a farmer, living in the 4th concession of Sidney, claims to have been robbed of some jewelry by a man whom he had just hired to work for him. Mr. Leslie left the new man alone in the house while he went to call on a neighbour. When he returned he found that a private room had been broken into, several articles were missing, and the hired man had departed.

—Horse racing at Agricultural fairs is declared by the Minister of Agriculture in the annual report on fairs and exhibitions to be illegal, and directors of fairs where races are held are said to be liable to fine and imprisonment. The evil of horse racing is the betting which results. The report recommends the abolition of all gambling at agricultur al fairs, and gives photographs of various gambling devices by which large sums of money are taken from the farmers.

—During an electrical storm which passed over Tweed section on Sunday, the residence of Mr. William Baker, about a mile and a half west of Thomasburg, was struck by lightning. The building, although it did not take fire, was badly wrecked, and there is scarcely a sound partition in it. Mr. Baker, who was standing near the window, was knocked down by the shock and badly stunned. Pictures were knocked down from the walls, and altogether considerable damage was done. This same house was struck by lightning about six years ago and Mr. Baker's daughter was killed.

—The friends of Mr. Dick O'Brien, who is at present in the Temiskaming country with surveying party No. 7, are telling a good story at his expense. It appears that the mosquitoes are so bad in that region that the men have prepared a solution which, when applied to the exposed portions of the body, has the effect of driving away the obnoxious creatures. On one occasion, when going out to work in the morning, Mr. Dick took a bottle which he brought containing his "mosquito medicine," but which, while it looked like the genuine, was in reality a bottle of molasses, and the story is that Dick did not discover his mistake until after he had applied several expansive doses to his face, the effect of which may easily be imagined.

ANNIVERSARY "AT HOME" AT JUNIPER ISLAND

Hon. J. R. and Mrs. Stratton Gave a Delightful "At Home"—Anniversary of Their Wedding—Distinct Social Triumph Scored Last Evening at Stony Lake—About 600 Guests in Attendance—Large Peterborough Party Went Up By Special Train and Boat.

Hon. J. R. and Mrs. Stratton, summering at Strathormond-on-the-Lake, were at home last night at the pavilion, and their hospitality was represented by what all present regarded as one of the most brilliant and successful social functions of this, or any other kind, ever taking place on the gay waters of Stony Lake. It was an open secret that the date of the function, though not so specifically announced, was coincident with the anniversary of the marriage of the genial host and hostess. The very large number in attendance, which included, in addition to the summer dwellers at the Lake, relatives and more intimate friends, from the city, afforded evidence of the high popularity enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Stratton, while the good taste, smooth progress and perfect success of the function, added another to the many social entertainment triumphs Mrs. Stratton has to her credit.

The pavilion, which it was necessary to employ for the occasion, on account of the large attendance, which numbered between five and six hundred, was transformed for the occasion in appearance, and during the four hours from eight to twelve o'clock, it was the centre of social festivities and debonaire enjoyment which it has not before, and will not soon again, witness.

Mr. and Mrs. Stratton were the subjects of a shower of most cordial congratulations, such as the occasion called for, and must have been more than delighted with the warmth of esteem thus exhibited, and doubtless derived additional gratification from the evident enjoyment their six hundred guests experienced during a most delightful evening.

The Peterborough guests arrived about eight o'clock on the steamer Stony Lake, after a charming sail from Lakefield, the trip up in the twilight of a perfect August evening being a fitting preliminary to the charming sight which met the gaze of the party upon their arrival at Juniper Island. The brilliant effect of the countless coloured lights, the beautiful decorations which floated gayly aloft in the glare of a huge bonfire, the many-hued reflections which danced in the ripple of the waters, all combined to produce the effect of a genuine rather than an improvised fairyland.

The hostess, who wore a charming gown of pale blue embroidered muslin, with lace collar, and carried a bouquet of white asters, received upon a raised platform, over which hung a floral decoration as appropriate to the surroundings as it was beautiful. This was in the form of a canoe banked with roses and ferns. Her niece, Miss Alberta Gooding, was beautifully attired in white muslin, with Valenciennes insertion and lace. Assisting Mrs. Stratton with the refreshments were: Miss Alberta Gooding, Miss Nora Stanley, of Rochester; Miss Ola Cavanah, Miss Ada Minns, of Toronto; Miss Eva Irwin, Miss Lenore Sanderson, and Miss Alma Knapman.

The 57th Regiment Band, which furnished exquisite music at Lakefield and upon the trip up the lake, was stationed upon a platform opening off the pavilion, and rendered a most delightful programme of music for the dance, which opened about nine o'clock, with a two-step, and continued at intervals until midnight.

Interspersed with the programme of dances were a number of vocal solos and pianoforte selections. Among those who sang were: Mrs. Charles Wilmot, of Port Hope; Miss Le May, of Montreal; Mrs. W. J. Morrow, who also contributed a delightful pianoforte selection, and Mr. Joseph Legge. The accompaniments were played with sympathetic taste and expression by Miss Alice Roger.

Delightful refreshments were served from a buffet, Mr. H. Long, the caterer, excelling himself in the completeness of his arrangements and the daintiness of the menu.

The decorations were of a most exquisite character, and in the effect produced, could at once be recognized the artistic hand of Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons. Streamers and flags were hung across the promenade in front of the pavilion, while the interior, festooned and draped with a rich profusion of colour, represented charming decorative effects. A number of mottoes, including a large "Welcome," above the entrance, added to the effect.

As the boat, provided for the convenience of the guests by Mr. Stratton, waiting to convey the Peterborough party home, prepared to depart, three cheers for Mr. and Mrs. Stratton were proposed by Col. H. C. Rogers, and given in a hearty manner by the assembled guests.

Mr. Stratton replied briefly, expressing on behalf of himself and Mrs. Stratton, the pleasure it had given them to have in attendance at the celebration of their wedding, the many friends who were present. After speaking of the gratitude they felt at the happiness and favouring conditions which had marked the quarter of a century completed so auspiciously that night, he closed by wishing bon voyage to all the guests who had honoured the occasion with their highly-appreciated presence.

The Peterborough guests departed for their home upon the steamer at about twelve o'clock, and after a perfect trip in the glorious moonlight, boarded the special train which was in waiting at Lakefield, and reached home with delightful recollections of one of the most elaborate and successful social reunions which Stony Lake in her history of delightful events of this kind has ever witnessed.

TELEPHONE TALKS.

TO TELEPHONE USERS AND THE GENERAL PUBLIC,—

We have already refuted the malicious charge that subscribers to the Bell Telephone Co. of Canada are paying a charge of $3.60 per annum interest on capital invested in expired patents. Let us now refer to the evidence which discloses that in the purchase of the original patents this Company acquired rights the use of which has saved it many thousands of dollars and that these rights are secured in perpetuity.

The Bell Telephone Company of Canada under the original purchase of patents also secured the right to all patents and inventions of Telephone apparatus which the American Bell Telephone Company may acquire for all time to come in the Dominion. It will be observed that this is broad enough to cover not only Telephones but Switchboards and every other Telephone device. We have thus acquired at a nominal first charge the results of the researches and experiments of the best talent in the service of the largest operating Telephone Company in the world. It carries with it the plans, drawings and specifications for all the elaborate and expensive equipment of a modern Telephone Exchange The saving to this Company in experimental work, in engineering and designing is worth to-day far more than the original amount paid under the agreement.

Instead of being a burdensome charge upon subscribers this is one of the reasons why this Company has been able to keep pace with inventions and improvements at the low rates prevailing in Canada without increasing the average capitalization per subscriber. The acquirement of new apparatus after thorough test in the laboratories and in practical operation in the great systems of the United States is of inestimable advantage not only to this Company but to Telephone users in Canada. This advantage through foresight exercised twenty-five years ago in the framing of an agreement has been secured to the people of this country for all time.

LATEST SPORT

RUGBY

The rugby clubs throughout the province are commencing to re-organize. In fact the London club is getting down to practice already. Peterborough should soon fall into line and discuss the prospects for the coming season. So far there has been very little local rugby talk, but no doubt the next three weeks will bring out some developments. President E. S. Clarry of the Peterborough Rugby Club states that the annual meeting of the club will, as usual, be held during the first week in September. As to what series the local team will enter he was not prepared to say. He was of the opinion, however, that it would be in the interest of the game to introduce a lot of new blood into the management of the club. The present officers have been for years actively identified with the club and it is quite natural to suppose that they had grown tired of their duties and would welcome a rest in that regard. Mr. Clarry himself has been actively connected with the club for the past six years, four years as secretary and two years as president. Mr. Chris. Graham, who is beyond question the most efficient secretary the club has ever had, has held that position for the past two years in addition to doing valuable work in the field. Mr. Graham held previous to his accepting the offic of secretary, filled various other offices in the club.

Mr. Will Crowley, who has been playing the game for years has been for many years one of the vice-presidents of the club, and has been captain of the team for several seasons. It is to be hoped, however, that Mr. Crowley may be induced to once more take the captaincy of the team.

BOWLING.

The Peterborough Lawn Bowlers met their first Waterloo at the hands of Millbrook last night, and while the score may not represent the respective merits of the opposing rinks, it is a true order of those merits as exhibited last night.

The visitors won not only because they played better, but they rubbed it in by playing a first-class game. Their playing generally was good, but that of Captain Winslow and Skip Eakens was superb and would be the envy of many who aspire to Dominion Tournament honours.

The local club extends congratulations to Millbrook and feels that the visitors have reaped the reward of their perseverance and skill.

The following are the scores:—

Peterborough.	Millbrook.
W H Isaac	Mr. Lamprey
Jas Gibson	H Hampton
T E Pratt	R F Adams
Fred Dixon, sk 16.	J C Kells, sk 14
U H Ferguson	T Lath
Dr. Marshall	Capt. Winslow
D H Moore	A A Smith
G H Grout, sk 10.	J R Eakins, sk 21
Total—60.	Total—87

Majority in favour of Millbrook. 17.

There were other local games played but the scores were not handed in.

The schedule for to-night:—

Dixon vs. Talbot.
Cox vs. Tunnells.
Brereton vs. Medd.
Dr. Greer vs. Thompson.
Kerr vs. Ferguson.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Steady—Chicago Firmer—Buffalo Easier.

London, Aug. 17.—Cattle are quoted at 11c to 11¼c per lb.; refrigerator beef, 8⅝c to 8¾c per lb.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Receipts of live stock at the city market, as reported by the railways, were large, 96 car loads since Tuesday, composed of 1185 cattle, 1474 hogs, 1538 sheep and lambs, with 206 calves.

Exporters.

There was little doing in shipping cattle to-day, few were offered and few were wanted; prices ranged from $4.25 to $4.75, but there were only five cattle that brought the latter price, the bulk selling at $4.40 to $4.60; bulls for export sold from $3.50 to $4.

Butchers.

The market for butchers' cattle was much easier, being very dull and slow, in fact they were not all sold at the close of the day. The best picked heifers and steers sold from $4 to $4.20; and real good loads sold at $3.90 to $4; medium, $3.50 to $3.75; common at $2.50 to $3.25; canners at $2 to $2.50.

Stockers and Feeders.

There was a little better demand for feeders and a few short-keeps, weighing from 1100 to 1150 lbs. each, sold from $3.75 to $4 per cwt.; feeders, 900 to 1000 lbs. each, at $3.40 to $3.75; light feeders, of good quality, 800 to 900 lbs. each, are worth $3.50 to $3.75; stockers sold from $2.25 to $2.25.

H. Murby bought about 100 stockers and feeders paying as follows: best feeders, 1000 to 1600 lbs., $3.80 to $4.00; medium, 900 to 1150 lbs. at $3.50 to $3.75; best feeders, 800 to 1000 lbs., at $3.40 to $3.50; medium feeders, $3.12½ to $3.50; best yearlings, $3.40 to $3.60; common stockers from $2.25 to $2.40 for light and $2.50 to $2.80 for heavier kinds. Mr. Murby reports the stocker trade fair this week, with everything pretty well cleaned up. The demand is as usual, for the best kinds, which met with a steady sale. The common kinds, weighing from 400 to 600 lbs., are very slow of sale, while the heavier ones worked off fairly well at fair prices.

Milch Cows.

About 30 milch cows and springers sold all the way from $30 to $60 each.

Veal Calves.

Notwithstanding the fairly liberal supply of veal calves prices remained firm at $3.50 to $5.75 per cwt., and some of prime quality would be worth $6 per cwt., but there are few of this class coming.

Sheep and Lambs.

The demand for sheep and lambs still remains good, with prices firm at $4 to $4.20 per cwt.; bucks and culls at about $3.40 per cwt.

Hogs.

There is some talk of lower prices for hogs, but Mr. Harris was still paying $7.30 for selects and $7.10 for lights and fats today.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, Aug. 17.—Cattle—Receipts, 100; slow; prime steers, $5.25 to $5.60; shipping steers, $4.50 to $5.25; bulls, $2.50 to $3.75; stockers and feeders, $2.50 to $4; stock heifers, $2.50 to $3.

BAD STOMACH MAKES BAD BLOOD.

You can't make sweet butter in a foul churn. Every farmer's wife knows this. Your stomach churns and digests the food you eat, and if foul, torpid or out of order, your whole system suffers from blood poisoning. You will have foul breath, coated tongue, bad taste, poor appetite and a whole train of disagreeable symptoms. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which is not a beverage composed of whisky or alcohol, being entirely free from intoxicants, is a great regulator and invigorator of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

"About a year ago I was ill with blood poisoning," writes Miss Evaline Louks, of 35 Walter Street, Buffalo, N. Y. "I had what seemed to be a small cold sore on my lip. It became very angry in appearance and began to spread until it nearly covered my face. I was a frightful sight and could not go outside the house because of my appearance. I used a blood medicine which did not give me any relief. Then I began to take your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I was greatly benefited with the first bottle and after taking the second bottle was completely cured. The erysipelatous eruption disappeared and my blood was cleansed. My complexion is clear and fresh and I have felt better this year than I did for some time before. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is certainly a most remarkable medicine."

Don't accept a substitute for a medicine which performs such cures and which has a uniformly successful record of nearly forty years to its credit. It's an insult to your intelligence for a dealer to try by over-persuasion to palm off upon you in its stead some inferior article with no record to back it up. You know what you want; it is his business to meet that want.

$50,000 GIVEN AWAY, in copies of The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book that sold to the extent of 680,000 copies a few years ago, at $1.50 per copy. Last year we gave away 60,000 worth of these invaluable books. This year we shall give away $50,000 worth of them. Will you share in this benefit? If so, send only 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, for book in stiff paper covers, or 50 stamps for cloth-bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

As a Convalescent Food.

Mr. Wyman N. Thomas, Ompah, Addington Co., Ont., writes: "My wife had congestion of the lungs along with other troubles, and became very weak and run down. By the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food she was made as strong and well as ever. Of course, I had a doctor, but she was weak, and it was Dr. Chase's Nerve Food which built her up."

WERE KILLED BY CURRENT

Fatal Whitby and Halifax Town Line Electric Current.

ENGINEER JORDON KILLED

Giving a Lesson in Putting in Whitby's Arc Lights and He Died in a Very Few Minutes—Glace Bay Lineman Killed by Touching Live Wire That Should Have Been Dead.

Whitby, Aug. 18.—An arc light current of twenty-two hundred volts short circuited through the hands killed George H. Jordon, engineer of the municipal light and waterworks plant Wednesday night just before midnight.

The evidence adduced at the inquest makes it clear he alone was to blame. W. G. Dickson of Alexandra Flats, Toronto, and Cecil Wright, arrived at the harbor in a gasoline launch late Wednesday night and were the last to talk to Jordon before he went into the dynamo room with Clatworthy, his assistant, who was to relieve him within an hour.

Against the wishes of the latter Jordan started to show him how the arc lights are turned on the streets. Clatworthy saw the first fingers of each of Jordan's hands over the rubber guard of the copper plug as he began the demonstration. Fire flew from both hands, and he turned and said: "Something's wrong here!" whereupon Clatworthy grabbed him away, but too late, as with one or two gasped he expired.

The evidence went to show the plant was quite modern and equipped with every apparatus for safety in operation. After taking the evidence all afternoon the inquest adjourned. The body will be taken this morning to Wyevale, Ont., where interment takes place.

Jordan was a single man, and lived with his sister Marion not far from the plant. Only on Saturday last he had effected an insurance of $1,000 in an accident company, in favor of his sister. The policy arrived yesterday. He also carried $10,000 in the I. O. F. The deceased has a brother, A. H. Jordan, at Midland, where he is a smelter in the iron works.

Killed by Live Wire.

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 17.—Lineman Bruce Cann was instantly killed at Glace Bay yesterday morning by coming into contact with a live wire. He climbed one of the town electric light poles and grasped two of the wires. At the time of the accident the town light current is supposed to be cut off. Some person yet unknown had turned on the switch.

Killed At the Soo.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Aug. 18—Wallentira Kyykky, a Finlander, was accidentally killed while working on the Algoma Central steamer Theano, which is loading rails at Steel Plant dock. Kyykky was in the hold and, desiring to get out, grabbed the sling of the hoist after it had released a rail, and as it went up swung and struck head on the hatchway, causing him to let go and fall to the bottom, where his brains were dashed out.

Jugular Vein Exposed.

Forest, Aug. 18.—While Arthur and Elva Hodgson were driving into town with their sister-in-law, Mrs. Stanley Hodgson of Detroit, their horse became frightened. Mrs. Hodgson was thrown into a barbed wire fence and severely cut in the neck, exposing the jugular vein.

Pierced by Pitchfork.

Belleville, Aug. 18.—Alex. Stoughton, a young man who worked on his father's farm, near Bancroft, fell from a load of hay and alighted on a fork handle, which pierced his abdomen. He is in a serious condition but the doctors have hopes of his recovery.

Succumbs to Street Car Accident.

Toronto, Aug. 18.—Thomas O. Champion, an insurance inspector, of 136 Shaw street died very suddenly at Toronto General Hospital yesterday morning while preparations were being made to give him an airing on the verandah. His death was the result of a street car accident on July 22, in which he had his hip broken. An inquest was opened last night, and after a jury had viewed the remains an adjournment was made till Tuesday night.

The Third Victim.

Toronto, Aug. 18.—William McLean, another victim of the careless handling of dynamite on the James Bay Railway construction, north of Gravenhurst, by which two others were badly hurt on Monday, is in the General Hospital with both legs severely injured.

PROSPECTS FOR THE FIELD CROPS

Increased Yields and Acreage in Province of Ontario.

BIG DECREASE IN APPLES

Fall Wheat Increased By Nearly 200,000 Acres and An Average Increase of Eight Bushels Per Acre Over 1904—Rye Only Decreased In Area—Spring Wheat Also Showed An Increase.

Toronto, Aug. 18.—The areas of the field crops of Ontario, issued by the Department of Agriculture, show the yields this year to be considerably better than last year, especially in wheat, both fall and spring, which have been more extensively sown this year. Rye, peas, hay and clover are also slightly above. The only decrease is the yield of apples, which has fallen from 7 bushels per tree in 1904 to 4.22 bushels in 1905.

The area of fall wheat has increased by nearly 200,000 acres, while rye is about 30,000 less than last year. Beans are about the same.

There are 796,213 acres of fall wheat under cultivation, yielding 18,467,043 bushels, or 23.2 bushels to the acre, as compared with 605,458 acres and 9,166,623 bushels in 1904, when the average was 15.1. The average of 28 years is 20.3.

Spring wheat comprises 190,116 acres, and 3,591,941 bushels or an average of 18.9 as compared with 15.4 last year, when the yield was 2,471,103 bushels.

There are 772,633 acres of barley, and 14,163,833 bushels, the average per acre being 31.3, about same as in 1904.

The area and yield of oats was about same as a year ago, namely 2,666,416 acres and 102,869,734 bushels, an average of 38.5 per acre.

In 1904 there were 130,702 acres and 2,001,826 bushels of rye, as against 101,292 acres and 1,752,135 bushels. The average for 1904 was 15.3 and for 1905 17.3.

The yield of peas per acre is slightly above the average of the last 28 years. In 1904 it was 6,629,866 bushels altogether. This year there are 374,518 acres and 7,510,775 bushels.

The estimated area of beans is 50,543 acres, with 965,833 bushels, against 912,849 harvested from the same area last year.

The yield of hay and clover is 5,847,494 tons on 3,020,365 acres, that is, 1.93 per acre. The average for 1904 was 1.80 and the previous 28 years 1.45.

There are 7,018,723 trees of apples, which will yield 29,600,551 bushels, or 4.22 per tree, while 7 bushels was the average in 1904.

It is too early to estimate the yields of other crops, but the acreages are as follows: Corn for husking, 295,005; corn for silos, 154,784; buckwheat, 101,591; potatoes, 132,860; mangels, 69,025; carrots, 5,509; turnips, 135,348; orchard, 366,613; vineyards, 13,719.

The numbers of live stock on hand are as follows: Horses, 672,781; cattle, 2,339,503; sheep, 1,324,153; swine, 1,896,460, and poultry, 9,737,093.

The above returns are compiled from direct individual returns from farmers.

IT is not the amount of heat you generate in the boiler that makes a successful heating system. It is the amount of heat you use.

We have succeeded in designing a boiler that holds and uses more of the heat generated in the fire-pot than any other boiler on the market.

Oxford Hot Water Boiler

Sides of the fire-pot slant inwards above the fire, so that instead of the heat sliding up through the flues it sharply impinges against these inclined walls. In first water section nearest fire, the flues are bell-shaped, so that a very great surface is exposed.

The Oxford Boiler saves fuel because every bit of the heat generated by it is used.

Complete details of Oxford Boiler superiority is told in our catalogue. It's free.

AT ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH

A GREAT SUCCESS

A Most Enjoyable Evening Was Spent at McCracken's Church on Wednesday—A Delightful Programme in Which Tourists Took Part Was Rendered—Debt on Church Was Liquidated—Late Interesting Events at Stony Lake—Wednesday's Dance Was an Enjoyable Function—Many Visitors in Kawarthadom.

Special Staff Correspondence.

Stony Lake, Aug. 17.—Last night's dance at the Juniper pavilion was a charming event and was much enjoyed by the large and jolly crowd which assembled. Among those in attendance were,—Hon. J. R. and Mrs. Stratton, Miss Vieva Hunter, Miss Ruby, Mr. Jim and Mr. Hubert Eakins, Mr. George Lundy, Miss Helen Davidson, Mr. Basil Hall, Mr. Gerald Hall, Miss Annette and Mr. Fred Collins, Miss Gwen. Hall, Misses Alta and Eva Bradd, Mr. Aston, Mr. Gerald Rackham, Miss Margaret McDonald, Miss Florence Cameron, Miss Mollie Meldrum, Mr. Graham Ferguson, Mr. Lou. Potvin, Mr. Rupert and Misses May and Alice Donnel, Miss Sike, Miss Wade, Miss Rick, Mr. Fred Star, Mr. Horace Walkey, Mr. Francis Bates, Mr. Hubert McBain, Miss Marlie Hall, Miss Canfield, Miss Koch, Miss Gawankook, Mr. Reesor.

The tea and concert given last night at St. George's Anglican Church, near McCracken's Landing, was the most successful of the list of annual successes achieved by the congregation since the building of the church some years ago.

The affair was thoroughly delightful in every feature and from the individual point of view only could be determined the aspect contributing the greater amount of pleasure—the abundant supply of material good things, or the charming entertainment which followed.

Stony Lake as usual contributed a large number of people to swell the attendance, as well as to lend a much-appreciated assistance with the musical part of the programme. A number of parties arrived in yachts, while many others took the trip from the lake shore in the unconventional hay-rack.

The affair was held for the purpose of securing sufficient funds to liquidate the church debt, which gratifying result, it is pleasing to learn, was more than achieved. The proceeds last night exceeded $130.

The tables, which literally groaned beneath the burden of the choice and tempting viands prepared by the ladies of the congregation, were, of course, a chief centre of attraction to the crowd. A refreshment booth also did a flourishing business.

Mr. H. M. East occupied the chair, and fulfilled the duties of this position in his usual happy manner. After a brief opening address, sparkling with well-narrated anecdotes, a vocal solo was rendered with splendid effect by Rev. H. F. Battersby. This was followed by a recitation by Miss Elsie Bell, "How Salvador Won," in which the clever young elocutionist demonstrated her dramatic powers. A violin solo, Laybach's "5th Nocturnal," was rendered with musicianly expression by Miss Julia Choate. A vocal solo by Miss Montgomery was given in good voice and was received with many expressions of delight by the audience. A humourous recitation was then contributed in a most mirth-provoking manner by Miss Elsie Bell. This was followed by a vocal solo by Miss Julia Choate. An instrumental selection by Miss Edith Tierney, of Ottawa, was received with marked appreciation by the audience. A vocal duet by Miss Montgomery and Rev. H. F. Battersby was rendered with artistic shading and expression. A recitation, "Jonathan Brown," by Mr. Cole, of Toronto, was presented in a manner displaying much ability in the realm of comic impersonation. Miss Montgomery contributed an instrumental selection with musicianly taste. A vocal solo by Rev. H. F. Battersby closed a programme which gave much delight throughout. The numbers were interspersed with gramophone selection, which lent a pleasing variety to the programme.

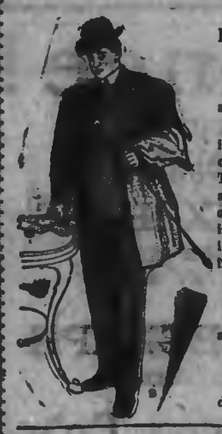
August Reduction Sale

Here's a bit of news that sticks a poking, prying finger into every man's exchequer and propounds a query with a decidedly economical twist to it.



Do you care about making a fine saving on a Clothing Purchase?

We won't carry over stock, and its at this season that we cut prices all to pieces.

Judging from the brisk activity now prevailing here, one would hardly think that the month of August, the so-called dull season is now on. There are no dull times where the inducements are tempting enough to bring trade. Pretenses or half way measures won't do it, as many clothiers have found out to their sorrow. The pruning knife must be applied to prices without making Any Allowance for Profit.

See our $15.00 Suits for $11.50.
$12.00 Suits for $9.00.
$10.00 Suits for $7.00, also our great line at $5.00.
Fancy Vests at actual cost.
75c and $1.00 Negligee Shirts for 49c.
All Summer Goods must go. The prices will do it.

DECEASE OF A FORMER RESIDENT

Mrs. Margaret Ferguson Passes Away in Hamilton.

Was One of the Pioneers of Peterborough, But Has Been a Resident of Hamilton for Number Years.

On Wednesday one of the old pioneers of Peterborough passed away in Hamilton in the person of Mrs. Margaret Ferguson, relict of the late James B. Ferguson formerly post master of the local office, and successor to his father, who was the first official to occupy that position in Peterborough.

The deceased lady will be remembered by many of the old residents as the daughter of Mr. Sharpe, who was well known here. The deceased had reached the ripe old age of 89, and had spent the latter years of her life in Hamilton. A daughter, Miss Charlotte, of Montreal, and a son, Dr. Jas. B. Ferguson, with the U. S. Army in the Philippines, survive her.

The funeral was private and took place on the arrival of the noon C.P.R. train and proceeded to the Little Lake Cemetery for interment.

IROQUOIS WON IN LIGHT WIND

In Deciding Race for Canada's Cup

American Yacht Drew Away at the Start.

Special to the Examiner.

Rochester, Aug. 18.—There was again a very light wind when the yachts started today on the deciding race for the possession of the Canada's Cup, the register showing only about six miles an hour. As usual the defender got the better of the start, crossing the line at 11.05.20, followed by Temeraire at 11.15.15. Iroquois immediately began to draw away from the Canadian boat and turned the first stake at 11.52.00; Temeraire at 11.53.58 at the stand stake Iroquois made the turn at 12.31.30; Temeraire at 12.42.35.

A DOG CASE AND DOG DISPOSED OF

Mr. Casey Promised to Destroy the Canine—Horse in Bad Condition.

Troubles with a horse and a dog were the only things to occupy His Worship's attention this morning.

A dog has been in the habit of making frequent visits to the house of a Mrs. Casey, and as the canine was going through life without a license, there was trouble ahead of it. Mrs. Casey convinced the Magistrate that the dog was not hers, and as she promised to see to it that it would not require any more licenses in this world, the case was dismissed.

A complaint has been made as to the deplorable condition of a local expressman's horse. The animal, it appears, is only about eight years old, but it is in a bad condition, owing to the wear and tear of life. The Magistrate had a ride on it once, but said he could have reached his destination just as soon on foot. The chief promised to see the owner about the case.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

RING WORM AND DANDRUFF

They Are Each Caused by a Pestiferous Germ.

Ring worm and dandruff are somewhat similar in their origin; each is caused by a parasite. The germ that causes dandruff digs to the root of the hair, and saps its vitality, causing falling hair, and finally baldness. Without dandruff there would never be baldness, and to cure dandruff it is necessary to kill the germ. There has been no hair preparation that would do this until the discovery of Newbro's Herpicide, which positively kills the dandruff germ, allays itching instantly, and makes the hair glossy and soft as silk. Take no substitutes. There is nothing "just as good." Sold by all leading druggists. Send ten cents in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Company, Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, special agents.

SPORT NOTES.

To-morrow the deciding game, as far as the local baseball team is concerned, will be played. If the team wins the game from Oshawa, the prospects are pretty good for it to win out from Bowmanville, the team which is looked upon as being the only one which can possibly beat Peterborough out for the League championship, but if the game goes to Oshawa, the local nine may as well hang up their baseball togs for the season, because there will be no possibility of them winning the pennant. But, then, the prospects are that the local team will to-morrow add another to their string of victories. There will be a good strong nine on the field, and unless things go very much wrong the home team should finish the game with a majority of the tallies to their credit. Quinlan will, in all probability, do the pitching, and, with good support, should win out easily. The imported battery of Oshawa, Phelan and Cadman, of the Toronto Royal Canadians, have made a great improvement in the Oshawa team, and they have been able to win a few games since they were secured, but then it must be remembered that Lindsay, the tailenders of the League, came within one of defeating them a few days ago, and if Peterborough, at home, cannot do better than Lindsay, this team has no license to aspire to the League championship — that's all.

The few days of cool weather which we have had recently have evidently made people think that winter is not far off, and rugby and hockey begin to take precedence over the summer games, and, since it seems to be the fashion to talk hockey now, what are the prospects for a team in Peterborough this season? It is certain that a number of those who last season constituted the team which brought so much credit upon itself, and the town, by its record, will not be in the game again. Some have already announced that they have played their last game, and it is probable that others will make similar announcements, and the question which now confronts the lovers of the game, is what is going to be done about it? The minor leagues in the city last season had the effect of developing a number of good players, while the junior team had some promising men, but there does not seem to be enough talent available to get together a team which will bring to the city the credit which in other years, it has enjoyed by reason of the exploits of its hockey teams. Maybe something will turn up in the near future which will throw some brighter rays on the situation, but at the present time things do not look to be any too promising.

The prospects are that the unsportsmanlike action of the Midland Lacrosse Club, the details of which are pretty well known to the majority of people here, will bring its own punishment to those responsible for it. The secretary of the C. L. A. was simply appalled when he learned the facts, and at once sent the matter on to the President, and undoubtedly the matter will be promptly dealt with. The officials of the central lacrosse body this year have given evidence that they are anxious to keep the game clean, and they have dealt vigourously, and promptly with violations of the rules in the past during this season, and, it is to be hoped, for the sake of the game, that the Midland team will be punished. The local lacrosse management have not taken the matter up because of any feeling of soreness at their defeat, because as a matter of fact, any action which may be taken by the C.L.A. will not affect the standing of the Peterborough team in the slightest, since they have already won their district from Midland by a good margin. The stand taken by the local team is simply this,—they feel that such flagrant violations of the rules of the association as those committed by the Midland team should not be allowed to pass unpunished. Any set of men who have no more honour than that exhibited by those referred to should be expelled from the ranks of all sporting organizations, and it is to be hoped, not for the sake of the local team, but for the sake of pure sport, that the C.L.A. will mete out the penalty which their action deserves.

During the summer a great impetus has been given to sailing as a sport, and there is every reason to believe that next summer will see a greater number of persons interesting themselves in it than there have been this year. The fact that a local boat, made by a local firm of boat-builders, and sailed by a local yachtsman won the sailing race at Sturgeon Point and Stony Lake regattas proves that Peterborough has attained a prominent place in this particular line of sport, and the result will probably be that others will take up yachting as a pastime, and, in future years there will be many interesting contests. The weekly races at Chemong for the flag donated by Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, one of the most enthusiastic of our local yachtsmen have also had the effect of creating additional interest in sailing, and Mr. Dennistoun is to be commended for his action.

CREW STICKS TO SINKING BOAT

Panic Aboard Craft Drives Her to Port

Plucky Work of Seamen—Hit a Wreck But Races to Safety While Crowd Panic-Stricken Watch Her.

Block Island, R. I., Aug. 17.—The steamboat New Shoreham struck a submerged wreck in the middle of the harbour her to-day while on her trip from Providence, and ripped a great hole in her bottom. She made the run to the pier sinking foot by foot, and was submerged to the main deck when the gang plank was run overside.

A hundred passengers were in a panic on the deck, but the engine crew coolly struck to their posts and and were up to their waists in water when the boats ranged alongside the pier.

Chief Engineer John Quinlan, of Providence was the last man to leave the engine room. He remained there, although the fires had been put out by the inrush of water 100 yards from shore.

The steamboat's plight was seen by hundreds of persons who were on the pier awaiting the arrival of the boat in order that they might return to Providence.

Women screamed and wrung their hands, for it seemed as though the boat must sink before she could make the land. A grave disaster seemed the more imminent on account of the heavy weather, as it was not thought that the rapidly sinking boat would be able to make headway enough against the sea to carry her in.

The New Shoreman was anxiously awaited, as no other boat had put in an appearance on account of the storm, and hundreds were eager to return to Providence. The appearance of the boat at the harbour's mouth was therefore hailed with delight.

She made good time across the harbour despite the choppy sea, and the passengers were gathering up their wraps and small baggage as they chatted and laughed in anticipation of reaching land in a few minutes. Suddenly the boat dipped in a hollow of the sea and brought up suddenly with a grinding crash. The passengers were thrown to the decks by the shock, and the boat heeled over as she slowly tore her way over the treacherous obstacle in her path.

Panic reigned on the main deck and in the saloon, and when the water began to rush hissing into the hold, and it was apparent that the boat was sinking, women cried aloud help and clasped their children in their arms.

The male passengers and the Captain and officers of the vessel made their way quietly through the frightened women and children saying:—

"There's no danger. We'll be at the dock in a minute," and as if in confirmation of this reassurance, the boat suddenly put on a burst of speed, and it was this impetus that finally carried her to her pier.

John Quinlan and his assistants down in the engine room, as well as the stokers below, realized the danger, for they could hear the hiss and roar of the inflowing water, and knew that they would soon feel it. Quinlan started ahead at full speed, and a moment later the stokers were obliged to come up as far as the engine room to save themselves from drowning. The fires by this time had been put out and everything done in the lower part of the boat was swash.

"Just stop here a bit with me," said Quinlan to the men as they reached the engine room level.

And there they stayed until the water crept into the room and gradually arose to their waists. Quinlan then told the men to go on deck and that he would follow shortly.

It seemed an age to the half frantic passengers as well as to the spectators on the pier while the water logged boat was creeping over the last fifteen yards of her trip, but finally she grated against the pier.

The passengers were huddled about the gangway, and made a wild scramble for the plank when it was run out.

Quinlan appeared on the deck soaking wet, but cool and collected as the last of them stepped ashore.

Hundreds were obliged to postpone their return to the mainland until to-morrow owing to the accident, as no other boat put in an appearance during the day.

It is expected that a wrecking crew will arrive from New London to-morrow.

The New Shoreham was built in Boston in 1901. There has been a dispute on the island over the payment for the vessel, until the matter has come to be regarded as a political issue. The steamboat has been making regular trips between Providence and the New Harbour all summer.

Investing in Vancouver.

Mr. J. Hanbury, a prominent Brandon, Man., lumberman, has purchased the box factory of the British Columbia Box and Lumber Company, Vancouver, preparatory to other considerable investments in that city. He is considering a proposition to acquire a site for flourmills and elevators to be erected on an extensive scale. The carrying out of the undertaking will be dependent on transportation rates, and provided these can be arranged on a satisfactory basis, there is every probability that Vancouver will shortly witness the introduction of an industry which will be almost revolutionary in the effect it will have in adding to the rapid progress and development of the city.

STARTLING CLIMAX WAS REACHED UNEXPECTEDLY IN TRAGEDY IN REAL LIFE

Mr. Henry Carter, Barrister, of Lincoln's Inn, London, Meets Face-to-Face at Stony Lake the Man Whose Dastardly Conduct Destroys His Happiness—Pitiful Story of Dual Wife Desertion—Dramatic Ending Came About in Wholly Unexpected Manner.

That "truth is often stranger than fiction" is an aphorism which has, by constant repetition, lost much of its significance to the ordinary mind. But even amid the strenuosities of the struggle for existence in unromantic present day conditions, it remains an abiding truth, which has lost none of its force. The correctness of the assertion conveyed in the somewhat shop-worn expression is exemplified more frequently than we know in our lives and in the lives of those about us with whom we are in daily personal contact.

The sad climax of a tragedy intense in its pathetic human interest and revealing a story of pain and suffering in the lives of a number of people still living was enacted last week at Stony Lake. The pitiful revelations follow upon a sequence of events, originating over a score of years ago, through the perfidy and dastardly conduct of a fiend in human form. The details of the sad chain of events and the manner in which the startling climax was reached, would undoubtedly, were they presented in the pages of fiction, be regarded as beyond the realm of the possible, or, to say the least, of the probable. The events proceeding, and leading up to, the dramatic climax reached last week came about in a most unforseen manner, through the unconscious agency of Mr. Harry McDonald, of The Toronto World staff, who had been spending a week, in company with Dr. Gaveller, of Fergus, in camp a short distance from McCracken's Landing.

Dramatic Ending.

The dramatic end of what may be but a chapter in the pitiful tale, was brought about in a most unexpected manner on Friday last, when Mr. Henry Carter, an English visitor, was brought face to face with the man who, by his infamous conduct, including a dual wife-desertion, has blighted and destroyed the happiness of at least three persons. The man, who was for some time a guide on Stony Lake waters, has recently been engaged as a farm labourer on a farm near Stony Lake. In his present thoroughly degraded condition, little evidence remains of the respectability, or the refining influences which were his in youthful days.

The Story of Shame.

The story of shame and degradation which go to make up the man's life are simply told. Born in London, England, about sixty-five years ago, he was the son of an English clergyman whose stipend was sufficiently large to supply every necessity of life. During early years he received a careful home training, and good education under the watchful eyes of a loving mother and a kind, but over-indulgent father. His proclivity was observable, however, at an early age, and he fell in early manhood into the excesses and indiscretions of youth. At the age of twenty-two he was married to a Miss Sinclair, the second daughter of a widowed mother, with whom, as well as with Mr. Carter, the English gentleman spoken of, he had been companions in boyhood days. The couple, a short time after their marriage, decided to remove to Canada. Upon landing at Quebec the young bride became dangerously ill and was removed to a hospital. The despicable character of the husband was at this point fully revealed. Leaving his wife in her critical condition, he departed for Toronto, giving as a reason, the immediate need of money.

Married Again.

After this pathetic incident all traces of his whereabouts vanished, and the wife, friendless and alone, patiently endured months of torture, both physical and mental, and when at last she had reached a convalescent state, found herself deserted. With her scant remaining funds she finally secured return passage to her old home in England. Here some months later she received a marked copy of a Toronto newspaper containing the intelligence of her husband's death.

After a period of two years' widowhood she was married to Mr. Carter, the friend of her youth, who was a barrister of Lincoln's Inn, London. The second union was blessed with three children, and the couple lived in conjugal happiness for many years, till October last, when harrassing and distressing doubts were created by the reception of information by an old friend to the effect that the former husband was still living in Canada. The doubt and uncertainty occasioned by the horrible suspicion that such might be the case, notwithstanding its seeming impossibility, naturally wrought destruction to the peace of mind of Mr. and Mrs. Carter. After vainly seeking information for several unhappy months, Mr. Carter decided to cross the ocean for the purpose of making a thorough search in this country.

Sad Discovery.

After several months spent in a fruitless search, in the course of which the records of the death statistics of the different Provincial Registrars were carefully examined, this failed to bring forth any information. In the horrible state of suspense thus occasioned, Mr. Carter decided as a final alternative, upon a search of the marriage records, from which most unexpected results were elicited. It was discovered that a man corresponding in name and description to Mrs. Carter's quondam husband, had been married in Toronto in the year 1898, to a lady residing in Peterborough. Mr. Carter at once came to Peterborough, in the hope of securing some information regarding the marriage. After a day's stay here, he was attacked with a nervous affection, resulting largely, no doubt, from the mental strain and fatiguing nature of the quest, and decided to spend a day or two at Stony Lake, going up on Thursday of last week.

The Finger of Fate.

It was here that Fate, which appears to rule the destinies of men, stepped in. While wandering aimlessly about he encountered Mr. McDonald, with whom he entered into conversation, in the informal manner peculiar to the Lakes. A short discussion upon fishing ensued, Mr. Carter being wholly unfamiliar with the methods in vogue upon Canadian waters. During the conversation he chanced to stoop down to pick up the trawling line used by Mr. McDonald, which was wound upon a red cedar stick, upon which was carved a name. The visitor upon glancing at this, became visibly agitated, and in a confused, excited manner, hastened to question Mr. McDonald as to where he had secured it. The latter explained that he purchased it a short time ago from a man whom he had met while trawling. Mr. Carter's excitement noticeably increased, and he requested, in a voice proclaiming great earnestness that he might be taken to where he could see the man, whose attention, however, he did not wish to draw. The desired arrangements were concluded more quickly than he expected, for some few minutes later the man, who presents an uncouth and slovenly appearance, was seen approaching. The final act of the tragedy was complete, as Mr. Carter withdrew hastily from sight — he had instantly recognized the companion of his infantile days, and the man who had ruthlessly wrecked the lives of all who were dearest to him the world. He turned hastily away when he found his suspicions confirmed, and a short time later, when he had somewhat recovered from his agitation, explained the circumstances of his painful quest, and its unhappy ending. He stated that he did not purpose to prosecute, as nothing could be accomplished in this way. He returned immediately to the city with the intention of departing at once to his home in England, where nothing remains for him but the bitter dregs of the bowl of former happiness. The former guide still remains upon the farm, in which he is engaged as a labourer, but states his intention of removing to the West in the autumn.

Inquiries regarding him confirm the fact, that the woman whom he wantonly inveigled into marriage, resided at that time near Peterborough. While nothing regarding her present whereabouts can be ascertained, it is supposed that she was also deserted.

Mr. Carter is a man below middle-age, of dignified, though courteous manner, and left apparently broken-spirited as a result of the blighted prospects in store upon his return, which will include an immediate separation from her whom he regarded as a wife, and their three children—two daughters and one son. He will, however, continue to provide amply for their maintenance, even though a separation be imperative.

Englishmen's Association May Be Formed Here

The Examiner is informed by one of the most prominent Englishmen in the city that there is a strong probability that in the near future an association of Peterborough Englishmen will be formed. This gentlemen pointed out that at the present time there is no organization embracing natives of St. George's Isle in this city except the Sons, and there are many Englishmen in Peterborough who are not affected in that society.

There are many persons who come out to Canada from England and upon their arrival here are sometimes at a loss to know what to do. In the majority of cases they have no position arranged for before they arrive, and it is felt that if there was an association such as has been suggested the lot of the Englishmen arriving here could be made much lighter. They could be furnished with a list of places where work might be procured, on their arrival here, and could be looked after in other ways. It is probable that a meeting will be called in the near future to consider the matter, and there is no doubt that such a society would prove of great benefit.

Mr. John Dundas Suffers Painful Accident in Harvest Field.

While Working With His Cousin in Cavan Township—Personal Notes From Springville.

Special to the Examiner.

Springville, August 19th. — Mr. John Dundas, of Lindsay, a retired farmer, while on a visit to his cousin, Mr. Moses Sutton of Cavan, was yesterday, assisting in harvesting operation on the latter's farm, and was the unfortunate victim of a painful accident.

While driving a team attached to a binder, down a small grade, the horses became frightened, and ran away, and in attempting to pass through a gate the machine struck one of the posts, throwing Mr. Dundas heavily to the ground and breaking his collar bone. The horses became disengaged from the binder, and ran on to the stables.

Mr. Dundas was removed to his home in Lindsay, where he is now doing as well as can be expected, and an early recovery is hoped for by his many friends. The team has an unenviable reputation for reckless exploits, as on another occasion this summer they made a dash while hitched to a wagon, the pole of which was forced through a stone wall, with such force that it became necessary to cut the end off.

Admires England.

Henry watterson, of Louisville, Ky., one of the brainiest and most fearless of U.S. literary men, told the interviewers, on landing home from England, a few days ago, that he had been studying the aristocracy of Europe with special care, and the result was that he respects them more than he does the would-be aristocracy of his own republic. "The aristocracy over there is one of lineage and brains, while ours," he said, in substance, "is largely one of dollars and whiskey," meaning successful traders."

Editor of the Post Card Column:

Mr. Editor,—I noticed on Hunter street a patent churn with which the exhibitor guarantees to make butter "while you wait". I should like to see him tackle the first milk man that passes and try how much butter he can get out of a gallon. He won't glut the market, you may be sure, if he comes across such milk as do sometimes delivered at my house—as thin as a rainbow and blue as the sky at inches.

We have about forty or fifty milk men in town and no means exists of submitting this milk to inspection. They may all be honest, but like a good many "honest" persons in this age, a little watching will be healthier for —the consumer.

Yours sincerely,
HOUSEWIFE.

Editor of the Post Card Column:

Dear Mr. Editor—Do you know from experience the dreadful suffering from loss of sleep? I do. So do many others living on or in the vicinity of Gilmour street where buildings are in progress. There is one exasperating man who begins an exasperating pounding about half-past six a. m. He keeps it up till everyone in the vicinity is roused from sleep. This may be nothing for people who go to bed and sleep like animals in a stall. But to many like me who have my rest broken and sleep prevented by a teething baby, only to sink into sleep of exhaustion as the cocks are crowing for daybreak,—by the way another form of exasperation—it is the height of torture. Is there any possible way of appealing to the consideration of people who thus break one's sleep? I don't say so, but the man in this case seems to act maliciously, for after pounding vigorously for ten or fifteen or twenty minutes, he breaks off. There is a little lull till other workmen begin at 7 o'clock. How I feel like pulling that man's hair.

Yours truly,
A MOTHER.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 19.—Emperor Nicholas has to-day announced the grant to the people of Russia of a national consultative Assembly, to be formed by elected representatives from the whole of Russia. The imperial manifesto, which is published simultaneously here and at Moscow and which will be read in all the churches of the Empire, is dated at Petorof to-day and is as follows:

"The Empire of Russia is formed and strengthened by the indestructible solidarity of the Emperor with the people and of the people with the Emperor. This concord of Emperor and people is the great moral force which has created Russia in the course of centuries by protecting her from all misfortune and all attacks and has constituted up to the present time a pledge of unity, independence, integrity, material well-being and intellectual development.

Time Now Come.

"In our manifesto of February 24, 1903, we called to a close understanding all the faithful sons of the fatherland in order to protect the organization of the state by establishing on a firm basis the domestic life of the Empire and we then devoted ourselves to the task of co-ordinating elective public institutions with Governmental authorities and of removing the disagreements existing between them which had reacted so disastrously on the normal course of our national life. The autocratic Emperors, our ancestors, constantly had that object in view and the time has come to fellow out their good intentions, and to summon elected representatives from the whole of Russia to take constant and active part in the elaboration of laws, therby attaching to the higher institutions a special consultative body entrusted with the preliminary elaboration and discussion of measures and with the examination of the state budget.

"It is for this reason, that while preserving the fundamental law regarding the autocratic power, we have deemed it well to form a gosdaristvennaia douma (lower house of the Assembly), and to approve the regulations for elections to this house extendity of these laws to the whole territory of the Empire, with such exceptions only as may be considered necessary in the case of some regions in which special conditions obtain.

Finland Stays Out.

"As regards the participation in the labors of the gosudaristvennaia douma of delegates from the grand duchy of Finland on questions concerning the Empire in general and the grand Duchy particularly, we will take special measures.

"At the same time, we have ordered the Minister of the Interior to submit immediately for our approbation regulations for the elections to the douma so that deputies from fifty Governments and from the military Province of the Don may be able to assemble not later than the middle of January, 1906.

"We reserve to ourselves entirely the care of perfecting the organization of the gosodaristvennaia douma, and when the course of events shall have shown the necessity for changes corresponding completely to the needs of the times and the welfare of the Empire, we shall not fail to give at the proper moment the necessary directions.

Worthy of Trust.

"We are convinced that those who shall have been elected by the confidence of the whole people and who will thus be called upon to participate in the legislative work of the Government will show themselves in the eyes of all Russia to be worthy of the Imperial trust in the virtue of which they have been invited to co-operate in this great work and that in perfect harmony with other institutions and authorities of the State established by us, they will contribute profitably and zealously to our labors for the well being of our common mother, Russia, and for the strengthening of the unity, the security and the greatness of the Empire as well as for the tranquility and prosperity of the people.

"In invoking the blessing of the Lord on the labors of the institutions established by us and with unshakeable confidence in the grace of God, and in the infallibility of the great historical destinies reserved by Divine Providence for our beloved fatherland, we firmly hope that, with the help of God Almighty, and with the combined efforts of all her sons, Russia will emerge triumphant from the trying ordeals through which she is now passing and will be born again in the strength, the greatness and the glory of her history, extending through a thousand years.

"Given at Peterhof this 19th day of August, in the year of grace, 1905, and the eleventh year of our reign. (Signed) Nicholas."

MANGLED AND AFTERWARDS DIED

Awful Death of Brickyard Owner in East Toronto.

FELL INTO PUDDLER'S MOUTH

Revolving Knives of Machine Dragged David Chapman To Death Crushing Bones and Flesh—Breathing When Removed From Octopus-Like Clay Grinders But Died Before the Doctor Arrived.

Toronto, Aug. 19.—Drawn to his death upon the revolving knives of a huge puddler machine used in the manufacture of brick, David Chapman, one of the best known men in the County of York, was killed yesterday morning at his own brick yard.

Mr. Chapman owns quite a large brickyard on the York townline, a short distance north of East Toronto. It was his custom to superintend operations there himself. Yesterday morning he was at his work as usual, and was engaged near the big puddler which is placed on top of the brick machine.

Beside him stood one of is workmen, who was asking for a few instructions regarding some work which was about to be done. At that moment a small truck came hurtling down the small railway, used to convey the clay to the grinder. The workman stepped aside to avoid it. He was not in time. The car struck the employe in the back. This threw him violently against Mr. Chapman who half fell and half stumbled. In so doing he lost his balance, as did the workman, and together they fell into the open mouth of the puddler.

Within were a dozen rapidly revolving knives, which are used to grind the clay that was dumped from the small cars. These are not sharp, but their immense force is death to any living thing that would be thrust upon them.

Mr. Chapman falling upon the knives occupied about all of the space within the puddler, the opening of which is about the size of a bath tub. The workman was not in contact with the knives, but served as a weight to further their deadly work. The absence of clay in the hopper, which might have served as a protection to Mr. Chapman, had it been there, but further added to the effect of the knives.

Slowly but surely the machine dragged Mr. Chapman down, crushing flesh and bones. The workmen, when he saw the danger and what had happened, leaped from the prostrate form of his employer and called to the men in charge of the plant to shut off the machine. This was done. It was some time, however, before the body of the man could be disentangled from the knives that had caused his death.

Mr. Chapman was still breathing when he was taken from the machine. Dr. Britton was summoned, but the man had expired before he arrived. The workman had a few scratches to show for his terrible experience.

Mr. Chapman is survived by two sons and three daughters, being predeceased by Mrs. Chapman some seven years.

Shot By His Brother.

Hamilton, Aug. 19.—Louis Hawkeye, Winona, shot his 11-year-old brother, Roy, yesterday afternoon. The two lads were playing with a revolver. It was accidentally discharged, and the bullet entered Roy's mouth, tearing a hole through his cheek bone. The injured boy was brought to the City Hospital here. He will recover.

Peter Culp, Beamsville, heard a rumor yesterday morning that his 24-year-old son, Hilliard, who was employed by a railway contractor at Barrie, had cut his throat. The father, left for Barrie in the afternoon, after telephoning and finding that his son still lived.

Kicked By a Horse.

Toronto Junction, Aug. 19.—Willmers, the little four-year-old son of Ben Cates, was playing on Winchester street yesterday afternoon, when a horse, which was running at large, kicked the child on the forehead, inflicting a deep wound three inches in length and laying bare the bone. The child remained conscious throughout and it was found necessary to administer chloroform in order to stitch up the wound. It is believed that the boy will recover, although his escape from instant death borders on the miraculous.

Humber Bay, Aug. 19.—A horse belonging to W. Cornish kicked a boy named Hawrigg yesterday and broke his leg below the knee.

Three Years In Prison.

Toronto, Aug. 19.—Three years in the penitentiary was the severe sentence passed by Col. Denison on a lad of seventeen, named Harold Smith. The prisoner stole a Postoffice Savings Bank book and $12.55, the property of William Henry Woodgate, and to this charge he pleaded "guilty." There was a further charge of making and signing a false document to withdraw Woodgate's money from the bank at Bolton. This charge, Col. Denison held, he had no jurisdiction to try, as the offence was committed at Bolton.

Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets for Women

Make Healthy Women.

Upon being taken into the stomach, the various ingredients are absorbed by the blood, and then find their way to every organ and tissue.

Some reach the uterine system. These allay inflammation, stop all drains on the system and make women regular.

Some strengthen the stomach. They help digestion and increase the appetite.

Other ingredients stimulate the liver and kidneys in carrying off impurities from the system.

Others reach the nerves. These tone up the nervous system and supply vital energy, thereby curing the nervousness, irritability, and melancholy, to which so many women are subject.

The full effect of all the medicaments in the tablets is to arouse the entire female system to renewed life and vigor.

Improvement is noticed the first week.

If you are having any trouble with your CLOSET or BATHROOM CONVENIENCES, come round and have a talk with us.

A gentleman, attracted by the range of Sanitary Closets and excellent values we are offering, invested in a new one, although he already had one that was working not badly.

The way he looked over the Closets we arranged before him for inspection showed he had been sifting the matter, and knew how to prove and disprove the claims of dealers.

The saving of health and expensive plumbing repairs, warranted the investment, he said.

How is yours working? Bring your Bathroom Troubles to us. Our Toronto Stock is what we sell in our Peterborough Branch.

C. D. TAYLOR.

C. D. Taylor, Clerk of the City Board of Health of Jacksonville, Fla., has occupied that position for the last ten years. In a recent letter to the Peruna Drug Mfg. Co., he expresses his approval of their famous catarrh remedy Peruna in the following words:

"The health of the poor of a large city is always a question of vital interest not only to the city officials but to every citizen. It has been a source of much satisfaction to me to find that so large a number of working people in moderate circumstances have accepted Peruna as their family medicine. It has cured a large number of cases especially of catarrh of the head, lungs and stomach and building up the general health it cannot fail but prove a help and blessing to any community where it is generally adopted and used. I have found it an honest reliable remedy and am pleased to endorse it."—C. D. Taylor, Clerk, Board of Health.

Arrangements Complete For Chemong Regatta

The Course Officials Have Been Appointed and All Details Arranged for the Great Aquatic Event on Chemong Lake on Tuesday—Prospects for the Most Successful Regatta in History of Chemong—Some New Features Which Promise to Add Interest to the Event.

A very handsome lot of prizes will be presented to the winners of the different events at the Chemong Regatta, to be held on Tuesday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock. Special prizes have been presented by Commodore Macombe, Prof. G. H. Bull, Alex. Elliott, L. M. Hayes, R. J. Monroe, R. M. Dennistoun, Felix Wolf, A. A. Hollingshead, W. H. Hill, A. E. Dixon, Milne Hamilton and other residents of Chemong Park. A handsome silver medal has been donated by Mr. Chas. S. McClellan, jeweller, Water street. The three canoe companies have donated paddles, and Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons have presented a special Burgee. The Kingan Hardware Company and the Peterborough Hardware Company have presented special prizes.

One of the events which will excite special interest is the matched race between the Misses O'Leary, daughters of Judge O'Leary, of Lindsay, and the Misses Hall, daughters of Sheriff Hall, of Peterborough. The contest, which was not fought out satisfactorily at Stony Lake, will be fought out at Chemong.

The sailing races also are full of interest. In the dinghy class there will be a battle royal between Milne Hamilton, present holder of the Chemong championship, Jack Hopwood, holder of the Trent Valley Cup, the Ryerson brothers and Hopkins brothers, of Sturgeon Point, from whom the cup has been recently taken, will make a hard struggle to regain their lost laurels.

The dinghy race will be followed by the open championship, which was won last year by Mr. R. M. Dennistoun. The Stony Lake fleet will be on hand, and it is expected that there will be a large field from which to select a winner. In addition there will be a canoe sail race for the silver medal presented by Mr. McClelland.

The course at Chemong is a three-mile triangle, which the dinghys and larger yachts will sail twice, while the canoes will sail it once. The high bluffs on the eastern shore of the lake afford the spectators a full view of the course, and the three turning buoys are in plain sight. The competitors will carry numbers on their sails so that they may be easily distinguished during the races. A floating platform for the judges has been built, and will be anchored at a convenient point in the lake. In the event of rough weather, this platform will be taken to the lee of Mr. Hopwood's Island, where calm water can always be secured.

In the evening the Chemong Park will be illuminated and a dance will be given in the pavilion under the auspices of the Chemong Park Yacht Club. The band of the 57th Regiment will furnish the music.

Peterborough Butter Prices Are Better Than Toronto

A few weeks ago the Toronto Star had a series of articles dealing with the high price of butter particularly, and farm produce in genral, in the Toronto market and compared them with the prices in other places, including Peterborough, and the prices quoted for the city were, as far as butter is concerned, considerably below the actual prices obtained here.

In the light of recent information obtained by the Examiner it is found that the prices for butter in Peterborough are as good as those in Toronto. Yesterday a gentleman in Hope township, who does a big business in shipping butter, said that he considered the Peterborough market a better market than Toronto for butter. It will thus be seen that the farmers who bring their produce here are fortunate, since the prices they get are on the average much better than the prices which are obtained in other markets.

Messrs. Conroy Brothers Have Secured Large Bridge Contract

Messrs. Conroy Bros. have just received word to the effect that they have been awarded the contract for constructing the concrete piers and steel spans of a large bridge which is to be built crossing the Ottawa River at Bryson, Pontiac, County Province Quebec. The local firm is to be congratulated upon securing such a large contract, and they will commence work on it in the near future.

Several thousand dollars are represented by the contract, and no doubt it will be carried out in the satisfactory manner characteristic of this firm.

CHAMPIONSHIP FLAG SAILED FOR

Rev. F. D. Roxburgh Wins Sailing Race at Stony Lake.

Mr. J. S. Knapman's "Ruth" Was Second —Half Minute Behind Winner.

The sailing race in the open competition for the championship of Stony Lake, which was declared off on Regatta Day owing to several unfortunate fouls which occurred, was re-sailed yesterday in a rather light wind. It was won by Rev. F. D. Roxburgh, of Norwood, who finished first in one of the prettiest races ever seen on the lake. The course was five miles and on the first leg Mr. J. S. Knapman's boat "Ruth" led but Mr. Roxburgh gained in the latter part of the race and crossed the line first, finishing at 3.50. Mr. Knapman's boat "Ruth" was second coming in at 3.51 1-2, and Mr. Graham Ferguson, with his "Pandy" at 3.54. Mr. H. Hall finished last. The finish was very exciting the three boats crossing the line within one minute of each other.

Mr. J. Henderson, of Toronto, was the starter and Mr. A. W. Macpherson timekeeper.

Group Absolutely Cured.

"There is no remedy in my opinion that can act more promptly than Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It cured my son of croup, absolutely, in one night. We gave him a dose when he was black in the face with choking. It gave him instant relief and cure."—Mr. Wm. McGee, 49 Wright avenue, Toronto, Ont.

Lightning Hit Stovepipe.

Mr. P. G. McKellar, of Lobo Township, says the St. Thomas Times, was carrying a piece of stovepipe out of a room when an electric storm was on. The pipe was knocked out of his hand and struck Mrs. McKellar, who was thrown a distance of ten feet and fell heavily to the floor. Their child, in its cradle, was thrown out, and is in a critical condition. Mrs. McKellar is suffering from the shock.

As a Convalescent Food.

Mr. Wyman N. Thomas, Ompah, Addington Co., Ont., writes: "My wife had congestion of the lungs along with other troubles, and became very weak and run down. By the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food she was made as strong and well as ever. Of course, I had a doctor, but she was weak, and it was Dr. Chase's Nerve Food which built her up."

A Pyrotechnical Display.

Grand Forks, says the Vancouver World, was recently illuminated by a brilliant pyrotechnic display from the mountain line immediately south of the town. This mountain ascends at a very steep angle from the valley and the fire shot hundred-foot dashes of flame up the mountain side. At 8 p.m. it had gained the crest and resembled a volcano in eruption. The fire extended fully one and a half miles from north to south and the destruction of valuable timber was enormous in that area.

STREET CROSSINGS.

In no department of civic activity, or inactivity, do our aldermanic autocrats exhibit the acme of ineptitude to the highest pitch, as in the matter of street crossings. It may be safely asserted that in the whole city of Peterborough, with its hundreds of street intersections, and hundreds of other crossings, there is not a single street crossing deserving the name. The only exception known is at each end of Babb's Lane, connecting Gilmour street and Homewood avenue. Here something like what should be done universally, has been done. When the walks on these two thoroughfares were put down, the crossings were made continuous with the pavement, only with the same difference in construction as exists between an ordinary pavement, and the approach to a driveway. As pointed out a few weeks ago in these columns, the rural village of Hastings, puts in its street crossings when laying the pavement. The only difference between the pavement and crossing is in the surface shaping, and the material. While the surface of the pavement is mixed one of cement and three of sand, the crossing surface layer is mixed stronger—one to one. If the sides of the crossing are sloped outwards and downwards, so that they are pretty well covered with street metal, the wheel of a vehicle strikes them at an easy angle, and there is little, or no, danger of breaking the edge by the impact, as there would be if the edge of the crossings were finished square, like ordinary pavements. In the town of Napanee, also, the crossings and pavements are constructed continuously. In this town the crossings are nearly, if not quite, on a level with the surface of the pavements. From an engineering point of view, there may be objections to putting in concrete crossings, which would not present themselves to a level-headed layman, but from a common sense point of view it would appear that some such mode of constructing pavements would be perfectly practicable. That they would last, if constructed as in Hastings, only with a granolithic surface finish, is shown by the manner in which, in some of our streets, the entrance approaches to private premises stand the stress and strain of heavy wheel traffic. At any rate such a crossing would be infinitely better than the mud turnpikes which our City Fathers make serve the purpose of crossings, or, in wet weather, fords. It does seem monstrous and disgraceful, that in a city the size of Peterborough, of an importing and commercial importance equal to the chief towns and cities of the Midland district combined, there should exist such backwoods such mud-pie makeshifts, as are made to do duty for crossings at street intersections. Ten taxpayers, yes, a hundred taxpayers, to one vehicle, use our streets, and yet no decent provision is made for pedestrians to cross from one side of a street to the other throughout the whole city, ed, there should exist such backwoods, and possibly another stray one here and there. Yet our aldermen come out upon the streets and look the taxpayers in the face! If the aldermen will find some crossing material that will wear as long as the patience of a long suffering public, they will have struck a mine of adamant.

MR. HAULTIN'S CASE.

Mr. Maclean, and some others, are very much annoyed at the decision of Liberals in the new Provinces to have nothing more to do with Mr. Haultain. One gathers from reading the comments of the Conservative press on Mr. Haultain's case that all the old methods of governing a country on the British plan have suddenly broken down, simply because the makers of the British system back through all the centuries, did not foresee the possibility of such a condition as has now supervened in the West. If we get the argument aright, Mr. Haultain is the only man who can manage one of the new provinces, which one he has not yet made up his mind. It is believed that the Liberals up there do not like Mr. Haultain, and would even go so far as to put one of themselves in his place, taking all chances on the country going to smash. Obviously, therefore, party government is wrong, and Liberal party government anathema maranatha, for it makes no allowance for Mr. Haultain.

It remains to be seen whether the Liberals of the West are strong enough to beat Mr. Haultain, as seems to be taken for granted by his friends. At all events it is to be wished, in the interests of Canadian manhood, that they may make the attempt. They have kept Mr. Haultain in office for years, listening to his non-partisanship, and all the time he has continued to be an opponent of the Liberal party, generally passive, occasionally active. He climbed down off the fence just before the last election, and during the last session of Parliament entered the lists as one of the leaders of the anti-Liberals. Why should he, if he is man enough to play the game, feel free to attack Laurier whenever he is so disposed, and then squirm and beg for a safe-conduct when friends of Laurier propose to pay him back in his own coin? It is namby pamby of a kind that gets many a schoolboy a drubbing for his good, and which does not appeal to men of bone and brawn. It would be better for themselves and for the manhood of Canada that the Western Liberals should be soundly beaten by Mr. Haultain than that they should not try to beat him.—Montreal Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Representative institutions have been vindicated. We are treated to the spectacle of 213 of the tribunes of the people unanimously joining to distribute benefits over the country—by proxy. Every member's son of the Federal Parliament has accepted the increased sessional indemnity—every cheque has been presented and cashed. So far we have heard of two patriots who have generously alienated their surplus indemnity, and did good at the country's expense, by one diverting his spoil to a hospital; another has spent his share of the spoil, and endowed a pumpkin show. So far as known, all the others, irrespective of party or principle, have deposited the thousand dollar cheque to the credit of self, thus enriching their respective constituencies through their representatives.

Chickens come home to roost. During the debate on the Autonomy Bill, the Conservative press was gleefully rubbing in the stray references of some Liberal journal to the undesirable attitude of the Government on the school question. Now the fowl is seeking the home perch. We see many Conservative journals wiring into their leaders, not with mild remonstrances, but with sledge-hammer blows. We see Mr. Maclean, the editor of the junior Conservative organ for Ontario, breaking into open revolt, and slang-whanging his fellow leaders in the party, as if they were convicted house-thieves. There are symptoms of revolt all through the ranks. There is open revolt against both the Ottawa and Toronto party leaders. What does it mean? We can understand the party being disgruntled over being in opposition at Ottawa—it's a fish out of water. But in Toronto the party is "in"—up to its neck with an absurdly strong majority, and Mr. Whitney is being abused because he can't create offices fast enough for his hungry followers. What do all these signs and portents mean? Not smooth sailing, anyway.

GRAIN AVERAGE HAS INCREASED

Ontario Farmers Have Sown More in 1905.

Fall Wheat Yield Estimated at 16467043 Bushels—Other Crops.

The areas of the field crops for 1905 have just been compiled from direct individual returns from farmers. The August Bulletin of the Department of Agriculture will show these, together with a forecast of the harvest from appearances during the first week of August, as furnished by a special staff of correspondents.

Fall Wheat.—The area is 786,813 acres and the yield 16,467,043 bushels, or 20.9 bushels per acre as compared with 605,485 acres and 9,160,633 bushels in 1904 when the acreage was 15.1. The average of 22 years is 20.8.

Spring Wheat.—190,216 acres and 3,891,941 bushels or an average of 18.9 as compared with 15.4 in 1904 when the yield was 3,471,103 bushels.

Barley.—773,532 acres and 24,163,283 bushels of an average of 31.2 per acre, being about the same as in 1904.

Oats.—3,063,416 acres and 102,809,794 bushels or an average of 33.5 per acre, as in 1904, the acreage and yield being almost the same.

Rye.—101,892 acres and 1,753,195 bushels or an average of 17.3 per acre. In 1904 there were 120,703 acres and 2,091,838 bushels, or 15.2 per acre.

Peas.—374,513 acres and 7,510,775 bushels, as against 6,838,606 bushels in 1904, the yield per acre being slightly over the average of the last 23 years.

Beans.—50,343 acres are expected to produce 963,833 bushels against 912,849 harvested from about the same area in 1904.

Hay and Clover.—2,820,355 acres and 5,647,494 tons, or 1.93 per acre, beating the high average of 1904, which was 1.90. The average of the previous 23 years was 1.45.

Apples.—7,018,723 trees of bearing age are to yield 26,690,351 bushels, or 4.22 per tree, while about 7 bushels was the average in 1904.

It is too early to estimate the yields of other crops, but the acreages are as follows:—corn for husking, 295,905; corn for silo, 134,784; buckwheat, 101,591; potatoes, 133,510; mangels, 69,635; carrots, 5,869; turnips, 135,248; orchards, 256,613; vineyards, 12,719.

The numbers of live stock on hand are as follows:—horses, 673,731; cattle, 2,823,503; sheep, 1,324,163; swine, 1,894,400 and poultry 9,727,893.

THE MOULDERS WERE WELCOMED

Cobourg People Were Glad to Have Them There.

Met at Station by the Cobourg Band—A Delightful Day.

The Cobourg Sentinal-Star, referring to the excursion of the Iron Moulders' to that town on Monday says:—

Fine weather greeted the excursion of the Iron Moulders' Union of Peterborough on Monday, (Peterborough's Civic Holiday,) and as a result over 600 accompanied the Moulders to town, and the Moulders state they would have brought 800 had the Grand Trunk given them sufficient car accommodation. They were met at the station by the Cobourg Citizen's Band and a procession was formed at the station of the Cobourg and Peterborough Unions, and headed by the band marched to Victoria Park where the crowd dispersed. The excursionists spent a pleasant day around town, taking in the beauties of our lovely town, some of them going to the Horse Show, and others on the lake. In the afternoon a small programme of sports was run off, and a baseball game between the Charlotte street Guild of Peterborough and the Wharfrats of Cobourg played. The game was a rather louse exhibition, and resulted in favour of the visitors by a score of 19 to 14. A platform for dancing was erected on the grounds and this popular pastime was indulged in by many. The happy crowd left for home about 7.30 p.m., being escorted to the station by the Band. The crowd was very well behaved, and good natured, and Cobourg will be pleased to have them here again. They state that in Victoria Park, Cobourg has the best picnic grounds of any town in Canada, and will endeavour to come to Cobourg again.

ANOTHER CANADIAN CORDAGE COMPANY

SOFTNESS OF SEALSKIN

Is Rivaled by Human Hair Where Dandruff is Eradicated.

Sealskin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally as soft and glossy when healthy; and the radical cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that saps the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that is fatal to the dandruff germ. Without dandruff there is no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy, soft hair is certain. Scouring the scalp won't cure dandruff. Kill the dandruff germ. Thousands of women owe their beautiful suits of hair to Newbro's Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

Smothered to Death.

Dr. Lewis Wolverton was found dead on the floor of a bedroom in his home at Shamokin, Pa., last night. Coroner Dreher decided that the physician had fallen and lain senseless with his nostrils on the floor and smothered to death.

Test the Kidneys.

Allow the urine to stand in a glass vessel for twenty-four hours, and if at the end of that it is clouded or has left a sediment in the bottom of the vessel you may be sure that your kidneys are diseased. As a means of invigorating the action of the kidneys and making them strong and healthy, there is no preparation so prompt and none so thorough as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

WHY STONY LAKE MAILS MISCARRY

Letter From Lakefield Postmaster Gives Some Information

A List of the Different Post Offices in That Vicinity.

The Postmistress at Lakefield has written to the Examiner in reference to the apparent confusion in the minds of the public in regard to the post offices in the vicinity of Stony Lake. In the minds of a great many persons there is a decided lack of knowledge on this point and the information contained in this letter will be of service to those who up to the present time have not been informed in reference to the different offices there. The letter says in part:—

A great deal of annoyance to the Post Masters and delay to the public has been caused by carelessness of parties addressing letters to the proper offices on Stony Lake. Letters intended for Mount Julian P. O. should not have Stony Lake put on them, as these are two separate and distinct offices. Letters have been addressed to Stony Lake Clarina—two offices five miles apart. First the letter will go to Stony Lake, the Postmaster there forwards it to Clarina. This means a delay of three days and again letters have been addressed to Buckhorn Falls Hotel, Stony Lake. When the letter should go by stage to Halls' Bridge and not within miles of Stony Lake. It is not necessary to put Stony Lake on mail not intended for that one office. Mount Julian, Burleigh Falls, Young's Point, or Clarina, must not have Stony Lake put on the address. The public have no one to blame for delay in their mail except themselves.

The empty flasks were thrown through five panes of glass in the Baptist Church Sunday School, when Chief Ruse took a hand in their little fun, and took them under his sheltering wing. They were allowed to go on paying for the damage caused.—Cobourg Sentinel-Star.

—Reporting a concert in Haliburton recently, the Bobcaygeon Independent says: The English church had a concert in the town hall on Wednesday, and although quite a few were detained from coming on account of the heavy thunderstorm, there was quite a good audience to hear Mr. Halpany, of Peterborough, in his songs and recitations. He is very clever and amused the audience vastly. Mr. and Mrs. Firthlate, of Toronto, but now of Peterborough, kindly gave their services gratis and brought down the house by their delightful singing, and those who could not come missed a great treat.

LAST NIGHT'S BAND CONCERT

A Splendid Programme Was Rendered

Several New Selections Given and Others Rendered by Request.

After the small band concerts at Jackson Park through the week it was a pleasant change to have a full attendance of the band last night to give one of their popular weekly concerts. A select programme was rendered last night including some of the most popular selections by request and several new pieces which bid fair to be popular. "Hoity Toity" one of the most popular selections of the season was again rendered last night and the band was forced to give an encore. A Spanish serenade "La Paloma" was put on for the first time last night and as it is a lively air it bids fair to be popular. The cake-walk "Whistling Rufus" was again rendered last night and greatly delighted the crowd of promenaders. A selection from "Princess Chic" was also well received.

March ..... American Republic
Selection ..... The Explorer
Mexurka ..... Amuoora
Selection ..... Princess Chic
Spanish Serenade ..... La Paloma
Selection ..... Hoity Toity
Cake Walk ..... Whistling Rufus

TROUBLE WITH BOYS IN JACKSON PARK

And one of Them Was Fined for His Share in It—Other Cases Dismissed.

It was juvenile day at the police court this morning, when several young fellows bowed their heads and heard charges of disorderly conduct in Jackson Park on Wednesday night. Percy Dredge and another young fellow got mixed up during the process of the entertainment. The other young fellow then went and got his friend McManus, and the two both piled into Dredge. Dredge did not want to fight, but had to take his own part, for which the chief said he was not to blame, and the case was dismissed. Young McManus, however, pleaded guilty, and will pay $2 within ten days.

A young Man, with two lady friends, was sitting near the canvas when the trouble was going on, when one of the ladies requested him to go over and stop the fight. He did so, and grabbed one of the boys by the shoulder and shook him, when the boy's big brother jumped on his back. John and the Magistrate both agreed that he had tried to stop the disturbance and not make one, and the case was dismissed.

Two other boys who, it appears, were mixed up in the trouble, pleaded not guilty and were discharged.

REV. LANGFELDT IN ORILLIA

Preached Last Sunday For Rev. R. A. Armstrong.

Question of Conversion is Dealt With—Not Confined to Any One Church.

The Orillia Packet, of this week, referring to a sermon preached in that town last Sunday by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, of Peterborough, says:

In an excellent sermon last Sunday evening, the Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, of Peterborough (who exchanged duties for the day with the Rev. R. A. Armstrong), dealt with the conversion of Cornelius (Acts x, 33). In opening, the preacher pointed out that conversion is not limited to a particular church, nor restricted to any stereotyped method. In some cases it might be difficult to determine at what particular time the child of God had accepted salvation. In others—such as Paul, the Ethiopian eunuch, and Cornelius—conversion was sudden or well defined as to point of time. The good points in the character of Cornelius were effectively portrayed. The fact that he was a soldier helped to emphasize that in no position in life, however difficult, was it impossible to serve God, as was proved also in the cases of Joseph, Daniel and many others. 2. Cornelius was a devout man, one who believed in a spiritual worship. A contrast was here drawn between the public worship of the early church and much that passed for church worship in these days; the assembling to take part in and enjoy a concert, or for public display, or for no better reason than that there was nothing else going on, and it was one way of "putting in the time." Cornelius, too, set the example of family worship, he "prayed to God with all his house." 3. Cornelius "gave much alms." His was not a cheap profession of sentimental religion. Was it not too often found in these days that the man who sang the loudest, "Love so amazing, so divine, demands my life, my soul, my all," immediately began to dive into the recesses of his pockets to find the smallest coin available to put on the collection plate? The confession of Cornelius through the simple and direct sermon of Peter, was dealt with, and in conclusion the preacher asked his hearers to compare themselves as Christians with this zealous, devout and open-handed soldier, who was the first Gentile convert to receive the Holy Ghost.

LAW MAY BE ASKED TO STOP THE SHOW

Because of the Hazardous Feats of Performers.

The Zenith of Foolhardy Feats Performed by a Trio of Athletes With the Morris and Rowe Greater Circus.

In attempting hazardous and sensational feats in order to astound the public, the managers of the Norris and Rowe greater circus are liable to find themselves in serious difficulties with the law. The authorities of several cities in which the shows have been exhibiting lately have been attempting to restrain a trio of circus performers from risking their lives in attempting to accomplish seemingly impossible feats involving great danger. It seems incredible to what lengths the the circus performer will go in his daring to present a startling feat. In nearly every circus you will find a group of acrobats that are willing to risk their lives daily for a big salary. No feat is too dangerous for these foolhardy athletes to attempt. The performers in question who are creating so much trouble for the authorities are Melnotte, LaNole and Melnotte. Norris and Rowe brought them from Europe where they had been the sensation of the Paris hippodrome for three years. John and Amy LaNole and Hugh Melnotte perform upon a slender silver wire, high in the air over the heads of the audience and with no net to protect them in case of fall. These intrepid performers accomplish feats that require the most delicate balance. The young woman has placed upon the thin wire, a table and two chairs of different heights. Carefully balancing herself and measuring the distance with her eye, with a lightning leap, clears the barrier. There is a swish of silken skirts, a flash in the air and she lands safely upon the wire on the other side. A mis-step would precipitate her to the ground where she could hardly escape serious injury or death. Manager Rowe at first tried to persuade the young woman to omit this portion of her act, but finally seeing that her nerves were of steel, let her continue. As for Melnotte, LaNole and Melnotte, they simply laugh at danger and say they will soon attempt an even more dangerous feat. With constant success they seem to forget they are daily trifling with death. They will be seen here when the Norris and Rowe greater circus exhibits at Peterborough, Saturday, August 26th.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

A BAD MAN is bad; a bad woman is not only bad, but worse. Girls make the motherhood of the land, and if we have bad material for mothers, we shall have bad mothers, and with bad mothers we shall have bad daughters. And so the evil area increases as a circle in the winter. Thursday in the post-card column a letter appeared pointing out the dangers to which young girls out late at night are exposed from the agents of the devil who abound in every city. That, however, seems to be only physical danger—danger of personal inconvenience and annoyance. But there is a greater danger than that of a rude embrace or stolen kiss; there is danger to the morals and character of young girls. It is idle, if not superfluous, to point out, as has been done millions of times, the danger—not only danger, but certainty—of evil coming to young girls from unrestrained and unaccompanied frequenting of the streets at night. The staying out at night alone by a young girl is, though those who have not yet fallen would scorn the idea, the first step to being seduced from the path of virtue, followed by loss of self-respect, loss of character, loss of shame, loss of beauty, loss of health, loss of life, loss of soul — the hideous sequence of needless pleasure-seeking upon the streets at night. At home, under a mother's care, girls may possibly come to grief and suffer evil. On the streets at night they must, and do, come to harm. If they do not fall into evil ways—evil in the worst sense of the word as applied to women—they contract evil habits, they lose their modesty, they are talked at and talked about, they lose rest, they unfit themselves by late hours for the duties of the day, unfit themselves for good wives and mothers.

SPEAKING OF GOOD MOTHERS, it is safe to say that the daughters of good mothers—mothers with good sense to begin with and good morals as a complement to perfect motherhood, in this regard, are never found upon the streets at night any distance from home, unattended or in questionable company. That girls take to night walking, that is, frequenting the streets at night without proper escort—they will soon enough have improper escorts — is very largely the fault of mothers who permit it. Lack of parental control of children is a worse evil in the land to-day than whisky. Whisky is all right in its place—all right if neglected; children are all wrong if neglected. A careless mother who doesn't know what her children—especially girls—are doing on the streets at night is putting a premium upon their going astray. The fault is primarily hers. This is the thing in a nutshell, as to cause—the consequences are disastrous in any event.

THE HABIT THUS FORMED in childhood lasts through life. The whole of the present world almost seems to be "daft" in respect of gadding and going and seeing things. The whole family except, perhaps, the hard-working and long-suffering father, must be going, going, going. The mother's work and her household is neglected to go to some picnic or outing or some sight or "doings." The children soon learn the habit—so that it comes about that the earnest purpose of life is to seek diversion and amusement. No fixed habits of industry or frugality are formed. Servant girls who have a day's hard work before them make it doubly hard by rising to their work with worn, bone-tired bodies, from the previous night's rambling, or wandering in the streets, or, Heaven knows, elsewhere, till midnight. Of course, it is claimed, that girls must have amusement; but amusement and pleasure seeking should not be made the business of life. This restless spirit of going, of seeing things, of "taking in" everything, unsettles and unjoints everything, making a state of society that is in every way unsatisfactory and in many ways vicious—in consequences especially.

ANOTHER POST CARD correspondent deals with another subject, that of late shopping hours, and the evils in connection with them. This is again, to a certain extent, the consequence of the "gadding" habit, and the habit of self seeking and pleasure-making, as the first consideration. Scores of persons every Saturday night, with shopping to do, give their dishes and household work a "slock and a promise," and rush down town. Instead of doing their shopping they board the belt line cars or stroll about gossiping with their friends, till an hour when all honest folks should be in bed. Then, when they are freed to do so, they do their shopping. The result is that salesmen in shops are kept out of bed, after being on their feet all day, and after that the poor delivery boys and horses have to spend the time till midnight, and often far into Sunday morning, to deliver parcels. It is no wonder that on Sunday morning there are so many empty pews in the churches. Not that it makes much difference in the summer, for there are, as a rule, no preachers to preach, to the few people that perfunctorily stray into their seats. The churches are either out of commission, pro tempora, or turned over to some amateur parson, to break to them the half-baked bread of life. The preachers should lead the crusade against late shopping. They and their church attendance, suffer most from it. Not most, though, for overworked salesmen and salesgirls, dead-tired and sleepy delivery boys and goaded horses, underfed and over-driven, also suffer. And all because of the thoughtless, self-indulgence of householders, who follow their own petty pursuit of pleasure, heedless of the inconvenience and positive suffering they inflict upon those who, from policy and the necessities of business, have to submit to the cruelty their inconsiderate actions create.

REMARKABLE CASE AT BLAKE, ONT.

Mrs. McLichey, Helpless From Pain, Hands and Fingers Badly Swollen and Disfigured by Rheumatism—Bu-Ju, the Kidney Pill, Brought Happy Relief.

Thousands of suffering women throughout Canada will appreciate the following:

Blake, Ont., May 5th, 1905.
Claflin Chemical Co.,
Windsor, Ont.

Gentlemen: I cannot say enough for Bu-Ju, for it has helped me wonderfully. I was not able to do my own work in the house and was barely able to dress myself. My fingers and hands were all swollen up with the pain. I think there is nothing like Bu-Ju. Am able to do my own work now with comfort, which I was not able to do before taking Bu-Ju.

MRS. JAMES McLICHEY.

The discomforts of rheumatism are so well known that nothing need be added to Mrs. McLichey's description; and the happy relief she tells about has become equally well known in similar cases, where Bu-Ju, The Kidney Pill, has been given a trial. The widespread success of this preparation in curing rheumatism is nothing wonderful after all. It is the product of the latest medical skill in kidney diseases, and, as everybody knows, weak or deranged kidneys mean rheumatism. No need to suffer when you can obtain Bu-Ju, The Kidney Pill, which is sold by druggists generally. Substitutes, under whatever name, however, should be rejected.

The Campbellford Grass Is Particularly Precious

A peculiar police court case is reported from Campbellford, and in referring to it the Despatch says:—

Stanley Meiklejohn, a boy in the employ of W. J. Armstrong, was tried before Magistrate Lynch Monday on the charge of pasturing a horse on the public highway. The complaint was made by sanitary officer Jas. Stillmen. Young Meiklejohn did not seem to realize the gravity of his awful (?) offence answering questions put to him by his counsel Mr. A. B. Colville and Magistrate Lynch in a cool and collected manner. The bulk of the evidence produced seemed to favour the accused, witnesses testifying that the boy stopped to speak to a friend for a couple of minutes during which time the horse cropped a few mouthfuls of grass. Young Meiklejohn did everything in his power, it appeared, to prevent the horse from feeding, but according to expert evidence introduced it was impossible to keep a horse, which had been kept in the barn for any length of time, from cropping the grass under those conditions. Magistrate Lynch dismissed the complaint.

City Schools to Re-open On Tuesday, September 5th.

The chairman of the Supervision Committee of the Board of Education, will be a very unpopular man with several hundred school children to-day, when they read that he announces that on Tuesday, September 5th, the Collegiate Institute and public schools will re-open after the summer vacation.

No doubt it seems to the majority of the pupils of the schools like yesterday that the vacation began, but in reality almost two months have passed away since the school doors closed, and the children then looked forward to two long months, almost a lifetime to them of holidays.

During the holidays the schools have been to a certain extent, repaired, and the scholars will go into nine class rooms on Tuesday, September 5th.

The estate of my father was about 120 miles from Warsaw, and as soon as the insurrection broke out my mother and myself repaired there. My mother learned that my father had been captured, and supposed that he had been put to death, as she did not hear from him again for more than a year.

But all of this time my father was suffering from the horrors of a Siberian prison. For some 18 months he struggled for existence in that prison, without a bath or a change of clothing. One day he was visited by a Russian officer, who informed him that he must suffer death. The officer told my father that if he had any reasonable request to make it would be granted. His only request was that he might be privileged to see his wife and boy.

One day my mother was surprised by receiving a visit from a detachment of Cossack soldiers, who ordered her to follow them. Not knowing whether we were bound, in our own carriage, driven by our own servant, we proceeded with the soldiers. I remember the journey well. It was the first of March. We arrived in Warsaw at night.

The next morning we were ordered to appear before the Viceroy of Poland. He was a man noted for his savage nature; but, to my mother's astonishment, he seemed almost friendly. He informed my mother that my father was living, but would be executed the next morning, and that her father and her two younger brothers were in the same prison and would be executed also. He said that the Emperor had authorized him to make her this proposition: That if she would consent to have me taken from her that day, conveyed to an institution under the direction of the Greek Church, baptized and educated; if, further, she would take the oath of fidelity to the Emperor she might retain to the estate, and enjoy it until I arrived at my majority. If she refused this proposition she and her son would be expelled from Poland, upon a penalty of death should they return.

The Viceroy very kindly offered my mother proper time to consider the proposition, but without any hesitation she told him she would not require time.

"Sire," she said, "you can tell the Emperor that he can take our estate, banish me and my child from our native land, home and kindred. I will go, and will teach my boy that he is a Pole, to despise tyranny and to hate with undying hatred that nation and sovereign who murdered his father and him and despoiled his country and sent us into exile."

When my mother had spoken we were taken to see my father in that terrible prison dungeon. Though 61 years have elapsed since then, and I have passed through many scenes, yet that terrible picture has never been effaced from my memory.

In a small room, without a single ray of sunlight, we found my father. The filth was appalling—indescribable. How he had existed for more than thirteen months was beyond our comprehension to conceive. For six hours we were permitted to be with him. Those six hours were spent in loving caresses and counsel. Promptly at the expiration of the time we were summoned forth. My mother at once made the request that she might be permitted to visit her father and brothers. This was refused. The next morning my father and grandfather and two uncles were executed.

Before leaving Warsaw my mother learned that her younger sister, who had been arrested some months before, had been sentenced to Siberia for 20 years. Later we met with a bishop of the Greek church, who gave my aunt clothing to a gang of convicts, in whose company she was to march for 2,800 miles on foot. She never heard of her afterwards.

In America at Last.

Two or three days after my father's execution my mother and I were placed in a sleigh, and under an escort of Cossacks we started for the frontier. After days of journeying we arrived in Austria. There we were halted by the authorities, who informed us that our presence was not desirable. From there we went to the province of Posen, formerly a part of Poland. After sojourning there for a few weeks, we were one morning peremptorily ordered out of the country.

The reason for our ejection, both by the Austrian and the Prussian authorities, was evident. Both of those countries were rent by revolutionary movements, and as we were political exiles we were looked upon with suspicion.

From there we went to Brussels, and on to Berne, in Switzerland. Here we remained for more than a year, my mother teaching a school for young ladies in languages, music and painting.

In 1850 my mother's health had begun to fail her, and she went to Milan, in Italy, where she had friends, and where it was thought her health would be better.

After living in Milan something over a year we were expelled by order of Archduke Maximilian of Austria, who was Viceroy of northern Italy, for joining in a demonstration in honour of Captain Dennis N. Ingraham, of the United States Navy, who compelled the Austrians to surrender Captain Martin Koskta.

My mother now proceeded with me to England, that glorious old land of Liberty. Some months after our arrival, Louis Kossuth, who had been liberated from his prison in Turkey, together with my uncle, General Joseph Bem, visited England. Kossuth was then in his prime. I remember his putting me on the cheek and telling me that some day I, too, would fight for liberty.

My uncle, Joseph Bem, who served under Kossuth, had fought for liberty almost everywhere—wherever the cause of liberty was in peril. He returned to Turkey, as he saw unmistakable signs of a coming conflict between that country and Russia. He became naturalized as a Turk.

After living about six months in England my mother's health failed rapidly, and in September, 1864, she died.

Shortly before my mother's death I was adopted into the family of Professor Kalouki of Liverpool, who had been a patriot of the uprising of 1830. About this time I read a book, entitled "America and Her Patriots." It completely captivated me, so I determined to come to America.

I sailed by a young midshipman, whom I had accidentally made acquaintance with in Liverpool, I succeeded in getting into a ship of war as a stowaway, and reached this country safely, landing in New York February 22, 1865. I then lacked about six months of being 13 years of age. Under our present laws I would have been promptly returned to England. Fortunately for me, perhaps, I was quite a proficient bugler, having learned it from an old countryman of mine, who used to visit my mother in Liverpool. Having come of a race of warriors I earnestly desired to enter the army of the United States. The captain of the ship upon which I had come over kindly took charge of me, and to meet the requirements of the law had himself appointed my guardian. I entered the United States service as a bugler April 26, 1865, on Governor's Island, New York.

TOGO AS THE NELSON OF JAPAN

A SILENT MAN OF WHOM ONE HAD BETTER BEWARE.

Beware of the silent man in war.

Togo—by the way, call it Tongo if you would pronounce it as the Japs do—is a little man, even for a Japanese, and they are by no means large. He is only a trifle over five feet up and down. It will be remembered also that Napoleon was a little man physically. The world has had a number of big little men. It is never well to judge of the stature of a man's mind and goal by that of his body. Togo looks the sea captain. Bronzed weather, wiry and alert. His face is not unlike that of a clergyman as he lacks the oriental slant of the eye and wears a close cropped beard, sparse, but tricly, and growing free gray. Small as he is, there is about him a certain air of command that attracts attention. He is poised, self contained, ever ready. He is one of the impassive sort, that would stand unmoved in the presence of an earthquake. Beneath this iron exterior, however, is fire. The gleam of the eye reveals that.

This man, who has wiped out two Russian fleets and will wipe out others if the Czar is so ill advised as to put them in the way, has reasons for his immobile exterior. First, there is his race. The men of Nippon are not particularly demonstrative, especially if they are Satsuma samurai, as Togo is. This is the man, by the way, that furnished Japan's other great sea fighter, Saigo. It is perhaps the most renowned fighting clan in the island empire, and other Togos have made the name famous in its annals. With such heredity who can wonder at the stoical front of the "togo admiral," as he is affectionately called? Then his training was not conducive to effusiveness or effeminacy. One incident will serve to make this clear. Japanese youths who are being prepared for the navy are subjected to certain ordeals. One of these is a hangout, at which the boys sit around a circular table, in the middle of which is a loaded cannon, which constantly turns so that first one then another can look down the gun sic. The boys know that some time during the evening the charge will be set off by a man outside the room. The ball may pass between two bangsters or it may take off a head in its flight. Iron nerves result from education such as this.

Another part of Togo's training was the study of Yomei, the Chinese philosopher, who preached the gospel of action. Since reaching manhood the admiral has spoken of the debt he owes this great teacher. Poise of soul is the cardinal virtue inculcated by the school of Yomei—balance, nerve equilibrium, that cannot be disturbed by the flash of a sword in front of the eyes or the explosion of a shell however near it may be to him.

ADMIRAL TOGO, HIS WIFE AND CHILDREN.

Admiral Togo, whose other name is Heihachiro, is forty-eight years of age. He is not of noble birth, though now a baron. He struck the first blow in two wars, that between China and Japan and the present one. In the former he sunk the British transport Kowshing, carrying Chinese troops, before the actual declaration of hostilities. He was a captain then, served in all the important engagements of that conflict and was soon after made an admiral, the third in the rank of the navy. He was placed in charge of a naval station and was charged with instructing young officers. He is a strict disciplinarian, and many of the naval men now making their marks were his pupils. They boast of it to-day as a distinction, having been one of "Togo's men."

When the trouble with Russia came on the ministry of marine began casting about for a man to head the navy. "Send Togo," said Count Ito, "He struck first at China; he will strike first and as hard at Russia."

So Togo it was. He was summoned by the naval minister. Though sick with a cold, he at once prepared for departure, with the remark that he would be well on the bridge.

His wife remonstrated with him whereupon he exercised the prerogative of a Japanese husband by boxing her ears, telling her not to talk nonsense and that he knew his duty. Togo has but one wife, by the way, a form of denial by no means common in his country. So close is the secrecy of Japanese military affairs that no word of his mission was spoken.

At the railway station his little daughter met him and chided him for striking her mother. "I shall think you really are an ogre," she said. "I did wrong," he responded and she was once more happy by taking her in his arms and sending her home with his humble apologies.

Arrived at the naval office, the minister laid before him the whole situation, telling him that he had been chosen to head the fleet and reminding him that the whole fate of the war depended on his keeping the sea open for the transportation of troops. The minister talked long. Most men would have had much to say in reply. When the minister had concluded his remarks, Togo asked:

"Is that all you have to say?"

The minister said it was.

"Well that will be all right," said Togo, "Goodby." And, bowing, he left the room.

Arriving at his flagship, the admiral piped his officers on board. Here was surely the time to make a speech. Togo merely brought out a small table and placed thereon a short sword, with the point toward the officers No word he spoke, but they understood. That meant they were either to win or commit harakiri, the Japanese form of suicide. And they were glad. They knew this man. He did things.

Admiral Togo is a hard worker. Here is one of his laconic utterances on the subject. "In the present age quick and simple action is the only way to succeed, either in military or civil life."

He knows men. Rarely does he make a mistake in choosing a subordinate. So great is his capacity in this direction that a saying has become current in Japan, "There is only one commander who uses his subordinates like his own fingers, and the name of that man is Admiral Togo."

Once on meeting a party of foreign correspondents the little admiral heard his praises sung in several different languages. They cheered him; they drank his health. Through it all he stood impassive, with faraway eyes. He is not a vain man. Upon visiting his home he refused a popular reception, slipping in and out in secret, though he is the most popular hero of Japan and the people were eagerly awaiting to give him such an ovation as only the Japanese can give. He who th really great can afford to be humble.

He lives simply, has only one servant, and his house and his room aboard ship are almost without ornament. He smiles seldom. Two occasions only are on record. Once two English correspondents came to him with shaved heads, a sign of humiliation. "Why are you humiliated at seeing me?" he asked. "Because Port Arthur is so long in falling," they rejoined. At this he laughed outright. The other time was when the wireless flashed the news that the Russian fleet was coming out to meet him. And Togo smiled.

Admiral Togo makes few speeches, but one of these is noteworthy. The Japanese have a custom of addressing the spirits of the departed. At a public service for the purpose Togo spoke to the souls of those he had lost in battle. Very solemnly and simply he did this, telling them of the successes he had won and ascribing to them the victory. In his dispatches he attributes his success to the Mikado's virtues.

Many endearing appellations have been given to Togo. The one of the "ogre admiral" has been [illegible] still earlier one was the fighting admiral." The English and French have called him "the Japanese Nelson." But the most apt and expressive one perhaps is "Togo the Silent."

Admiral Togo's family, of which he is very fond, consists of three sons and one daughter. The boys are being educated for the navy.

PROSPEROUS YEAR.

Fishermen's Catch Much Larger Than Usual—Waters Nearing Depletion.

The report of the Deputy Commissioner of Fisheries, Mr. S. T. Bastedo, for 1904 shows that in spite of the lateness of the commencement of the season, it was a very prosperous one for the fishermen. Prices were high and 24,000,970 pounds of fish were taken during the year, or 2,815,765 pounds more than the previous season. This was valued at $1,793,229. This amount is distributed as follows: Lake trout, 6,275,430; whitefish, 3,474,300; herring, 4,252,580; pickerel, 2,962,540; pike (including blue pickerel), 1,775,700; coarse fish, 2,087,900 pounds; perch, 922,600; eels, 45,500; tullibee, 5,800; cat-fish, 520,150; sturgeon, 635,200; and of caviare, 29,170.

During the year licenses were issued for 3,490,036 yards of gill nets, 514 pounds net, 473 hoop nets, 130 seines, dip nets, three machines and several and nets.

Depletion of Waters and

Regarding the depletion of the tional waters Mr. Bastedo lays blame for excessive fishing on the erican fishermen and authorities, as the failure to provide protective measures and to regulate the fishing was indefensible and unjustified. From the increasing number of fishermen and the improved means of handling the nets, he says, it is evident that if something is not done the lakes will be exhausted. No sane people can expect, he adds, that the Canadian will enforce measures to prevent such a calamity which are not adopted by the Americans. The Federal Commission, whose work will likely be undertaken in 1905, should attend to this matter as well as that of close seasons.

The same danger has been noted in inland waters, where sportsmen, Canadian and American sportsmen, for some time threatened their depletion. For four seasons, however, the Government, aided by the railroad companies, has been restocking these waters. Last year was most successful, 12,955 bass having been deposited.

PAID HER FARE.

And the Feelings of a Stranger in a Strange Land Were Spared.

One of those rare instances of one woman's kindness to another was seen on a Yonge street car last night as the conductor was taking up the fares, says The Toronto World. By the way, he was a youngish-looking young man, and his actions denoted that he had but lately taken to the handling of the coffee-pot collection box.

On the long seat of the closed car sat a well-dressed young woman, apparently an English emigrant, taking in the new sights. In taking up the fares the conductor passed the farebox under her nose, which brought her back to the material and the innovation of a new custom. She guessed what it meant and asked him the price of the fare while she produced her pocketbook. She then handed the man what appeared to be a golden half-sovereign. Handing it to the conductor, she said: "I 'aven't anything smaller."

In the mind of the young official a vein of thought of his old schooldays passed in his trying to reckon what the value of the money was. He gave it up and told the lady that as far as he knew the company did not receive foreign money. For a moment the young woman's lip quivered. She was alone in a strange country, she did not know the customs of the people, she might be put off the car. The breach was happily closed by an elderly woman, dressed in black, paying the poor girl's fare. Turning to her the assisted one ventured: "'Eaven thank you, ma'am. If they're all as kind as you are here I'm not sorry I came to Canady."

THE PASSENGER PIGEON.

An Interesting Description of Bird Common in Canada Decades Ago.

I have been thinking for some time of sending you a description of the passenger pigeon. No doubt, many of your readers have never seen this bird, and have no idea of the countless numbers seen by the early settlers. I write this sketch to recall to the memory of some of our early settlers, and also to give to our young natural history students an idea of a bird so very numerous forty years ago, and which is destined ere long to become totally extinct.

The passenger pigeon is a handsome bird, belonging to the same family as the dove, and has been noted for its vast migrations in North America. The male bird is much brighter plumaged than the female, and noticeably larger. The breast and extending to the middle is of a distinctly light brick red; the back variegated slate and bluish. The head and part of the neck are beautifully iridescent; the beak soft and slightly curved; the eyes mild and bright, with red iris, and having a fold of skin which the bird can put over the eye like a winker, whereby the danger of injury is much lessened in its flight through the thick woods. Its length is about seventeen inches, and the wing about eight and a half inches, and it is capable of flying rapidly through a thick forest, turning and dodging past obstructions with great ease, and able to take very long flights, sustaining them for nearly a day at more than locomotive speed, or about sixty miles an hour. It lives entirely on vegetable matter, such as fruits, grain, nuts, seeds, bulbs and plants. I have taken from the crop of one more than a good handful of beechnuts, which would be packed so tightly that it must have seriously incommoded its flight. When nuts and grain are scarce they will eat nearly anything in the vegetable line, such as buds, tender shoots, grasses and some kinds of fungi. Although I have taken all I have named and more from their crops, I do not recollect seeing any animal remains, such as worms or insects, of which most birds are so fond. Mild and peaceable in a marked degree, it seldom—I might safely say never—shows any sign of fight unless in defence of its young, and is an easy prey to all carnivora.

The passenger pigeon is gregarious in its habits. Notes in migratory flocks munities, whose numbers would baffle the wildest calculation, and to tell only the bare truth it is likely the writer will be charged by your readers with extravagant exaggeration.

In their migratory flights, as I have seen them here, they were usually flying northward in spring, or in the breeding season, going and returning their feeding grounds. These migrations often extended over some weeks, and in such numbers at times that speaking loosely, as people often do, the sky was literally covered.

To see them when most numerous, as they flew angling across Lake Huron, the shadows of the great flocks were distinctly reflected on the clear waters, like passing clouds, and to say that one-third of the visible expanse was covered with pigeons would not be disputed by an onlooker. Could we not be mistaken? I answer no. Where they came from or where they were going none of us could tell. But there were the great flocks, one after another, each one comprising up to many thousands. For hours they would be no apparent abatement, and when evening came they would alight on the trees, and then go to the ground to make a meal of what suited their tastes, and were ready to start next morning, shortly after good daylight, on their northward journey. Blue hawks often flew with them, and would pick a pigeon from amongst them, and retire to a convenient place to devour it.—Written for The Globe's Nature Notes, by William Welsh, Kincardine.

West Indies For Canada.

The Canadian Grocer says on this subject: If one is to judge from frequent expressions of opinion on the subject, sentiment in the West Indies is becoming more and more favorable to Canada. Only a few months ago a representative of The Grocer visited the islands; he found the trade there kindly disposed as a whole to their fellow-colonists away to the north, so much so that they preferred to trade with Canada, rather than with the United States, oth

Such a move would hard- solution ed at askance by the motherla look- a week ago a speaker in the ly House of Commons made the re- that he would "like to see the W Indian Government enter into negotia tions with Canada, to find out whether at least some of the islands could not be better administered by the Dominion. If they were attached to Canada they would form something like a southern zone for the Dominion. The reorganization and revitalising of the West Indies would result in an alteration which would add enormously to Great Britain's Imperial strength on the strategic highway of the world and in the commercial centre of the Western Ontario." What is more, the British treasury has just refused to continue the grant of $50,000 a year to the Agricultural Department of the West Indies, and the islanders are beginning to fear that Great Britain is losing interest in their welfare and progress.

Canada recently extended a substantial preference to all importations from the West Indies, with the result that a substantial and rapidly increasing trade has grown up between the two countries. From a commercial standpoint, it is in the interests of Canada to cultivate the islands, and it is to be hoped that the Federal Government will not be so forgetful of this fact as to withdraw or even curtail the financial support to the direct steamship service between Canada and the West Indies, which it has extended for the past twelve years.

Indian Relics.

The rage for Indian curios will soon be upon us. Sunday Mr. A. M. Ross was walking along the lake shore near Windy Point when his eye was attracted to an unusual looking object partly buried in the sand. With a little excavating he unearthed it and found the complete skeleton of a man, who, in his lifetime, must have been over six feet in height.

Beside the skeleton, which was in perfect condition, except where the spine was slightly decayed from exposure to the air, he found an Indian tomahawk, some beads, a pair of copper wrist bands, and several other curios.

Mr. Louis Hawksworth also reports finding bits of flint, arrow heads, and Indian curiosities on his place, since he has commenced plowing.

This country, we understand, was inhabited by a branch of the Algonquins called the Nipissings, and it was for here Champlain started once on his search for a route to the Orient. Led on by the misrepresentations of Nicholas de Vignau, who claimed to have been here, he worked his way up the Ottawa nearly to Renfrew when stopped by the Indians, who described the country as full of roaring streams and entirely impassable, and brought Vignau, who was an absolute imposter, to an acknowledgment of his lies, and a confession that he had never seen this country.

Two years later — 1615 — Champlain started on an Indian war and again came up the Ottawa, passed his former terminus, and pushing on through the Mattawa crossed Lake Nipissing and went down the French River to Georgian Bay. From there he portaged into Lake Couchiching, and paddling down Lake Simcoe took a long portage across to Lake Ontario. Though very near Temiskaming Champlain was never actually here.

Just near where Mr. William Murray's place now is the Indians years ago had a moose farm. But civilization has crept over it all. The hand of man has swept away the forest and the moose, and what the Indians told Champlain four centuries ago was an impassable country, is to-day the greater Ontario—Temiskaming Herald.

The Return of SHERLOCK HOLMES

WE were fairly accustomed to receive weird telegrams at Baker street, but I have a particular recollection of one which reached us on a gloomy February morning, some seven or eight years ago, and gave Mr. Sherlock Holmes a puzzled quarter of an hour. It was addressed to him and ran thus:

Please await me. Terrible misfortune. Right wing three-quarter missing. Indispensable tomorrow. OVERTON.

"Strand postmark and dispatched 10:36," said Holmes, reading it over and over. "Mr. Overton was evidently considerably excited when he sent it and somewhat incoherent in consequence. Well, well, he will be here, I dare say, by the time I have looked through the Times, and then we shall know all about it. Even the most insignificant problem would be welcome in these stagnant days."

Things had indeed been very slow with us, and I had learned to dread such periods of inaction, for I knew by experience that my companion's brain was so abnormally active that it was dangerous to leave it without material upon which to work. For years I had gradually weaned him from that drug mania which had threatened once to check his remarkable career. Now I knew that under ordinary conditions he no longer craved for this artificial stimulus, but I was well aware that the fiend was not dead, but sleeping, and I have known that the sleep was a light one and the waking near when in periods of idleness I have seen the drawn look upon Holmes' ascetic face and the brooding of his deep set and inscrutable eyes. Therefore I blessed this Mr. Overton, whoever he might be, since he had come with his enigmatic message to break that dangerous calm which brought more peril to my friend than all the storms of his tempestuous life.

As we had expected, the telegram was soon followed by its sender, and the card of Mr. Cyril Overton, Trinity college, Cambridge, announced the arrival of an enormous young man, sixteen stone of solid bone and muscle, who spanned the doorway with his broad shoulders and looked from one of us to the other with a comely face which was haggard with anxiety.

"Mr. Sherlock Holmes?"

My companion bowed.

"I've been down to Scotland Yard, Mr. Holmes. I saw Inspector Stanley Hopkins. He advised me to come to you. He said the case, so far as he could see, was more in your line than in that of the regular police."

"Pray sit down and tell me what is the matter."

"It's awful, Mr. Holmes. Simply awful. I wonder my hair isn't grey. Godfrey Staunton—you've heard of him, of course? He's simply the hinge that the whole team turns on. I'd rather spare two from the pack and have Godfrey for my three-quarter line. Whether it's passing or tackling or dribbling, there's no one to touch him, and, then, he's got the head and can hold us all together. What am I to do? That's what I ask you, Mr. Holmes. There's Moorhouse, first reserve, but he is trained as a half, and he always edges right in on to the scrum instead of keeping out on the touch line. He's a fine place kick, it's true, but then he has no judgment, and he can't sprint for nuts. Why, Morton or Johnson, the Oxford fliers, could romp round him. Stevenson is fast enough, but he couldn't drop from the twenty-five line, and a three-quarter who can't either punt or drop isn't worth a place for pace alone. No, Mr. Holmes, we are done unless you can help me to find Godfrey Staunton."

My friend had listened with amused surprise to this long speech, which was poured forth with extraordinary vigor and earnestness, every point being driven home by the slapping of a brawny hand upon the speaker's knee. When our visitor was silent Holmes stretched out his hand and took down letter "S" of his commonplace book. For once he dug in vain into that mine of varied information.

"There is Arthur H. Staunton, the rising young forger," said he, "and there was Henry Staunton, whom I helped to hang, but Godfrey Staunton is a new name to me."

It was our visitor's turn to look surprised.

"Why, Mr. Holmes, I thought you knew things," said he. "I suppose, then, if you have never heard of Godfrey Staunton, you don't know Cyril Overton either?"

Holmes shook his head good humoredly.

"Great Scott!" cried the athlete. "Why, I was first reserve for England against Wales, and I've skippered the varsity all this year. But that's nothing—I didn't think there was a soul in England who didn't know Godfrey Staunton, the crack three-quarter, Gentleman, Blackheath and five international. Good Lord, Mr. Holmes, where have you lived?"

Holmes laughed at the young giant's naive astonishment.

"You live in a different world from me, Mr. Overton—a sweeter and healthier one. My ramifications stretch out into many sections of society, but never, I am happy to say, into amateur sport, which is the best and soundest thing in England. However, your unexpected visit this morning shows me that even in that world of fresh air and fair play there may be work for me to do. So now, my good sir, I beg you to sit down and tell me, slowly and quietly, exactly what it is that has occurred and how you desire that I should help you."

Young Overton's face assumed the bothered look of a man who is more accustomed to using his muscles than his wits, but by degrees, with many repetitions and obscurities which I may omit from his narrative, he laid his strange story before us.

"It's this way, Mr. Holmes. As I have said, I am the skipper of the Rugger team of Cambridge varsity, and Godfrey Staunton is my best man. Tomorrow we play Oxford. Yesterday we all came up, and we settled at Bentley's private hotel. At 10 o'clock I went round and saw that all the fellows had gone to roost, for I believe in strict training and plenty of sleep to keep a team fit. I had a word or two with Godfrey before he turned in. He seemed to me to be pale and bothered. I asked him what was the matter. He said he was all right—just a touch of headache. I bade him good night and left him. Half an hour later, the porter tells me, a rough looking man with a beard called with a note for Godfrey. He had not gone to bed, and the note was taken to his room. Godfrey read it and fell back in a chair as if he had been pole axed. The porter was so scared that he was going to fetch me, but Godfrey stopped him, had a drink of water and pulled himself together. Then he went downstairs, said a few words to the man who was waiting in the hall, and the two of them went off together. The last that the police saw of them they were almost running down the street in the direction of the Strand. This morning Godfrey's room was empty, his bed had never been slept in, and his things were all just as I had seen them the night before. He had gone off at a moment's notice with this stranger, and no word has come from him since. I don't like to think of the will over which he has come from Scotland down to his marrow, and he would not have stopped his training and left us in the scrum if it were not for some reason that was too strong for him. Mr. Holmes, I feel as if he were gone for good, and we should never see him again."

"What did you do?" he asked.

"I wired to Cambridge to learn if anything had been heard of him there. I have had an answer. No one has seen him."

"Could he have got back to Cambridge?"

"Yes; there is a late train—quarter past 11."

"But, so far as you can ascertain, he did not like it?"

"No; he has not been seen."

"What did you do next?"

"I went to Lord Mount-James."

"Going to Lord Mount-James?"

"Godfrey is an orphan, and Lord Mount-James is his nearest relative—his uncle, I believe."

"Indeed. This throws very Mount upon the matter. Lord Mount-James is one of the richest men in England."

"So I've heard Godfrey say."

"And your friend was closely related?"

"You see he was his heir, and the old boy is equally set upon both of my two. They say he could chalk his billiard cue with his left. He never allowed Godfrey a shilling in his life, for he is an absolute miser, but it will all come to him right enough."

"Have you heard from Lord Mount-James?"

"No."

"What motive could your friend have in going to Lord Mount-James?"

"Well, something might have come over the right before—and if it was to do with money it is possible that he might make for his nearest relative, though so much is through Godfrey will I have heard he would not have much chance of getting it. Godfrey was not fond of the old man. He mentioned that there could help it."

"Well, we can soon determine that. If your friend was going to his relative, Lord Mount-James, you have then to explain the visit of this rough looking fellow at so late an hour and the agitation that was caused by his coming."

Cyril Overton pressed his hands to his head. "I can make nothing of it," said he.

"Well, well, I have a clear day, and I shall be happy to look into the matter," said Holmes. "I should strongly recommend you to make your preparations for your match without reference to this young gentleman. It must, as you say, have been an overpowering necessity which tore him away in such a fashion, and the same necessity is likely to hold him away. Let us step round together to the hotel and see if the porter can throw any fresh light upon the matter."

Sherlock Holmes was a past master in the art of putting a humble witness at his ease, and very soon, in the privacy of Godfrey Staunton's abandoned room, he had extracted all that the porter had to tell. The visitor of the night before was not a gentleman, neither was he a workingman. He was simply what the porter described as a "medium looking chap," a man of fifty, bearded grizzled, pale face, quietly dressed. He seemed himself to be agitated. The porter had observed his hand trembling when he had held out the note. Godfrey Staunton had crammed the note into his pocket. Staunton had not shaken hands with the man in the hall. They had exchanged a few sentences, of which the porter had only distinguished the odd word "time." Then they had hurried off to the manner described. It was just half past 10 by the hall clock.

"Let me see," said Holmes, seating himself on Staunton's bed. "You are the day porter, are you not?"

"Yes, sir—night duty on Saturday."

"The night porter knows nothing, I suppose?"

"No, sir. The night service never comes in contact with any one else."

"Were you on duty yesterday evening?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you take any message to Mr. Staunton?"

"Only a telegram."

"Ah, that is interesting. What o'clock was this?"

"About 6."

"Where did Mr. Staunton sit when he read it?"

"There in his reading chair."

"Were you standing near enough to see him write?"

"Yes, sir; I waited to see if there was an answer."

"Well, was there?"

"Yes, sir, he wrote an answer."

"Did you take it?"

"No, he took it himself."

"But he wrote it in your presence?"

"Yes, sir. I was standing by the door, and he with his back turned at that table. When he had written it he said, 'All right, porter, I will take this myself.'"

"What did he write it with?"

"A pen, sir."

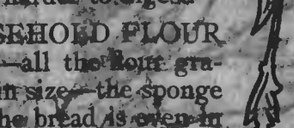
"Was the telegraphic form one of those on the table?"

"Yes, sir, it was the top one."

Holmes rose. Taking the forms, he carried them over to the window and carefully examined that which was uppermost.

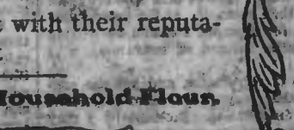
"It is a pity he did not write in pencil," said he, throwing them down again, with a shrug of disappointment. "As you have no doubt frequently observed, Watson, the impression usually goes through—a fact which has dissolved many a happy marriage. However, I can find no trace here. I rejoice, however, to perceive that he wrote with a broad pointed quill pen, and I can hardly doubt that we will find some impression upon this blotting pad. Ah, yes, surely this is the very thing!"

He tore off a strip of the blotting paper and turned toward us the following hieroglyphic:



Cyril Overton was much excited. "Hold it to the glass!" he cried.

"That is unnecessary," said Holmes. "This paper is thin, and the reverse will give the message. Here it is." He turned it over and we read:



"So that is the tail end of the telegram which Godfrey Staunton dispatched within a few hours of his disappearance. There are at least six words of the message which have escaped us, but what remains—'Stand by me for God's sake!'—proves that this young man saw a formidable danger which approached him, and from which some one else could protect him. 'Us,' mark you! Another person was involved. Who should it be but the pale faced, bearded man, who showed himself in so nervous a state? Then, then is the connection between Godfrey Staunton and the bearded man? And what is the third source from which each of them sought for help against pressing danger? Our inquiry has already narrowed down to that."

"We have only to find to whom that telegram is addressed," I suggested.

"Exactly, my dear Watson. Your reflection, though profound, had already crossed my mind. But I dare say it may have come to your notice that if you walk into a postoffice and demand to see the counterfoil of another man's message there may be some disinclination on the part of the officials to obtain your request. There is so much red tape in these matters. However, I have no doubt that with a little delicacy and finesse the end may be attained. Meanwhile, I should like in your presence, Mr. Overton, to go through these papers which have been left upon the table."

There were a number of letters, bills and notebooks, which Holmes turned over and examined with quick, nervous fingers and darting, penetrating eyes. "Nothing here," he said at last. "By the way, I suppose your friend was a healthy young fellow—nothing ails with him?"

"Sound as a bell."

"Have you ever known him ill?"

"Not a day. He has been laid up with a hack, and once he slipped his kneecap, but that was nothing."

"Perhaps he was not so strong as you suppose. I should think he may have had some secret trouble. With your consent, I will put one or two of these papers in my pocket, in case they should bear upon our future inquiry."

"One moment—one moment!" cried a querulous voice, and we looked up to find a queer little old man jerking and twitching in the doorway. He was dressed in rusty black, with a high tweed brimmed top hat and a long white necktie—the whole effect being that of a very rustic parson or of an undertaker's mute. Yet, in spite of his shabby and even absurd appearance, his voice had a sharp crackle and his manner a quick intensity which commanded attention.

"Who are you, sir, and by what right do you touch this gentleman's papers?" he asked.

"I am a private detective, and I am endeavoring to explain his disappearance."

"Oh, you are, are you? And who instructed you, eh?"

"This gentleman, Mr. Staunton's friend, was referred to me by Scotland Yard."

"Who are you, sir?"

"I am Cyril Overton."

"Then it is you who sent me a telegram. My name is Lord Mount-James. I came round as quickly as the Brougham has would bring me. So you have instructed a detective?"

"Yes, sir."

"And may you command to meet the cost?"

"I have no doubt, sir, that my friend Godfrey, when we find him, will be prepared to do that."

"But if he is never found, eh? Answer me that!"

"In that case no doubt his family."

"Nothing of the sort, sir!" screamed the little man. "Don't look to me for a penny—not a penny! You understand that, Mr. Detective! I am all the family that this young man has got, and I tell you that I am not responsible. If he has any expectations it is due to the fact that I have never wasted money, and I do not propose to begin to do so now. As to those papers with which you are making so free, I may tell you that in case there should be anything of any value among them you will be held strictly to account for what you do with them."

"Very good, sir," said Sherlock Holmes. "May I ask in the meanwhile whether you have yourself any theory to account for this young man's disappearance?"

"No, sir, I have not. He is big enough and old enough to look after himself, and if he is so foolish as to lose himself—I entirely refuse to accept the responsibility of hunting for him."

"I quite understand your position," said Holmes, with a mischievous twinkle in his eyes. "Perhaps you don't quite understand mine. Godfrey Staunton appears to have been a poor man. If he has been kidnaped it could not have been for anything which he himself possesses. The fame of your wealth has gone abroad, Lord Mount-James, and it is certainly possible that a gang of thieves have secured your nephew in order to gain from him some information as to your house, your habits and your treasure."

The face of our unpleasant little visitor turned as white as his necktie.

"Heavens, sir, what an idea! I never thought of such villainy! What labumam rogues there are in the world! But Godfrey is a fine lad—a stanch lad. Nothing would induce him to give his old uncle away. I'll have the plate moved over to the bank this evening. In the meantime spare no pains, Mr. Detective! I beg you to leave no stone unturned to bring him safely back. As to money, well, so far as a fiver or even a tenner goes, you can always look to me."

Even in his chastened frame of mind the noble miser could give us no information which could help us, for he knew little of the private life of his nephew. Our only clew lay in the truncated telegram, and with a copy of this in his hand Holmes set forth to find a second link for his chain. We had shaken off Lord Mount-James, and Overton had gone to consult with the other members of his team over the misfortune which had befallen them.

There was a telegraph office at a short distance from the hotel. We halted outside it.

"It's worth trying, Watson," said Holmes. "Of course with a warrant we

What Flour Granulation Means in Bread-Making

Flour is composed of myriads of tiny granules.

To make good bread these granules must be uniform in size.

In poorly milled flour some granules are large, some small.

The small ones absorb yeast, "rise" and "ripen" before the large ones—the result is bread of coarse, poor texture.

The large granules are not developed into "sponge," they bake into heavy hard particles, spoil the texture of the bread and make it harder to digest.

ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR is perfectly milled—all the flour granules are uniform in size—the sponge rises uniformly—the bread is even in texture—perfect in flavor—good-looking, appetising bread—easily digested.

THE RETURN OF SHERLOCK HOLMES

could demand to see the counterfoils, but we have not reached that stage yet. I don't suppose they remember faces in so busy a place. Let us venture it."

"I am sorry to trouble you," said he in his blandest manner to the young woman behind the grating; "there is some small mistake about a telegram I sent yesterday. I have had no answer, and I very much fear that I must have omitted to put my name at the end. Could you tell me if this was so?"

The young woman turned over a sheaf of counterfoils.

"What o'clock was it?" she asked.

"A little after 6."

"Whom was it to?"

Holmes put his finger to his lips and glanced at me. "The last words in it were 'for God's sake,'" he whispered confidentially. "I am very anxious at getting no answer."

The young woman separated one of the forms.

"This is it. There is no name," said she, smoothing it out upon the counter.

"Then that, of course, accounts for my getting no answer," said Holmes. "Dear me, how very stupid of me, to be sure! Good morning, miss, and many thanks for having relieved my mind." He chuckled and rubbed his hands when we found ourselves in the street once more.

"Well?" I asked.

"We progress, my dear Watson, we progress. I had seven different schemes for getting a glimpse of that telegram, but I could hardly hope to succeed the very first time."

"And what have you gained?"

"A starting point for our investigation." He hailed a cab. "King's Cross station," said he.

"We have a journey, then?"

"Yes, I think we must run down to Cambridge together. All the indications seem to me to point in that direction."

"Tell me," I asked, as we rattled up Gray's Inn road, "have you any suspicion yet as to the cause of the disappearance? I don't think that among all our cases I have known one where the motives are more obscure. Surely you don't really imagine that he may be kidnaped in order to give information against his wealthy uncle?"

"I confess, my dear Watson, that that does not appeal to me as a very probable explanation. It struck me, however, as being the one which was most likely to interest that exceedingly unpleasant old person."

"It certainly did that, but what are your alternatives?"

"I could mention several. You must admit that it is curious and suggestive that this incident should occur on the eve of this important match and should involve the only man whose presence seems essential to the success of the side. It may, of course, be a coincidence, but it is interesting. Amateur sport is free from betting, but a good deal of outside betting goes on among the public, and it is possible that it might be worth some one's while to get at a player as the ruffians of the turf get at a race horse. There is one explanation. A second very obvious one is that this young man really is the heir of a great property, however modest his means may at present be, and it is not impossible that a plot to hold him for ransom might be concocted."

"These theories take no account of the telegram."

"Quite true, Watson. The telegram still remains the only solid thing with which we have to deal, and we must not permit our attention to wander away from it. It is to gain light upon the purpose of this telegram that we are now upon our way to Cambridge. The path of our investigation is at present obscure, but I shall be very much surprised if before evening we have not cleared it up or made a considerable advance along it."

It was already dark when we reached the old university city. Holmes took a cab at the station and ordered the man to drive to the house of Dr. Leslie Armstrong. A few minutes later we had stopped at a large mansion in the busiest thoroughfare. We were shown in and after a long wait were at last admitted into the consulting room, where we found the doctor seated behind his table.

It argues the degree in which I had lost touch with my profession that the name of Leslie Armstrong was unknown to me. Now I am aware that he is not only one of the heads of the medical school of the university, but a thinker of European reputation in more than one branch of science. Yet even without knowing his brilliant record one could not fail to be impressed by a mere glance at the man—the square, massive face, the brooding eyes under the thatched brows and the granite molding of the inflexible jaw, a man of deep character, a man with an alert mind, grim, ascetic, self contained, formidable—so I read Dr. Leslie Armstrong. He held my friend's card in his hand, and he looked up with no very pleased expression upon his dour features.

"I have heard your name, Mr. Sherlock Holmes, and I am aware of your profession—one of which I by no means approve."

"In that, doctor, you will find yourself in agreement with every criminal in the country," said my friend quietly.

"So far as your efforts are directed toward the suppression of crime, sir, they must have the support of every reasonable member of the community, though I cannot doubt that the official machinery is amply sufficient for the purpose. Where your calling is more open to criticism is when you pry into the secrets of private individuals, when you rake up family matters which are better hidden, and when you incidentally waste the time of men who are more busy than yourself. At the present moment, for example, I should be writing a treatise instead of conversing with you."

Dr. Leslie Armstrong.

"No doubt, doctor, and yet the conversation may prove more important than the treatise. Incidentally I may tell you that we are doing the reverse of what you very justly blame, and that we are endeavoring to prevent anything like public exposure of private matters which must necessarily follow when once the case is fairly in the hands of the official police. You may look upon me simply as an irregular pioneer, who goes in front of the regular forces of the country. I have come to ask you about Mr. Godfrey Staunton."

"What about him?"

"You know him, do you not?"

"He is an intimate friend of mine."

"You are aware that he has disappeared?"

"Ah, indeed!" There was no change of expression in the rugged features of the doctor.

"He left his hotel last night—he has not been heard of."

"No doubt he will return."

"Tomorrow is the varsity football match."

"I have no sympathy with these athletic games. The young man's fate interests me deeply, since I know him and like him. The football match does not come within my horizon at all."

"I claim your sympathy, then, in my investigation of Mr. Staunton's fate. Do you know where he is?"

"Certainly not."

"You have not seen him since yesterday?"

"No, I have not."

"Was Mr. Staunton a healthy man?"

"Absolutely."

"Did you ever know him ill?"

"Never."

Holmes popped a sheet of paper before the doctor's eyes. "Then perhaps you will explain this receipted bill for 18 guineas paid by Mr. Godfrey Staunton last month to Dr. Leslie Armstrong of Cambridge. I picked it out from among the papers upon his desk."

The doctor flushed with anger.

"I do not feel that there is any reason why I should render an explanation to you, Mr. Holmes."

Holmes replaced the bill in his notebook. "If you prefer a public explanation, it must come sooner or later," said he. "I have already told you that I can hush up that which others will be bound to publish, and you would really be wiser to take me into your complete confidence."

"I know nothing about it."

"Did you hear from Mr. Staunton in London?"

"Certainly not."

"Dear me, dear me—the postoffice again!" Holmes sighed wearily. "A most urgent telegram was dispatched to you from London by Godfrey Staunton at 6:15 yesterday evening—a telegram which is undoubtedly associated with his disappearance—and yet you have not had it. It is most culpable. I shall certainly go down to the office here and register a complaint."

Dr. Leslie Armstrong sprang up from behind his desk, and his dark face was crimson with fury.

"I'll trouble you to walk out of my house, sir," said he. "You can tell your employer, Lord Mount-James, that I do not wish to have anything to do either with him or with his agents. No, sir—not another word!" He rang the bell furiously. "John, show these gentlemen out." A pompous butler ushered us severely to the door, and we found ourselves in the street. Holmes burst out laughing.

"Dr. Leslie Armstrong is certainly a man of energy and character," said he. "I have not seen a man who, if he turns his talents that way, was more calculated to fill the gap left by the illustrious Moriarty. And now, my poor Watson, here we are, stranded and friendless in this inhospitable town, which we cannot leave without abandoning our case. This little inn just opposite Armstrong's house is singularly adapted to our needs. If you would engage a front room and purchase the necessaries for the night, I may have time to make a few inquiries."

These few inquiries proved, however, to be a more lengthy proceeding than Holmes had imagined, for he did not return to the inn until nearly 9 o'clock. He was pale and dejected, stained with dust, and exhausted with hunger and fatigue. A cold supper was ready upon the table, and when his needs were satisfied and his pipe alight he was ready to take that half comic and wholly philosophic view which was natural to him when his affairs were going awry. The sound of carriage wheels caused him to rise and glance out of the window. A brougham and pair of grays stood before the doctor's door.

"It's been out three hours," said Holmes. "Started at 6:30, and here it is back again. That gives a radius of ten or twelve miles, and he does it once or sometimes twice a day."

"No unusual thing for a doctor in practice."

"But Armstrong is not really a doctor in practice. He is a lecturer and a consultant, but he does not care for general practice, which distracts him from his literary work. Why, then, does he make these long journeys, which must be exceedingly irksome to him, and who is it that he visits?"

"His coachman"—

"My dear Watson, can you doubt that it was to him that I first applied? I do not know whether it came from his own innate depravity or from the promptings of his master, but he was rude enough to set a dog at me. Neither dog nor man liked the look of my stick, however, and the matter fell through. All that I have learned I got from a friendly native in the yard of our own inn. It was he who told me of the doctor's habits and of his daily journey. At that instant, to give point to his words, the carriage came round to the door."

"Could you not follow it?"

"Excellent, Watson! You are scintillating this evening. The idea did cross my mind. There is, as you may have observed, a bicycle shop next to our inn. Into this I rushed, engaged a bicycle and was able to get started before the carriage was quite out of sight. I rapidly overtook it, and then, keeping at a discreet distance of a hundred yards or so, I followed its lights until we were clear of the town. We had got well out on the country road when a somewhat mortifying incident occurred. The carriage stopped, the doctor alighted, walked briskly back to where I had halted and told me in an excellent sardonic fashion that he feared the road was narrow and that he hoped his carriage did not impede the passage of my bicycle. Nothing could have been more admirable than his way of putting it. I at once rode past his carriage, and, keeping to the main road, I went on for a few miles and then halted in a convenient place to see if the carriage passed. There was no sign of it, however, and so it became evident that it had turned down one of several side roads which I had observed. I rode back, but again saw nothing of the carriage, and now, as you perceive, it has returned after me. Of course I had at the outset no particular reason to connect these journeys with the disappearance of Godfrey Staunton and was only inclined to investigate them on the general grounds that everything which concerns Dr. Armstrong is at present of interest to us, but now that I find he keeps so keen a lookout upon any one who may follow him on these excursions the affair appears more important, and I shall not be satisfied until I have made the matter clear."

"We can follow him tomorrow."

"Can we? It is not so easy as you seem to think. You are not familiar with Cambridgeshire, are you? It does not lend itself to concealment. All this country that I passed over tonight is as flat as the palm of your hand, and the man we are following is so fool as he very clearly showed tonight. I have wired to Overton to let us know any fresh London developments at this address, and in the meantime we can only concentrate our attention upon Dr. Armstrong, whose name the obliging young lady at the office allowed me to read upon the counterfoil of Staunton's urgent message. He knows where the young man is—to that I'll swear—and if he knows, then it must be our own fault if we cannot manage to know also. At present it must be admitted that the odd trick is in his possession, and, as you are aware, Watson, it is not my habit to leave the game in that condition."

And yet the next day brought us no nearer to the solution of the mystery. A note was handed in after breakfast which Holmes passed across to me with a smile. It ran as follows:

Sir—I can assure you that you are wasting your time in dogging my movements. I have, as you discovered last night, a window at the back of my brougham, and if you desire a twenty mile ride which will lead you to the spot from which you started you have only to follow me. Meanwhile I can inform you that no espionage upon me can in any way help Mr. Godfrey Staunton, and I am convinced that the best service you can do to that gentleman is to return at once to London and to report to your employer that you are unable to trace him. Your time in Cambridge will certainly be wasted.

Yours faithfully,

LESLIE ARMSTRONG.

"An outspoken, honest antagonist is the doctor," said Holmes. "Well, well, he excites my curiosity, and I must really know before I leave him."

"His carriage is at his door now," said I. "There he is stepping into it. I saw him glance up at our window as he did so. Suppose I try my luck upon the bicycle?"

"No, no, my dear Watson! With all respect for your natural acumen, I do not think that you are quite a match for the worthy doctor. I think that possibly I can attain our end by some independent explorations of my own. I am afraid that I must leave you to your own devices, as the appearance of two inquiring strangers upon a sleepy countryside might excite more gossip than I care for. I hope to bring back a more favorable report to you before evening."

Once more, however, my friend was destined to be disappointed. He came back at night weary and unsuccessful.

"I have had a blank day, Watson. Having got the doctor's general direction, I spent the day in visiting all the

All Household Roads Lead to Kitchen Work

NINE-TENTHS of kitchen labor and worry is caused by ill-working cook stoves and ranges; by ranges that draw poorly; that have such complicated drafts that only a skilled mechanic can manage them; whose grates are so constructed that it is a strong man's work to shake them down; ranges which work well when the wind is in a certain direction, but act like a fiend at other times; ranges whose work is so unreliable that the housekeeper is in a constant nerve-racking worry lest the meals be late or the baking spoiled.

The Pandora range is built to make work easy, a child can shake it down; its drafts are so simple that one learns them in a minute; its heat is kept in the range so effectively that you can do a big baking and hardly know there is a fire in it two feet away; it keeps the kitchen cool; it saves you worry; it saves you time and money; it saves you backaches and headaches, because it is so easy to manage and so reliable.

Good tea must be grown under proper conditions

Low, damp or swampy lands in a warm, humid climate produce tea of rank, rapid growth, coarse in texture, woody fibred, rudely flavored—makes a cup heavy, murky in color, rough-tasting—it is poor tea.

But the Indian and Ceylon teas used to make the Red Rose brand are grown on the high lands of India and the mountain sides of Ceylon.

These teas are grown in clear dry sunshine, they mature slowly, the leaves of the Ceylon teas are tender, delicate, finely flavored, but not strong.

The Indian teas thus grown are full bodied, richly flavored, smooth in texture, strong.

Such Indian and Ceylon teas combined in Red Rose Tea produce a cup of a rich rosy brown, strong and smooth—all the richness and strength of Indian, all the delicacy and fragrance of Ceylon teas—that "rich, fruity flavor" which belongs alone to Red Rose Tea—more qualities of tea excellence than any Indian or brand of Ceylon alone can possess.

Red Rose Tea is good Tea

vinages upon that side of Camoridge and comparing notes with publicans and other local news agencies. I have covered some ground. Chesterton, Histon, Waterbeach and Oakington have each been explored and have each proved disappointing. The daily appearance of a brougham and pair could hardly have been overlooked in such sleepy hollows. The doctor has scored once more. Is there a telegram for me?"

"Yes. I opened it. Here it is; 'Ask for Pompey from Jeremy Dixon, Trinity college.' I don't understand it."

"Oh, it is clear enough. It is from our friend Overton and is in answer to a question from me. I'll just send round a note to Mr. Jeremy Dixon, and then I have no doubt that our luck will turn. By the way, is there any news of the match?"

"Yes, the local evening paper has an excellent account in its last edition. Oxford won by a goal and two tries. The last sentences of the description say: 'The defeat of the Light Blues may be entirely attributed to the unfortunate absence of the crack international, Godfrey Staunton, whose want was felt at every instant of the game. The lack of combination in the three-quarter line and their weakness both in attack and defense more than neutralised the efforts of a heavy and hardworking pack.'"

"Then our friend Overton's forebodings have been justified," said Holmes. "Personally I am in agreement with Dr. Armstrong, and football does not come within my horizon. Early to bed tonight, Watson, for I foresee that tomorrow may be an eventful day."

I was horrified by my first glimpse of Holmes next morning, for he sat by the fire holding his tiny hypodermic syringe. I associated that instrument with the single weakness of his nature, and I feared the worst when I saw it glittering in his hand. He laughed at my expression of dismay and laid it upon the table.

"No, no, my dear fellow, there is no cause for alarm. It is not upon this occasion the instrument of evil, but it will rather prove to be the key which will unlock our mystery. On this syringe I base all my hopes. I have just returned from a small scouting expedition and everything is favorable. Eat a good breakfast, Watson, for I propose to get upon Dr. Armstrong's trail today, and once on it I will not stop for rest or food until I run him to his burrow."

"In that case," said I, "we had best carry our breakfast with us, for he is making an early start. His carriage is at the door."

"Never mind. Let him go. He will be clever if he can drive where I cannot follow him. When you have finished, come downstairs with me, and I will introduce you to a detective who is a very eminent specialist in the work that lies before us."

When we descended I followed Holmes into the stable yard, where he opened the door of a loose box and led out a squat, lop eared, white and tan dog, something between a beagle and a foxhound.

"Let me introduce you to Pompey," said he. "Pompey is the pride of the local draghounds—no very great flier, as his build will show, but a stanch hound on a scent. Well, Pompey, you may not be fast, but I expect you will be too fast for a couple of middle aged London gentlemen, so I will take the liberty of fastening this feather leash to your collar. Now, boy, come along and show what you can do." He led him across to the doctor's door. The dog sniffed round for an instant and then with a shrill whine of excitement started off down the street, tugging at his leash in his efforts to go faster. In half an hour we were clear of the town and hastening down a country road.

"What have you done, Holmes?" I asked.

"A threadbare and venerable device, but useful upon occasion. I walked into the doctor's yard this morning and shot my syringe full of aniseed over the hind wheel. A dragnound will follow aniseed from here to John o' Groat's, and our friend Armstrong would have to drive through the Cam before he would shake Pompey off his trail. Oh, the cunning rascal! This is how he gave me the slip the other night."

The dog had suddenly turned out of the road into a grass grown lane. Half a mile farther this opened into another broad road, and the trail turned hard to the right in the direction of the town which we had just quitted. The road took a sweep to the south of the town and continued in the opposite direction to that in which we had started.

"This detour has been entirely for our benefit, then?" said Holmes. "No wonder that my inquiries among those villages led to nothing. The doctor has certainly played the game for all it is worth, and one would like to know the reason for such elaborate deception. This should be the village of Trumpington to the right of us. And, by Jove, here is the brougham coming round the corner. Quick, Watson—quick, or we are done!"

He sprang through a gate into a field, dragging the reluctant Pompey after him. We had hardly got under the shelter of the hedge when the carriage rattled past. I caught a glimpse of Dr. Armstrong within, his shoulders bowed, his head sunk on his hands, the very image of distress. I could tell by my companion's graver face that he also had seen.

"I fear there is some dark ending to our quest," said he. "It cannot be long before we know it. Come, Pompey! Ah, it is the cottage in the field!"

There could be no doubt that we had reached the end of our journey. Pompey ran about and whined eagerly outside the gate, where the marks of the brougham's wheels were still to be seen. A footpath led across to the lonely cottage. Holmes tied the dog to the hedge, and we hastened onward. My friend knocked at the little rusty door and knocked again without response. And yet the cottage was not deserted, for a low sound came to our ears—a kind of drone of misery and despair which was indescribably melancholy. Holmes paused irresolute, and then he glanced back at the road which he had just traversed. A brougham was coming down it, and there could be no mistaking those gray horses.

"By Jove, the doctor is coming back!" cried Holmes. "That settles it. We are bound to see what it means before he comes."

He opened the door, and we stepped into the hall. The droning sound swelled louder upon our ears until it became one long, deep wall of distress. It came from upstairs. Holmes darted up, and I followed him. He pushed open a half closed door, and we both stood appalled at the sight before us.

A woman, young and beautiful, was lying dead upon the bed. Her calm, pale face, with dim, wide opened blue eyes, looked upward from amid a great tangle of golden hair. At the foot of the bed, half sitting, half kneeling, his face buried in the clothes, was a young man, whose frame was racked by his sobs. So absorbed was he by his bitter grief that he never looked up until Holmes' hand was on his shoulder.

"Are you Mr. Godfrey Staunton?"

"Yes, yes, I am—but you are too late. She is dead."

The man was so dazed that he could not be made to understand that we were anything but doctors who had been sent to his assistance. Holmes was endeavoring to utter a few words of consolation and to explain the alarm which had been caused to his friends by his sudden disappearance when there was a step upon the stairs, and there was the heavy, stern, questioning face of Dr. Armstrong at the door.

"So, gentlemen," said he, "you have attained your end and have certainly chosen a particularly delicate moment for your intrusion. I would not brawl in the presence of death, but I can assure you that if I were a younger man your monstrous conduct would not pass with impunity."

"Excuse me, Dr. Armstrong, I think we are a little at cross purposes," said my friend, with dignity. "If you could step downstairs with us we may each be able to give some light to the other upon this miserable affair."

A minute later the grim doctor and ourselves were in the sitting room below.

"Well, sir?" said he.

"I wish you to understand, in the first place, that I am not employed by Lord Mount-James and that my sympathies in this matter are entirely against that nobleman. When a man is lost it is my duty to ascertain his fate, but having done so the matter ends so far as I am concerned, and so long as there is nothing criminal I am much more anxious to hush up private scandals than to give them publicity. If, as I imagine, there is no breach of the law in this matter, you can absolutely depend upon my discretion and my co-operation in keeping the facts out of the papers."

"You are a good fellow," said he. "I had misjudged you. I thank heaven that my compunction at leaving poor Staunton all alone in this plight caused me to turn my carriage back and so to make your acquaintance. Knowing as much as you do, the situation is very easily explained. A year ago Godfrey Staunton lodged in London for a time and became passionately attached to his landlady's daughter, whom he married. She was as good as she was beautiful and as intelligent as she was good. No man need be ashamed of such a wife. But Godfrey was the heir to this crabbed old nobleman, and it was quite certain that the news of his marriage would have been the end of his inheritance. I knew the lad well, and I loved him for his many excellent qualities. We did our very best to keep the thing from every one, for when once such a whisper gets about it is not long before every one has heard it. Thanks to this lonely cottage and his own discretion, Godfrey has up to now succeeded. Their secret was known to no one save to me and to one excellent servant, who has at present gone for assistance to Trumpington. But at last there came a terrible blow in the shape of dangerous illness to his wife. It was consumption of the most virulent kind. The poor boy was half crazed with grief, and yet he had to go to London to play this match, for he could not get out of it without explanations which would expose his secret. I tried to cheer him up by wire, and he sent me one in reply imploring me to do all I could. This was the telegram which you appear in some inexplicable way to have seen. I did not tell him how urgent the danger was, for I knew that he could do no good here, but I sent the truth to the girl's father, and he very injudiciously communicated it to Godfrey. The result was that he came straight away in a state bordering on frenzy and has remained in the same state, kneeling at the end of her bed, until this morning death put an end to her sufferings. That is all, Mr. Holmes, and I am sure that I can rely upon your discretion and that of your friend."

Holmes grasped the doctor's hand.

"Come, Watson," said he, and we passed from that house of grief into the pale sunlight of the wintry day.

BOOZE OR MEDICINE?

Which will you have? If a woman suffering from one of the delicate ailments peculiar to your sex it will be well for you to know that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only remedy advertised for such maladies which is absolutely free from intoxicating liquors and all other harmful agents. The good you feel from its use is not the delusive exhilaration from a tippling beverage, from which the system reacts into a worse condition than before. It may be a little slower in manifesting its bracing and invigorating action, but its benefits are more the less positive and, best of all, they are lasting. It's an honest medicine—not a beverage.

"I have been taking your medicine for the last three weeks and can say I am gaining strength," writes Mrs. Benedict Khany, of 33 East Madison Street, Mount Pleasant, Iowa. "I have been having very poor health all winter. I doctored with our family doctor but was relieved only while taking the medicine. I took Dr. Pierce's medicine several years ago. I knew it was good for any one suffering with female trouble. Have taken only one bottle and am gaining strength very fast. I could not eat nor sleep when I began taking the 'Favorite Prescription.' Heart troubled me and I had cold and numb spells till my heart would almost stop beating. Have had one child since first taking your medicine. If I continue with your treatment am positive I will be cured."

Every suffering woman in this land should write to Dr. Pierce and learn how certainly he can help her to health and strength. It does nothing to write and receive entirely free the advice of one of the most experienced physicians in the country. His great thousand-page book the Common Sense Medical Adviser, in stiff paper covers, will be sent free for 21 one-cent stamps the bare cost of mailing; or, send 50 stamps for cloth bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. These ORIGINAL Little Liver pills, first put up by Old Dr. R. V. Pierce over 40 years ago, have been much imitated but never equaled. They're made of purely vegetable, concentrated and refined medicinal principles, extracted from native American roots and plants. They speedily relieve and cure dull, torpid and deranged Stomachs, Livers and Bowels and their attendant distressful ailments. One or two a laxative, three or four a cathartic.

Don't allow the dealer to insult your intelligence by offering his own remedy to you instead of this well-known preparation of Dr. Pierce.

A MODERN MEDICINE.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cure Disease Through the Blood.

Medicines of the old fashioned kind will sometimes relieve the symptoms of disease, though they can never touch the disease itself—they never cure. Ordinary medicines leave behind them indigestion, constipation, biliousness and headache; purgatives leave the patient feverish and weakened. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, on the other hand, do direct good to the body, blood and nerves. They fill the veins with new, rich, red blood; they brace the nerves; they drive out disease by going right to the root of the trouble in the blood. They always do good—they cannot possibly do harm. Mrs. Geo. Henley, Bexgrove, Ont., says:—"It is with thanks that I tell you that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured me after my doctor had said I could not be cured. I suffered from an almost constant fluttering of the heart, and sometimes severe pains. The least exertion would leave me breathless and tired out. My appetite was poor, and my head ached nearly all the time. I had lost all ambition to do any work, and felt very hopeless. I had taken a great deal of medicine without any benefit, until I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These have made a remarkable change in my condition, and I am feeling better than I have done for years. I gladly give my experience in the hope that it will benefit others."

Now Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up strength as they did in Mrs. Henley's case in just one way—they actually make new blood. That is all they do, but they do it well. They don't act on the bowels, they don't bother with mere symptoms. They go right to the root of the trouble in the blood. That is why these pills cure anaemia, headache, heart palpitation, indigestion, kidney trouble, rheumatism, lumbago, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, paralysis, general weakness and the special ailments of growing girls and women. But you must have the genuine with the full name Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"Excuse me, Dr. Armstrong, I think we are a little at cross purposes," said my friend, with dignity. "If you could step downstairs with us we may each be able to give some light to the other upon this miserable affair."

A minute later the grim doctor and ourselves were in the sitting room below.

"Well, sir?" said he.

"I wish you to understand, in the first place, that I am not employed by Lord Mount-James and that my sympathies in this matter are entirely against that nobleman. When a man is lost it is my duty to ascertain his fate, but having done so the matter ends so far as I am concerned, and so long as there is nothing criminal I am much more anxious to hush up private scandals than to give them publicity. If, as I imagine, there is no breach of the law in this matter, you can absolutely depend upon my discretion and my co-operation in keeping the facts out of the papers."

"You are a good fellow," said he. "I had misjudged you. I thank heaven that my compunction at leaving poor Staunton all alone in this plight caused me to turn my carriage back and so to make your acquaintance. Knowing as much as you do, the situation is very easily explained. A year ago Godfrey Staunton lodged in London for a time and became passionately attached to his landlady's daughter, whom he married. She was as good as she was beautiful and as intelligent as she was good. No man need be ashamed of such a wife. But Godfrey was the heir to this crabbed old nobleman, and it was quite certain that the news of his marriage would have been the end of his inheritance. I knew the lad well, and I loved him for his many excellent qualities. We did our very best to keep the thing from every one, for when once such a whisper gets about it is not long before every one has heard it. Thanks to this lonely cottage and his own discretion, Godfrey has up to now succeeded. Their secret was known to no one save to me and to one excellent servant, who has at present gone for assistance to Trumpington. But at last there came a terrible blow in the shape of dangerous illness to his wife. It was consumption of the most virulent kind. PEACH CROP WILL BE LARGE

Early Peaches Marketed In Large Quantities.

Monster Crop in Niagara District Assured This Season.

St. Catharines, Aug. 17.—Already early peaches are coming in on the local market in large quantities, and to-day the price is down to 25 cents a medium-sized basket. Dealers say that peaches will be cheaper than apples this year, because there are a great many more of them. From all indications the peach crop in the Niagara peninsula will be a monster one this year, and peaches will make up for scarcity in apples and other fruits. Owing to apple trees being so susceptible to the San Jose scale, growers in the Niagara district are cutting out their apple orchards, and planting peach trees in their stead.

THIS MESSAGE IS FOR WOMEN

Dame Bradette Cured of All Her Pains by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Suffered for Years Before She Found Quick Relief in the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

St. Rose du Degele, Temiscouta Co., Quebec, Aug. 18.—(Special).—Suffering women all over Canada will read with feelings of interest and relief the experience of Dame Amedee Bradette, of this place.

"It gives me pleasure to be able to tell," says Dame Bradette, "that I am cured of all the ills I suffered for a number of years. I found in Dodd's Kidney Pills quick relief from all my pains. I only had to take one box to bring back my health, and in five months I have had no return of my trouble."

Those troubles known only to women always spring from disordered Kidneys. The female organs are entirely dependent on the Kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills never fail to cure the Kidneys. That is why they always bring health, strength and cheerfulness to weak, run-down, suffering women.

COZY CORNERS.

Some Hints That Will Aid In Producing Pleasing Results.

There is no sense in any arrangement of crossed spears or imitation shields or Japanese lanterns, however pretty in themselves, in the modern living room.

But there are a hundred devices for rendering the four angles of a room attractive. A low, well filled bookcase may be set straight with one side of a wall and at right angles to it and slightly turned toward the shelves a low, easy chair and a footstool. What more enticing corner for a student?

A handsome old heirloom desk or a piano placed cornerwise has a good effect. Let the walls above be arranged with a special eye to fitness—pictures and casts, a narrow shelf high up and holding a graceful vase, or, in case of the piano, back of it may be stood a tall, slender stand crowned with a pot of growing ferns or a spikey palm.

An oblong mirror hung endwise (and if this happens to be an antique the success of the corner is assured) at a greater or less distance from the floor, according to the height of the ceiling, is an excellent corner effect, provided it reflects some pleasing object in the opposite corner. A shelf a few inches below it, filled with growing plants and a bowl or two of cut flowers, has its beauty doubled by reflection.

One of the most charming of cosy corners, whose restfulness will always remain in my memory, was a simple arrangement of large floor pillows and bear them a tabouret, on which lay the newest magazines, with their leaves freshly cut.—Boston Cooking Magazine.

WORKBAG APRON.

A Combination That Will Commend Itself to Busy Women.

Haven't you always wanted something to put your work away in and something to spread over your lap while sewing? If so, a workbag apron is the proper article, and in its very simplicity lies its charm.

Make a square of Persian lawn twenty-four inches when finished, trimmed with tucks and lace around the edges. From the middle of each side make a diagonal square of beading. Cut six yards of ribbon into four lengths and run them through the beading, leaving it very loose on three sides and drawing it quite tight on the fourth to give a little fullness at the waist line of the apron. Make hard knots at all four corners and then tie double bowknots. By lifting these bows you can draw it up into a bag. But if you untie the bows, not the hard knots, at the ends of the shirred side you have four long ribbons to tie about the waist. While sewing you have on what appears to be an ordinary apron with a pointed bib. When you stop you pile all your things into your lap, untie the ribbons about your waist, retie the bowknots, take hold of all four bows and draw it up into a bag.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A Couple of Little Prayers.

"Please, God, bless my dear papa and mamma, Aunt Annie, Gloomy Gus, and Happy Hooligan. Amen."

This was the prayer of my 4-year-old boy last night. If that is unsuitable for the Book of Common Prayer, I think the following from a 4-year-old is not:

"Bless everybody in every city and every world; everybody I know and everybody I don't know. Amen."

CAPT. GRAHAM'S GRATITUDE

Suffered from Sores on Face and Back—Doctors Took His Money But Did No Good—Skin Now Looks Clear as a Baby's.

ANOTHER CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

Captain W. S. Graham, 1321 Eoff St., Wheeling, W. Va., says: "I am so grateful I thank God that a friend recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I suffered for a long time with sores on my face and back. Some doctors said I had blood poison, and others that I had barbers' itch. None of them did me any good, but they all took my money. My friends tell me my skin now looks as clear as a baby's, and I tell them all that Cuticura Soap and Ointment did it."

STILL ANOTHER CURE

Neck Covered With Sores, Hair Fell Out, Wild With Itching

Mr. H. J. Spalding of 104 W. 129th St., New York City, says: "For two years my neck was covered with sores, the disease spreading to my hair, which fell out, leaving an unsightly bald spot, and the sores, inflammation, and merciless itching made me wild. After a few applications of Cuticura the torment subsided, the sores disappeared, and my hair grew thick and healthy as ever."

AND STILL ANOTHER

"For over thirty years I suffered from painful ulcers and an eruption from my knees to my feet, and could find neither doctors nor medicines to help me, until I took Cuticura which cured me in six months. (signed) M. C. Moss, Gainesville, Tex."

A CANADIAN DANDY.

Sad Result of Comedian Arthur Roberts' Tendency to Joke.

The smartness and fashionableness of the stage and private dress of Mr. Arthur Roberts frequently brings the wearer of it such inquiries by post as one can imagine the writer of a man's fashion column is in the habit of receiving. In one of the musical pieces at the Prince of Wales' Theatre, the popular comedian, playing the part of a man very much about town, appeared in a frock suit make of a dark brown material, thinly striped with white, after the style of the summer lounge suit which was so fashionable, or general, a few years ago. This extraordinary get-up strongly took the fancy of a dressy Canadian "in front" one night, and he wrote to Mr. Arthur Roberts, asking him whether it represented the latest London fashion. He received an answer to the effect that it represented only a mild form of the newest thing in frock suits, the read article, such as those worn by the "smart set" of the West, having much broader stripes on it, and sleeves turned over at the cuffs with brown velvet!

A few weeks after providing this useful information Mr. Roberts was walking one afternoon along Bond street, when his attention was drawn to a little scene which induced him to make a quick and complete alteration in his course. A tall and well-proportioned man, with a very hungry expression in his eyes, was coming towards him attired in a coat somewhat resembling that of the sober, and behind him walked a party of small but critical boys, who were evidently engaged in making comments of an uncomplimentary character; while, to add to the poor man's embarrassment, the promenaders of the fashionable thoroughfare were staring at him in amused wonder as he passed them. "This is no place for me," said the comedian to himself, on beholding the tragic result of his joke, and he disappeared down a side turning with more than his usual alertness of step. In the evening he received a message from the Canadian, complaining that he had been down Bond street but had not seen the smallest confirmation of the fashion he had been induced to adopt, and asking for an explanation. It being the last night of the musical comedy in which he was playing, and his intended going, to leave London on the morrow for a rambling holiday, Mr. Arthur Roberts applied to the Canadian dandy's hotel that he would be well countenanced by striped frock suits if he went into Hyde Park in his on the following afternoon. Mr. Roberts has not heard what became of him there.—From M. A. P.

Canada's Railway Development.

The statistics of Canadian railway development, as compiled in last year's official report, show the importance of the transportation problem in a country of such great distances. According to this report, we have 18,986 miles of railway in operation and 29,978 miles of track laid. The mileage record by Provinces gives: Ontario 7,243, Quebec 3,492, New Brunswick, 1,445, Nova Scotia 1,050, Prince Edward Island 240, Northwest Territories and Yukon 2,054, Manitoba 3,228 and British Columbia 1,421. In 1867, the year of Confederation, the total mileage was only 2,987. Canada has 107 steam railways. Twenty-five of these have been amalgamated and form the Grand Trunk Railway System. The remaining 112 have been more or less consolidated. Three of these are bridge companies, with 4.4-9 miles of rail. The mileage record is led by the Canadian Pacific, with 7,417. Then follow the Grand Trunk, with 5,144.48; Intercolonial and Prince Edward Island, 1,819.86; other railways, 5,259.89; bridge and tunnel, 6.96. Of these roads, six, with an aggregate mileage of 881.53, are narrow gauge, and one, the Carillon & Grenville (thirteen miles long), is broad gauge, the measurement being five feet six inches.

This record strikingly shows the rapidity of our development.

The record of public aid is more striking than satisfactory. The Dominion has contributed at the rate of $3,349 per mile constructed; the Provincial Governments at the rate of $1,259 per total mileage constructed, and the municipalities at the rate of $158 per mile on total mileage. The amount of capital invested in Canadian railways June 30, 1902, was $1,346,550,259. The actual amount contributed by the Dominion was $177,672,448, by Ontario $9,442,578, Quebec $10,445,343, New Brunswick $6,542,930, Nova Scotia $2,000,001, Manitoba $1,276,276, and by British Columbia $37,500. Municipalities had contributed, up to June 30, 1902, $16,551,944. The train mileage made on Canadian roads in the year dealt with was 69,382,920. The earnings per mile for the same period were $5,059, and the expenses $3,254. The net income of Canadian railways for the year ending June 30, 1902, was $18,383,064. In that year they carried 22,148,742 passengers and 47,573,647 tons of freight, including 1,326,676 tons of flour, 5,761,792 tons of grain, 1,348,202 tons of live stock, 8,041,976 tons of lumber of all kinds, 2,083,297 tons of firewood, 7,906,388 tons of manufactured goods, and 13,966,691 tons of other freight.

The Late Principal Sinclair.

The funeral of the late Rev. John A. Sinclair, Principal of Regina Industrial School, which was recently held at the home of his aged parents, Scotch Corners, near Carleton Place, Ont., had Alfred Fitzpatrick of Whitby, a classmate of the deceased, present as the representative of the Senate and Alma Mater Society of Queen's University, of which institution Mr. Sinclair was a graduate. Mr. Fitzpatrick gave a brief address, reviewing the brilliant career of the departed, expressing the sympathy of the faculty, students and alumni of Queen's with the bereaved family and friends. Mr. Sinclair was a medalist in philosophy, and had partially completed the course for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. He had performed invaluable services for his church and country as a missionary in the Klondike, and as principal of one of our industrial schools had given a most important impetus to the cause of industrial education. He was not only a deep thinker, a profound student of industrial and social reforms, but he possessed a practical mechanical cast of mind, and invariably reduced his ideas to practice. Such men as he should be at the heads of our departments of education.

Good Casters on Ives' Brass Beds

The caster on a metal or brass bed is important. An imperfect caster is liable to injure carpets or rugs while on polished floors it always leaves marks.

Ives' Brass Beds have a double wheel, ball bearing caster. The double wheel divides the weight and its wide face does not mark the floor, while it turns so easily to the motion of the bed that it never injures carpets.

It is attention to important small things that makes Ives' beds the finest in America.

ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS GRANTED

County Council Will Give That for Dairymen's Convention.

Three Members Will Act on Committe to Secure Convention for This City in January.

On Saturday afternoon the County Council, in session as the Roads and Bridges Committee, gave consideration to the request of the Peterborough Cheese Board, in reference to the proposed convention of the Eastern Dairymen's Association, in Peterborough. The particular request was that the council appoint a committee to meet with representatives from the Cheese Board, and the City Council, to consider what action should be taken relative to securing the next convention for Peterborough. The deputation from the Cheese Board was composed of Messrs. Gillespie, Moulton and Fitzgerald, the latter representing the buyers, and they all addressed the members of the council, impressing upon them the great benefit to the local dairying industry which would follow the meeting of such a large number of dairymen in the city.

It was pointed out that it was desired to have the committee representing the three bodies mentioned, go to Toronto at the time of the Executive meeting of the Eastern Dairymen's Association, when the next place of meeting will be decided upon. The meeting will be held on September 5th, and the following gentlemen were appointed to represent the county: Messrs. Buck, Webster and Moloney.

It was also unanimously agreed that in case the committee is successful in securing the next convention of the Association in Peterborough, the county would contribute $100 towards the expense in connection with the convention.

COUNTY COUNCIL TO INSPECT WORK

Piers of the New Indian River Bridge to Be Examined.

Tenders for the Superstructure Will be Called for in a Few Days.

A meeting of the County Council, arranged by the Road and Bridge Committee, was held on Saturday afternoon in the County Buildings to report on the condition of the work on the new Indian River Bridge to the Council. It was learned that the piers had been almost completed and the question of the construction of the superstructure was considered, and it was decided that the Committee and the County Engineer should visit the bridge and inspect the work already completed, and arrange details in connection with the completion of the bridge. The tour of inspection will be made on Friday and it is expected that after the plans and specifications, which will be considered then, have been decided on, tenders will be called for the erection of the superstructure.

The contractors are said to have made a satisfactory job of the piers, and the bridge, when it has been completed, will be a credit to the county.

THE ANGLERS' ANNUAL OUTING

C. G. E. Angling Club Excursion to Jubilee Point a Success.

A Delightful Sail Down the Otonabee River Was Enjoyed on Saturday.

The C. G. E. Angling Club held their 4th annual excursion Saturday afternoon to Jubilee Point, Rice Lake. The day was an ideal one in every respect. About 300 boarded the staunch steamer City of Peterborough, which left the wharf at 2 o'clock. After a delightful sail, Jubilee was reached in quick time. Mine Host Gibson had the tables loaded with everything to satisfy the wants of the inner man. After supper football and dancing were indulged in until after 6.30, when the boat was again boarded for home. Prof. Kanesvitchski's orchestra discoursed sweet music to those who wished to trip the light fantastic. Quite a number enjoyed themselves with singing, quite a number of artists being on board, which helped to make the excursion one of the best in the annals of the Angling Club. A great deal of interest was taken in a dancing contest, in which however the participants did not wish their names disclosed. The contest was a very close one, and was declared a tie.

Peterborough was reached in good time, everyone feeling that they had had "the time of their lives." After singing the National Anthem, and three cheers and a tiger being given to the crew for their courtesy, all dispersed to their home.

Events Amply Justify Government Railway

Brisk Passenger and Freight Traffic on Temiskaming and Northern Railway—Probabilities of Increase—Important Mineral Developments—Opulent Combination of Economic Ores—Prosperity of Settlers—A Hopeful Outlook—Activity of Mining Operation.

A special correspondent of the Globe deals in an interesting manner with the report of his observations of the conditions and resources of that portion of New Ontario brought into prominence and development by the completion of the Government railway, conceived and constructed by the late Ross Government, and with the important development of agricultural, natural and commercial resources, made possible only by the existence and operation of the Government railway. The following extracts will be read with interest as dealing with a country which a few years ago was a lonely wilderness.

Traffic on Government Railway.

The traveller is struck with the business being done by the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway. When passenger trains of five or more coaches, including a Pullman or two, steam from North Bay, or when long freights wind through the northern forests, the need of such a line is manifest. The rolling stock is of good quality, the roadbed will be of the best when the ballasting is completed, and the stations are architectural models of neatness. The line appears to be well managed, too, and it must be a source of satisfaction to the people of Ontario to know that it is already doing a paying business.

Thirty miles of rails have been laid, by a wonderful track-laying machine, North of Liskeard, to Tomstown, completing 150 miles in all. Some very heavy construction work has been done on this latter section, and a bridge over six hundred feet long and a hundred feet high spans the White River Valley. Before we realize it, through trains for the Pacific Coast will be running over the Government line, making connection with the Grand Trunk Pacific yet farther north. Beyond lies Ontario's greatest inland body of water, in James Bay, where the terminus of the "T. & N. O." may yet be found.

A Law-abiding Mining Town.

The liviest station along the line is Cobalt—the brand-newest town in Ontario, if not in Canada. A barren area of rock-knobs around a tiny lake a few months ago, to-day it is a centre of keen life and keener business. A dozen general stores, clad in tar paper suits, offer a really astonishing line of goods. The latest of the twelve started only a week ago, and from the first day has done a daily cash business of $40 and upwards. There are, too, other signs of civilization, in barber shops, and restaurants, log shacks, assay offices, laundries, poolrooms, but happily no saloons. As a result, Cobalt is a model, law-abiding town. "Beyond a petty theft, I have not heard of a single infraction of the law," remarked a pioneer resident—of three months' standing. Cobalt has as yet no newspaper of its own, but one need not be surprised to hear at any time that Editor Farr, of Haileybury, is meeting the need. Foundations for thirty houses are awaiting their superstructures. Cobalt is rich in music. Gramaphones are as numerous as mines, and metallic echoes of Sousa's marches emanate from the most incongruous places. The Oblate Fathers have completed a church structure, and will shortly open a school for forty children — Protestant and Catholic—who help to make up the miscellaneous population of many hundred souls.

A special correspondent of the Globe Here, in a limited area, have been found the most unusual combinations of metals, and nearly five hundred licenses have thus far been issued to prospectors. These hopeful gentlemen pop in and out of the woods at every turn, bearing uncomplainingly their heavy flour-sack packs, and if their numbers increase they will be tumbling over each other as they search for the pink bloom of cobalt, the chunks of native silver or the glittering nickel-bearing ore. From all parts of the continent they have come, attracted by the lure of the hidden metal. While the prospectors are thus searching for wealth, the casual visitor to the embryo city has his sport in prospecting for prospectors.

A rocky but circumscribed space forms Cobalt's open-air mining exchange, with meetings held after supper every evening. There it is the tenderfoot may shake hands with the truthful miner. Yarns taller than the tallest trees that look down on the strange scene are there spun; fabulous sums and rich claims change hands—by word of mouth. Excitement runs high, and few there be who escape the infection of the mining fever.

Prosperous Settlers.

But there are other bases of wealth in New Ontario than minerals. Ore deposits have been known to pinch out; pinching out their owners at the same time. Once thriving mining towns have become deserted, but the settler, with his clearing and his miniature field of grain, may after all be regarded as the real foundation builder of New Ontario. So I thought after a boat ride of forty miles up the Blanche, or White River to Tomstown. Both banks of the stream show a succession of homesteads that tell their own story of pioneer prosperity. Rarely have I seen richer soil, or more promising crops of hay, oats, peas and roots. True, here and there is a deserted clearing or an abandoned log house but they only accentuate the success that has come within the past five years to the plucky farmer frontiersmen.

As the boat meandered up the yellow stream the different stages of pioneering were revealed; the first slashing in the forest, the clearing and stumping processes, the initial field of grain springing from the virgin soil that has been made ready for man's use through millenniums of time, the little log cabin, the two-storied frame house, the general store, the local sawmill, and, finally, school house and church. Thus this navigable waterway exhibits in itself an epitome of pioneering as suggestive as it is interesting. And as if to emphasize this advance of the white man ever northward, a birch bark canoe, filled with Indian paddlers, silently slips along a course once all their own.

The Mississaguas Will Prosecute All Trespassers

The Mississagua Indians are having notices posted at Rice Lake to the effect that in accordance with an order passed by the Indian Department, no one except members of the Rice Lake, Mud Lake or Mongog Lake bands of Indians will be allowed to gather wild rice on Rice Lake, this privilege having been given to these three bands because of the fact that they were the original residents of that section, and as such, have the sole right to gather the rice.

Anyone found disobeying this order will be prosecuted.

Highly Successful Results of Separate School Examinations

In the columns of the Toronto News and other papers there has been much favourable comment in relation to the gratifying success of pupils of the separate schools at the Entrance examinations. In justification of this commendation, reference may be made more specifically to the record of some of the separate schools of Ottawa, reports of which have come into the possession of the Examiner. These relate to the record of the achievement of three girls' schools, taught by the Gray Sisters of the Grese.

St. Patrick's Girls' School prepared 37 pupils for the examination, and up 37 pupils for the examination, and 36 passed, 21 taking honours (70 per cent. or over); Our Lady's School prepared and sent up nine, and all passed, seven taking honours; St. Joseph's Girls' School prepared and sent up 15 candidates; all passed, and 11 took honours. The 60 successful candidates made an average of 74 per cent. each on the value of the examination papers. These extremely satisfactory results were reached without any special attempt to make an unusual showing this year; all the candidates who could be prepared passed from these schools a year ago. The results noted above indicate the most successful attempt to cope with the Entrance examination papers, on a moderately large scale, which has ever come under the observation of educational experts in this Province.

—Thursday night last a Kingston gentleman sojourning at Pleasant Point received a message informing him of the illness of a relative, which made his prompt return imperative. Messrs. J. W. Barrington and W. D. Stoneshone — the latter also from Toronto — undertook to row the gentleman to Lindsay next morning in time to catch the 7.20 train for the east, and they carried out their promise in fine style. They left Pleasant Point at 5.40 in a light lapstreak skiff pulling two oars, and reached the town wharf at 6.57, thus covering the 8 1-2 miles in 1 hour 117 minutes. Chemong and Stony Lake oarsmen should make a note of this.

WAS DROWNED NEAR BUFFALO

Mr. Martin Foley, of Douro, Met His Death There

Funeral Took Place Yesterday From St. Joseph's Church.

Yesterday afternoon at the Douro cemetery, the remains of the late Martin Foley, a young man who was drowned on Thursday last in Buffalo were laid at rest. The deceased was a nephew of Mr. J. Foley of Douro, and made his home in that township, though he had been working in Buffalo for some time.

On Thursday last he was working on a pile driver in Lake Erie, near Buffalo when, in some way, he was knocked off the machine into the lake, and before he could be rescued, he sank. His body was afterwards recovered and sent home to his uncle's, and yesterday, as stated, the funeral took place.

The deceased was born in Ireland 25 years ago, and at the time of his death was unmarried. He came to Canada six years ago, and lived with his uncle in Douro. The funeral was conducted by Rev. Father Keilty, and to-morrow morning a mass will be said in his memory at St. Joseph's church.

SUDDEN DEATH IN DOURO SUNDAY

Mrs. Michael O'Brien Died While Sitting in a Chair.

Her Husband is Now Lying Ill at St Joseph's Hospital.

A very sudden death occurred yesterday in Douro township, when Mrs. Michael O'Brien expired while sitting in her chair, the cause of her death being heart failure. The deceased, who was forty years of age, and who had lived three miles east of the post office, had been ailing for some time, but her death was totally unexpected. She was as well yesterday that she was able to sit up in a chair, and she was in this position when she expired.

A particularly distressing feature of the affair is the fact that her husband was brought to St. Joseph's Hospital about two weeks ago suffering from nervous prostration.

The deceased was a daughter of Mr. Michael Boland of Douro, and she has one sister, Mrs. John Farrie of Buffalo; a brother, Mr. Edward Boland, also survives her. Her mother predeceased her. Two half-sisters, Mrs. Stephen Grisdale, of Douro, and Mrs. James Carr, also of that township, are living.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday at 9 o'clock from St. Joseph's church, to the Douro cemetery.

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

"A Wheelman" devotes half a page of letter paper to a typewritten protest against the "headlight nuisance". This matter has already been referred to in these columns and it is up to the Railway management to do something in reference to it. The letter follows:—

Editor of the Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I wish to avail myself of your excellent method for making suggestions, and I would like to draw attention to the headlight nuisance of our street cars, and would suggest that some remedy be adopted. I have seen attention called to this matter through the medium of your valuable paper, and wonder why the management has not taken steps to rectify the difficulty. In other respects they seem anxious to consider the people's wishes and why not in this? I am sure, Mr. Editor, that if you were to drive, or ride a wheel, from Simcoe street to Perry street and return, in the evening, you would admit with me that the trouble should be remedied, or I would willingly buy you a new hat. As a remedy why not apply a coat of red paint? Or could not a shade be made which would throw the light down on the track for say a distance of half a block, after the manner of a reading shade? At present when meeting a car you are blinded for a distance of 4 or 5 blocks, though the people on the sidewalk are not bothered by it. I might say that I had a collision the other evening. While riding my wheel down George street I met another wheelman who was coming up on the west side of the street. He did not see me because of the light shining in his eyes from a car on Charlotte street while I was similarly affected by a car coming up. I was thrown from my wheel, and had I been seriously hurt, I would have brought action, not only against the wheelman, but also against the Railway Company. If the rules of the road were always adhered to, the danger would not be so great. Hoping the matter will soon be remedied and thanking you, Mr. Editor, for valuable space afforded, I beg to remain

Very truly yours,
A WHEELMAN.

Editor of the Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I feel greatly impressed with the reasonableness of the Exhibition Directors in matters of Economy. I see they are using the same cotton signs that were up last year, with the dates very ingeniously changed to suit the occasion. I think we might all take a lesson in economy from this. The idea is real cute. I am going to commence by laying by my straw hat for use next summer.

Yours truly,
ECONOMY.

Editor of the Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I have been thinking it ever since Civic Holiday when I took a look over the Separate School Building now in course of construction, I noticed it was a compact good-looking and to all appearances solid structure of large size and capable of affording large accommodation for pupils and facilities for effective teaching. I learned that the contract cost is only $21,000.

Then it struck me that a building three times its size and costing three times as much — $63,000 would make a tolerably respectable Collegiate Institute building. Unfortunately our Separate School Board members have eyes a good deal larger than the people's purses. I invite ratepayers to look over the new Separate School building, to multiply its cost by three or even four and then that figure will fall short some $30,000 of the palatial figure of our mint-minded members of the School Board.

Mutiny on a Ship.

Port Arthur, Aug. 21.—The steamer Gordon owned by the Thunder Bay Harbor Improvement Co., was partly burned Saturday morning, at a loss of $5,000, covered by insurance. Three men sleeping on board had a narrow escape from being burned alive. The fire had reached the state rooms when the men were awakened. The crew seem to think the fire was incendiary.

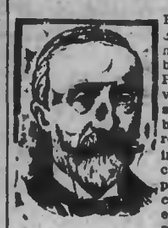
PRESIDENT'S CALL FOR BARON ROSEN

Second Russian Envoy Summoned by Roosevelt—Arbitration Suggested—President Roosevelt, Too, Urged That Russia Accept Japan's "Irreducible Minimum"—News From St. Petersburg and Tokio Not Reassuring—Meanwhile Japs Drive Russians Back in Corea.



BARON ROSEN.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 21.—The chances of peace have undoubtedly been improved by President Roosevelts action in stepping into the breach in a last heroic endeavor to induce the warring countries to compromise their "irreconcilable differences," but the result is still in suspense. The ultimate decision of the issue has defacto if not dejure, passed from the plenipotentiaries to their principals, from Portsmouth to St. Petersburg, and, perhaps, in a lesser extent to Tokio.

There is reason to believe that President Roosevelt was able at his interview Saturday with Baron de Rosen to practically communicate to M. Witte, Japan's irreducible minimum—what she would yield, but the point beyond which she would not go. Whether an actual basis of compromise was proposed by the President cannot be stated definitely. The only thing that can be affirmed positively is that if Russia refuses to act upon the suggestion or proposition of President Roosevelt the peace conference will end in failure.

Roosevelt Urges Surrender.

It is understood that the President urged Baron Rosen to accede to certain of the Japanese demands which the Russians have thus far refused to grant.

It is believed that he told the Ambassador very frankly that he thought the Russians would make a very grave mistake if they refused to pay the indemnity now asked by Japan, for the "pound of flesh" that would be exacted in the event of a failure of these negotiations would weigh a great deal more than sixteen ounces.

Cheered Him Up.

The conference, which was originally intended to last only half an hour, and which continued until almost 6 o'clock, was evidently quite agreeable to Baron Rosen, in spite of the plain talk which the President gave him.

In his visit to Sagamore Hill, Baron Rosen's mood underwent a complete change. When he arrived at the J. West Roosevelt dock at 4.15 o'clock, before meeting the President, he was in a very ill humor, and answered only in gruff monosyllables those questions put to him by the newspaper correspondents; but when he departed after his consultation with the executive he was in jovial spirits.

Suggests Arbitration.

The Associated Press is able to announce that the feature of the proposition of President Roosevelt, communicated through Baron Rosen to M. Witte and transmitted by the latter to Emperor Nicholas, was based on the principle of arbitration.

In Conference With Witte.

However, in the Russian camp little encouragement is given. Baron Rosen reached here after an all-night ride from Oyster Bay shortly before noon yesterday and immediately went into conference with M. Witte. They remained closeted together for almost three hours, during which the whole situation was reviewed. Baron de Rosen communicated to his chief the President's message, and it was transmitted to the Emperor, together with M. Witte's recommendation. No clue to the nature of his recommendation has transpired, but it can be stated that M. Witte, no matter how he personally may view the proposition, is distinctly pessimistic as to the character of the response which will come from St. Petersburg.

The Japanese as usual are reticent and quiet, and it is impossible to obtain from them the least indication of their view of the change in the situation produced by the President's action.

St. Petersburg Dogged.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 21.—Russia's official attitude regarding the final reply to be made to Japan on Tuesday is unchanged. The impression prevails as heretofore that only a great concession on the part of Japan on the question of indemnity and the cession of Sakhalin will make peace possible. The questions pertaining to the limitation of Russia's naval power and the surrender of her interned warships are considered here to be quite susceptible of satisfactory arrangement and not liabe to cause serious trouble. The final communication of the supreme deciding authority, Emperor Nicholas, conveying His Majesty's instructions as to the course which M. Witte shall pursue, beginning on Tuesday will be transmitted to Portsmouth through the Foreign Office probably to-night (Monday) or Tuesday morning. The signs are bad for a favorable decision.

Believe Rupture Inevitable.

Tokio, Aug. 21.—The Cabinet met at 11 o'clock yesterday at Premier Katsura's residence. It is understood that Premier Katsura presented an extended resume of the proceedings at Portsmouth and explained the deadlock on the questions. It is generally believed that a rupture of the conference is inevitable. When the Cabinet adjourned at 1 o'clock Premier Katsura drove to the palace and made a report to Emperor Mutsuhito. Later the Premier received Sir Claude MacDonald, to whom he granted an extended interview, presumably with relation to the crisis in the peace conference at Portsmouth. Following the call of the British Minister, the Premier conferred with Minister of War Terauchi, Minister of Marine Yamamoto and the Chinese Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs.

The Foreign Office yesterday announced that it was intended to adhere to the policy of secrecy until some conclusion had been reached.

Czar Never in Better Spirits.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 21.—The Emperor reviewed the Preobrajensky regiment Saturday in the park at Peterhof. Afterward the officers took luncheon at the palace. The Emperor drank a toast in honor of the regiment, the oldest in the Russian army. He made no allusion to current events. The members of the court say the Czar was never in better health of spirits than he is now.

Russians Abandon Their Advanced Works and Are Driven Back.

London, Aug. 21.—The Daily Telegraph's Tokio correspondent says that despite the heavy rains the Japanese have advanced in Northern Corea. The Russians abandoned their advanced works and were driven back.

After crossing the River Tumen, the Russians destroyed the bridges and there is now no sign of Russians south of the Tumen.

The Japanese army in Corea already has effected a certain communication with Field Marshal Oyama.

Death Summons Senator Wark After 101 Years of Life.

Fredericton, Aug. 21.—Senator Wark died yesterday morning at 8.40 o'clock, aged 101 years six months and one day. He was conscious to almost the last hour of his life, and passed away without pain. His last illness lasted only a week, and his pastor, Rev. Willard MacDonald, of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church was with him for some days before death. He leaves one daughter, Miss Helena Wark, at home.

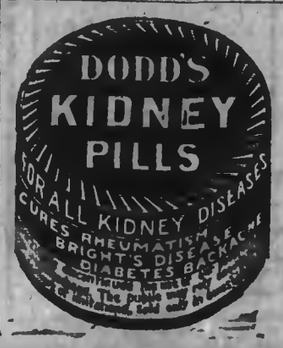
Senator Wark had no bodily ailment, and was entirely free from suffering all through his illness. His demeanor was bright and cheerful, and his mind apparently as active as ever. During last week he wrote several letters to friends by dictation, and chatted freely on current topics with members of his household. About 5 o'clock yesterday morning he took a serious turn, and his pastor and family physician were soon at the bedside in response to a message, and they remained with him until the end. A quarter of an hour before his death he tried to answer a question addressed to him by Dr. Crocket, but his words were inaudible. At 8.40 o'clock he passed away as peacefully as one falling asleep.

Woman Jumps into Lake.

Dunkirk, Aug. 21.—Mrs. Thomas J. Mayers, 34 years old, of King street, committed suicide Saturday morning by drowning. About 10 o'clock she appeared on the Central avenue dock and handing a small handbag to a boy, named Wick, said: handbag to a boy, named Wick, said: "I am going to jump in the lake." She sprang over the edges of the planking into the deep water. A small bottle nearly full of carbolic acid was found in the hand bag.

Stamping Out the Fever.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 21.—The yellow fever report to 6 p.m. yesterday: New cases 45, total case to date 1,385, deaths 4, total deaths 196, new foci 115, total foci 306, remaining under treatment 381. For several days the number of new cases has shown a decline, while the number of deaths have been remarkably lower, considering the number of cases reported a week ago.



KIDNEY TROUBLES

Increasing Among Women, But Sufferers Need Not Despair

THE BEST ADVICE IS FREE

Of all the diseases known, with which the female organism is afflicted, kidney disease is the most fatal, and statistics show that this disease is on the increase among women.

Unless early and correct treatment is applied the patient seldom survives when once the disease is fastened upon her. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most efficient treatment for kidney troubles of women, and is the only medicine especially prepared for this purpose.

When a woman is troubled with pain or weight in loins, backache, frequent, painful or scalding urination, swelling of limbs or feet, swelling under the eyes, an uneasy, tired feeling in the region of the kidneys or notices a brick-dust sediment in the urine, she should lose no time in commencing treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it may be the means of saving her life.

For proof, read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Sawyer.

"I cannot express the terrible suffering I had to endure. A derangement of the female organs developed nervous prostration and a serious kidney trouble. The doctor attended me for a year, but I kept getting worse, until I was unable to do anything, and I made up my mind I could not live. I finally decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a last resort, and I am to-day a well woman. I cannot praise it too highly, and I tell every suffering woman about my case." Mrs. Emma Sawyer, Conyers, Ga.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Eugene McNicholl who was drowned while trying to save another at Mud Lake, New Ontario, on Sunday, June 18th, 1905.

Dear friends I know no words of mine
Can soothe your aching hearts,
Or calm the grief you feel for him,
With whom you had to part;

But dry your tears and cease to mourn
For blessed we know are they,
Who in the springtime of their life
To Heaven are called away.

Oh, he has left this dreary world
And soared on spirit wings
Where angel songs thro' Heaven's bright court
In glorious strains do ring;

He led a good and Christian life
And did not fear to die,
And Heavenly spirits hovered near
To welcome him on high.

He was the sunshine of your home
Loved by all I know,
Alas, death's icy hand has come
And laid your dear one low;

But what a grand and noble death
Was that of your dear son,
In trying to save another's life
He freely gave his own.

His image is enshrined in love
Within his sisters' hearts,
For they have lost a brother dear
By touch of death's keen dart;

A mother, too, to whom he was
A comfort and a joy,
Is left behind to weep and mourn
For loss of her dear boy.

Yes, he has gone, but in lands more fair,
We hope to meet again,
No more shall sin beset his path
Nor grief, nor care, nor pain;

Enthroned on high, forever blessed
In bliss he reigns above,
With the angelic choirs ever more to dwell
In the Mansion of God's love.

And when you are about to leave
This weary world of care,
What joy to you will be the thought
That he awaits you there;

And a sweet voice to you will say,
As you pass to that bright sphere,
"Come mother, sister, brother, come.
Leave earth behind!
A home awaits you here!"

And think how when we Father
Around the Mighty Throne
He who gave His life for us
Will claim Eugene for His own;

Think how full of sad sweet wonder
Will those gracious tidings be,—
What thou did'st for another
(That I count as done to me."

Commissioner Recommends Walks Outside Tree Lines

The last annual report of the Commissioner of Highways for Ontario deals with a question which has caused some considerable discussion in Peterboirough, viz., whether it is advisable to lay the sidewalks inside outside the tree-line. A section of the report on Street Improvements says:—

It was formerly customary to lay plank sidewalks immediately beside the fence. Outside of this a row of trees was planted, outside the trees was an open drain, and, in the centre of the allowance the roadway for vehicles.

The more modern practice is to remove the sidewalk from its old position and place it outside the row of trees; high-board and other disfiguring styles of fences are removed, and the boulevard, where the sidewalk had been, in effect, added to the lawn. Walks when outside the trees are more effectively lighted from electric arc lamps suspended in the centre of the street, and the public are farther from the citizen's portico or verandah.

The narrowing of the roadway between the curbs reduces the cost of construction and maintenance, and widths of from 18 to 25 feet are found quite sufficient to accommodate traffic on the majority of residence streets, even in large cities. The narrow roadways give vehicles ample room to pass one another, while, to turn, it is always convenient for them to go to a street intersection, where there is sufficient space.

The Grain Traffic Will Soon Commence on River

The grain traffic upon the river, will, it is expected, commence in earnest within the next few weeks.

The steamer Water Lily will this week bring up a large consignment of peas from Gore's Landing, for Messrs. Hoodrey & Son. The wheat traffic will be extremely large this year. The Water Lily has been engaged in towing wood from both northern and southern points. A number of scow loads aggregating several hundred cords, have been towed from Deer Bay, while a large quantity has also been brought up from Hale's Bridge.

A SHOCKING AND FATAL ACCIDENT

Ludwig Miller Falls Into the Cylinder of a Thresher.

DEATH WAS INSTANTANEOUS

Victim of Grain Separator Was the Son of a Farmer of Logan Township—Arm Severed From His Body and His Skull Knocked Off—Fatality Occurred at a Neighbor's Bee —Other Accidents.

Stratford, Aug. 21.—On Friday evening, Ludwig Miller, a young man about 20 years of age, residing in Logan Township, about two miles from Mitchell, met with a terrible death by being drawn into a threshing machine, his arm having caught on the cylinder while feeding an armful of peas. His arm was severed from his body, and the top of his skull knocked off, death being, of course, instantaneous. The fatality occurred at a neighbor's, where the unfortunate young man was assisting in the threshing.

SKULL WAS FRACTURED.

James Palmer Struck by Train When Coming Home From Picnic.

Toronto Junction, Aug. 21.—The body of James Palmer, stonecutter, 51 1-2 St. David street, Toronto, was found lying in the ditch at the C. P. R. crossing on Dundas street, Lambton Mills, yesterday morning. The dead man's skull was fractured and his right arm was broken in two places. It was quite evident that he had been struck by a passing train, probably the 8.35 p. m. C. P. R. express from the west.

Dr. Emerson Bull examined the body, and had it removed to Cummings & Co.'s undertaking rooms at Toronto Junction.

A paper found in the dead man's pocket led to his identification. It appears he attended the annual picnic given by the Stonecutters' Union at Lambton Mills Saturday afternoon, and in starting for the street car to go home in the evening he took the road leading to Islington, instead of that leading to Toronto Junction, and reached the C. P. R. crossing just as the train came along. He leaves a widow and three children. Dr. Bull, coroner, did not deem an inquest necessary.

Grabbed a Live Wire.

Brantford, Aug. 21.—David McFadgean, a young man living in this city, had a narrow escape from being instantly electrocuted Saturday afternoon. The heavy rain broke an electric wire on Dalhousie street, which McFadgean grasped. He was knocked flat and taken up for dead. He may recover.

Winnipeg, Aug. 21.—The Lake of the Woods Milling Co. have received the first cars of new wheat graded good No. 1 Northern. Barley marketed is also of fine sample.

BROUGHT IN FIERCE GALE.

Three Fishermen of Bayfield in Pursuit of Calling Drown.

Goderich, Aug. 21.—On Saturday morning three fishermen named Ferguson, Wood and Bailey, all residents of Bayfield, 12 miles south of Goderich, while out raising their nets, were caught in a fierce southeast gale that suddenly sprung up and were blown before the gale out into Lake Huron.

Early yesterday morning Capt. Craigie started out with the fishing tug Evelyn to search the lake for them. Battle and Conlon, contractors, who are building the breakwater here, sent out their tug, the Edward Blake, and the Marlton Dredging Co. sent out the tug Huron.

During the afternoon a son of one of the men who was being searched for, arrived here, having walked along the lake shore from Bayfield, reported having picked up an oar and fish net box.

Last night Capt. William McCarthy of tug Edward Blake just reached Bayfield with the fishing boat in tow. The lost boat was picked up at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, five miles west of Bayfield.

It is now reported that the body of Ferguson has been found.

Ottawa, Aug. 21.—Charles T. Biner of Kent street, aged 18 years, was drowned Saturday afternoon in the Ottawa River at Westboro. He was in swimming and took a cramp. A companion, Arthur Goodell, made a gallant but ineffectual attempt at rescue. The body was recovered later by Rev. A. M. Ross, Presbyterian minister of Westboro.

BOARD OF HEALTH IS CRITICIZED

Prominent Gentleman Writes to This Paper on the Subject.

He Wants to Know Why the Board of Health Does Not Meet.

A gentleman prominently identified with the material interests of the city has communicated with the Examiner in reference to the actions, or as he terms it, the "inaction" of the Peterborough Board of Health. His letter, which is a lengthy one is not published it in full, but he says in part:—"I should be glad if you would call attention through the columns of the Examiner to the fact fact that it is many months since the Board of Health has has a meeting, and I would like to learn the reason. I think it can hardly be because there is no work for them to do. In fact I am of the opinion that if they were trying to conscientiously protect the public health there are many matters which might well claim their attention."

Continuing he says that, "the Board of Health of a couple of years ago apparently found plenty of matters to engage their attention, and almost every week there were reports in the papers of meetings which they had held."

This gentleman further states that to his mind, if the Board of Health were alive to the responsibilities of their position they would provide for some means of inspecting the milk supply of the city. This may be all right and if it is the milkmen need fear no inspection, but on the other hand it may not be all right, and in any case, since there have been some complaints, "it seems to me that it is the duty of the Board to take some action."

Dealing with another matter he says, "There are to my knowledge a number of persons in this town who while the sewers pass their doors, refuse to have connections made with them, preferring to continue to dispose of their sewage in a manner which is not only dangerous to their own health but decidedly obnoxious and possibly dangerous to their neighbours. The cases to which I refer are those of persons well able to afford the trifling expense of securing sewer connections. "Is this," he asks, "not a matter which might very properly be dealt with by the Board of Health? Possibly they do not know about them but I should think that it is their business to find out. At any rate they could hold a meeting occasionally and persons who have complaints to make could have an opportunity of making them."

The letter continues along the same strain, but enough has been quoted to show the line of his arguments, and perhaps the publication of these extracts will have the desired effect.

Famous Painter Is Dead.

Paris, Aug. 21.—Announcement was received here yesterday of the death at Larochelle of Adolph William Bouguereau, the painter. Bouguereau had been suffering from heart disease the past two years. Honolulu, Aug. 21.—A despatch by wireless telegraph from Hilo says that Hanaw, the Hawaiian wife of Kailua, a Chinese, gave birth to one child on last Thursday, two on Sunday, one on Monday, two on Tuesday morning and one Tuesday night. All are dead.

Telegraphers' Strike Ends.

St. Paul, Aug. 21.—The strike of the telegraphers on the Northern Pacific was officially declared off by President Perham of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers. Mr. Perham says the men accepted the terms offered by the Northern Pacific before they went on strike. He says these terms give the operators a total increase of about $50,000 a year in wages.

THE HARVEST OF ENTERPRISE

In another column are reproduced extracts from a special correspondence of the Globe relating to the resources, present conditions and prospects of that portion of New Ontario, served and to be served by the Government—the Temiscamingue and Northern—Railway. It is of special interest for many reasons. It reveals the opulent character of the resources of the New Ontario region which a few years ago was a deserted wilderness, and which was pronounced by a no less verbosely pessimistic authority than the present Premier of Ontario, Hon Mr. Whitney, to be "the land of the stunted poplar." Such an attitude of "stunted" patriotism has been most thoroughly discredited and in his administrative capacity Hon. Mr. Whitney has been compelled to eat his words, and to practically confess that his unfaith in the new country was without a scintilla of justification and that the foresight and enterprise of the Ross Government were a legitimate outcome of its patriotic faith in the importance and extent of the mineral resources of New Ontario. Against the passive, if not active, obstruction and discouraging opposition of the then Conservative party, led by Hon. Mr. Whitney, the Ross Government embarked upon the work of constructing a railway to be built from the resources of the region it would develop, to be owned by the province and operated by, or in the interests of, the province. Within the large limits of its influence the Government Railway has no equal in the history of this country, in demonstrating the wisdom of such an enterprise. Through it a splendid agricultural area has been opened, which is filling rapidly with population. In the course of construction of the railway a wonderful store of varied mineral wealth has been discovered and is now in the initial stages of extensive and lucrative development, made possible and easy by the existence of the railway. Large timber resources have been brought into touch with commercial conditions. An important trade has grown up, and is rapidly increasing, between the growing population of the new region and older Ontario. Next to, if not quite on a parity, with the great act of helping the immense "800" industries upon their feet, no single feature of policy of any Government, promises to have so far reaching and continuous a beneficial influence as the act and policy of the inception and construction by the Ross Government of the Government Railway from North Bay to a yet undetermined point in the fastnesses of our immense northern territorial heritage. It is wise on the part of that Government's successor, it is wise on the part of Mr. Whitney, to so practically ignore as he is doing his previous unpatriotic and pessimistic attitude towards the Ross Government's relation to the value, resources and possibilities of New Ontario. One can afford to forget this attitude if he and his Government earnestly and honestly strive to carry out the progressive policy of the late Government represented by the enterprises mentioned. He and his government have had the engine of progress placed for them on the provided track with steam up and it now remains for them to run it carefully and honestly in the interests of the province.

The County Roads Are Growing in Great Favour

The report of the Commissioner of Highways for Ontario for 1904 shows that substantial progress is being made with the movement for improved highways in this Province.

Statute labour has been superseded in more than 25 per cent. of the townships by a system of commutation, or in some cases, the statute labour bill is abolished, and a special rate levied with the ordinary township rate. There are various differences in detail, but the general plan is to appoint an overseer for the township, or one for each two, three or four divisions of the township, under whom all work is performed, subject to the directions of the Council. The work may be done either by day labour or by contract, and, in the latter case, the overseer is the township's inspector. The work of the Council in this way becomes legislative alone, while the overseers are the executive carrying out the work required by the Council.

County systems of road construction are aided by the Provincial Government to the extent of one-third of the entire cost of construction, the counties which have adopted the plan being Wentworth, Simcoe, Lanark, Oxford, Lincoln, Wellington and Hastings, while Victoria and others are on the eve of doing so. Thus under the Highway Improvement Act county councils covering 20 per cent. of the Province have adopted county systems, taking over 1624 miles of main road and expending thereon in the years 1903-4 nearly half a million dollars.

The details are as follows:

	Mileage.	Expend'rs under Act 1903-1904.	Gov. Aid.
Wentworth	159	$130,898	$43,632
Wellington	170	21,554	7,184
Simcoe	437	185,929	61,976
Lanark	98	43,984	14,328
Oxford	371	53,034	17,678
Hastings	473	16,813	5,601
Lincoln	36	6,161	2,030
	1624	$457,344	$152,411

It is not to be expected that county systems will be readily adopted throughout the Province. Municipalities are notably conservative with respect to systems of road management. The statute labour system has remained almost unchanged for more than a century, in spite of its many defects and the manifest advantages that would arise by adopting more suitable township systems. It is therefore a matter of much promise that so much progress has already been made.

The act, as originally passed in 1901, provided that the amount of $1,000,000 would be distributed among the various counties in proportion to their assessed area. By amending acts of 1904 and 1905 this restriction has been done away with, and it is now provided that the Government will pay one-third of the cost of constructing a system of county roads, whatever the expenditure may be. Any unwise or excessive expenditure is fully guarded against by the provisions of the act which require that the county council shall provide two-thirds of the outlay, also that each county system shall be approved by the lieutenant-governor-in-council, thus guarding against an excessive road mileage, while the class of work is subject to the approval of the Highways branch.

The act has, by a recent amendment, been made to apply to county systems only, the sections of the act which formerly provided that, where a county council failed to assume a county system of roads, the townships might participate in the grants had interfered with the adoption of county systems, which alone are satisfactory. Township systems would be local and would not connect with the main roads of adjoining municipalities, as county systems now do, while the grants made to townships would benefit too short a mileage of road to be of more than temporary value. County councils can provide a better outfit of machinery to construct and maintain the roads. For these and other equally important reasons it was felt that the objects of the Acts could be efficiently served through county systems alone.

The act does not necessarily propose a large, or even an increased outlay by the ratepayers. New roads are not created. The roads to comprise the county system are what are now the most travelled roads maintained by the townships. To combine the more important roads in one class, under one management, with proper methods and tools for dealing with this special class of work is a measure that will reduce the cost rather than increase it, and it will, at the same time, produce a better class of roads.

An increased expenditure will no doubt be made, but this will be fully covered by the Government grant. Township councils will thus be able to devote more attention to the roads of less travel, many of which are now neglected because the heavily travelled roads (which will be taken over by the county) are absorbing all the possible expenditure. By this system the main roads receive better attention from county councils, and the remaining roads receive better attention from the township councils. All the expenditure placed on roads will be spent in the several townships, and returned, in a great measure, to those who contributed in the first place, together with the provincial grant.

The county systems will comprise but a small percentage of the total road mileage. A well kept, not a long county system, is most desirable. The aim is to secure uniform and systematic work, to employ and properly operate modern and economical implements, to provide careful, constant, and methodical supervision and maintenance, to provide object lessons in the care and treatment of roads, and set examples for those having charge of the remainder.

FARM LABORERS' EXCURSIONS 1905

Latest advices from Winnipeg state that the wheat crop of Manitoba and the Canadian Northwest will exceed all previous seasons; a great number of Eastern labourers will be required to assist at harvesting. A Farm Labourers' Excursion will be run from points:

GOING DATES

August 29, 1905. — Stations south of but not including main line Toronto to Sarnia.

September 2, 1905. — Main line Toronto to Sarnia, and stations north (except north of Cardwell Junction, and Toronto on North Bay section.)

September 4, 1905.—From all points Toronto and east to and including Sharbot Lake and Kingston, and north of Toronto and Cardwell Junc. on North Bay and Midland Divisions.

Tickets will be sold to female as well as to male labourers. Tickets will not be sold at half rate to children.

With each ticket the purchaser will be given a farm labourers' verification certificate, and an extension coupon. At Winnipeg the special trains will be met by farmers and by representatives of the Manitoba Government. Labourers may engage with them at Winnipeg, and on presentation of extension coupon, signed by a farmer stating that the holder has engaged to work as a farm labourer, ticket agent will issue free ticket from Winnipeg to C. P. R. station nearest the point where he has engaged to work, and on arrival at such station he must deposit the farm labourers' verification certificate with the C. P. R. agent. If anyone has made prior arrangements to work with friends, or with some farmer with whom they worked previously, they will be issued free ticket as above, and may check their baggage through from starting point to C. P. R. station nearest the point of work, provided such point is not beyond Moosejaw, Shelbe, Lipton, Prince Albert or Estevan, as free tickets will not be issued, nor baggage checked to points beyond these stations.

After a labourer has worked for at least thirty days and has certificate signed by the farmer with whom he has worked such certificate will be honoured prior to Nov. 30th for a ticket to return to starting point by same route as on going journey, on payment of $18.00.

150 lbs. of baggage, wearing apparel only, will be allowed on each ticket, and each piece of baggage checked should bear the name of the owner and show their home address. It will be readily understood some difficulty may be experienced in handling some thousands of pieces of baggage at one station. Therefore, when possible, baggage should be carried in hand grips and these passengers should take in the cars with them. It is expected that special passenger trains (particulars to be announced later) for the accommodation of labourers, will be run on main lines, and tickets will not be accepted on regular trains. Further information will be supplied on application to C. B. Foster, D.P.A., C.P. Railway, 71 Yonge street, Toronto. Intending excursionists should notify nearest ticket agent at once.

REMEDY FOR CRAMPS AND SUMMER COMPLAINT

Five Simple Tinctures That Make an Effective Combination.

In view of the prevalence, almost epidemic in character, of diarrhoeal attacks, the following prescription, providing a most excellent remedy, is submitted. This mixture, resulting from the subjoined recipe, has been in use for nearly sixty years, having been used with great success in the cholera epidemic of 1847.

The following is the recipe:

B
Tr. opii.
Tr. Rhei.
Tr. Camph.
Tr. Capsici.
Tr. Menth. pip.

The ingredients to be mixed in equal quantities, to the value of 10 cents, 15 cents, or 25 cents, as desired. Dose, x to xxx drops as needed, according to the severity of the attack.

It will be noted that the ingredients are all spirit tinctures, so that the resulting mixture will keep, if securely corked, an indefinite time.

The dose being so small, a small quantity, can be carried in the vest pocket on outings and excursions, available for use at a time when an attack of cramps or diarrhoea would be especially inconvenient. The dose can be graduated according to the severity of the attack, or repeated according to its persistence.

While this preparation is a sure remedy for cramps and diarrhoea, it should not be considered a cure in the ordinary sense of the word. It brings relief, but it should be supplemented to effect a complete cure, by proper attention to diet, etc.

During the camping season, many persons who have not taken the precaution to provide themselves with a remedy like the above are liable to diarrhoeal attacks. It is good to know that a simple, temporary remedy is available in every camp or summer cottage —tea and sometimes milk. If a strong infusion of tea is made in boiling milk — letting the steeping go on for some time to extract the tannin of the tea, the astringent quality which represents in this case the curative quality.

In connection with all attacks caused by cramps or intestinal fluxes, it is wise to attend to the general condition of the bowels and liver by aperients, laxatives, or carefully employed cathartics.

REV. DR. O'BRIEN PRESENTS REPORT

Of Annual T. A. S. Convention at Wilkes-Barre.

Outlined Proceedings Briefly at Meeting of the Society Yesterday Afternoon.

At the meeting of the T. A. S. yesterday afternoon the members were addressed by Rev. Dr. O'Brien, who presented a report regarding the annual convention of the society held recently at Wilkesbarre, Pa., at which he was in attendance as representative of the local society.

The speaker outlined the proceedings at the convention, and remarked briefly upon its successful and gratifying nature. The large number of new societies organized within the past year and the splendid success with which their work has been prosecuted, was also spoken of.

Rev. Dr. O'Brien closed by urging his hearers to greater exertions in the cause of the society and towards an endeavour to further increase the roll of membership, which has been in Peterborough in the past, a matter of such pride.

PRINTERS ENJOY ANNUAL PIC-NIC

Members of Typographical Union and Friends on Annual Pic-nic.

Spent Saturday Afternoon at Dam No 5—Feature of the Day Was the Baseball Game.

Saturday afternoon was the Printers' day off. One day in each year, the members of the local Typographical Union get through their work at noon, and during the rest of the day they enjoy themselves, not that they do not find pleasure in their work, but on this one half day in the year they get away from type-machines, cases, presses, and all the other paraphernela of printing offices and his themselves to some river resort usually, and there engage in enjoying nature's beauties, and cultivating the aesthetic and social side of their natures.

This year the trip taken was a variation from that usually taken, and, instead of going down the river they went up, No. five dam being the objective point, and the trip differed in another particular from that usually taken, in that, whereas, in other years, Peterborough was reached any time around midnight, this year the party returned before seven o'clock, the secret of this early conclusion of the outing being accounted for by the fact that the Lift Lock does not operate after dark, and not the fact that the participants in the excursion were anxious to close their day's pleasure at such an early hour, because printers are notorious for the thoroughness with which they perform anything they undertake.

But while they were at it they enjoyed themselves to the limit of their opportunities. The steamer Water Lily had been chartered by the management, and that staunch boat left her moorings at two p.m. about one hundred members of the printing fraternity, their wives and families, and other friends, not neglecting a representative of that power which has frequently been compared to the press, and which the press renders valuable assistance to, the pulpit, as a special feature, and in a moment when the news-room members of the Union were feeling in a particularly forgiving mood, the reportorial and editorial staffs were included in the invitation lists, and this fact alone speaks volumes for the Christian spirit exhibited by the hosts, when one considers the inquitous nature of the "copy" which the news room men have to wrestle with.

All such internal troubles were forgotten on this day, however, and the reporters, to whom life is usually not of the picnic variety, were for once in the year enabled to enjoy this article bearing a "union label."

The ascent over the Lift Lock was made, attended with the usual exclamations of fright made by the lady members of the party, and the usual well known methods of allaying their fears and of imparting a feeling of safety and security to the timid ones, was resorted to by the male portion of the party.

The sail through the canal and river, to the dam, where they were warmly welcomed by Mr. McCloggott, was devoid of any unusual incident, and at the lock the party disembarked to spend a few hours under the shade of Mr. McCloggott's cedar grove, or to enjoy themselves in other ways.

The feature of the afternoon was the perpetration of a baseball (?) game upon the few ladies whose loyalty to their escorts proved stronger than their inclination to pass their time in other ways, which would have been more pleasant doubtless than to have to witness a good game murdered ruthlessly.

The original intention was to have had a game between the devotees of baseball on the respective staffs of the Examiner and Review, but when Umpire Leo Shannon, he of the Eastern League, called the game, the men from the Review, the members of which had been making dire threats as to what they would do to the Examiner team at the Printers' Picnic, failed to materialize. It was then decided to lean them a few men, including half a battery, from this staff, and allow them to fill their ranks up with such players of ability as Rev. Mr. MacKay of the Guild League. Even Manager VanBlaricom deserted his team, and insisted on playing with the Examiner team, which called forth the remark from one of the fair bleacherites that "Van wanted to enjoy the novel experience of being on the winning team," and it is recorded by the official score that had it not been for two rank errors in left field, where the deserting manager of the Review team played, the team captained by George Paxman, would have won easily; as it was, the score was 4—4 at the end of the 34th innings, and Umpire Shannon gave the game to the Examiner team by 9—0, on their opponents refusing to play off the tie.

The animosities engendered during the game, however, were soon forgotten, and in a short time tables were spread under the trees and tea was being partaken off in true picnic style, after which a start was made for home, Wolfe street wharf being reached shortly before seven o'clock, after one of the most successful Printers' Picnics in the history of that annual function.

TELEPHONE TALKS.

TO TELEPHONE USERS AND THE GENERAL PUBLIC.—

We wish at this stage to digress from the strict line of comment on the work of the Parliamentary Special Committee, to refer to an important matter which is apropos to the subject of our last "Talk." We refer to the advantage to this Company and to the commercial life of Canada, in the exchange of connections with the local and long distance systems of the United States.

Telephone conversations are carried on almost continuously, night and day, between the entire systems of the Bell Telephone Co. of Canada and the long distance lines and exchanges of the American Telegraph & Telephone Company, and its affiliated Companies, placing half the continent at the elbow of every subscriber. The traffic is as free from complications as if it were one Company.

Equipment of the highest efficiency, practically standardized in all Offices and subscribers' stations, is an absolute essential to service over an extended area. Lack of such a standard is the fatal weakness of local systems operated as they are under separate administrations and with divided and often clashing interests.

No other Company operating in Canada, in competition with the Bell Telephone Co. of Canada, has the advantage of this connection. Without the same standard of equipment and appliances, such an exchange of service could not be operated satisfactorily, even if the connection could be obtained.

The Bell Telephone Co. of Canada, entirely free, as has been shown, in its financial affairs and in its internal administration, possesses an asset of incalculable value to itself and patrons in its business relations with the American Telegraph & Telephone Co. of the United States.

Toronto Star Says Atkins Should Be Barred From Lacrosse

The Toronto Star in referring to the Midland-Peterborough game and its results says:—

By order of the King—his Majesty President Atkins—the Chippewas have lost their goal-keeper. If the charge against Robinson is true, his suspension should be made permanent, for the C.L.A. has made rules, and it should see that they are enforced. Not only has Robinson wrecked the team that hired him for the season, but he has professionalized the Midland team as well, and, according to the reasoning of certain lacrosse experts, the amateur standing of the Peterborough team is rather shaky.

This point may not amount to very much, but the C.L.A. should see to it that the men who enter its senior series as professionals should be honorable enough to conquer any mercenary temptation to engage in junior C. L. A. battles.

And that case of biting—if the Peterborough people are to be believed, it was rather a gruesome affair—the first way in which the C.L.A. can deal with it is to spare no effort to have it fully investigated. If the charge is true that player should never be allowed to go on a field again. The first place for vicious players is the Police Court.

THE OSHAWA TEAM DID NOT APPEAR

And a Game With a Picked Team Was Played.

The Game Was Uninteresting and the Big Nine Won by the Score of 4-1.

The much touted Oshawa team did not put in an appearance on Saturday, nor did they send why explanation of their failure to appear; and in consequence a large number of fans were very much disappointed in not seeing what was sure to be a game fast and close. At the last minute word was sent round to several junior players and a game was arranged with a Guild League-Night Owl team, resulting in the defeat of that aggregation by the score of 4—1.

The score does not indicate the play which was of a very ordinary variety, the big nine not exerting themselves more than was necessary to keep a comfortable lead. A strong wind was blowing up the field, interfering considerably with the pitchers' offerings and causing fly balls to curve out of reach of the out fielders; but nevertheless Quinlan succeeded in striking out 13 men, while the opposing pitchers were each credited with three.

Earls was kept out at the third corner, but beyond considerable wood work he was not very conspicuous. The only run chalked up for the juniors was the result of a high throw to second, allowing Thornton the star centre fielder of Charlotte street to score.

Lang went first to bat for the "Misfits," but grounded out to second, and Dunsford and McWilliams experienced no trouble in fanning. In their turn the locals started right off with a register, Earls Grey getting singled, stolen, doubled by Hattrax, his third strike out fouled, and Shea doubled, scoring Graham. Connors grounded to short, and Shea was nipped perioining third.

In the second Roddy and Treanor fanned, Thornton was hit by a pitched ball and scored on a high throw to catch him at second. Ryan failed to connect. For the locals Quinlan never saw the ball. Hattrax dropped an easy fly between Treanor and McWilliams, but Callaghan forced him at second. Ryan kindly dropped Earls' fly, allowing that individual a base and scoring Callaghan, but Earls was nabbed at third.

In the third Dusty fanned; O'Brien's dump in front of the plate was fatal, and Lang flew out to short. The locals also went out in order. Fitzpatrick fanned, Graham grounded out to first, and Sheridan lofted out to third.

Both sides were again retired in order in the fourth. Dunsford fanned, McWilliams grounded to first, and Roddy fanned. Shea grounded to short, Donahue singled, but was caught going to second, and Quinlan flew out to centre.

It was the same story in the fifth. Treanor grounded out to pitcher, Thornton grounded to first, and Ryan flew to centre. Hattrax flew out to centre. Callaghan was also trying to straighten his bingle for two sacks, and Earls easily fanned.

In the sixth Dusty grounded to first. O'Brien beat out a slow grounder to short, but Lang fouled out and Dunsford fanned. Pilling was put into the box, and Fitzpatrick and Graham promptly made strides out of their bases, both were out, stabbing off their bases. Sheridan retired everything in order on a pop fly to the pitcher.

In the seventh the prospects for another tally were rosy, but the needful bit was lacking. McWilliams lasted part Pilling's delivery some minutes. Treanor hit to Dusty, but Earls hit high to first, retiring Pilling around to him. Thornton's grounder to the pitcher was played to the plate getting Pilling easily. Ryan flew out to short. The locals thought it high time to take a larger lead, and in their ball registered doubled their score. McWilliams kindly dropped Shea's easy fly, Connors hit safe past second; but Quinlan flew out to first and Hattrax grounded out to short. With two down Dusty and Connors worked a double steal, both scoring on a fast throw to catch one of them at third. Dan Callahan concluded that there had been enough excitement, and promptly tackled the air.

In the eighth everybody was out in order. Dusty fanned, O'Brien grounded out to pitcher, Lang singled, but was stopped at second. Earls and Fitzpatrick fanned, and Graham grounded out to pitcher.

In the ninth the Oshawa team went to bat, and Quinlan fanned. Dunsford and McWilliams easily fell victims to Quinlan's slants. Pilling reached but was caught napping on Hattrax's second, and the game was over. Total score 4—1 in favour of the Midland League nine.

The following was the line-up of the two teams:

Big Nine (4). — Graham 1b, Sheridan ll; Shea ss; Connors cf; Quinlan c, Hattrax c, Callaghan 2b, Earls rf, Fitzpatrick rf.

Umpire, Weeks, Bowmanville.

BOATS ARRIVE FOR THE REGATTA

Already a Number of Craft Gather at Chemong.

Prospects Are Good for Most Successful Regatta in Chemong's History.

All arrangements for the Chemong Regatta are completed and the preparations for a successful event were never brighter. All that is required now is fine weather, and the observatory predictions for to-morrow are promising.

Already a number of launches have arrived from Sturgeon Point and Lindsay, and visitors are arriving from other places.

The aquatic races give promise of being very exciting. It is expected that there will be at least six entries in the Canoe Race, Kingan's and Hopkins' from Sturgeon Point and Hodgson's, Hamilton's and Hollingshead's, from Chemong.

The course for the sailing races will be in plain view of all the spectators and doubtless by reason of this fact there will be a greater interest manifested in it.

At night there will be a dance at the pavilion, and busses will leave the post office at 7.30 for Chemong, thus affording those who are unable to go during the day an opportunity of attending the dance.

The 9th Band will furnish the music for the dancing.

There are already four entries for the open sailing race. Alleyne, Rexborough, Bates, Ferguson and Dagleish, and there is also a probability that some of the dinghies will also enter.

LATEST SPORT

LACROSSE.

Mr. Regan, of the National Hotel, was in Uxbridge yesterday, when the Beaverton Lacrosse team of which he is a member, played a game in Junior C. L. A. series. The score was a tie two all, which gives the district to Beaverton.

• • • •

The dates of the next semi-final games in the C.L.A. in which the Peterborough team is to participate have not yet been decided but there is a probability that the first will be played on Saturday with the Young Toronto in Toronto, and the local secretary has asked for the return game here on Labour Day. The Secretary of the C. L. A. will advise the local secretary definitely to-morrow morning. The Young Torontos made short work of the Harrietsmith team, and are looked upon a pretty fast bunch of players.

• • • •

BASEBALL.

The local club will now play their games by default from Oshawa. That team did not come up on Saturday, nor did they give any explanation for their failure, and the local club are minus in the neighbourhood of $100 in gate receipts. The Pirates do not propose to journey to Oshawa to play the scheduled return game when that club could suffer all the gate receipts and the local club would be out all their expenses.

• • • •

RUGBY.

There seems to be some uncertainty about the composition of the league O.R.F.U. teams this year. The Parkdales will step on the gridiron strong this year, this season and if they do not there should again land the championship. The Argonauts, realize that they made a mistake when they retired from the O.R.F.U. last season, but unless they completely have things their own way, but they will be back in the fold this year. It is not likely that there will be more than two Toronto teams in the union this year. The proposed amalgamation of the Argonauts and Tecumsehs has been favourably received and will likely be carried out. As now it looks as if the senior teams will be the Tigers, Londons and two teams from Toronto.—Hamilton Spectator.

EARL OF MINTO INDIA'S VICEROY

Lord Curzon's Resignation Accepted by Premier Balfour—Late Viceroy Aggrieved—His Recommendation Not Accepted by the Home Government--White Book Reveals Bitter State of Feeling Between Lord Curzon, the Indian Office and Lord Kitchener--States His Position.

London, Aug. 21.—The resignation of Lord Curzon of Kedddleston as Viceroy of India and the appointment of the Earl of Minto as his successor, was announced at the India Office last night.

Lord Curzon's dissatisfaction came to a head with the refusal of the Cabinet to appoint Major-Gen. Sir Edmund Barrow, on Lord Curzon's recommendation, military supply member of the council. Replying on August 3 to the refusal of Mr. Brodrick, Secretary of State for India to make this appointment, Lord Curzon requests that the Government reconsider its decision "in order to enable me to accept the responsibility which I infer His Majesty's Government still desires me to assume."

EARL OF MINTO.

Mr. Brodrick again refused to comply with the request for the appointment of Major-Gen. Barrow, and Lord Curzon replied as follows:

"It is apparent that His Majesty's Government deny that confidence which alone can enable me to serve them, and attach a fundamentally different interpretation from myself to the modifications, upon the acceptance of which I alone consented to remain in office. The situation therefore remains where it was when I resigned in June. If the Government are unable to accept my views, I request the Premier to place my resignation in the hands of His Majesty."

To this Mr. Brodrick replied that there was a request from Mr. Balfour that Lord Curzon reconsider his determination. In a final despatch, however, dated August 12, Lord Curzon says:

"The main question is not the choice of individual, but one of the principles underlying a future change in our administration. I am reluctantly driven to the conclusion that the policy of his Majesty's Government is based on principles that I could not conscientiously carry into execution. In the interests of the new organization it is desirable that I should be relieved of my duties with as little delay as possible."

To this Mr. Balfour himself replied that he had "with the most profound regret submitted Lord Curzon's resignation to the King."

Supplementary despatches after the receipt of the resignation show, firstly, that Lord Curzon and Lord Kitchener were unable to agree over the details of the reorganization and, secondly, that Lord Curzon, at the time he left England, expressed his entire disagreement with the scheme.

"But," says he, "I loyally commenced the undertaking and only resigned when I realized that conflicts were certain to arise between the commander-in-chief and the rest of the Government of India."

His concluding sentence reads: "I reflect with sorrow how little justification there has been for the claim you make of having rendered me your constant support."

Lord Minto's Career.

Gilbert John Murray Kynynmond Elliot, fourth Earl of Minto, was born on July 9, 1847, and succeeded his father, the third earl, in 1891. He was educated at Eton and at Trinity College, Cambridge (B. A.). Entering the army he became lieutenant in the Scots Guards, but retired in 1870. Later he served with the Turkish army in 1877; in the Afghan war of 1879, and was private secretary to Lord Roberts at the Cape in 1881. As a volunteer he served in the Egyptian campaign of 1882 and acted as military secretary to Lord Lansdowne, then Governor-General of Canada, from 1883 to 1885. Lord Minto was chief of staff on the Canadian Northwest expedition of 1885, and returned to Canada in 1898 as Governor-General. In that capacity he was very popular, and returned to Britain on the expiry of his term of office last year with many marks of popular approval. Lord Minto married in 1883 Mary, daughter of Gen. Hon. Charles Grey, sister of the present Governor-General.

Lord Curzon of Keddleston.

George Nathaniel Curzon, first Baron Curzon of Keddleston, is the eldest son of the Rev. Alfred Nathaniel Holden Curzon, fourth Baron Scarsdale. Born on January 11, 1859, and educated at Eton and Balliol College, Oxford, he entered public life as private secretary to the late Marquis of Salisbury. Becoming M. P. for the Southport division of Lancashire, he acted as Under Secretary of State for India in 1891-2, and in the same capacity for Foreign Affairs in 1895-98. Lord Curzon has traveled extensively in Central Asia, Persia, Afghanistan, the Pamirs, Siam, Indo-China and Corea, and received the gold medal of the Royal Geographical Society in 1893. He is the author of several volumes of travels, and on the political situation in the Central and Far East. His wife is a daughter of L. Z. Leiter of Washington, U. S. A.

Each of the incorporators took twenty shares of the value of $100, the total capitalization being $250,000. The company is empowered to carry on a general contracting and construction business, and to perform, assign and sub-let contracts for doing work and supplying materials in connection with the building of railways and canals.

WAR DANCE BY J. J. HILL.

Announces Cheap Rate on Grain Competing With Canadian Roads.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 21.—James J. Hill is on the warpath. He dug up the hatchet yesterday morning and indulged in a war dance all day, the culmination of which was the announcement of a rate on grain from Montana to Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie, the American branch of the Canadian Pacific.

"Rates are of no consequence," says Mr. Hill. "Business we must have and we have made a tariff within the reach of all, and one which will be profitable to the producers. It may be that competing lines (the Canadian roads) may reduce their rates, but we are prepared to meet them."

This is a fight of long standing between J. J. Hill of the Great Northern and Tom Lowery of the Soo.

CHATHAM HIGHWAYMEN.

Night Watchman Relieved of Ready Cash by Two Armed Men.

Chatham, Aug. 21.—A daring hold-up took place Friday night, when Thomas Shaw, a nightwatchman at the T. H. Taylor mills, was surprised by two men armed with revolvers, and relieved of his ready change. The thugs, who are supposed to be two of the numerous tramps, who have of late infested this locality, departed without further injuring their victim. The police have no clue as to the identity of the ruffians.

DON'T BE HYPNOTISED,
Hoodwinked, hoodooed, or over-persuaded into accepting a substitute for Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription with its record of nearly 40 years, embracing hundreds of thousands of cures of woman's peculiar ailments. It's the only remedy for woman's ills sold by druggists, that is not full of "booze"—poor whisky, or bad alcohol.
A guarantee of $1000 is offered that "Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, opium or other harmful drug. Keeps in any climate.
"Favorite Prescription" is a powerful invigorating tonic, and imparts strength to the whole system and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetising cordial and restorative tonic.
It's an insult to your intelligence for a dealer to attempt to palm off upon you an alcoholic substitute for this world-famed medicine. You know what you want. It's his business to meet that want. When he urges some substitute he's thinking of the larger profit he'll make—not of your welfare.
$50,000 GIVEN AWAY, in copies of The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book that sold to the extent of 680,000 copies a few years ago, at $1.50 per copy. Last year we gave away 300,000 worth of these invaluable books. This year we shall give away 500,000 worth more of them. Will you share in this benefit? If so, send only 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, for book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound. Address R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
If out of health, write to old Dr. Pierce. He will send you good, fatherly, professional advice without charge.
Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the smallest, the easiest to take, and the cheapest in the way they act. No griping, no violence, no inconvenience to the most delicate. They are the original "Little Liver Pills," first put up by old Dr. R. V. Pierce, over 40 years ago. They have been much imitated, but never equaled. They cause no pain, always from good results a convenient vest-pocket remedy.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Facts About the Routes—The Canadian Pacific Railway—The Pioneers.

Few great corporations have shown a shrewder appreciation of human nature than has the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, and not the least shrewd of its perceptions was the idea of pushing Round-the-World Tours. People journeyed round the world before ever the C.P.R. came into existence, and in fact, there were comfortable steamers traversing the North Pacific before the new familiar "Empresses" took up their station at Vancouver to replace the late Sir William Pearce's old liners.

But launching oneself into space on one side of the globe and returning on the other was still at that time regarded as a somewhat serious business. In short, the public had not been educated into the subject. Then the C.P.R. came upon the scene. With a boldness justified in the importance of the other C.P.R. interests Round-the-World travel over its system tended to promote, the Company advertised its tours of this kind in a handsome manner, and handled the traffic with so much skill and care, that before people had realized the change, it came to be accepted that somehow thanks to the C.P.R., it is possible to travel round the globe and see most of the places worth seeing in comfort and safety for a comparatively small sum of money.

Without dwelling needlessly upon the real and imaginary advantages of going round the world, over going half-way round and back again—the virtual doubling of the opportunities for seeing new sights and having new experiences and the satisfaction of being able to proclaim oneself a fully fledged traveller—it is a fact, which any passenger agent will confirm, that the issuing of a return ticket to the East is becoming more and more the exception, while Round-the-World business is always on the increase.

Fumigating a Hen House And Set Fire to the Barn

Mr. Edward Allen, whose farm is situated about four miles north of Douro post office, was fumigating his hen house on Friday afternoon, employing the ordinary method, that of burning sulphur, for the purpose of destroying the insects which infest poultry house, and his desire to thus improve the condition of his fowl resulted in a very serious loss to him.

The fumigating process was in charge of Mrs. Allen, when, in some way, the coals which were used to burn the sulphur set fire to some straw and before the blaze could be extinguished it had spread to the adjoining barn, which was totally destroyed, together with the contents, forty tons of hay, representing this season's crop. Fortunately none of the grain had yet been hauled into the barn, else it would have been destroyed as well. The stock was all out in the field to pasture, and no animals were lost.

There was no insurance on the barn or contents.

C. L. A. Will Deal Vigorously With the Midland Offenders

Mr. E. M. Beat, secretary of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, has received the following letter from Mr. Allen, President of the O.L.A., in reference to the charges made against the Midland team:—

Mount Forest,
August 18.

Mr. E. M. Beat,
Peterborough.

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of your letter to Mr. Hall re the Midland game and promptly suspended the players named in your communication. The whole question will be taken up at the first meeting of the executive and the guilty parties punished as far as the association can act in the matter. I would like to see Mr. Crowley lay information against Aikens and would use my influence to have the executive pay any expense he would be at in prosecuting the case as it is an outrage that should not be tolerated.

Unless Midland can clear themselves they will be expelled from the association for playing men under an assumed name. The rules permit an amateur to play with or against a professional without losing his amateur standing. I am asking Midland for explanations.

Yours truly,
GEO. L. ALLEN.

The Crown Attorney at Barrie has also taken the matter up, and has written the local club asking that a charge be laid against Aikens for biting Crowley.

Nothing definite, however, has been decided as yet.

Most Remarkable Growth in Live Hog Receipts

The remarkable business development which has taken place in Peterborough within the past few years, is well demonstrated in the increases in the live stock receipts upon the local market.

A comparison of present with past year's periods of time of equal length brings forth some surprising information. The receipts of live hogs during the week ending August 12, of the George Matthews Company, were 8,663, those of the past week being 7350. The latter figures show an increase of over 1,000 hogs over the corresponding week of last year. The number of local purchases last week amounted to 685.

Weasels and Minks Run Wild on Peterborough Streets

With all our talk of metropolitanism, it appears that Peterborough is pretty much in the backwoods after all. At least that is the inference one would naturally draw when it is learned that wild fur-bearing animals are being shot on our front streets.

On Saturday night a weasel was found running on George street, near Hunter, and was despatched by a timely shot, and on the same night a mink which had been frequenting the vicinity of the car barns on King street, was also put out of business by a shot gun.

The animal had been making some rather serious inroads upon the hen roosts in the vicinity, and it was decided that he would be better dead. It was only after this act had been consumated however that the man who shot it was sure of its identity.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT TO ERNEST PETERS

Young Man Receives Kick on Head From a Horse, Fracturing His Skull—Was in the Stables Doing Some Chores--Successful Operation Was Performed at the Nicholls Hospital This Morning--He Is Not Yet Conscious, But Will Recover.

What may yet prove to be a fatal accident occurred yesterday afternoon on the farm of Richard Harper, six miles down in Otonabee. Ernest Peters, a young man eighteen years of age, who is employed on the farm, went into the stable to do some chores, when in some manner he received a kick on the head from one of the horses, fracturing his skull.

He was found about two hours later lying behind the horses in an unconscious condition. Every possible assistance was rendered him, and Dr. Greer and Comstock's ambulance were called, and the injured man was removed to Nicholls Hospital.

This morning an operation was performed and several pieces of broken bone were removed. The young man has not yet fully regained consciousness, but although his injury is serious the chances of recovery are in his favour.

The young man is a son of Mr. Chas. Peters who lives across the river from the locks.

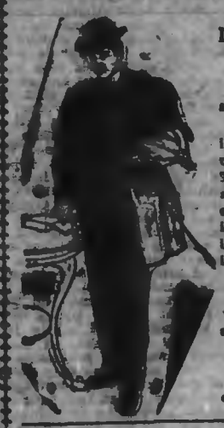
August Reduction Sale

Here's a bit of news that sticks a poking, prying finger into every man's exchequer and propounds a query with a decidedly economical twist to it.



Do you care about making a fine saving on a Clothing Purchase?

We won't carry over stock, and its at this season that we cut prices all to pieces.

Judging from the brisk activity now prevailing here, one would hardly think that the month of August, the so-called dull season is now on. There are no "dull times" where the inducements are tempting enough to bring trade. Pretenses or half way measures won't do it, as many clothiers have found out to their sorrow. The pruning knife must be applied to prices without making Any Allowance for Profit.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MR. C. D. MOORE

The Call Came to Him Early This Morning.

Deceased Was a Most Advanced and Successful Agriculturist and Highly Respected Resident.

Death came very suddenly this morning to Mr. Charles D. Moore, one of the best known and most highly respected citizens of Smith, at his residence, "Moorevale," lot 9, concession 3. The deceased gentleman was last night and yesterday in his usual health of the past two or weeks, during which he has been slightly indisposed, but not sufficiently so to create any fears of the sudden ending which came to him.

Mr. Moore rose early this morning, and, after a little round of the farm buildings, returned to the house, and taking a seat in a chair, expired almost immediately, death being ascribed to heart failure.

Mr. Moore was sixty-eight years of age, and was born on the homestead where he lived and died. It was also the home of his father, the late William Henry Moore, who came to reside there on July 12th, 1830. The farm has therefore been in the family for 75 years.

The late Mr. Moore was widely known as one of the most progressive agriculturists in the country. To this business he devoted his whole attention—a studious intelligent attention — which brought him great success. It is doubtful if there is in the whole province a farmer who has surpassed him in the successful application of the principle and theory of advanced farming methods. He followed mixed farming, though if he had any particular preference it was for stock raising and dairying. He was never satisfied with any but the best breed of stock—in his opinion—and the best of that breed. By example and precept he did much to encourage and elevate the standard of stock in the township. His motto seemed to be—the best—in stock, farm equipment and methods. He made his business his business, and never sought preferment in the form of office of any kind. He was Conservative in politics and in religion Presbyterian, a member of the congregation of St. Andrew's, Peterborough. The deceased gentleman never married, his household being presided over by his unmarried sister, Miss Thomasine, who survives him, together with three brothers, Mr. W. H. Moore, barrister, Peterborough; Mr. F. D. Moore, barrister, Lindsay; and Mr. John R. Moore, living on a farm adjoining "Moorevale."

The funeral will take place from the homestead residence, on Wednesday, August 23rd, to the Little Lake cemetery.

MR. R. BEITH'S PRIZE HORSES

Has Returned From England Bringing Pure Bred Stock.

Purchased Fourteen Hackneys—The Waverley Farm Again Stocked With Fine Horses.

Bowmanville, Aug. 19.—Robert Beith, ex-M. P., proprietor of the Waverley Stables, returned to day from the old country, bringing with him a fine lot of hackneys and Clydesdale horses. He came over by the Lucania, on which were a large number of horses and other stock purchased in Scotland and England for Canadians.

In Mr. Beith's lot were 14 hackneys, Hunmanby Duke, On Guard, Cedar Golang, Rutherhall and two other stallions, Lady Lapham, six other mares and a filly, Londesboro Lady. There were also four two-year-old Clydesdale fillies, which he is bringing out to restock the stables for breeding purposes. These horses were purchased from some of the best breeders in England and are descendants from London champions. He considers he never brought out a finer lot of horses, for good action and other necessary qualities. Mr. Fred. Kiry of Garton, Yorkshire, England, accompanied the lot here. Among the other pure-bred stock which came out on the same boat for different parts of Canada were: 20 horses for the Nova Scotia Government, 20 for Graham Bros., Claremont; 9 for Doherty Bros., London. Also a short-horn bull, bought from King Edward's herd at Windsor for Mr William Mulock, postmaster-general, and 50 Berkshire pigs for Mr. Durham, Toronto.

Mr. Beith reports breeding stock remarkably high and hard to get hold of in England, owing to the demand from America and Japan particularly, as well as from the continent. The English and Scottish breeders and farmers were never making as much money with live stock as at the present time, and the prospect is that this unusual demand is going to continue, as South America alone can take all the high-class stock for some years to come, as a result of their business with the dead meat trade with England.

The sad intelligence was received in the city Saturday morning of the death in Toronto of Mr. R. H. Prust, Blackstock, father of Dr. T. H. Prust, formerly of Pontiac, Mich., but who for some time has been in Peterborough convalescing after an illness.

The deceased had for 35 years been a resident of Blackstock, and had been postmaster for a number of years, and one of the most highly respected residents of the township of Cartwright. Mr. Prust who was 67 years of age had been suffering for some time from an internal trouble and on Tuesday went to Toronto to consult a specialist, and it was decided to perform an operation. Although definite details are lacking it is supposed that death was a result of the operation.

The deceased leaves a wife and three sons and one daughter. The sons are Morley, a druggist at Grand View, Manitoba; Dr. T. N., at Blackstock, and Roscoe, at home. The daughter is Mrs. W. Swain, of Grand View, Man.

SUDDEN DEATH OF A PROMINENT LADY

Mrs. Helena E. Fisher Dies Suddenly at Her Home on Saturday—Funeral This Afternoon.

Mrs. Helena E. Fisher, relict of the late Charles Fisher, passed away at her residence, 559 Water street, on Saturday afternoon. She had been suffering from heart trouble for some weeks past, and, while her physicians held out no hope for recovery the end was very sudden. The deceased was sitting on a chair in her room when the fatal summons came, and expired instantly.

The late Mrs. Fisher whose maiden name was Helena E. Walton, was a daughter of the late Robert Walton, who passed away ten months ago. She was fifty-five years of age and was married to Charles Fisher and resided in Norwalk, Ohio, for about twenty-one years. After the death of her husband some four years ago, Mrs. Fisher and her only daughter, Miss Ivah Fisher, removed to the city of her birth to reside among her relatives and many old friends. She was a prominent and faithful member of the Murray street Baptist church, and enjoyed the confidence and esteem of a large circle of friends. She leaves one daughter, Miss Ivah, with whom she resided. Mrs. Wm. Langford, Water street, is a sister, and a brother, Edgerton Walton, lives in Middlesex. Miss Walton, Hunter street, is a cousin. There are several half brothers and sisters, all residing in the United States.

The Church Circle and Rebecca Lodge, of which the deceased was an active member, while in Norwalk, Ohio, before coming to Peterborough, remembered her with many beautiful flowers, showing their loving sympathy.

The funeral took place this afternoon, from her late residence, 559 Water street, to Little Lake Cemetery. The services at the house and grave were conducted by Rev. J. E. Trotter, of Port Hope, a former pastor of Murray street church. The obsequies were largely attended.

TWENTY DAYS FOR FURIOUS DRIVING

James Cain Beat and Overdrove a Lakefield Horse.

Edward Lee Used Abusive Language Against a Local Barber and Paid a Fine of $2 and Costs.

The Magistrate is evidently not all in sympathy with the people who abuse their horses by overdriving and too free use of the whip. At this morning's police court James Cain occupied the prisoners' box, and was charged with wantonly beating and overdriving a horse belonging to a Lakefield man.

An employee of the liveryman said that when the horse was returned it was all worn out and covered with whip marks. The stock of what had been given as a good whip was exhibited in court as proof of the severity of the beating.

Two men saw the prisoner driving furiously up Stewart street about four o'clock yesterday afternoon. He kept the horse at a fast pace up the hill at McDonald street, and turned down "break neck" hill on Dublin street. The horse was covered with lather and whip marks.

Wm. Carscil, the local liveryman, said he saw the prisoner driving at a furious pace, and he appeared to be drunk and reckless. A rig on the Chemong road was run into, but that did not stop the pace. He made an effort to stop Cain, but failed, and then chased him with another horse and buggy.

The Magistrate simply said twenty days with hard labour.

A young man was charged with using gross and abusive language in local barber's shop. The barber said the young man had come into his shop under the influence of liquor, and proceeded to have a nap on the settee. He ordered him out, but was called by some very insulting names.

In his defense the young man said he did not even remember being in the shop, but did remember taking something for a cold. The Magistrate told him not to talk nonsense, and then he admitted that it was brandy.

A fine of $2 with $3.65 costs was imposed, which was paid.

TEMPERATE MEN IN DEMAND.

Baltimore American.

The work of to-day demands men of clear brains for its performance. It matters not whether that work be in the office, the counting room, the legislative hall, the store, the shop, the field, or the mine. The worker who each morning brings to his task a strong mind and a steady nerve, will always find his services in demand, while the one who allows himself to become the victim of an unbridled appetite will soon discover that his place has been filled by one who can do the work better than he. While it is undoubtedly true that excesses in the use of liquor are not as common as they were a quarter of a century ago there is still vast room for improvement, and every effort in that direction deserves the encouragement of all who seek the elevation and betterment of their fellowmen."

DEATH CAME AFTER A LINGERING ILLNESS

To Mrs. Percy D. Fitzgerald—Had Been Ill With Tubercolosis.

At ten o'clock last night death came to Mrs. Percy D. Fitzgerald at her home, 222 London street. The deceased had been ill for some time past with tuberculosis, but on Saturday her illness took a serious turn, and she was confined to her room.

The late Mrs. Fitzgerald was in her twenty-fourth year, and had been married for two years. There is no family, but her husband, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Silas McConkey, two sisters, Bertha and Bella at home, and two brothers, Alfred at home, and Fred, of Selwyn, are left to mourn her untimely loss.

The funeral takes place to-morrow at 2.30 o'clock, from the residence of her father-in-law, Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald, 174 London street, and will proceed to the Little Lake Cemetery for interment.

Senator Wark, of Fredericton, N.B., who died the other day, was a cousin of the late Samuel Jameson, Harvey street, whose mother was named Wark. Longevity seems to run in the Wark blood. Mr. Jameson's sister, Mrs. Argue, now of Souris, Manitoba, still living at the age of 103 years, is a sister of Mr. Jameson, and another sister, Mrs. Matthew McIlwain, of Peterborough, died a few years ago at the age of 95 years, and Mr. Jameson himself was 83 years of age at the time of his death.

NO GROUND FOR THE GENERALLY CREDITED SUSPICION OF FOUL PLAY

Ernest Peters' Injuries Were Undoubtedly Caused by a Kick From a Horse--The Neighborhood Excited Yesterday Over the Belief That His Injuries Were the Result of Foul Play--An Investigation by The Examiner Reveals the Fact That While Some of the Circumstances are Hard to Understand, the Weight of Evidence Supports the Theory That He Was Kicked While Whipping the Horses.

The accident which occurred on Sunday in Otonabee, and by which Ernest Peters sustained such serious injuries, has caused considerable talk in that section, and the question has been asked frequently since the accident happened, "Did Ernest Peters receive his injuries as a result of a kick from a horse?" Many rumours of foul play have been floating around since Sunday night, and in an effort to get at the facts in connection with it, the Examiner sent a representative to interview Mr. Harper, for whom the injured boy worked. Some circumstances in connection with the affair are puzzling to Mr. Harper, but he can see no other solution of the accident than that it was caused by a kick, though it is a great mystery to him, as it also was to the doctors, that such a wound could have been made by a kick from a horse, and, in fact, it is stated that the doctor who first attended the boy on Sunday night made the remark that it was the most peculiar wound to be inflicted by a kick he ever saw.

The story, as told by Mr. Harper to the Examiner, is that on Sunday he, with Mrs. Harper and other members of the family, drove to Millbrook to spend the day with friends, leaving at home his eldest daughter, a younger daughter, and the boy, who is now lying at the hospital in a serious condition. Shortly after dinner two young men, friends of the family, came to visit Mr. Harper, not knowing that he had gone to Millbrook. They stayed during part of the afternoon, and when they went away Ernest went to the barn and helped them get out their horse and hitch up. Later he came into the house and asked Miss Harper if he should go for the cattle; but upon her statement that it was too early he said that he would go and attend to the horses. He went towards the stable and that was the last seen of him until Mr. Harper, coming home about nine o'clock, found him lying in the stable with his head badly cut. About an hour after he had said he was going to the stable, Miss Harper, seeing that he had not yet brought the cows, went to the stable door and called him, but, on receiving no answer, and finding the door locked, she concluded that he had fallen asleep, and since he was slightly deaf, she, believing that she would be unable to awaken him, left and went to the house.

Upon Mr. Harper's return, his daughter recited the circumstances to her father, and he went to the stable, finding the door still locked. He climbed in through another door, however, and was horrified to find the boy lying directly behind two of the horses in a pool of blood. His first thought was that he was dead, but upon calling to him the boy groaned slightly, and Mr. Harper then moved him to the side of the stable, where he was able to sit up, but still remained unconscious.

The position in which he was lying was one about fifteen inches from the hind feet of two horses, either of which, if it stepped back, would tramp on his body. One of them was a three-year-old and the other a one-year-old colt. Both animals were, however, crowded up close to their mangers, and were, with another older horse, all tied, though they were not all in their proper stalls. The two colts were unshod, while the other horse, which was very quiet, and which Mr. Harper says, in the four years he has owned it, he never knew to offer to kick, was shod recently.

When found the boy had a whip in his hand, and the inference naturally was that he had been whipping the horses and that one of them kicked him.

It was wondered, however, how it could be that since the horse which was shod was so quiet, and had never been known to kick, had undoubtedly not inflicted the injury, one of the younger and unshod horses could have caused such a wound. It is stated that the gash was so deep that a man's two fore fingers could be laid in the hole. The doctor's statement that it was the most peculiar horse's kick he had ever seen, added to the mystery.

Another mystery is why after the horses had been tied in the stable the boy should have whipped them, since there would be no apparent cause for it.

Mr. Harper states that the boy has been a splendid worker, always willing and industrious and was not quick tempered. Early in the summer he had seen him whipping the horses and had remonstrated with him at the time, and since that he had never seen him repeat it.

It is learned that yesterday that the doctor decided that the injury was inflicted by a horse which was unshod, consequently it is probable that the three year old colt was the one which had kicked him.

All the evidence seems to point to the fact of the boy being kicked, and while there are some things which are hard to understand in connection with the accident, Mr. Harper is satisfied that there is no ground for the suspicion of foul play, and Miss Harper is certain that no stranger was near the place at the the time when the accident happened. Mr. Harper has a vigilant watchdog, which does not allow strangers near without raising an alarm, an evidence of which was furnished last night, when the Examiner man drove into the gate an hour after dark.

On the whole there seems little reason to doubt that the affair was an accident pure and simple, and that there is no ground for the suspicion that there was foul play.

LIGHTNING DESTROYS IN ENNISMORE TOWNSHIP BARN AND ITS CONTENTS

Mr. John Twomey Loses His Entire Season's Crop of Grain and Hay--Barn Struck by Lightning in Last Night's Storm--Area of the Storm Did Not Extend Near This City--There Was Some Rain Here But No Damage Done--Reports From Outside Points Show That Rain in Most Points Was Not Heavy.

Last night another of the series of heavy thunder storms which have visited this section at frequent intervals, and which have inversably caused some damage of a more or less severe nature was that of last night.

Fortunately Peterborough was not in the direct path of the storm, though on all four sides of it the lightning was vivid and rain fell in some quantities. The rain fall in the city, however, was not heavy, the storm venting its fury in wind and electrical displays.

The storm approached from the northwest and gradually enveloped the whole district, but as far as has been learned, only one building was struck by lightning, the barn of Mr. John Twomey of Ennismore, who lives near the Pigeon Creek Bridge. Early in the evening a bolt of lightning struck the barn and in a few minutes it was a mass of flames.

Although every effort was made to extinguish it by Mr. Twomey and the willing neighbours, the building was doomed, and with the contents was a total loss. Mr. Twomey loses, beside the building, which was a large and valuable one, his entire stock of implements, and the whole of the season's crop of hay and grain. The extent of the loss is not known, but it is estimated to be in the neighbourhood of $2,000, with a small amount of insurance, not nearly enough, however, to cover the loss.

The reflection of this blaze was seen quite distinctly from Peterborough, and it looked from here as if the fire was in Smith, so bright was the blaze.

A second fire was seen in that direction last night, but on inquiry it was found that it was simply a straw stack in a field across Rice Lake on the Ennismore side. This was set fire by accident, but was not struck by lightning.

Advices from outside points go to show that the storm did not do any damage except as mentioned. At Springville there was some rain, but the storm did not approach at all closely. Bowro reports give similar information. There was a slight rainfall and some wicked lightning, but no damage done.

HECTOR BAKER WAS DISCHARGED

Charged With Non-Support of His Wife and Family.

By-law was Quashed Right and Case Against LeBrun & Co. was Dismissed—Other Police Court News.

Hector Baker was arrested on Saturday morning on a charge of non-support of his wife and family. At a special session of the court on Saturday afternoon he was remanded until this morning, when the case was conducted in private court. He was discharged.

There was a charge against Le Brun and Co. for allowing lime boxes to remain on the sidewalk after twelve o'clock noon on Saturday. Mr. Picard, who represented the firm, pleaded guilty, but said that the goods did not arrive until the afternoon, and the boxes were removed as soon as emptied. The by-law formerly read that all bales and boxes were not to remain on the sidewalk after 10 o'clock in the forenoon, but the time was changed to 12 o'clock, and the phrase "in the forenoon" was left unchanged, which left the clause unintelligible. There were three or four other clauses in the by-law which did not cover the case, and it was accordingly dismissed.

At Saturday afternoon's special session Alex. Ross was brought up for neglecting to pay his fine of $5 and costs for non-payment of his statute labour tax. Ross was given ten days, but in passing out he made a pass over the railing at the chief, and used considerable profane language when he reached the street. He was brought back and received an additional fifteen days for having an oily, and rancid tongue.

PRESENTATION TO PETERBORO' MAN

Mr. Thos. Richardson Given Gold Pen and Locket.

Is Returning Here to Take Position in G. Walter Green's Foundry.

The Orillia Packet, of a recent date contains an interesting account of the annual outing of the employees of the Messrs. E. Long Manufacturing Company, of that town. A pleasing incident of the outing was a presentation made to one of the employees, who has been well and favourably known in Peterborough for many years. The Packet, referring to this incident, says:

"The employees took advantage of the occasion to make a presentation to the esteemed foreman of the shop, Mr. Thomas Richardson, of a gold mounted fountain pen, and a handsome engraved locket, as Mr. Richardson is leaving Orillia to return to his former employment in Peterborough. The gifts were accompanied by an appreciative address and were suitably acknowledged by Mr. Richardson."

The friends here of Mr. Richardson will be interested in learning of the esteem in which he is held by his fellow employees in Orillia. They will also be pleased to know that he returns to Peterborough, after several years of absence to assume the position of superintendent of Mr. G. Walter Green's foundry and machine works, McDonel street.

Mr. Green has been making arrangements for some time to engage in the manufacture of portable saw mills, shingle mills and general machinery, in addition to his other lines. It is unnecessary to say that in securing the services of Mr. Richardson for this class of work, Mr. Green has secured the right man for the right place.

Mr. Richardson leaves to-morrow morning for Toronto, where he will be engaged in purchasing special machinery and tools required for the mill work.

Rockefeller Looks for Health.

Poor, Rockefeller, says a Cleveland paper has decided to try the Kneipp cure. Science and medicine having failed to restore his health he has turned to nature for relief, and yesterday he took his first treatment, walking in the dewy grass for half an hour in bare feet after rising. He took no notice of persons who were looking at him and when he finished his exercise seemed to be refreshed and satisfied.

PRESIDENT STILL HOPES FOR PEACE

Roosevelt Survives Under Peace Discouragement—Claims of Baron Kaneko—Bears Important Information to President of the United States at Oyster Bay, But Declines to Discuss His Mission—Says Japan Has Made Every Concession That Could Be Expected.

Oyster Bay, L. I., Aug. 22.—President Roosevelt has not abandoned hope of a successful issue of the peace conference. He has not relaxed either his efforts to prevent a rupture between the conferees when they reconvene today at Portsmouth.

Events of importance succeeded each other rapidly here yesterday. On an early morning train Baron Kaneko, a confidential representative in this country of the Japanese Government, arrived in Oyster Bay quite unexpectedly. That he was the bearer of important information is known, but the nature of his messages are not disclosed. He remained with the President three-quarters of an hour. At the conclusion of the conference the baron declined even to discuss his mission.

He expressed the opinion, which he was careful to note was simply his own, that Japan had made every concession in the conference that a victorious power could be expected to make, and that the Japanese people would resent any serious recession by the envoys from the position they had taken.

RUSSIAN CLAIMS.

Responsibility for Failure Will Not, She Says, Rest With Her.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 22.—The Russian Government's final communications to M. Witte outlining the course that he shall pursue at the reopening of the peace conference at Portsmouth, are still in process of being put into cipher prior to being forwarded to America. With the receipt of St. Petersburg's last message, the brief breathing spell will have ended. St. Petersburg leaves the final word with her representative at Portsmouth.

The Associated Press says the Government has gone as far as its extremely vital state interests will permit. The Government is firmly convinced that in case of failure of the negotiations the responsibility will not rest with Russia, which has conceded much already. The requirements of the state make concessions on the questions of indemnity and Sakhalin, as these questions were originally presented by the Japanese, impossibles. It is certain that in the matter of concessions the four points now in dispute have been considered and studied here in the list of concessions Russia already has granted on the other eight articles.

The foregoing is a brief but accurate outline of the program upon which M. Witte will meet the Japanese plenipotentiaries to-day.

A hopeful feeling was noticeable here yesterday that peace is still possible, and it is believed by some that Russia's answer will give material evidence of such a sincere desire to reach a settlement that Japan will practically be forced to accept it or appear before the world as utterly unreasonable and insatiable.

One Way Out of It.

It is believed that the questions on the surrender of the interned ships and the limitation of Russia's naval power in the Far East will be satisfactorily settled. There remains then, the questions of the payment of indemnity and the cession of Sakhalin by Russia. The first may be overcome by Russia following Japan's lead in avoiding the use of the word "indemnity," but consenting to make certain payments on Japan on other scores, the chief of these being Japan's bill for keeping 100,000 prisoners, which is expected to be heavy. The sums mentioned as the possible payment on account of these prisoners range from $50,000,000 to $150,000,000.

Little or nothing is obtainable here regarding the possible disposition of the question relating to Sakhalin.

President Roosevelt's object Saturday was officially described to be to prolong the negotiations. There is warrant for the statement that M. Witte personally sympathizes with the President's proposition, no matter how it may be regarded by his Imperial master and the latter's advisors. It is a mistake to suppose that in considering such a proposition the Emperor consults a regularly ordained council.

Throughout the conference he has been calling in council such advisors as he deemed wise, some of his relatives, the grand dukes, members of the court and certain chosen ministers. The Grand Duke Nicholaievitch, one of the most powerful of his relatives, is known to be absolutely opposed to yielding an iota beyond what M. Witte has already conceded. As an alternative he favors the continuation of the war.

The spirit of all the advices received has been such as almost to preclude hope of an eleventh hour change.

London, Aug. 22.—(C.A.P.)—Col. Lake reports very favorably on the Dominion forces, and their organization is almost complete. The militia under the new system is admirably fitted for the requirements of peace or war. This is mainly due to the cordial co-operation of the Minister of Militia.

Col. Lake has now accepted a three years' appointment for the general staff.

With the approval of the King the army council has sanctioned an arrangement by which the three regiments of Highlanders will go maintained as one establishment of the Canadian active militia and will be directly allied with three Highland regiments of the regular army.

These will be associated respectively with the Black Watch, the Gordon Highlanders and the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders.

Fears Protectionist Job.

London, Aug. 22.—(C.A.P.)—The Daily Chronicle publishes a dispatch from its Toronto correspondent stating that amazement is the only word to describe Canadian feeling regarding the appointment of Lord Minto to the Viceroy as he is not considered big enough for his job. The Toronto World's editorial is quoted to illustrate this.

Commenting on this the Chronicle says: "we pointed out that the Government of their country is school work compared to that of India and that in the whole business lurks the suspicion that the appointment is only another protectionist job."

Sharp and Foolish Practice.

London, Aug. 22.—(C. A. Red Rose Tea Uniformity

A TEA that is good to-day and poor to-morrow is unreliable.

Have you ever noticed variations in the quality of the tea you use? One package good, the next bitter, herby, perhaps weak and insipid.

A lack of expert knowledge by the tasters and blenders of that tea produced that result. There was a failure at a vital point, an ignorance of combining qualities in teas, poor judgment in the blending of that maker's teas, a weakness which invariably gives just such results as your poor tea.

Every chest of Red Rose Tea is tested at the gardens, again by the Eastern Red Rose shippers, then at the Red Rose warehouse upon its arrival before blending; after that an experimental blend is tested, and the final or actual blend is also tested before being packed.

That is why that "rich fruity flavor" is always present in Red Rose Tea.

Why Red Rose Tea is always uniform, why

NAN PATTERSON TO REMARRY

Famous Chorus Girl Will Be a Fall Bride.

The Former Florodora Girl Who Faced Three Juries on Murder Charge is to Be United to Divorced Husband.

"Nan" Patterson, the former Florodora girl, who faced three juries on a charge of having murdered "Caesar" Young, the bookmaker, and escaped conviction, is to remarry the husband whom she divorced, as alleged, at the instance of Young, shortly after the latter became infatuated with the chorus girl. It is not believed by her friends in this city that her latest escapade—involving a friendship with C. Ralph Ash, a lumber broker, of Duluth, Minn.; the active intervention of the later's sister, Mrs. V. D. Handy, of 758 West End avenue, and the consequent flight of the actress from her New York apartment to her sister's home in Washington—will affect adversely the plan of remarriage.

Her former husband, Leon C. Martin, has never wavered in his attachment to the girl. After her release from the Tombs and during her stay at the Hotel York, they met frequently, until Mr. Martin was called away by his duties as clerk at a Shelter Island hotel. From that time the pair have been in constant correspondence, and, according to a friend, it has been decided that Martin, at the close of the summer season, will take up the duties of a hotel clerk in this city, and that his remarriage to his former wife will follow almost immediately.

The Ash Escapade.

The connection of "Nan" Patterson's name with that of Mr. Ash is due to Mrs. Handy's protest against her brother's lavish expenditure while in New York. Since her latest theatrical venture, several months ago, which resulted in a fiasco, she had been in comparative obscurity, but had not lacked a desirable measure of prosperity.

Sinking her identity as "Helen Needham," she has had an apartment in the Cambridge Court Hotel, in Forty-ninth street, near Seventh avenue. There she has left word that she has gone to Washington for an indefinite period. Mrs. Handy is congratulating herself that the girl's departure is due to a threat from her that if she did not get out of town in a hurry, and leave her brother-in-law, Mr. Ash, alone, something serious would happen to her.

Coincident with her departure comes the following statement from Mrs. Handy, who has taken upon herself the task of looking after the welfare of her brother-in-law during his stay in this city.

"I would like to meet that woman in a dark street. While I know, my position, I feel that some black eyes would be the result. My brother-in-law, who is a young man of some means, has a wife and children in Duluth. He met Helen Needham while in bathing at Brighton Beach about four weeks ago.

The introduction came through 'Abe' Attell, a prize fighter, who, with J. Morgan Smith, the brother-in-law of the actress, and Julia Smith, her sister, became much attached to Mr. Ash. He was a liberal spender. Word was sent me by a kind friend that the name of my brother-in-law was being linked with that of the former sweetheart of the dead bookmaker, and I questioned Ralph about it. He said he had been introduced to Helen Needham, but did not know until afterward that she was 'Nan' Patterson. He promised he would have nothing more to do with her.

Reveals Her Identity.

"When I asked him how he came to find out who she was, he told me that soon after he met her she said to him: 'Would you like me just as much if you knew who I really am?' He said he would, and then she confessed that she was 'Nan.' Ralph said he would have given $1,000 if he could have warded off the introduction.

"The next day Ralph was in her company again. I then told him that I would write to an official in the City National Bank of Duluth to have his bank account stopped if he would not leave the woman alone. He said that 'Nan' had a pretty pair of blue eyes. I reminded him that he had a wife in Duluth, and that his four children had blue eyes. He broke down and promised never to see the girl again."

Mrs. Handy then sent word to the Patterson girl that if she did not let her brother-in-law alone something serious might happen to her. This news was carried to the actress yesterday, and in the afternoon she took the Congressional Limited to Washington.

It is said that C. Ralph Ash left Duluth a month ago, after having disposed of a sawmill at Virginia, Minn., for $100,000, and planned to go abroad, taking out a letter of credit for $5,000.

He is a well-built man of about thirty, with a clean shaven face. He has a fine home in Duluth.

The story of his acquaintance with "Nan," as told by one who is said to be familiar with the facts, is that he was introduced to her in the character of a wealthy young Westerner, who had been attracted to her during her second trial, and wanted to marry her. Ash himself, it is asserted, was not aware of the practical joke that had been played on Miss Patterson, although he was fully aware of her identity.

It was a week or two weeks after the beginning of the acquaintance that "Nan" Patterson, according to this friend's story, discovered accidentally that Ash was married, and realizing the danger of outraging public sentiment by a continued association with him, disclosed him.

NEW FISCAL CATCH-WORD.

Catch-words are a great thing. They are a particularly great thing for the sugar-coating of those fiscal doctrines of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association which have a knack of looking rather bald and selfish when stated in all their simplicity. President George has therefore to be congratulated on the discovery of a nice new catch-word for the policy of shoving up the duties. Never was a neat phrase more badly needed. "Protection as they have it in the United States" had been tried by the Conservative party as a war-cry, and failed. Then came "Adequate protection," emblazoned on a thousand standards in the 1904 campaign, only to be swept into oblivion in a single day. Hailed by its inventors because it meant nothing, it was scornfully rejected by the electorate because it did not even look as if it meant anything. Since then the high-tariff policy has been nameless, a thing without form and void, and covered with darkness.

Mr. George's new phrase applies only to the tariff against Britain. It is of particular value because it is in this department of their policy that the vital inconsistency of the high tariff-Imperialist preachers lies, and because it is just this inconsistency that most needs covering up with a catchy phrase.

"An equalising tariff," demands Mr. George, and he intimates that the manufacturers of Great Britain will be charmed to have us impose one. Possibly some of them told Mr. George so in a moment of confidence after dinner; but that does not alter the real crux of the situation, which is that Mr. George's British friends want to sell their goods here and he wants them not to. The phrase, however, is a very alluring one. It has a more manly ring than any in which the word "protection" occurs; it sounds like an ingenuous appeal for simple fair play; and it has a certain air of definiteness, suggesting that the right impost on any class of products can easily be arrived at by subtraction. Emphatically, it is a good phrase.

But the meaning of a political phrase depends wholly on the owner. What does Mr. George mean by equalisation? He means exactly what the C.M.A. has always meant, a tariff that will give its members various industries control of the Canadian market at all times and all seasons. If for any reason the British manufacturer succeeds in selling a yard of cloth or an angle of steel here against Canadian competition, there must be a reason for it, and that reason must be some advantage of the British manufacturer that has not been "equalised."

This may be a perfectly sound doctrine for a community that has resolved on the development within itself of certain industrial activities, and we are pleased to learn from Mr. George that his friends in England recognised its force. We must politely decline to believe that they found it a valid argument for a policy of Imperial trade preference.—Montreal Herald.

SENATOR WARK.

Hon. Senator Wark, has passed away at the rather ripe age of 102 years. He has the distinction during life time of being the oldest legislator of the Empire or of the world, which very nearly amounts to the same thing. He has lived a generation longer than he should have done, that is 32 years beyond the life limit which the royal psalmist set up He has passed a generation of active life, after the time most men are tucked away in their graves. He was a remarkable man, retaining with his comparatively unimpaired physical energies, his mental clearness and strength up to the last. When he was 100 years old one day in the Senate he vigourously upbraided the dawdling of his fellow members in these words:—"Arouse from your lithargy and do your share of organizing legislation," he said in tones that could be heard throughout the Chamber. "Do not let it to be worked out in the Lower House. Why sit here like white-haired automatons, yawning through the session and simply drawing your allowance?" Senator Wark has a long, busy and useful life. He was sixty-three years in active politics. In view of the important part he has played in the development of Canada, a brief sketch of his life will not be without interest.
